PHILADELPHIA.

The Market.

The standard summer flowers are coming in more freely now, so that the last week in July sees the market better supplied than the week just ended. Asters in all colors and of good quality are much more plentiful. They came at a time when carnations had ceased to be dependable for general use. Gladioli also are now obtainable in large numbers. Many of them are fine; America is especially so. Roses are rather more numerous than they were a week ago and Easter lilies continue abundant. Business is fully up to the mark for the season, probably a little ahead of last July so far. Most of it is made up of sad orders, with a scattering of gifts for more joyful occasions, and home orders. The impression given by a trip around the wholesale cut flower houses is that there are not enough growers sending in good flowers to make the sales activity general.

A Handsome Show Room.

The M. Rice Co. has just completed its second floor show room. The entire front of the floor has been partitioned off to a depth of about one-third of the building and arranged as a basket show room. It would be difficult to imagine a more beautiful and instructive display than is now arranged here. The baskets are shown in groups, one of each kind. There are dark colorings relieved by the deep greens and browns so pleasing in the Indian style of basket. Opposite are the white enamel baskets, glistening in their purity. Beyond are the white baskets of pale blue and delicate green. Further on are the gold baskets, richly finished. There is a large and interesting exhibit of tumbler baskets in some fifty different styles. Considerable space is given to the baskets that are no longer made in quantity, the odds and ends, so to speak, of which only a limited number are available.

A novelty of especial interest is a tall basket of vase-like form, set in a broad bowl-shaped basket. The tall vase is intended for cut flowers, the bowl-like basket beneath for plants. Both Mr. Eschner and Mr. Brunswick consider this exhibit the finest thing of its kind ever arranged. Mr. Eschner says that most of the baskets are "made in America" and that they represent the combined ideas of their business family, gathered from a close study of the needs of florists all over the country. He adds that the success of these baskets is most gratifying.

The P. H. S. Gardens.

The sale of Horticultural hall puts the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society in a new position. The society has lost its home. It has acquired wealth. In order to continue its usefulness the society must find new fields. Some influential members have expressed themselves as favorable to a garden, preferably in Fairmount park. There is a garden ready now that stands in urgent need of intelligent work. For it, appeals are being made at this moment. This is the historic Bartram garden on the banks of the Schuylkill river. Can the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society do a better work, or one that would appeal more to its members, than building up the historic gardens founded by John Bartram? These gardens have lately been the scene of several social events of interest. The society of little gardens had a tea and heard a lecture by, I think, Professor McFarlane there. Many of the members had never seen the garden before.

Freight.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Co. has issued a circular letter to its shippers advising them of a change in its freight arrangements for shipments by freight of less than carload lots. The railroad has in the past accepted such freight at any of its freight stations, at any time, for any point. It proposes in the future to accept such freight only at certain points, on certain days, for certain points; in other words, to have sailing days, so to speak, for freight cars. For instance, a car will be scheduled to leave Grays Ferry freight station at 3 p. m., August 1, for Pittsburgh and the west. That car will be ready to receive freight for such points for so many working hours before that time. Another car will leave at 5 p. m. for the south, and so on.

The idea is that this plan will have many advantages. It will save time and labor in handling and transferring freight. It will require fewer locomotives and cars to handle a given quantity of freight, and it will avoid confusion. The aid of various trade organizations is to be invited in working out the details of the plan. An important aim is to enable the railroad to assist the government in moving all freight expeditiously.

CRETONNE BASKETS

Here is a novelty of rare merit. Not merely something new, it is also something good. A new make of basket with tasteful finish. Cretonne Baskets come in twenty entirely different styles. They are adaptable to almost any purpose where baskets can be used. There are Cretonne Baskets with handles and there are Cretonne Baskets that are flat; there are Cretonne Baskets that are oval; there are Cretonne Baskets that are round; there are big Cretonnes, there are little Cretonnes; there are hanging Cretonnes.

Cultural Question.

When J. A. Valentine attended a Rose Society meeting in Chicago a number of years ago he surprised the growers from the middle west and from the east by telling them that one of the rose growing problems in Denver was caused by too much sun. The plants made a short growth, flowering too quickly. Leo Niessen now tells us that the same cause is assigned by some of the ablest men in Philadelphia for discarding some members of the Killarney family. The claim, Mr. Niessen says, is that in certain heavy soils these varieties flower on too short stems to compete with those grown in more favorable soils. They require disbudding to get stems of equal or nearly equal lengths to those grown in the lighter soils. This is surprising, as it would naturally be supposed that culture would overcome the difficulty, but the growers who have made the assertion rank so high as to justify its acceptance as fact.

Various Notes.

The selective draft, who are taken and who are left, is the absorbing topic of the hour.

Frederick J. Michell returned to business July 23, after a three weeks' absence. Mr. Michell was struck by a speeding car while walking and painfully injured. One rib was broken and his foot was severely hurt. Happily, he is on the highroad to complete recovery.

Clarence J. Watson is confident that the coming season will bring business activity.

Ralph E. Faust is replacing Alvah R. Jones for the time being as floor manager for the S. S. Pennock Co.

Miss Mary A. Baker has returned from Kennett Square.

Robert Byron Bragg, Edward Reid's trusty lieutenant, is away on his vacation.

M. J. Callahan is able, by careful management, to at least make expenses during the summer.

well smoker of the Florists' Club in the old rooms in Horticultural hall, July 19. The ex-presidents spoke happily. Robert Craig, Joseph Heacock, J. Otto Thilow, George Burton, Robert Kift, Albert M. Herr, of Lancaster, and President A. Farenwald, also spoke well. Dr. George Goebel, of bowling fame, came to town expressly for the occasion. G. C. MILWAUKEE.

The Market.

Toward the end of the last week the temperature mounted to 86 degrees, and it seems to be going higher at this writing. This, of course, is having its effect on business; there is a marked degree of ennui in every flower establishment. There is no surplus stock and there seems to be enough business to take up the daily supply.

Roses are fairly good and the supply is about equal to the demand. The cut is becoming smaller every day, but the quality seems to hold up quite well. Carnations are still to be had in quantity, but the quality shows the effect of the hot weather. Sweet peas are still on the market, although the stems are short and the blooms only of medium size. They are selling well, however, and make up a good part of the daily sales. Valley remains scarce and of medium quality. There is more than an adequate supply of lilies, and they are not moving at all well. Orchids are arriving in about sufficient quantities to meet the demand. Taken as a whole, business is extremely quiet, but it compares favorably with that of any previous summer.

Various Notes.

The C. C. Pollworth Co. reports that its men are still cutting good roses and that carnations as yet are in fine shape. This concern is minus several employees, who are spending vacations at various resorts. W. Holliday is at Lake Fine, while Phil Weil is at Pelican lake, trying for a muskellunge that will weigh more than the one caught recently by C. C. Pollworth. Mr. Pollworth's tipped the scales at thirty-eight pounds.

A. MacDonald, manager of the Gimbel flower department, is featuring some exceptionally fine grape plants, which were grown by the Holton & Hunkel Co. These plants make a beautiful display.

W. Lubliner furnished a wreath July 17 that was more than six feet in diameter. This gigantic design was made of galax leaves, with a large cluster of white roses, Easter lilies and larkspurs, tied with a large bow of ribbon. The piece had to be carried on top of the delivery car, as it was too large to go inside.

The Holton & Hunkel Co. has completed an alteration in its office that affords the workers much needed room. Albert Hare left on his vacation July 21. He said he did not know where he was going, but that he was on his way. We know he will come back with the details of an extensive auto trip, however.

It is with regret that we announce the death July 20 of Frank Voelzke. Mr. Voelzke was the father of Miss Ella Voelzke, who operates a flower store at 3805 Lisbon avenue. Miss Voelzke was married recently to C. S. Kitzerow. The funeral was held Monday, July 23. Mrs. Kitzerow has the sympathy of her many friends in the trade.

Allie Zech, of Zech & Mann, and Joseph Marks, with A. Henderson & Co., both of Chicago, were visitors for several days last week.

The Milwaukee Florists' Club held its annual picnic at Waukesha beach July 17. It looked much like rain at the start, and, although none fell, this probably accounts for the smaller attendance. There were no activities planned and it was a regular family affair. There was a ball game, with the teams captained by William Mueller and Harold Baumgarten. Adolph Rice rendered the decisions, the game culminating in a score of 25 to 21 in favor of the Baumgarten team. There was a steamer trip around beautiful Pewaukee lake and after supper dancing was in order. Among the guests from out of town at the picnic were Herman Staeps, of Elm Grove, Wis.;

The Market.

A week of hot, humid weather has put the cut flower business in a semicomatose condition. Arrivals of flowers are not at all heavy, as many growers have ceased shipping until fall. Really good flowers have no trouble in getting purchasers. Roses are being unfavorably affected by the heat and their quality is on the down-grade. Fewer flowers are arriving, however, and prices are fairly well maintained. Quite a number of carnations still come in and the quality for midsummer is good. Asters now are arriving from several growers and will soon fill the carnation blank. Sweet peas, thanks to the dry weather, are of good quality, but the dry weather affects the length of the stems.

Longiflorum lilies still find it hard sledding and prices are unprofitably low. Gladioli are not yet plentiful. Valley is shortening up, but the demand has weakened. Miscellaneous annuals and perennials are seen. Larkspurs, sweet sultans, coreopsis and bachelor's buttons sell well.

Various Notes.

At Horticultural hall July 21 William Anderson, superintendent to Mrs. Bayard Thayer, received a silver medal for Lilium Thayeræ, introduced in 1910 by Wilson, from China. In habit it closely resembles L. Henryi. The best spike shown carried twenty-one flowers and buds. The flowers are smaller than those of Henryi, recurved, and the petals are covered with small black spots. The flowers are of a rich orange color. The stalks seem slender and graceful, but are wiry. The foliage is finer than that of Henryi. This should become a popular garden lily. W. C. Winter was first for twenty-four hollyhock blooms; W. G. Kendall, second. W. N. Craig was first for twelve spikes of hollyhocks; W. G. Kendall, second. J. H. Stalford, of Bar Harbor, showed a lavender colored antirrhinum which is popular in that summer resort. W. N. Craig had a display of thirty varieties of hardy herbaceous perennials, including large vases of Trachelium cæruleum and T. album.

50 years' experience in the florist business guarantees efficiency to take care of all orders. 20 per cent allowed.

James Anderson, son of William Anderson, of the Bayard Thayer estate, South Lancaster, Mass., was married at the Unitarian church, Lancaster, July 20, to Miss Miriam Ellen Hawkins. The church was beautifully decorated with Lilium regale and delphiniums, which made a delightful combination. The bridegroom is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, taking up sanitary engineering as his specialty, and is now employed by the J. L. Mott Iron Works Co., of Boston.

At the Park street store of Henry R. Comley July 21 I noticed a fine display of Lilium auratum, speciosum and Henryi; also a fine batch of gloxinias and nymphæas.

James Wheeler, of Natick, started shipping Queen of the Market asters July 21. He has a batch of 20,000 plants and they are first-class. Mr. Wheeler has just purchased a new car.

The picnic of the Gardeners' and Florists' Club at Cunningham park, East Milton, is the principal happening of interest to growers this week. It occurs a day too late to be reported in ST. LOUIS.

The Market.

The demand for stock is down to the usual summer level, wholesalers report, business being good some days and poor others. Retailers say that funeral work comprises about all the demand at their stores. However, the season has been good and no one is complaining.

Roses show the effects of the hot weather and few consignments from outside arrive in first-class condition. Local carnations are poor, but some good stock is being shipped in. There is an abundance of gladioli, which have brought a fair price, but a glut soon is expected. Sweet peas are about done.

Other stock arriving consists of asters, cornflowers, calendulas, candytuft and larkspurs. There is little call for any of them except asters. Valley continues scarce and Easter lilies clean up daily. There is a good supply of greens, with the exception of smilax.

Various Notes.

The Retail Florists' Association held its regular meeting July 16 at Mission Inn Garden. It was well attended. President F. H. Weber says that the interest the members have taken in the association recently augurs well for an increased membership in the fall.

Thomas C. Carr, who has a stand at the Union depot, says business is excellent.

The assets of the Kelly Floral Co. were sold at auction July 19 by order of the receiver. The stock and fixtures brought fair prices. Receiver Evans says that the company had many good accounts on its books, a number of which have been collected. He believes the creditors will get a large proportion of their claims.

J. J. Windler and Mrs. Windler with a party of friends spent last week at Hillcrest, a bathing and fishing resort. Edward Guntly, in the store with Mr. Windler, left on his vacation when Mr. Windler returned.

Guy M. Reburn, of Chicago, spent last week here, calling on the trade. Mr. Reburn remained over for the florists' picnic at Ramona park July 26. He says business has been excellent.

Charles Meier, the Kirkwood grower, has disposed of his old boiler and is installing one of the largest manufactured by the Kroeschell Bros. Co., Chicago.

L. P. Jensen and Ernest Strehle are devoting their spare time to making arrangements for the convention of park superintendents, which meets here September 11 to 13.

Thomas Kirkwood & Sons are preparing some of their houses at Kirkwood for carnations. Several other houses are being made ready for sweet peas and violets.

Albert P. Scheidegger and his son, Albert, Jr., spent several days last week visiting friends at Washington, Mo.

he took her away in an automobile they were fired upon by the rioters. Mrs. Gorly is now in Kansas City with friends, recuperating from her exciting experience. Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Gorly are at South Haven, Mich., for a week and, upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gorly expect to make a trip east and will attend the S. A. F. convention at New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Berning are planning to take a trip to Colorado. They will be gone two weeks.

Jules Bourdet, state vice-president of the S. A. F., and J. J. Beneke visited a number of the growers in St. Louis county July 22 in the interests of the S. A. F. and the National Flower Show. Mr. Bourdet says there will be a big gain in the membership of the society in and near St. Louis. He is counting on an enrollment of 100 new members from the St. Louis Florists' Club. The St. Louis delegation to the convention in New York, August 21 to 23, will go by way of the Pennsylvania railroad. An attempt is being made to get President R. C. Kerr, of Houston, Tex., to accompany the local delegation.

The dullest midsummer was broken last week by a large demand for funeral work; in fact, last week was the busiest of July.

Gladioli are taking the lead these days and asters are arriving in fine shape, the recent rains and warm weather having brought them out in large numbers. Among roses Russell and Ophelia take the lead. Russell is noted for its fine keeping qualities, one retailer stating that he would not handle any other pink when Russell is available. There is a large supply of Easter lilies and outdoor sweet peas. Some of the local growers are still picking carnations, but the quality is nothing to brag about.

A new arrival last week was achillea, which retails at 50 cents per bunch. This flower resembles stevia and is admirable for funeral work. Hollyhocks make striking store decorations and outdoor Japanese irises are especially useful in table decorations. Double poppies also prove to have good decorative value. A few early dahlias are in bloom and outdoor roses are markedly abundant this year. Rubrum lilies are plentiful; so are asparagus greens.

The carnation plants in the field are developing rapidly, thanks to the soaking rains. Other field-grown flowers in the market are cornflowers, cosmos, Shasta daisies, salpiglossis, gypsophilas and snapdragons.

Various Notes.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lanternier and Mr. and Mrs. Clem Lanternier have returned from a motor trip to Defiance, O., where they were the guests of Christ Winterich, the cyclamen expert. They report Mr. Winterich's stock in excellent condition.

The men at the Vesey greenhouses are busy replanting roses. They are still cutting carnations, as well as asters, Brunner and Tipperary roses. This firm will plant several houses to vegetables this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Shive motored to Columbia City and Tri-Lakes for the week end. They were accompanied by their children.

A. J. Lanternier & Co. are cutting some extra fine gladioli. Roses and carnations have met with a good demand in funeral work, of which there has been an unusually large amount.

The Flick Floral Co. sent out three large casket covers last week. Mrs.

Should Florists Cut Down Output?

July 9 I dropped in at the meeting of the Florists' Club. I did not expect to find many there or at this season to hear much business discussed, but in both I was wrong, as there was a good number of the boys present and the main question of the evening was: "Should florists grow as much stock as formerly? In these times of commercial unrest will there be a demand for their product?" The subject was discussed at some length, but was not finished, as it was the opinion of many that it was a national question and should be taken up by the S. A. F. at the New York convention. It was made the order of business for the next meeting of the club, which will be held in August, prior to the convention, in order that we may be in a position to present to the convention the opinions of Maryland florists on this vital question.

This article will be in the hands of members of the club before that meeting, so I think it might be well to analyze the question thoroughly before the meeting takes place.

Is there sufficient reason for any florist to curtail his output? The first thought that comes to me is that the only reason for a reduction in production would be when the public stops using flowers, and we certainly could not blame the public much if we are ready to quit ourselves.

Closed Houses Tie Up Investment.

I would suggest that every florist who reads this take the copy of The Review for May 24, turn to the last page and read the advertisement of the American Greenhouse Mfg. Co. I would like to have readers note the line of argument the company's advertising man is using at this time of stress. The builders are in exactly the same position as the florists, for if flowers are to be curtailed there will be no need for new greenhouses. Yes, I can hear those who class themselves as conservatives say: "Oh! but advertisers have an ax to grind." I admit they are right, but the sooner the florists get busy at the grindstone the better it will be for them.

There is only one way by which any florist can curtail his output, and that is by letting part of his range lie idle.

Can you afford to do this? Figure, for instance, the cost of the houses you calculate to cut off from the boiler and see if you can let this amount of money lie idle, to say nothing of the wear and tear on a house that is not being used. A range of houses is not a thing that can be shut down till some real or imaginary calamity shall have passed.

Let me refer you to the obituary in The Review of July 5, page 21; read how A. L. Pennock, in 1861—the first year of the Civil war—founded a florists' business, and how three years later, while the war was still in progress, he opened the store of Pennock Bros. Ask his sons, who today are at the top of some lines of the florists' business, and I am sure they will tell you that their success dates back to the time when the pioneer had the courage to embark in a new enterprise when his country was in the throes of internal strife and when flowers did not have the same hold on the public they have today.

Other Facts That Cheer.

As I listened to men whom I have watched from childhood, whom I have seen climb step by step in establishing their business, often surmounting obstacles that seemed insurmountable, but who now are ready to throw up their hands at the future outlook, I realize as never before the baneful influences of war. But let us go deeper into this question and see if we cannot find a reason why the florists of this country should take the tip suggested by the advertisement of the American Greenhouse Mfg. Co., and, instead of curtailing production, increase it.

The florists' business has been increasing in volume year by year, thanks to the florists themselves, who have been educating the public to the use of flowers. The people are now accustomed to flowers, and there is only one thing that will stop the continued use of them—scarcity of money. Now let me remind you that the vast loans made to the Allies, at a good rate of interest, are all being spent in this country for foodstuffs, clothing, ammunition, etc. Consequently we see where the American people reap two profits from these loans.

Commercially, people of the country may be divided into two general classes: Those who live on incomes, that is, on money invested; those who are producers, workers, such as the farmer, the miner, the mechanic and florist. Now take the first class. I will admit that the moneyed people are the best customers of the florist, and I realize that they will be hard hit—the income tax, the higher cost of everything, etc. It is only natural, therefore, that they should economize, and perhaps flowers will be one of the things they will practice economy on.

But there is the producing class. Just think of the large increase in the ranks of these; think of the increased labor, wages, etc. Labor is the basis of all wealth, and everybody knows that supply and demand regulate all prices. Then is it not reasonable to assume that those who have their labor for sale will get more for it than ever? Will this not put more money into circulation, and counteract any economy that may be practiced by some of those who have been regular flower buyers? I firmly believe that the advertising man quoted has the right "dope," that conditions, in reality, are the florist's opportunity.

Seed Trade News

AMERICAN SEED TRADE ASSOCIATION.
President, F. W. Bolgiano, Washington, D. C.; Secretary-Treasurer, C. E. Kendel, Cleveland, O.

H. B. Buck, of W. E. Marshall & Co., New York, died July 21.

Reports from Michigan show that beans are growing nicely, with weather conditions favorable. The crop is now looking good.

Carlos Jensen, representing L. Daehnfeldt, Odense, Denmark, is making a trip in the United States, almost the only European traveler to visit the seed trade here this year.

Reports from California indicate that onion seed has been badly burned, especially in the river section. Growers have not as yet thoroughly checked up the damage, but feel that the crop will be cut from twenty-five to forty per cent.

According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, 138,900 acres of watermelons were planted this season and 58,650 acres of cantaloupes, which will give an idea of what the seed requirements would be if it were not for the home-saved seed that is used.

Articles of incorporation were filed July 11 with the secretary of state at Des Moines, Ia., by the Adams Seed Co., of Decorah, capitalized at $350,000. Burton H. Adams is the president of the company and Walter C. Adams its secretary and treasurer.

John C. Leonard, of the Leonard Seed Co., Chicago, who has just returned from a short trip through Wisconsin, inspecting the peas grown by the company around Columbus and Marshall, reports the yield probably will not exceed sixty to seventy-five per cent of a crop, as nearly as can be estimated at this time. Canning factories are finished with the early pack of Alaskas and will start on Horsfords and later varieties at once.

Many American seedsmen have had dealings with J. K. King & Sons, Coggeshall, England, and will learn with special regret of the death of Herbert T. King, head of the firm. Mr. King and his manager, J. H. Millard, were inspecting seed crops in Lincolnshire June 13, when a German airplane dropped bombs on the station at which they had just alighted. The first bomb killed Mr. King instantly and the second wounded his companion.

The seed grower who says peas are poor in Wisconsin and Michigan appears to have the weight of evidence on his side. Although the government report on canners' crops put Wisconsin peas at eighty-four per cent July 1, and the Michigan crop at eighty-two, the grocery trade publications are quoting canners as saying the condition in both states is much lower, due to excessive rains. In New York state the pea pack now is estimated at from fifty to sixty-five per cent of last year's, varying with the locality.

HENRY F. MICHELL CO., 518 Market St., Philadelphia

THE demand for bulbs of Calla æthiopica is not what it was before the Godfrey calla came into favor, but it is likely to consume all of California's crop of bulbs.

THERE is a feeling that some of the lily bulb importers have oversold, or that they have booked too much business at low prices. The market for giganteums in Yokohama is said to be much stronger than early in the season.

IT is reported that the prohibitions of exports in force in Denmark have been extended so as to apply to "all kinds of seeds, including seed tailings and seed waste not formerly prohibited." Until the full text is to hand, it is difficult to say exactly what this may mean, but if the order includes vegetable seeds, it will be rather a serious matter, as the American seed trade makes large purchases from Denmark.

ONION sets at Chicago have made a remarkable growth in the last three or four weeks. Showers and good rains have forced growth along until now the tops are quite heavy and inspections made about July 20 show some sets beginning to bottom, and indications in more advanced fields of tops going down. A week or ten days of warm, dry weather now would be just what the sets need to make nice keeping stock. The crop under such conditions will undoubtedly be good. On the other hand, much more wet weather would do a good deal of damage, especially in fields where tops are so heavy, causing a great deal of rotting and spoiling in the field.

STAMP TAX ON PARCELS.

There has come to my attention, as chairman of the postal laws committee of the American Seed Trade Association, a clause which appears on page 70 of the War Revenue Bill, now before Congress, which is known as House Resolution No. 4280. This clause reads as follows:

PARCEL POST PACKAGES.

Upon every parcel or package transported from one point in the United States to another by parcel post, a tax of 1 cent for each 25 cents or fractional part thereof charged for such trans-

A week or ten days of warm, dry weather now would be just what the sets need to make nice keeping stock. The crop under such conditions will undoubtedly be good. On the other hand, much more wet weather would do a good deal of damage, especially in fields where tops are so heavy, causing a great deal of rotting and spoiling in the field.

STAMP TAX ON PARCELS.

There has come to my attention, as chairman of the postal laws committee of the American Seed Trade Association, a clause which appears on page 70 of the War Revenue Bill, now before Congress, which is known as House Resolution No. 1280. This clause reads as follows:

PARCEL POST PACKAGES

Upon every parcel or package transported from one point in the United States to another by parcel post, a tax of 1 cent for each 25 cents or fractional part thereof charged for such transportation shall be paid by the consignor. No such parcel or package shall be transported until a stamp representing this tax shall have been affixed.

I am reliably informed that this clause will impose a minimum tax of 1 cent on all parcel post packages. This has been construed by the Postoffice Department as a tax on all catalogues, booklets and pamphlets that contain more than twenty-four pages.

You can see that this is a disaster in so far as any house that mails catalogues is concerned, for, notwithstanding the fact that catalogues are third-class matter, they are handled under fourth-class mail provisions, except that they have the rate of two ounces for 1 cent up to and including eight ounces; beyond that weight they are handled as parcel post, and if this new opinion of the Postoffice Department becomes practice, it seems that every catalogue you or I or anyone else sends out must have this war tax stamp affixed to each bag, envelope or container. If you are mailing a 1-cent catalogue your postage will be increased 100 per cent; if a 2-cent catalogue, fifty per cent, and so on.

The worst feature is that it kills all the advantage of the present permit system of paying the postage in bulk. All of us must of necessity rehandle our catalogue bags twice in order to affix this stamp.

We believe that this is an unjust tax, as the government is taxing the means by which business is created. It also precludes the possibility of the distribution of much catalogue matter, which in turn produces an enormous first-class mail, money order and parcel post business.

It is something that should have the opposition of every business man and every line of business. It is a direct blow to the industry of paper making, printing, lithographic business, color printing business, ink business and many lines that have a bearing on catalogue construction, and it certainly will hit every house that publishes a catalogue or advertising of any kind that has more than twenty-four pages.

To the Seed Trade:

So-called Antirrhinum Nelrose seed has been sold and is now offered that is likely to prove a disappointment to the buyers and give the variety a bad name. This seed is apparently grown from seedling plants, which always show some variation. This growing of seed from seedlings, persisted in for several generations, has resulted in a mixture in which it is almost impossible to find a plant of true Nelrose.

GENUINE NELROSE SEED

As the originators of the variety and to protect, as far as possible, the fame of the most widely grown snapdragon ever introduced, we have decided to take a hand in seed growing.

Our Nelrose seed is grown in a house containing no other variety. The seed plants are from Cuttings of the Original Stock, and every plant is absolutely true to type.

We are now harvesting a fine crop of seed and can commence delivery in time for August and September planting. Price, per packet of about 1200 seeds, 50c.

Your Regular Seedsman will Supply You at Same Price.
Liberal discounts to bona fide seedsmen.
In sealed packets only, bearing our name.

ANTIRRHINUM NELROSE has been awarded upwards of 50 Medals, Cups and First Prizes, in the United States, Canada, England, Scotland, France and Holland. It is too good to be spoiled by the dissemination of poor seed.

BURPEE'S SWEET PEAS

NEW EARLY OR WINTER-FLOWERING SPENCERS

EARLY KING
Natural Size

With a keen appreciation of the splendid future of the Sweet Pea, and particularly of New Early Winter-flowering or Long Season Spencers, we began crossing the Spencer-flowering Sweet Peas with the Early or Winter-flowering Grandiflora as far back as the summer of 1909. Later we have been using that magnificent Australian variety, "Yarrawa," to a great extent in our crosses.

We now offer with the greatest confidence the splendid Novelties listed below. These are all true, thoroughly fixed in type and are a great improvement on our various colors.

From sowing made under glass in August they may be flowered in time for Thanksgiving. September sowing will produce the finest of flowers by Christmas. If grown in the open they flower several weeks ahead of the Standard or Summer-flowering Spencers, and with proper treatment continue to bloom quite as long as that type.

Nine of these varieties were awarded nineteen Certificates of Merit by the following:
Pennsylvania Horticultural Society, Philadelphia.
American Sweet Pea Society, San Francisco.
The International Show, New York.

Burpee's Early Enchantress The flowers are immense in size, measuring two and one-half inches in diameter; they are exquisitely waved or frilled, well placed on stiff stems and usually produced in threes or fours. The color is most attractive and pleasing. It is a bright rose-pink, becoming deeper toward the edges of standard and wings, gradually softening in tone toward the center of the flower. ½ oz., 75 cts.; oz., $1.25; lb., $12.50.

Burpee's Early Loveliness The color is white, the entire flower being suffused soft pink until it reaches the edges, which are distinctly picoteed with rose-pink. A flower of immense size and great substance, beautifully waved and usually produced three or four on the longest stout stems. ½ oz., 75 cts.; oz., $1.25; lb., $12.50.

Burpee's Early King A glowing, rich, bright crimson. The flowers are of great size, perfect form, averaging fully two inches in diameter, and are produced freely in threes and fours on strong stems of great length. ½ oz., 75 cts.; oz., $1 25; lb., $12.50.

Fordhook Pink and White The most popular color in early-flowering Sweet Peas. Similar to the old Blanche Ferry, having a bright rosy pink standard with creamy white wings, lightly suffused rose. The flowers often measure fully two and one-half inches in diameter. The form is perfect, the beautifully waved blooms being carried on stiff stems of great length, usually in threes and often fours. ½ oz., 75 cts.; oz., $1.25; lb., $12.50.

Fordhook Pink A distinct shade of pink, suffused with lavender throughout. Flowers of large size, exquisitely waved, and usually produced in threes and fours on long stems. Particularly pleasing under artificial light. Oz., 85 cts.; lb., $3.50.

Burpee's Early Pink Beauty The color is soft rose-pink on white ground, richer toward the edges, gradually softening in color as it reaches the center of standard and wings. The flowers are of great size, beautifully waved and finely placed on the immense stems, which usually carry three or four of the magnificent blooms. ½ oz., 85 cts.; oz., $1.50; lb., $15.00.

Fordhook Rose This lovely variety is a charming shade of rosy carmine. The flowers are of largest size and usually borne in threes and fours on long, stiff stems. ½ oz., 75 cts.; oz., $1.25; lb., $12.50.

Burpee's Rosy Morn A magnificent flower of great size and substance. Flowers grown under ordinary field culture have measured fully two inches in diameter. The color is a pleasing shade of rose, with crimson-scarlet standard, while the immense flowers are usually borne in threes or fours on stiff, long stems. Oz., 85 cts.; lb., $8.50.

Burpee's Early Sankey This truly magnificent white was awarded a special Silver Medal when exhibited at the great International Show in New York, 1915, also Certificate of Merit at the Spring Show of the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society, Philadelphia, 1915. Black seeded. ½ oz., 85 cts.; oz., $1.50; lb., $15.00.

Yarrawa First exhibited at the great International Flower Show, New York, 1914, awarded a Certificate of Merit by the American Sweet Pea Society. From seed sown in early October at Fordhook Farms, the plants came into bloom December 20, and bloomed profusely until May. Color, a bright rose-pink, with a clear, creamy base. Floradale grown seed exclusively. Oz., 80 cts.; lb., $8.00.

Burpee's Early Snowstorm A truly magnificent pure white variety; the best of the white-seeded Early-flowering Spencers yet introduced. Flowers of great size and substance, beautifully waved, borne in great profusion. Snowstorm is an appropriate name, as the plants become a perfect mass of snow-white flowers. Pkt. (12 seeds), 25 cts., less ⅓.

Burpee's Early Lavender King A first-class rich, true deep lavender throughout; flowers of large size, beautiful, true-waved form and borne in threes and fours on stems of great length. Pkt. (20 seeds), 25 cts., less ⅓.

Burpee's Early Sweet Briar A most distinct and charming variety. Flowers are of good size with great substance, usually in threes and fours; lovely shade of pink throughout, with soft salmon or amber suffusion, this being more accentuated in the younger flowers and buds. A very strong grower and most floriferous. Pkt. (20 seeds), 25 cts., less ⅓.

Burpee's Primrose Beauty An attractive shade of deep primrose, flushed with rose. Flowers of great size and splendid substance, beautifully waved in true Spencer form. ½ oz., 85 cts.; oz., $1.50; lb., $15.00.

W. Atlee Burpee & Company have long been famous as American headquarters for Sweet Peas, and in addition to the Early or Winter-flowering Novelties listed above, we are in a position to supply a wonderful list of Standard or Summer-flowering Spencers.

We were the first to introduce the Spencer type into America, and such famous varieties as King White, Fiery Cross, Primrose Spencer, Apple Blossom, King Edward Spencer and many others. All our introductions serve to justify our claims, and each year many new varieties are tried out, but only those which prove themselves of exceptional value are offered to our customers.

Send us a list of your requirements for special quotation.

CANNER'S ACREAGES.

According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, canners have contracted for the following acreages, the 1916 figures also being given for comparison:

Crop	Factories reporting	Acres, 1916	Acres, 1917
Corn	416	203,232	221,238
Peas	242	82,123	103,206
Tomatoes	1,040	160,067	183,937
Snap beans	192	8,811	9,557

The figures are said to represent the totals of 97.4 per cent of all the factories canning corn, 99.6 per cent of those packing peas and 67.6 per cent of those tinning tomatoes.

PACIFIC COAST SEED NOTES.

To stimulate interest in better seed growing, the department of agriculture of the University of California is preparing to hold a seed show at the farm at Davis, during the first two weeks of the semester beginning September 24. While no awards will be given, all seed growers of the state are invited to send samples of their crops, which will be judged according to merit.

Plans for a seed farm are being projected by Phil O'Connell and J. E. Henry, on their Roberts island ranch, which they recently purchased from J. E. Lynch. The place is at Woodsbro, Cal., and consists of 140 acres. The Santa Fe tracks are on one side and the San Joaquin river on the other. Arrangements have already been made by Messrs. O'Connell and Henry with the Kimberlin Seed Co., of Santa Clara, to furnish stock seeds. Sweet peas will be tried, as well as onions, lettuce, spinach, etc.

Waldo Rohnert, of Hollister and Gilroy, Cal., has shown his faith in the San Joaquin delta section by the purchase of the J. J. Hickey ranch, in the New Hope pocket, consisting of 417 acres. He already controls the output of a large acreage of land in this section, as well as a large acreage in Santa Clara and San Benito counties. It is Mr. Rohnert's intention to use the Hickey ranch as an experimental farm in developing vegetable seeds. It will be under the supervision of J. M. Burchell.

KANSAS CITY, MO.

The Market.

There was a shortage of good stock in the market last week. With the exception of gladioli, lilies and a few Russell roses, all items were of inferior quality. There were many delphiniums and phloxes in the market, but they found little sale. Summer-blooming begonias are in the market and sell well, especially for hospital orders. Local growers expect to begin cutting asters soon, which will help out the supply.

Business last week was exceptionally good, there being many calls for funeral work and many orders for flowers to be sent to hospitals. Sales of the latter class have been unusually large this summer.

Various Notes.

The members of the trade in Kansas City who were among those drafted for army service are Ernest Moore, with the William L. Rock Flower Co.; Howard Bartlow, of the Alpha Floral Co.; William Miller, with Samuel Murray; Fred Horst, with Arthur Newell; Oscar Joslin, with W. J. Barnes, and Curtis Hunter, with E. A. Humfeld.

James Payne is moving his establishment to the northeast corner of Forty-third street and the State Line road. Mr. Payne already has several houses erected and ready for the transfer of stock. When completed the new establishment will be the same size as the old one, but more modern.

The William L. Rock Flower Co. had one of the largest decorations of the year at the Muehlbach hotel recently. The large ballroom was latticed over and huckleberry foliage and gray moss were used. The floor was made to represent a large sunken garden, with an electric fountain in the center.

A. Newell had an especially good week. He made several large designs for the funeral of a prominent man, besides having orders for a number of baskets to be sent to hospitals.

The Geo. M. Kellogg Flower & Plant Co. had several houses damaged by wind recently. They were torn down and rebuilt. The company has rebuilt six houses this year. Miss Brown, with the Kellogg company, is in Colorado on her vacation. Mr. Kidd also is away.

E. A. Humfeld is cutting some good asters. He has just returned from Dallas, Tex., and expects to spend the rest of the summer at his farm in the Ozark mountains.

Visitors last week were Edgar Hall, manager of the Hyde Park Floral Co., Austin, Tex., and Charles F. Heacock, manager of Hillyer's Flower Shop, also of Austin.

Charles Thomas says business has been satisfactory during his short experience in the greenhouse business and he expects it to be better next season.

HAVE YOU ENLISTED in OUR ARMY of SATISFIED CUSTOMERS?
IF NOT—WHY NOT?

Myers & Company, well-known florists of Bluffton, Indiana, write as follows:

Regarding the line of Fertilizer you offer The Greenhouse Trade, will say we have used it the past season with very gratifying results. My only regret is that we did not begin using it sooner. We used it on the carnations, greens, etc., as per your instructions, and have never cut as many or as nice stuff as this season. We also used it on the roses, and the crops of Ophelia beat anything around here. Our soil is a very heavy clay and your line of Fertilizer just fills the bill exactly, when used with plenty of manure in the soil.

Yours respectfully, MYERS & COMPANY,

ROCK SPRINGS, WYO.

War does not affect business in this section, except to make it better. Summer business so far has been twenty-five per cent better than last year.

July 9 there had been no rain for a month, but that does not affect the country, as almost all gardens and farms are irrigated. Having had heavy snows in the mountains, there is enough water in the ditches daily to supply all needs.

Eastern tourists furnish considerable business for the florists. The tourists come here for fish in the mountain lakes, which are surrounded by snow.

The temperature reaches 80 or 90 degrees during the day, and goes as low as 30 and 40 at night. There is never a month without frost, but it is not severe enough to hurt vegetation. Tomatoes, cucumbers and melons are grown outdoors. S. B. W.

Wichita, Kan.—Charles P. Mueller has his roses planted and chrysanthemums benched, and is now planting carnations. All his stock is in prime condition. Dry weather has caused outdoor stock to suffer.

Southampton, N. Y.—The annual flower show of the Southampton Horticultural Society was held here July 25 and 26. The show this year was for the benefit of the Southampton chapter of the Red Cross.

New Castle, Pa.—Little girls have been selling flowers on the streets for the benefit of the Red Cross and the News says that the florists are amiable about it. "They have no objection and have stated that any time the supply of flowers is exhausted they will go to the rescue. This is the right spirit," comments the News.

PACIFIC COAST DEPARTMENT

Vancouver, B. C.—Leo Eckstrand, 821 Tenth avenue, west, who is a grower of wide experience, has a new seedling rose which he calls Canadian Beauty and which he describes as follows: "It is for all the world like the old American Beauty, only it appears to be a more free bloomer and is not troubled by mildew or black spot under the most adverse conditions, which is saying something." He will give the variety a thorough test with a view to its dissemination if it makes good.

LOS ANGELES, CAL.

The Market.

The unusually high temperatures, combined with a humidity seldom equaled in this section, have not been conducive to brisk business; but, on the whole, the week has been fairly good. The arrival of a few new-crop carnations has provided better stock for shipping, and should the weather become cooler there will be more of this class of stock. At present it is snapped up quickly, at higher prices. Indoor carnations are still poor.

Roses are of moderate quality only, the long-stemmed stock having such small flowers that it is not worth the money asked. Gladioli have shortened up considerably. Asters are improving, and as the flowers come in from the cooler beach sections they will still further improve. The large double African marigolds are fine for large decorations, and on account of their lasting qualities they ship well to distant points. Dahlias are improving in quality and more of them are being handled. Golden West, Minnie Burgle and Delice are popular varieties, but several of the newer ones are running them hard. Funeral work has first call for stock, but there have been a few good decorations, wedding and otherwise, that have helped out considerably.

Various Notes.

Oscar Johanssen, of the Johanssen Seed Co., says that although the heat did some damage to his stands of flower seed, there is still a good crop. The soil at El Monte, where the principal flower seed crops are grown, is naturally subirrigated and, under the surface cultivation practiced, forms a good dust mulch that retains the moisture. Mrs. Johanssen is greatly improved in health, but will probably not take in her eastern trip this year. Oscar has purchased a new automobile, his frequent trips north over the rough mountain grades to San Luis Obispo and the continued running to and fro locally having been hard on the old machine.

Charles Lewis has again gone into the movies, having another appointment with a local studio. This time he says he has left the flower business for good.

As an incentive to keep up the good work done during the last season, and in token of the firm's appreciation, the Germain Seed & Plant Co. has distributed bonuses among its employees amounting to about $5,000. The season, of course, has been an extraordinary one, but the liberal spirit in which the firm has met its employees shows that those in authority have a keen sense of the value of good service rendered, and it is a healthy sign of progress. It is said, too, that both M. L. Germain and M. Meyberg are buying new automobiles, another good sign. J. Marks, manager of the fertilizer and insecticide department, is starting on a business trip to the east, New York being included in the itinerary. Messrs. Germain and Meyberg are also going on an eastern trip.

Several finely decorated automobiles were seen in the parade for the Belgian mission July 14. Although most of the work was done gratuitously, a good many flowers were purchased.

Albert Beverley, of the Mission Oak Nursery, Santa Barbara, made a flying trip to the city this week, driving down in his machine. He says that the heat did considerable damage to his stock, but that it is coming out all right now.

Fred Sperry has returned from a northern automobile trip as far as Santa Cruz and other points, where he looked over the bulbous plants and other stock.

O. C. Saake reports business a little slow, but, as he says, he expects it at this time of the year. The store window, in fact, the whole store, is beautifully kept and some excellent stock is shown.

Wright's Flower Shop had the decorations at the Belgian banquet at the Alexandria. A large number of French baskets, filled with hydrangeas and draped with English ivy, were suspended from the ceiling. The tables were decorated with Los Angeles roses. It was a most tasteful decoration and the ivy, the emblem of the Belgian troops, proved to be popular. Thomas Wright says that several of the staff are away on vacations, but that there is plenty of business to keep those remaining closely on the job.

O. M. Morris, of the Morris & Snow Seed Co., and his son have returned from their trip to Bear valley. They reported the weather rather warmer than usual at that altitude, but the fishing was good.

The California Cut Flower Co. reports business good for this season. J Rolleri says they are getting good results on long-distance shipments of the African Giant marigold.

S. Murata & Co. report better shipping business during the week, the new-crop carnations, asters and Lilium rubrum shipping satisfactorily.

H. L. Freeman continues the June window displays that have been a good feature all season.

John Fincken reports business good for the season. He is developing a good trade in landscape gardening and perpetual care of private places, besides which, his location close to one of the larger cemeteries is good for funeral work.

The H. N. Gage Co. is sending in excellent gladioli from the new El Monte growing grounds. The difference in the quality of these flowers and those from the older growing grounds seems to prove that H. N. was correct in his estimate of the soil at El Monte for growing bulbous stock. The new dwarf, or "pompon," zinnias are also showy and attractive.

H. R. Richards.

Otherwise business was quiet, although only seasonably slack. The market affords a wonderful variety of outdoor flowers at this time of the year. Zinnias head the list at present, both as regards quantity and quality. Some of the florists are inclined to think the asking price for this flower a little too high, but even so a great many of them find an outlet. Gladioli maintain their popularity well. Dahlias are becoming plentiful, the best sellers being Delice, Minnie Burgle and Mrs. Kettelwell. The flowers are particularly fine this year. Delice shows wonderful color. Minnie Burgle is being used extensively for striking display work, its large, red flowers and long stems making it especially desirable for the purpose. Quite a number of double scabiosas are still coming in, and gaillardias are plentiful. Hydrangeas are showing up well and the demand is all that could be desired.

There are enough roses for nearly all requirements, but more really select stock could be utilized to good advantage. Good American Beauties, Russell and Ophelia are scarce. There are few orchids to be had; in fact, orchids have been on the short side of the market most of the time since last fall. Gardenias fill the gap to a certain extent. A few asters are arriving, but it will be about two weeks before the offerings are hard enough to ship. Carnations are not up to the standard, and sweet peas are deteriorating in quality. Auratum lilies are fine and rubrums are becoming more plentiful.

Various Notes.

There was a fair attendance at the monthly meeting of the Pacific Coast Horticultural Society, particularly in view of the fact that now is the height of the vacation season. In the absence of President M. Poss, H. Plath presided. The picnic committee reported everything in readiness for the annual outing, which will be held August 12. A resolution was adopted asking the retailers to close up their stores on that day, in order that both employees and firm members could participate in the outing. The 1918 flower show committee reported progress in its plans. It was decided to hold a smoker at the next meeting of the society. The only display was a vase of Phalænopsis Sanderiana and Odontoglossum crispum, shown by J. A. Carbone, the orchid grower of Berkeley, who was awarded ninety-five points.

Avansino Bros. are making a special feature of Baby Doll roses, and are selling many of this variety, but so far this season this type has not been so popular last year. Henry Avansino is planning a hunting trip in Lake county.

Fred C. Jaeger reports business starting out encouragingly at his new store on Powell street, considering that we now have midsummer's lull.

E. Brennan's store, known as the store of the Market Street Florist, was slightly damaged by fire July 16.

Charles K. Kaneko has sold his florists' business at 1541 Haight street to Joseph Horovitz.

The J. B. Boland store, now located at 60 Kearney street, under the management of Charles F. Shellgrain, will soon be moved to new quarters.

Elisa Motroni, of 1806 Fillmore street, has filed a certificate of trade style as the Fine Arts Florist.

Knut Nyland, formerly with the Cottage Gardens Nurseries, at Eureka, Cal., and more recently with the California Nurseries, has accepted a position as foreman of the MacRorie & McLaren nurseries at San Mateo. An interesting item at the MacRorie & McLaren place this week was the sale of a boxed yew tree about 15 years old, for several hundred dollars. It stood twenty feet in height, in a perfectly formed column. This concern has about 6,000 cyclamen plants in splendid condition.

Miss Rothschild, of the Bellevue Florists, is leaving on a week's vacation at Modesto, Cal. Her partner, Miss Bertha Cohn, reports a fine hotel business.

Miss Recardie Lee Murray has had colored glass ventilators installed above her show window; these seem to keep the place considerably cooler. She says that the Clift hotel, where she operates a branch, is crowded with guests, and that business is excellent there.

Albert O. Stein has been busy on funeral work. He is planning another week's vacation trip.

Mrs. R. E. Darbee has completed a five weeks' motor trip into southeastern Oregon. The party passed through the redwoods of northern California, sleeping out in the open, without even a tent, and fishing and swimming whenever opportunity afforded. Mrs. Darbee contemplates going to New York for the S. A. F. convention.

Victor Ferrari is gradually filling up his orchid house.

J. W. Keegan, salesman for Pelicano, Rossi & Co., is spending his vacation at Duncan springs.

F. Rosaia, of Seattle, Wash., was a recent visitor.

The C. Kooyman Co., Inc., has placed on the market a red, white and blue basket, an attractive container for patriotic bouquets.

On account of the scarcity of orchids, J. A. Axell, manager for the E. W. McLellan Co., reports an unusually heavy demand for gardenias.

The day the Belgian commission arrived in San Francisco, Podesta & Baldocchi had a good table decoration at the Palace hotel, in which they carried out a color scheme of red, yellow and black. The next day they used many American Beauty roses at the Pacific Union Club.

C. W. Ward passed through this city this week en route to his home in Eureka, Cal., after an eastern trip, on which he completed the purchase of $25,000 worth of Jersey cows, at Waterloo, Ia., and placed orders for about $50,000 worth of bulbs and nursery stock. S. H. G.

PORTLAND, ORE.

The Market.

Business remains dull, the hot weather having put an end to any social activities that would mean sales. Asters have made their appearance in the market. The supply of all kinds of stock is large, but the quality is poor. There has been no rain for a month and the crop of annuals has suffered.

Various Notes.

The Wilson, Crout & Gehr Co. purchased two houses on the Pfunder range and moved them to its establishment. They are 27x167 and 19x167 feet. Carnations there all are planted with the exception of one of the new houses. Pompon mums have been given considerable space, as they are more popular each year. Mr. Wilson, who manages the greenhouses, has four houses in Boston and Whitmanii ferns, which have always given him a crop. The company grows a general line of stock for the wholesale trade and during the last year has built seven new houses. Mr. Wilson, with his wife and three children, will leave August 1 for Ocean Park to be gone several weeks.

A. Rahn, of Spokane, spent a few days here recently.

Walter Thompson is erecting a greenhouse for Scott Bros. at Moscow, Idaho.

Hans Niklas leaves for Newport about August 1. Upon his return Mr. Nicklas, Sr., will go to the same place and remain the balance of the month.

The rose festival prize money checks have been delivered to the growers who won them.

Mrs. Graham has been bringing in some nice larkspurs.

Herbert & Fleishauer, of McMinnville, brought in the first asters last week.

Local growers say that cyclamen plants will be scarce this year because of a short seed supply.

Florists are having considerable difficulty getting a fuel supply. Although Portland is in the center of a large lumbering section, the price is higher than usual.

The activity at the local shipyards has created a stronger demand for labor, and florists are having difficulty getting the help they need. Wages, also, have risen.

The monthly meeting of the Portland Floral Society was held Tuesday eve-

FISCHER'S SPLENDENS

A MAGNIFICENT LAVENDER FREESIA

The only commercial colored Freesia in the world, not to be compared or judged in the same class with any other colored Freesia. It stands alone for size, strength, beauty and fragrance. The flowers are very large, with long, heavy stems with foliage reaching well up the stems, and are highly fragrant.

It is a Freesia that will stand the test of time and will be grown by all florists when stock can be offered at commercial pr ces. Was awarded a Certificate of Merit at the Pasadena Flower Show.

Stock is limited; send in your orders as soon as possible. Is offered in two shades of color, a bluish lavender and a reddish lavender. Only good sized, flowering bulbs are offered. PRICE: Per dozen, $3.50; per 100, $20.00.

Cash with order. Sent postpaid. July delivery.

The Market.

Business conditions last week were good for this season of the year. Funeral work, weddings and a few parties in honor of the summer debutantes helped to enliven business, though the quantity of garden flowers had its effect on the cut flower and corsage orders.

Tourists have commenced to arrive in large numbers from eastern points, and the flower stores with their large stocks make a good bid for business.

Various Notes.

Many complaints are being heard from north-end residents about the effects of the sulphur fumes from the smelter on lawns, shrubs and flowers. In some cases even the leaves of shade trees are dropping.

George Seaverns, of the Northwestern Floral Co., reports larger sales in bedding stock this season than for a number of years.

James Simpson, of the Acme Floral Co., is taking a week's vacation at the beach.

Mrs. Watson, of the Twin-City Floral Co., Centralia, was a visitor this week.

Miss Bertha Giertz, of the Hayden-Watson Co., an expert florist-fisherman, departed last week for a week's fishing trip, destination unknown. Last Sunday morning she thought she needed a little practice in order to be in good form for the week's sport, so she spent the day out on the bay with her favorite line. The result, after fifteen minutes' hard struggle, was one 30-pound dogfish. This fellow so disgusted our champion that she kicked him overboard, only to find the same fish on her hook ten minutes later. We wonder what kind of bait she uses and we will trade our receipt for sunburns for her bait formula.

Henry Benthien is cutting some fine perennial stock.

A. Lingham, of Puyallup, was a visitor this week. B. G.

CHARLES "WIZARD" WARD.

The activities of Charles W. Ward at his Cottage Gardens Nurseries, Eureka, Cal., and the Holland Bulb Farms, eighteen miles from Eureka at New Haarlem, Cal., have been many; he always seems to be doing something new and on a big scale. His latest venture is in the dairying business at Eureka.

Mr. Ward, because of the high cost of manure, decided to produce fertilizer for his needs upon the place. But, instead of buying common cattle, he has gathered a herd of prize-winning milk and butter producers and expects not only to produce manure, but to make money out of the manure producers.

The herd consists of forty-eight head, twenty-one of which are of the famous Sans Aloi Financial King strain of Jerseys and cost $25,000, a bull and three of the cows representing an investment of $10,000. Mr. Ward recently made a trip to Iowa to close the deal.

In a page write-up of the dairy-bulb farm a San Francisco paper says: "Charles W. Ward, whose personality is back of this interesting venture, is not one to build his ideas on an insignificant scale. He is known throughout the world as the 'bulb wizard,' and rightly so, for his Cottage Gardens Nurseries are fast overthrowing the supremacy of Belgium and Holland in the production of rare and beautiful flowering bulbs."

Ouray, Colo.—John T. Roberts, Jr., is adding a greenhouse to his establishment, which heretofore has consisted only of coldframes. He will grow carnations, bulbous stock and pot plants.

NURSERY NEWS.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF NURSERYMEN.

President, Lloyd C. Stark, Louisiana, Mo.; Vice-president, J. R. Mayhew, Waxahachie, Tex.; Secretary and Counsel, Curtis Nye Smith, 19 Congress St., Boston, Mass.; Treasurer, J. W. Hill, Des Moines, Ia..

THE Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station, at College Park, has issued a bulletin entitled "Fumigation of Greenhouses," by E. N. Cory. It deals only with the use of hydrocyanic acid gas.

WANTS WHOLESALERS TO HELP.

[Following are extracts from an address by M. R. Cashman, of Owatonna, Minn., delivered at the Philadelphia convention of the American Association of Nurserymen.]

The development of the nursery business in the United States during the last forty years has been so rapid that we scarcely realize the wonderful growth that has taken place in so short a time. Horticulture in itself is an intense study, requiring close attention and patient labor to produce successful results. The nursery fraternities have been so deeply engaged in the solution of the big problem of supplying stock to take care of the planters' needs and the dealers' requirements, that insufficient attention has been given to the development of a commercial organization to handle the distribution of their products.

We find no cause to criticize the progress made in the development of the growing end, or, rather, the propagating division, of the nursery business, but I regret to state that I cannot find any such degree of advancement in the commercial field of the nurserymen's product. It is true, of course, that many concerns have perfected and at the present time are operating most successful systems in disposing of their products, but upon investigation we find that the practices and business tactics of these various concerns are much at variance, and it would be difficult to amalgamate two or more of them into one successful commercial system. When we enumerate the few successful concerns engaged in the nursery business in the United States, we find that they are scattered over a broad territory, and the conditions surrounding each individual concern are much different from those experienced by any of the others.

Retailer's Usually a Hard Life?

Thus we find a few, and only a few, really successful nurserymen in the country. The remainder are struggling for an existence, operating under self-made plans.

The small nurseryman must be a farmer, an expert propagator, a fruit grower, a labor foreman, a soil specialist, a bookkeeper, a stenographer, a salesman, a financier, and, besides all these, he must be a general adviser for his community in tree doctoring, tree pruning, spraying, handling and packing fruit. If he is a failure in any one of these vocations, he is not considered a thorough nurseryman. He battles away, trying to perform all of the functions connected with his calling. He thinks he is getting along fairly well, until June 1 comes, when he finds he has not made enough money during the entire year to pay his bills. He decides that there is something wrong, and, as most men of his class are liable to do, he makes up his mind that he is not working hard enough, so instead of working twelve hours a day he begins to put in fifteen. He does not have time to look about him and find out what the other fellow is doing; he does not attend any conventions or belong to any associations; in fact, he does nothing towards organizing and perfecting the commercial end of his business, and thus he puts in his life, struggling away for a bare existence. But it is safe to say that if this nurseryman investigated conditions he would tell us that other nurserymen are in a great measure responsible for his financial embarrassment.

Kind of Help Needed.

I have studied this problem from the standpoint of a retail nurseryman and grower, and while I am willing to acknowledge that those of the retail division of the business have been exceedingly careless and unbusiness-like in the exercise of their affairs, I cannot but feel that the greater part of the blame in this trouble should be placed directly at the door of the so-called wholesaler. Undoubtedly this statement will bring forth a storm of indignation from the wholesalers. They will tell us that they have conducted their business in an honest and upright manner, furnished the retailers with stock at lowest possible prices, given them credit until their deliveries had been made, and otherwise extended courtesies.

Now, we are not denying any of these claims; in fact, we are ready to acknowledge the many courtesies extended to us by the reliable wholesalers; but what has the wholesaler failed to do that he might have done? Has he done anything to protect the retailer in the field of trade; has he given him any encouragement in enlarging his business and directing the way to more extensive markets; has he done anything toward unifying and extending the hundreds of selling organizations maintained at big expense by the nurserymen throughout this country; has the wholesaler taken the lead in encouraging the sale of the most successful varieties; has he launched any campaign toward the elimination of suicidal methods and pernicious practices that have proved a boomerang and a paralyzing factor to the trade; has he undertaken to discourage the growing of worthless varieties that are so often substituted for valuable sorts because of their ease of propagation?

HYDRANGEAS

THE JOS. H. HILL COMPANY, Richmond, Indiana

Mr. Cashman's Plan.

These are just a few of the pertinent queries that the retailer directs at the wholesaler at this time. We cannot say that any effort whatever has been made up to this time toward the carrying out of a single one of these preëminent questions. Is it any wonder that there is a strained relationship existing between the retailer and the wholesaler?

I would suggest to the wholesalers a program that, in my opinion, would eventually eliminate many of the criticisms offered by the retailers. I understand that the wholesalers have an organization maintained principally to determine who of the retailers are worthy of credit and who are not. I do not know that this association has for its purpose any other object. Now, why could not this wholesale organization establish a bureau employing a competent man, with proper assistance, whose duty it would be to gather statistics and compile aggregates of all the marketable and available nursery stock being grown throughout the country? This bureau could be made a veritable bureau of information, a business aid to the retailers. It would help the smaller man immeasurably.

DAVENPORT, R. ISLAND, MOLINE.

The Market.

Business was good last week in spite of the hot weather, a greater part of it consisting of funeral work. Roses are in fair supply and the quality is good for the season. Carnations are out of the market. Lilies are in sufficient supply to meet the demand and early asters have arrived. Snapdragons, daisies and other outdoor flowers are plentiful.

Club Meeting and Picnic.

The annual picnic of the Tri-City Florists' Club was held at the William Knees summer cottage on Rock river and was well attended. R. P. McNutt, mayor of Muscatine, was a guest. Dinner and supper were served on the grounds. The day was perfect and all enjoyed a good time. There were dancing, games and races for the old and young, with prizes for the winners.

The Market.

The supply of seasonable stock was abundant last week, but the demand was slow. Carnations and roses are plentiful, although the latter are of poor quality. Sweet peas still are arriving, but are mostly inferior outdoor stock. Delphinium continues popular. It is rather scarce. Auratum and rubrum lilies are of good quality, but come in small quantities. The supply of ferns again is normal.

Various Notes.

Raymond House, who is with John Breitmeyer's Sons, Detroit, spent his two weeks' vacation in Buffalo.

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. David Scott, of Corfu, last week.

E. F. O'Hara, who is with the Texas Nursery Co., Sherman, Tex., was a visitor in Buffalo several days last week.

Burt Almundinger, who formerly was with W. J. Palmer & Son and now is with the Firestone Tire Co., spent several days of his vacation visiting Buffalo friends. A. E.

The Market.

Hot weather has had an effect upon the keeping qualities of stock, but there has been no oversupply for the steady demand in anything but lilies, carnations and candytuft. The demand is for the higher-grade roses and summer flowers, such as daisies, lavender candytuft, statice and gladioli. American Beauty and Russell roses have shortened both in quantity and quality. A few dahlias have reached the market.

Various Notes.

Joseph Streit has been receiving a fine lot of Boston ferns.

The L. Bemb Floral Co. has a summer window display consisting of a miniature pond, with a rustic bridge. At the back are large rubber plants, with birds perched on them.

Robert Rahaley, of the Michigan Cut Flower Exchange, is the proud father of twin boys born July 20. Mr. Rahaley had just extended congratulations to Robert Scott, of Corfu, N. Y., over the advent of a girl at the Scott home, when the twins arrived. Now the congratulations are mutual.

The Florists' Club picnic held at Bennett's park, July 17, was a great success. More than 100 persons attended and there was plenty to eat and drink for everybody. The ball game between the Spittoonias and the Salvias was won by the latter by a score of 16 to 15. Fred Chapman umpired and escaped uninjured. Miss Pauline Fritsch won the race for young ladies and Theodore Kuebler, Jr., that for young men.

Members of the club from out of town who were present were C. A. Morgan, of Henderson, Ky.; Peter Morgen, of Huntingburg, Ind.; Ernest Lutz, of Owensboro, Ky., and James A. Blackburn, of Mt. Vernon, Ind. E. L. F.

Greenhouse Heating.

SUBSCRIBERS are invited to write the Editor of this Department with regard to any details of greenhouse heating that are not understood. But please do not ask The Review to make a choice of apparatus for you. The greenhouse heating equipment advertised in this paper is, we believe, the best for the trade to buy, and each article the best in the special field of its adaptation.

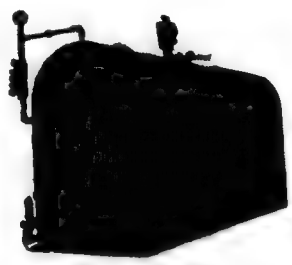
HARD OR SOFT COAL?

Will you kindly advise me as to which is the more economical coal for me to burn, egg or soft? I have 6,000 feet of glass and have two boilers which were intended for hard coal, but since the coal strike a few years ago I have burned soft coal, using forty-five to fifty tons each year.

J. R. P.—N. H.

Of course the relative economy of using hard or soft coal will depend on the comparative cost of the two kinds of fuel, and also on their analyses. Without knowing what the coal would cost or the fuel value of the two classes referred to, we cannot state positively which would be the cheaper, but a good grade of soft coal will furnish as many thermal units as ordinary hard coal, and for a range of the size mentioned we believe that it would be found cheaper in the long run to use soft coal rather than hard, at points where the hard coal is more than fifty per cent higher-priced than soft coal.

WILL INSTALL A NEW BOILER.



Will you please have your heating expert advise us regarding the boiler and piping for our three greenhouses? The largest house, as you will see by the enclosed sketch, is 45x125, seven feet high to the eaves and nineteen feet high to the ridge. South of it is another house, 10x135, with a 4-foot outside wall and with no partition between it and the main house. North of the main house, and separated from it by a partition, is a propagating house, 10x135.

WHEN YOU BUY—GET A KROESCHELL

"The Boiler of Unequaled Fuel Economy"

The Kroeschell has replaced hundreds of cast iron boilers. In every case higher temperatures are secured with the Kroeschell with the same piping and with less fuel.

KROESCHELL BOILERS, the best by test since 1879. Forty years' experience—guaranteed design—workmanship and working capacity.

The Kroeschell is making the most wonderful greenhouse heating record in the world. Florists who have used other makes are constantly giving the Kroeschell the highest praise.

3,016,286 sq. ft. of glass was equipped with Kroeschell Boilers during the year of 1916.

Hundreds of Florists' Review readers are using the Kroeschell Boiler and mighty is their praise. The year of 1915 brought an enormous number of new customers who saw our boiler in operation at other places. We attribute the large sales of this season to the good work the Kroeschell Boiler is doing everywhere.

With our policy—"the customers' interest first"—perfection of construction—factory to user prices—honest and "true blue" boiler ratings—you simply cannot lose.

EXPRESSIONS FROM MEN WHO KNOW BOILERS

ONE OF BOSTON'S WELL KNOWN GROWERS.

The Kroeschell has taken the place of four cast iron boilers at a big saving in coal. We are using it now for the fifth year. The longer we use it the better we like it.
(Signed) A. B. KNOWLTON,

THE PLANT KING OF THE WEST.

I have used Kroeschell Boilers ever since I built my first greenhouse. They have always given me the very best satisfaction and I believe them as good boilers as money can buy.
(Signed) F. OECHSLIN,
CHICAGO, ILL.

OHIO'S CELEBRATED CYCLAMEN SPECIALIST.

After using your No. 12 Kroeschell Boiler I came to the conclusion that had I to install more boilers it would be the Kroeschell and no other. It really is a pleasure to heat, no trouble to get the desired heat in a very short time.
(Signed) CHRIST. WINTERICH,
DEFIANCE, OHIO.

THE QUALITY PLACE OF BOSTON.

Regarding the Kroeschell, it is the best we have ever had and satisfactory beyond our expectations. It heats up especially quick and has saved us considerably already in the price of fuel. When we are in need of another boiler we will give the Kroeschell the first consideration.
(Signed) WM. W. EDGAR CO.,
WAVERLEY, MASS.

A BIG MAN IN THE FLORICULTURAL WORLD.

The Kroeschell Boiler I installed last year usually runs from 10 p. m. to 6 a. m. without attention. I do not have the least trouble to keep temperatures in the coldest weather. The boiler has given entire satisfaction.
The Kroeschell is the best boiler we have ever handled.

A FAMOUS ILLINOIS ROSE RANGE.

In speaking of the Kroeschell Boiler as an economical greenhouse boiler I cannot say too much. Personally I have had the pleasure or misfortune to fire nearly every make of greenhouse boiler on the market and I can safely say the Kroeschell is the best of them all.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST MUSHROOM PLANT.

We spent $100,000 in building and equipping the largest modern mushroom plant in the world. We purchased in every instance the best of everything we could get, and the fact that we installed a Kroeschell Boiler to furnish our heat is sufficient evidence of our opinion of same.
Since installing this boiler and operating it we have never had any reason to change our opinion.

The carnation range of Mr. Nic Zweifel, of North Milwaukee, consists of nearly 70,000 sq. ft. of glass and the water plant is heated by a No. 14 and No. 15 Kroeschell Boiler and Kroeschell Generator. The product of the plant is known throughout the West for its fine quality. Mr. Z. has used different kinds of boilers. Only a Limited Number of the Burnham Tubulars Will be Made This Year so Get Your Order in at Once

OF course we expected this boiler to sell; but we hardly thought it would sell in such numbers as it has in the few short weeks its existence has been noised about.

One southern grower came all the way north to see about one.

A Texas florist wired for particulars.

The first of the week when we checked up the orders, it was plain to be seen we must set a limit on the number to be sold this season, or we would not be able to make deliveries.

So the limit is set.

It's only fair that you should know this, so you can secure yours by acting at once.

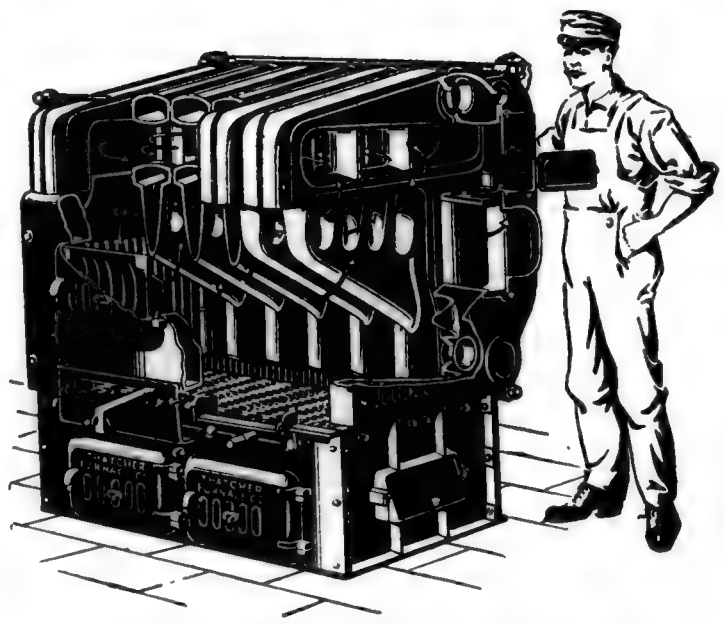
At the east end of the main house, and extending it to the same length as the narrow houses, is the boiler room, 10x45.

At present we are heating the houses with an upright tubular boiler, which is rated at twenty horsepower and has a 30-inch grate. We are using soft coal as fuel and are carrying a steam pressure of eighty pounds on the boiler and twenty pounds on the pipes, using the Morehead trap system. The piping, as now arranged, consists of one 3-inch flow running the length of the large house, under the ridge, and returning through 1¼-inch pipes at the sides of the benches. There are four returns in each of the narrow houses, and fourteen in the main house. The principal crop is carnations and the temperature wanted is 50 degrees.



Will a No. 311 Furman sectional cast-iron boiler heat the houses to the temperature desired, if we sink the boiler in a pit and use a low-pressure gravity system? The grate of this boiler is 30x55 inches; length of boiler, eight and one-half feet; width, four feet two inches; number of sections, eleven; diameter of stack, sixteen inches. Will a 3-inch flow pipe be large enough? The boiler is tapped for a 4-inch pipe. Will smokeless soft coal be satisfactory or should hard coal be used?

H. & W.—N. Y.

While we have used Furman hot water heaters and one of the smaller sizes of Furman steam boilers, we have never used the size referred to and cannot speak of its capacity from personal experience. However, judging from the area of the grate, there should be no difficulty in heating the houses described with this boiler, using low-pressure steam.

It would be preferable to use a 4-inch main to supply the steam for the three houses, although a 3-inch flow would answer for the main house, while a 2-inch flow pipe could be used in each of the narrow houses. We would not suggest any change in the piping of the houses, except that if a 2-inch flow pipe is used in the narrow houses, only three returns will be needed. By using a boiler adapted for burning soft coal,

SYSTEM

THE FLORIST!

¶ Automatically keeps every ounce of condensation drained from your steam lines.

¶ Insures a steady, uniform temperature in your greenhouses winter and summer alike—by keeping your steam lines free from accumulation of condensation.

¶ Saves you coal by returning the pure hot condensation immediately back to the boilers as feed water—in just the condition to use again with the least consumption of fuel.

Write for the Free Suggestions of our Engineers

If you are having trouble with irregularity of temperature in your greenhouses put the situation up to our engineers.

Just write us a brief description of your conditions and you will receive by return mail information about a better and more economical method of draining your steam lines—as well as complete particulars on how leading florists are using the Morehead System to grow better, more perfect flowers.

NEWARK, N. J.

The Market.

There is plenty of stock in the market, but only enough of good quality to supply the demand. Prices are low on everything except the varieties that are just making their appearance. Business with the retailers has been quiet.

Club Meeting.

At the July meeting of the Essex County Florists' Club, held in Rover's hall, this city, plans were made for the annual summer outing, which will be held at Gillette, N. J., August 1. The florists of the county who own automobiles will take their families, and auto busses will be supplied for the less fortunate. An interesting program of sports has been arranged.

The question of holding another flower show this fall was discussed and it developed there was much opposition to the plan. Decision was put over until the August meeting.

Various Notes.

George Penek, 667 Broad street, had a window display that attracted much attention. A pool with water lilies and a branch of a magnolia tree with the white blooms were the features. The branch was taken from a tree 250 years old, it was declared.

Henry Hornecker, Central avenue and Grove street, East Orange, has finished benching his fall and winter plants. He reports that business is good.

Henry J. Stein, who formerly conducted the flower department at the Hahne & Co. store, has quit and the company now operates the stand.

The Alpha Floral Co. has opened a store on Cedar street, near Broad.

PLANT TUBS

EVERLASTING VIRGINIA WHITE CEDAR

EVERYBODY agrees that Plant Tubs made of everlasting Virginia White Cedar will best resist rot or decay. The "Keystone" brand of White Cedar Plant Tubs are made of this celebrated wood, and these goods are painted inside and out with best oil paints, a rich green.

They are bound with heavy steel hoops for the large size, and electric-welded wire hoops (galvanized) on the small size. The large sizes are trimmed with handsome drop handles and metal feet, and have perforated, removable bottoms.

These Cedar Tubs are made in all sizes, from 24¼ inches top diameter down to 6 inches, amply large for a Bay Tree and small enough for a Hyacinth. Every one guaranteed. Booklet in colors, with prices, furnished upon request.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.

William E. Lewis, of Springfield, Mass., was married here last week to Miss Hattie E. Peckham.

Ralph Kinder, of Bristol, while in bathing a few days ago slipped and fell, severely injuring his leg.

J. Frank Schellinger, of Riverside, has the sympathy of the trade in the death of his wife last week.

William E. Chappell, secretary of the Florists' and Gardeners' Club of Rhode Island, attended the annual outing of the Masonic Veterans' Association. This was the first time he had been away from his home in five weeks because of illness.

Earl A. Kupfer, of A. A. Kupfer & Son, has enlisted as a member of the coast artillery, Rhode Island national guard.

Charles Smith and son Joseph left last week for a stay of several weeks in the Berkshire mountains.

R. L. Smith, of Pawtucket, is spending the summer at his cottage near Narragansett Pier.

Laurence Hay furnished a bouquet of eighty Killarney roses sent by the Masons to Judge George N. Bliss, of East Providence, on the occasion of the judge's eightieth birthday.

William Hay is busily occupied in renovating his greenhouses at Oaklawn, including the rebenching of several of his rose houses. He reports great difficulty in securing help.

Sweeney, the Florist, has purchased a new automobile for delivery purposes.

The Quidnick Greenhouse Co. has completed the erection of a house 35 x 250. The men have put in 7,000 additional carnation plants and 5,000 roses. They report large daily cuts, which are shipped to the New York market.

Richard Krans, for several seasons with William Hay, at Oaklawn, has resigned because of the great distance from his home at East Greenwich.

Two sons of John A. Macrae, Howard A. and Gordon B., were among those drafted. Their cousin, F. Arthur Macrae, of F. Macrae & Sons, was also drawn.

Pasquale Correra is erecting a new greenhouse on Cumberland street.

Maxwell Viller, with Smith's, has applied for admittance to the officers' training camp at Fort Myer, Va., which begins August 27.

CINCINNATI.

The Market.

Business is fair for July. The supply of stock is ample and the demand fair and steady. The shipping business in greens is heavy. Roses are in good supply; that is, there are more than enough for the present needs. The receipts of choice stock in this line are somewhat limited. Carnations are about at an end for the season and the coming week should see the last of them. Both the Easter and rubrum lilies are plentiful. Hardy hydrangeas are arriving in fairly large quantities. Aster receipts are about equal to the present demands. Gladioli have become quite plentiful. Among other offerings are snapdragons and larkspurs.

Greens are in good supply. New ferns, leucothoe and green galax meet with a large demand from out of town.

Various Notes.

The Rosebank Co. has been shipping large quantities of smilax to C. E. Critchell. The stock has been exceptionally good.

The Cincinnati Cut Flower Exchange has been receiving large lots of rubrum lilies, which have sold well.

Edward Bossmeyer, of the C. E. Critchell staff, and Edward Ruttle are enjoying their vacation at Harlan, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Forder are spending the current fortnight on a trip to Chicago and the lakes.

The William Murphy Co. has been receiving some excellent home-grown asters.

M. A. Vinson was in the city last week advancing the interests of the Cleveland flower show.

Among other visitors were Joseph Hill, Richmond, Ind.; Karl Heiser, Hamilton, O.; Walter Gray, Hamilton, O.; J. T. Herdigen, Aurora, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Beckman, Middletown, O.; William Hull, Bristol, Tenn.

NEW SOLANUM EUREKA.
The greatest novelty in berried plants for Christmas. This solanum, unlike the old variety, bears its berries on the top of the plant, which gives it the appearance of a solid mass of large red cherries.
The habit of the plant is dwarf and bushy; the fruit is perfectly round, the color a brilliant red and larger than an ordinary cherry.
A 4-inch plant will carry from 150 to 200 berries.

75c per copy postpaid

$6.00 per doz. express collect

THE original Album of Designs was published in response to many requests from florists who felt the need for an up-to-date book that could be used in taking orders for Funeral Designs, Wedding Decorations and Bouquets, Table Decorations and all cut flower work where it was not practicable to show the customer the finished article as it would be when ready for use. With the publication of this album it became possible to show the finished work in beautifully printed pictures. The first edition sold like hot cakes, a second and third edition went quickly. Now a fourth edition is off the press. Everything is in it—all the standard designs and many new pieces.

96 pages, nearly 300 designs and decorations, beautifully printed on heavy art paper, handsomely bound in a cover that will stand wear

Summer Flowers our Specialty

We grow especially for the summer trade large quantities of Beauties, Russells, Hoosier Beauties, Rhea Reid, Ophelia, Sunburst and Double White Killarney. The quality is exceptionally good this season and the advantages of buying direct from a large grower where the flowers are cut, graded and kept chilled until the customer receives them, together with prices no higher than others charge, make our stock a very attractive proposition for the summer demand. Ferns, fresh picked, received daily, $1.50 per 1000. All seasonable flowers not grown by us will be procured for our customers. A trial order solicited.

The Beautiful Transformation of an Ugly Skyline Effect

The principal flaw in the top photograph is the unsightly effect produced by dead branches. Edged against the sky is a ragged, monotonous outline in which there is a minimum of grace, symmetry and beauty.

Now note the lower photograph—observe what a wonderful transformation has been effected by Davey Tree Surgeons!

All ugly, dead branches have been removed, and artistic grouping has been achieved by the elimination of certain unimportant trees and bushes. What refreshing variety of outline is now presented, what charm lies in its perfect simplicity!

Possibly your estate offers similar opportunities for enhanced beauty—perhaps a little judicious artistry can bring out "hidden wonders" of which you are now unconscious.

BUT—be careful to whom you entrust this important work. Trimming and cutting, incorrectly done, is dangerous. Thousands of trees are lost every year because their owners do not realize the degree of highly expert knowledge and experience this work requires. More than half the decay in trees is directly traceable to improper trimming.

Take the safe course—

—and put your trees in the hands of Davey Tree Surgeons. Tree Surgery, as they practice it, is scientifically accurate and mechanically perfect—the result of the life study of John Davey, "The Father of Tree Surgery," augmented and refined by the massed experience of the greatest body of expert tree men the world has ever known.

Davey Tree Surgeons are the only Tree Surgeons officially endorsed by the United States Government. They have treated and saved the priceless trees at the National Capitol, White House, Naval Observatory, Fort Meyer, Charleston (S. C.) Navy Yard, Annapolis Naval Academy, West Point Military Academy, etc.

They are the only Tree Surgeons endorsed by thousands of estate owners—prominent men and women whose recommendations you can accept with complete confidence. And they are the only Tree Surgeons who are backed by a successful and responsible house, amply able to make good in every instance, and not needing, for the sake of temporary existence, to sacrifice in the slightest degree its high standards.

Write today for free examination of your trees—and booklet, "When Your Trees Need the Tree Surgeon." What is the real condition of your trees? Only the experienced tree surgeon can tell you fully and definitely. Without cost or obligation to you, a Davey Tree Surgeon will visit your place and render an honest verdict regarding their condition and needs. Write today.

From Mr. Lisle R. Beardslee, Wilmington, Del.

"The work done by your company upon an old tree in my yard is very satisfactory and a remarkable demonstration of what can be accomplished by the scientific methods followed by your concern."

From Mr. Arthur Heurtley, The Northern Trust Co., Chicago, Ill.

"The work done on my trees by your foreman and his associates has been very satisfactory, so much so that we have been at considerable pains to canvass the neighborhood so as to give the boys some extra work while in the vicinity."

From Mr. Wm. R. Kenan, Jr., Lockport, N. Y.

"Some twelve or fourteen years ago while visiting at my sister's summer home at Mamaroneck, N. Y., I saw your father with a very large corps doing tree surgery on that place. It impressed me so forcibly and, in later years, the results were so convincing that, upon the purchase of this place, I concluded to have your company do such work as was necessary here. The work has been entirely satisfactory."

THE FLORISTS' REVIEW

TEACHING PEOPLE TO USE THE F. T. D.

Every retail florist is supposed to know the workings of what the trade calls the F. T. D. service, but there are thousands of flower buyers who have not got the idea. A summer window display showing how the public may send "flowers by wire" will help in our campaign of education.

THAT the so-called telegraph delivery service is not bringing so much business to the trade as it might is due in a great measure to the haziness that exists in the minds of the buying public about the workings of that service. "Send flowers by wire," urges the florist in his advertising, or "We are members of the F. T. D." is a line across his show window. The ordinary person is familiar with the meaning of "C. O. D." or "P. D. Q.," but "F. T. D." is an enigma, and not so interesting that the casual observer tries to solve it.

During a storm which prevents him from following his occupation, the fisherman mends his nets; the farmer does those things which are necessary, but not pressing. During the off-season business calm the florist should be getting ready for the storm of business that is sure to come. But he should not stop at being prepared for that which walks into his store; he should stimulate it; impel it to his place of business.

There is a rich mine of virgin business in the F. T. D. service that only needs the business machinery called advertising to make it one of the great sources of sales for the retailer. Familiarize the public with the idea to such an extent that the news of a death or an illness, or an invitation to a wedding of a relative or friend in a distant city, will instantly bring vividly to his mind the F. T. D.

The Impression.

He will not think of the letters, but he will think of what he can do by merely stopping in at the flower store where he usually makes his purchases. He can—so runs his thought—give an order to his florist and, presto! flowers will be at the funeral, or sickbed, or wedding of the distant one.

There are many forces that are constantly working to increase the flower business called telegraph delivery. The officers of the F. T. D. Association itself, and most of the members, are constantly advertising it; the S. A. F. has done its bit during the year by contributing $1,000 to the publicity fund of the association. These forces are having their effect and each year shows an increase in the number of flowers "sent by wire."

Every Little Bit Helps.

Florists everywhere, non-members as well as members, are profiting by this increase in the use of the system by the public. They will continue to profit in just such an increased measure as they give to the propaganda of the association.

What each does may not be much, but every little bit added to hundreds of other "little bits" makes a sum total that is a mighty force toward increasing telegraph delivery business.

The florists' business is going to be good this fall; better, even, than most of those in the trade expect. This assertion is based on authentic reports of the condition of business during the summer months, which have been as good as, or better than, the same months of previous years. But while trade is dull let us not only be mending the nets and the harness, but also doing our share toward increasing the calls for telegraph delivery service.

One of the most efficient ways in which this can be done is to devote our display windows to advertising this service during the summer dull season. Such a display does not cost much in money, but may be as cheap or as expensive in time and thought as the florist wants to make it. But whatever he does will be a help and, as has been said before, every little bit helps.

Time and again The Review has called the attention of florists to this subject and the call has been generally heeded. Florists everywhere have put in telegraph delivery windows, both simple and elaborate. Those who have had such windows one year have come back with a better one the next. Study of how to tell the story to the public by visualizing it has brought the result that each successive window has had more "punch" and has been more effective.

Pretty Summer Window, but it Does Not Tell the F. T. D. Story.

A Common Mistake.

Illustrating this article are reproductions of photographs of windows used to advertise and familiarize the public with the F. T. D. service. It will readily be seen that these windows were not the result of a moment's or an hour's thought or work. How much they cost in money depends upon the ability of their makers to do much with little, for they certainly did not do little with much. The accessories with which they had to work are here utilized in a most effective way.

Members of the trade are so familiar with the F. T. D. and its workings that they sometimes lose sight of the fact that the public needs to be educated

During a storm which prevents him from following his occupation, the fisherman mends his nets; the farmer does those things which are necessary, but not pressing. During the off-season business calm the florist should be getting ready for the storm of business that is sure to come. But he should not stop at being prepared for that which walks into his store; he should stimulate it; impel it to his place of business.

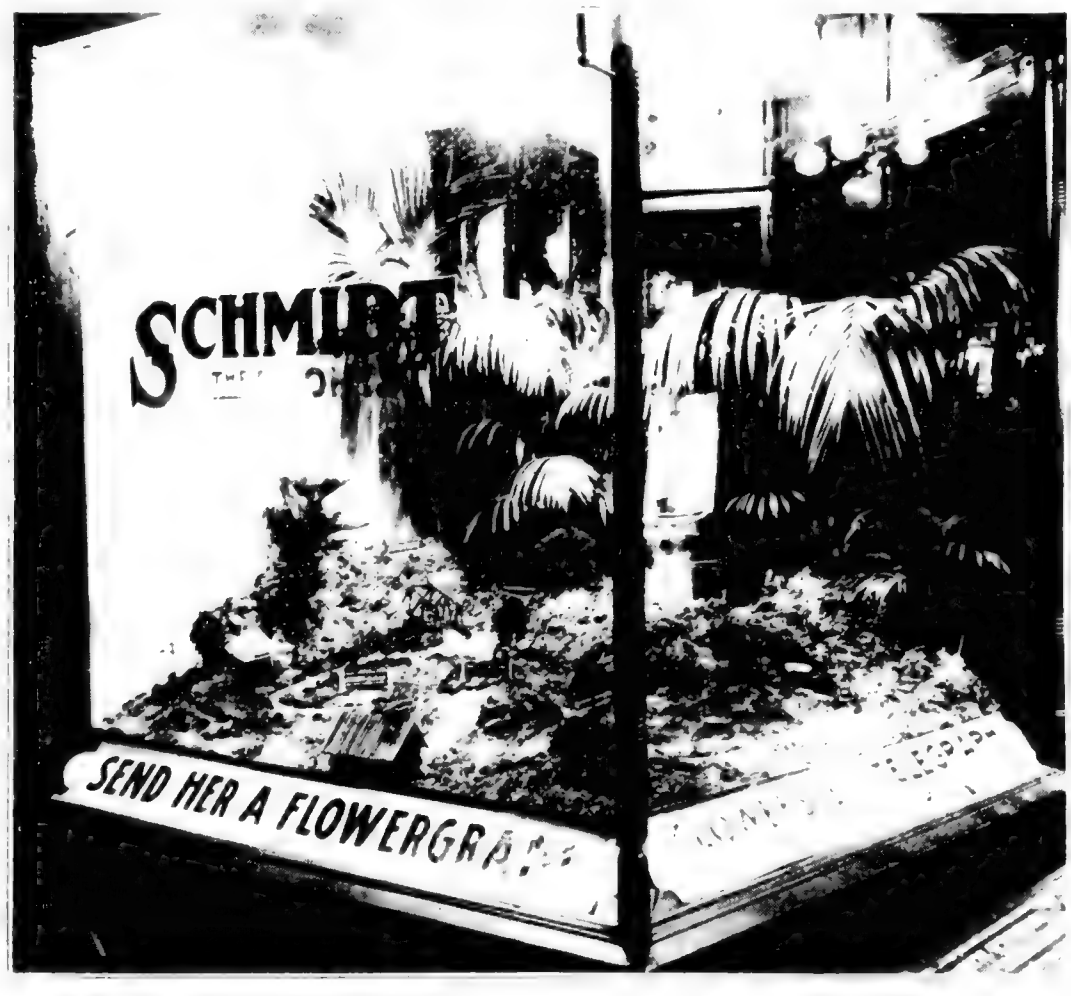
There is a rich mine of virgin business in the F. T. D. service that only needs the business machinery called advertising to make it one of the great sources of sales for the retailer. Familiarize the public with the idea to such an extent that the news of a death or an illness, or an invitation to a wedding of a relative or friend in a distant city, will instantly bring vividly to his mind the F. T. D.

The Impression.

He will not think of the letters, but he will think of what he can do by merely stopping in at the flower store where he usually makes his purchases. He can so runs his thought—give an order to his florist and, presto! flowers will be at the funeral, or sick bed, or wedding of the distant one.

There are many forces that are constantly working to increase the flower business called telegraph delivery. The officers of the F. T. D. Association itself, and most of the members, are constantly advertising it; the S. A. F. has done its bit during the year by contributing $1,000 to the publicity fund of the association. These forces are having their effect and each year shows an increase in the number of flowers "sent by wire."

Every Little Bit Helps.



Florists everywhere, non-members as well as members, are profiting by this increase in the use of the system by the public. They will continue to profit in just such an increased measure as they give to the propaganda of the association.

What each does may not be much, but every little bit added to hundreds of other "little bits" makes a sum total that is a mighty force toward increasing telegraph delivery business.

The florists' business is going to be good this fall; better, even, than most of those in the trade expect. This assertion is based on authentic reports of the condition of business during the summer months, which have been as good as, or better than, the same months of previous years. But while trade is dull let us not only be mending the nets and the harness, but also doing our share toward increasing the calls for telegraph delivery service.

One of the most efficient ways in which this can be done is to devote our display windows to advertising this service during the summer dull season. Such a display does not cost much in money, but may be as cheap or as expensive in time and thought as the florist wants to make it. But whatever he does will be a help and, as has been said before, every little bit helps.

Time and again The Review has called the attention of florists to this subject and the call has been generally heeded. Florists everywhere have put in telegraph delivery windows, both simple and elaborate. Those who have had such windows one year have come back with a better one the next. Study of how to tell the story to the public by visualizing it has brought the result that each successive window has had more "punch" and has been more effective.

Pretty Summer Window, but it Does Not Tell the F. T. D. Story.

A Common Mistake.

Illustrating this article are reproductions of photographs of windows used to advertise and familiarize the public with the F. T. D. service. It will readily be seen that these windows were not the result of a moment's or an hour's thought or work. How much they cost in money depends upon the ability of their makers to do much with little, for they certainly did not do little with much. The accessories with which they had to work are here utilized in a most effective way.

Members of the trade are so familiar with the F. T. D. and its workings that they sometimes lose sight of the fact that the public needs to be educated along the lines the first-grade school teacher educates the child just beginning to acquire his education. Simple methods, methods that will impart the idea and teach it from the ground up, must be used. The mere announcement that the florists of the country have such a service does not get the effect necessary; the window setting must tell the whole story in such a way that the onlooker will be impressed with the fact that he can order flowers in that store and a few hours later they will be delivered in a distant city.

There is where the ingenuity of the window dresser comes into play. He must make his window attractive and at the same time instructive. A detailed description of the service on a card would tell the story, but the chances are that few, if any, persons would stop and read it carefully; the card is good, but there must be a display that will challenge and hold the interest of the person on the street to such an extent that he will learn exactly what it is all about.

Do not Forget Flowers.

One criticism that has been made of many windows is that they convey the telegraph idea at the expense of the fact that the telegraph is merely used as a means to have flowers delivered in other cities. The flowers themselves have been neglected. No person is going to order flowers delivered in another city unless he deems flowers the gift he wants to make. And people who buy flowers for others are people who buy flowers for themselves, as it is only natural that we should believe that the things we like and are a treat to us will be the same to others.

Do not forget in making up the telegraph delivery window that flowers are the things to be sold and that the telegraph delivery is the means to that end. Stock that will answer the purpose of conveying this idea is cheap at this season of the year and will add greatly to the effectiveness of the window.

The thing that it is most desired to impress on the florists, however, is that it is good business to help advertise the Florists' Telegraph Delivery. Creating a window display is a real pleasure, just as any creative work is. It will add business and will give each florist who puts in a display the satisfaction of knowing that he has helped others just as others in the trade are helping him. And when Christmas, or Easter, or Mothers' day comes around there will be the results that are most appreciated—money in the cash register.

FAIR BOOTH OR WINDOW.

The F. T. D. idea is one that can be exploited at state and county fairs, using about the same style of display one would use in a show window. The illustration on page 13 shows such a booth arranged by Kemble & Goodman at the Iowa state fair last year. The booth was divided into two sections, one representing a telegraph office at Red Eye, Mont., and the other a veranda of a Mason City home. The story the booth is intended to tell is that of the son of the family in far Montana who, not having time to write to his dear old mother, decides to send her flowers. He wires Kemble & Goodman to send the desired love token to his mother. The flowers were shown to have arrived in a perfect condition. Of course, this does not tell quite the whole story, as it should bring in the florist at the sending point.

RETAILERS' CREDIT.

It is a fact that a goodly number of retail florists are absolutely unreliable and never intend to pay a bill they contract.

Why cannot all the good, reliable retail florists help weed out this detrimental element in our profession?

Do not say, "It can't be done," but help to knock the "t" out of the can't. There is one way it can be accomplished and bring results quickly, and that one way is nothing more than sincere and earnest coöperation with the secretary of the Florists' Telegraph Delivery.

Hundreds of past-due and old bills have come through the F. T. D. clearing house, sent in by members, and right today we could get up a list of retailers around the country who are well known and prominent florists, but who never pay their bills in time, and some bills they do not intend to pay at all. Over the period of the last twelve months I have come across bills of a few retailers almost daily, and these bills were from F. T. D. members from every part of the United States and Canada. Some retailers I know who have owed bills to at least fifty F. T. D. members, in fifty different localities, and have owed them for a long time, and only by threatening them that all our membership would be notified and warned not to fill any more orders for them, have we been able to get them to pay their bills.

Our F. T. D. members are advised not to fill orders for every retailer around the country, unless such retailers have established a credit with them, or they are F. T. D. members, as this membership, through its guarantee fund, which is now over $7,000, has established a credit for every member and is, also, advising every member to pay the bills promptly to all retail florists who are not members of the F. T. D., in order to build up a strong reputation for the entire membership.

The poor-paying or non-paying retail florists can only be eliminated by cooperating with the secretary of the F. T. D. Send itemized bills to the F. T. D. clearing house of all accounts you have against other retailers, so they may be recorded in this office; the parties owing will be corresponded with.

Why it is absolutely necessary to sift out the men that send out telegraph orders for others to fill, without any intention of ever paying for same:

A number of good retailers have been stung a great deal of late and are getting to a point where they do not even care to fill orders for any one, good or bad, which is bringing on some embarrassing conditions, as the F. T. D. members are constantly advertising the fact to their patrons that they can make deliveries anywhere. For once and all the time, do not put the F. T. D. members, or at least a majority of them, on the same scale as you would some retailer who has owed you a bill for a long time, as this is absolutely against the F. T. D. Association's by-laws and constitution, and if any F. T. D. members owe you money long past due, do not hesitate to send an itemized bill to the F. T. D. secretary, who will at once do his best to censure any such members. Every F. T. D. member must do his best to set an example, and is compelled to do so, in order to hold his membership.

Not so Pretty, Perhaps, but this Window Tells the Story.

State Fair Exhibit of Kemble & Goodman that Can be Adapted to Use as an F.T.D. Window Decoration.

All these things must be put on more of a business basis and it can be done only by coöperation. Why do people pay their gas, electric and water bills and taxes promptly? Because they lose the discount if they do not. Why not let the florists who do not promptly pay their bills for transfer orders lose the discount? This would soon cure a good many slow payers.

It is up to the retail florists to make a better and more efficient retail florists' trade and make our profession be looked upon by the public from a different angle than it has been for a good many years.

Let the retail florists of today be fifty per cent merchant and fifty per cent floral artist, and I am sure that in many cases there is not fifteen per cent mercantile ability installed in some retail flower shops.

My six years' experience in constant touch with retailers throughout the entire country, both F. T. D. members and non-members, has given me the greatest and most interesting study I have ever had in my life, and with it a great deal of enjoyment, in this work for a better and more efficient retail florists' trade.

SUNDAY FUNERALS AND CLOSING.

The movement on behalf of Sunday closing of flower stores has received a marked impetus this summer, as witness the action in this direction of florists of New York, Buffalo and other cities, who seemingly have been more or less unanimously in favor of the seventh day as a day of rest. The ever-present impediment of the Sunday close-down, however, remains; that is, Sunday funerals.

Of all the days of the week, Sunday is the most favored as the day of interment. Remains are frequently held over the usual 3-day period for the sake of a Sunday burial, the dead of one, two, three, four and even five days thus coming up for interment on the Sabbath. Obviously, many Sunday funerals, particularly if some of them are of good size, require the attention of the florist or some of his men—Sunday closing in many cases has become a close-down in name only.

It is with more than ordinary interest, therefore, that one notes the method by which the florists of Sedalia, Mo., discouraged the people from holding Sunday funerals. Determined to have their Sundays free from labor, the Missourians interested the town's ministerial alliance in the day-off idea, pointing out to the clergymen the futility of trying to close their doors Sundays as long as there were so many funerals on that day. The clergymen of Sedalia, thinking to benefit other workers as well as florists, were quick to respond, and the following resolution, strongly opposing Sunday funerals, was unanimously adopted:

"In consideration of our regard for the Lord's day as a day of rest and devotion, and of the unfairness and injustice of requiring from fifteen to forty people to work on Sunday at what is not a necessary work;

"Resolved, That we hereby register our disapproval of Sunday funerals, and our refusal to hereafter conduct a funeral on the Lord's day."

Perhaps florists of other towns, under similar circumstances, would find the method of the Sedalia tradesmen effective.

TATE'S TIPS.

Suggestions for Fall Opening.

August is "paint up and clean up" time, the time for the retailer to do his house-cleaning. All the things that impeded the workers during the rush season should be done away with now; a summer solution should be found for each winter worry.

When it is sizzling weather there also is time for a layout on paper of the window displays and advertising to be employed during the forthcoming season. One of the reasons for the many failures in advertising is that advertisers do not study and plan their advertising sufficiently, and after the first enthusiasm everything is done in a half-hearted manner. Every extra half-hour devoted to advertising plans will bring a remuneration later on.

One important midsummer job is to put the window in good condition, for the window, as everybody knows, is the retailer's prime salesman. A good thing is to jot down ideas for the window that is to serve as the "fall opening" of business. Make it something that will cause the people to take notice, for there is nothing like a good start after the summer months to remind the public that the finest flowers are, after all, those sold by the florist. Let the first gun be fired when chrysanthemums, dahlias and cosmos are plentiful, in order that the exhibit may cost as little as possible. Originality of treatment,

When it is sizzling weather there also is time for a layout on paper of the window displays and advertising to be employed during the forthcoming season. Let the first gun be fired when chrysanthemums, dahlias and cosmos are plentiful, in order that the exhibit may cost as little as possible. Originality of treatment, of course, ranks first, and the novelties in accessories should not be overlooked at this time.

The Coöperative "Stunt."

Perhaps a table decoration of unusual style would prove a card, but in arranging this feature one should not forget that women are critical. If such a display should turn out to be too expensive, one may try coöperative advertising; that is, by using the equipment of a good caterer and compensating him by a card in the window. I have seen this coöperative idea worked out in many cases, the other party usually being glad to supply his material for a good window showing.

Another idea is to have a tile or mantel firm put in a temporary mantel. Use care in selecting it; have one with a fireplace, for here is where you can use to advantage a good bunch of autumn foliage. The same terms might be made with the mantel people as with the caterer, but I think after you have once tried this you will want it to be permanent.

Remember the Weddings.

Then there is the bride's corner for a home wedding, and as it is the beginning of the social season, when many a young miss may be contemplating matrimony, it behooves the window trimmer to do his best. If the work is good it is likely to be remembered when the final arrangements are made. The white mats should be used, as well as the kneeling stool, white pedestals, roping—any good accessory that you may have. Let the opening be an exhibit of what you are prepared to offer the public during the coming season. Any extra expense in this is to be charged to advertising, so the next important thing is to have as many of the people visit your establishment as possible during the opening week. One way to do this is to insert a card in the daily papers. Another is to have a neat invitation engraved or printed, but remember that it frequently is false economy to use cheap stationery. The retailer should not forget that every paper in the city has a lady reporter. See that each receives an invitation to the affair, in order that you may have a news notice in the paper. Tate.

CLEVER WORK FOR DOG DAYS.

While some retailers are spending their time at the seaside or the lake resorts, presumably to avoid the sight of their idle cash registers, others are making use of the dull season by going after business with clever bait. J. W. Rodgers, of Dayton, O., is one of those who believe that the slack time is the right time for coaxing business in through the door. And Mr. Rodgers is unique in his publicity methods. He believes in the power of suggestion, and last week he mailed out 4,000 little suggestions to Dayton men, like this:

TO YOU, MR. MAN.

There are occasions that should never be forgotten, and the two suggested on the enclosed card, while not the most important, are, to a woman, whether in the glowing fire of youth or the darkening embers of later life, periods that even a word of remembrance will bring like the rainbow, memory of the sunshine past and promise of brightness to come.

In the busy routine of a man's life occasions of this kind are frequently forgotten.

May we not remind you of them—a day previous? We will not ask you to purchase, even though we believe flowers to be the best medium of conveying your good wishes.

J. W. Rodgers.

Accompanying the letter was a return card that read like this:

J. W. Rodgers, Florist:
You may remind me of the following dates, one day previous to them, understanding that I am not in any way obligated to you.
Name .....Phone .....
Address .....
Date of wife's birthday.....
Wedding anniversary.....
Other occasions .....

The possibilities of Mr. Rodgers' scheme, with the return cards filed so that they are taken care of at the proper time, are unlimited. An index of 500 such cards, with two dates specified, would represent 1,000 possible sales. Every time Mr. Rodgers has a wedding decoration he makes out a card, in order that he may remind Mr. Newlywed of the wedding anniversary the following year, and the many years to come. Incidentally, Mr. Rodgers has not copyrighted his "stunt."

A WHOLLY HOLY HOLLER.

A southern florist some time ago gave a toothpick concern an order. When the toothpicks were received, they were without a feature that evidently appealed to the purchaser, as he sent the manufacturer the following letter:

"Enclosed find check to balance our account. When you were here last, you sold us 50,000 toothpicks with holes in them, quoting as follows: 'The hole is the whole.' You failed to ship the holes, or they were lost or stolen in transit, as we could not find the holes.

"The next shipment you make us we want you to add the 50,000 holes that were short this time. We would have written sooner but thought we might find the holes in the bottom of the box. But we have reached the bottom and still are minus the holes."

C. O. D. BOOKKEEPING.

We formerly had trouble keeping our c. o. d. accounts straight. The system we have been using for several years is simple and practically eliminates trouble.

We open in our individual ledger one account against Mr. C. O. D. When the c. o. d. order goes to Mr. Jones, 800 Sixteenth street, we charge Mr. C. O. D. with Jones' flowers, $2. When the c. o. d. comes back, Mr. C. O. D. is credited with Jones' $2. In this way at the end of the month we can check up and tell just when every c. o. d. account came in. I recommend a trial of this system to anyone who is not satisfied with his system of keeping c. o. d. accounts. Z. D. Blackistone.

A BASKET FUNERAL PIECE.

Baskets as funeral pieces are unusual, but P. V. Matraia, of the Art Floral Co., San Francisco, Cal, is having great success with them. One of three he recently made in a single day is shown in the illustration on page 15. The basket is on a column base. Mr. Matraia points out that pieces of this character give opportunities to dispose of baskets, which may be filled with different kinds of stock. One he made was so acceptable that he received a similar order for the same funeral.

SEASONABLE SUGGESTIONS

Callas.

The callas should now be well ripened off and can be shaken out and repotted. Cut away any decayed parts on the tubers. Any that are badly affected would better be thrown away. Small tubers, if wanted, can be planted in flats six inches deep or placed several together in pots. Use a rich soil for callas. Give them good drainage and, after potting, stand them outdoors and leave them there until September.

As between bench and pot culture, the latter has manifold advantages. The roots are under better control, the pots can be moved about at any time and the plants are much more floriferous than when given unlimited root-run. A narrow bench containing a single row along the side of a carnation house is ideal for callas and I find that three tubers in an 8-inch pot give splendid results.

The Godfrey calla is much more prolific and much purer in color than the old æthiopica.

Antirrhinums.

For a fall and winter crop the first half of August is a good time to plant out snapdragons. I prefer to use only four and one-half to five inches of soil and to run the rows twelve inches apart, allowing nine inches between the plants. The plants should be allowed to run up their flower spikes until the blooms start to open and then should be pinched back fairly hard. This will cause them to break away strongly from the base. In planting out, if the balls are at all matted, loosen them a little and be sure that the balls are moist.

Until the plants take hold of the soil it is better to water a little around each plant rather than to soak the entire bed or bench. Do not keep a moist atmosphere and, while an overhead spraying on extremely hot days is refreshing, do not overdo this, as it is easy to develop fungoid affections, to which snapdragons are no longer immune.

The Aphis Plague.

From many sections come advices that large batches of vegetable, flower and orchard plants have been terribly infested with green and black aphis. Even fields of potatoes and tomatoes, usually immune, are almost ruined, while miscellaneous root crops, peas and beans, asters, various herbaceous perennials and even dahlias are alive with aphis. Where whole fields are attacked the spraying is a big proposition, but the average florist can easily care for his sweet peas, carnations, asters and other infested crops by spraying the plants with a good nicotine extract, to which some soap is added to make it more adhesive. Use a fine, misty nozzle. Direct the spray with a good force and remember that you must wet each individual with the spray to kill it.

Calceolarias.

Sow the seeds of herbaceous calceolarias about August 1, in a coldframe or well shaded greenhouse. Protect the pan with glass and paper. Let the soil be finely screened, water and then sow the seeds; later scatter a little fine sand over it. Another plan, and a good one, is to screen a little fine, dry sphagnum moss over the surface of the pan, scatter the seeds on this and then water. It is too soon yet to take cuttings of the rugosa calceolarias.

SINGLE YELLOW DAISIES.

I should like to know the name of the single yellow daisies that are used as cut flowers in the winter and spring for basket and corsage work. When should they be planted in the greenhouse? Shall I buy rooted cuttings or 2½-inch stock? Do they need solid beds or raised benches? How much space do they require? Please give me any cultural directions that are necessary.

G. S. F.—Pa.

All yellow marguerites are forms of Chrysanthemum frutescens. Plant now from 2½-inch pots in either solid beds or raised benches. While the majority of growers prefer to limit the root-run of their plants, and carry over old plants in many cases from year to year, yet the largest and most successful grower of yellow marguerites for the Boston market, which receives more good yellow marguerites than any other city in the United States, plants young stock each season and in ground beds. The way his plants flower is a revelation.

A minimum temperature of 50 degrees suits marguerites and a soil such as suits roses, mums or carnations will answer well for them. Place the plants eighteen inches apart each way. Supports must be given from time to time; a system of cross strings similar to those used for carnations, only spaced farther apart, will be found suitable. If leaf miners attack the foliage, use a fairly strong nicotine spray. A similar spray or fumigation will care for aphis. When well established, marguerites need a liberal water supply. In addition, a mulch of cow manure and soakings of liquid manure will prove beneficial. There are many types of yellow marguerites, good, bad and indifferent. You should mark and propagate from your best varieties only. C. W.

A STEADY CUT OF LILIES.

I expect to have a steady call for Lilium giganteum buds. I shall need a supply of about fifty to sixty opening buds per week the year around for cut flower purposes. How often should I plant these and would it be better to grow them on a bench rather than in pots? Some advice as to soil and treatment will be appreciated.

C. C.—Okla.

Cold storage lily bulbs will not be necessary the whole year. From December until May, by using fresh bulbs of Formosa, Harrisii and giganteum, you can obtain a regular succession of lily flowers. From May until December cold storage stock will be necessary. You would better buy these so that they will come to you in small cases of 100 to 150 bulbs. Place them in 5-inch or 5½-inch pots as soon as received. Give them a warm house until the flowers start to open; then run them cooler. In the warm summer months any house is warm enough to start them. Cold storage bulbs start to grow quickly. A soil which will suit any soft-wooded plants will answer well.

If you start 100 to 150 at a time you will not need the whole lot to come in together; some you can grow cooler and others you can easily retard in a cold cellar. Cold storage bulbs will not give over two to four flowers per bulb on the average and lack the vigor of newly imported stock. Stand the plants when potted below a bench and leave them there until growth is well started; then place them on a bench. Give them a rather dark house, in order to draw up the stalks. In strong light they come quite dwarf. C. W.

PESTS ON DAHLIAS.

Before long we shall have the dahlia season with us, and the writer would like to be prepared more thoroughly than heretofore to meet the enemies of this beautiful flower. The greatest damage is done to the blooms by a number of different insects, mostly or all of the eating kind. At present the most troublesome insects are the little green jumper and the brown, fly-like bug with grayish white spots on the wings. These eat the centers out of the tender shoots and thus cripple the plants. As we have never been able to conquer any of these pests entirely, we are asking your assistance. H. J. J.—Mo.

The jumping pest referred to is probably the tarnished plant bug, also called chinch bug, which is a difficult pest to fight, as it does not stay still as the aphides do. Quassia chips soaked in water, with some soap added to make it stick, have proved a good remedy; so, also, have nicotine extracts to which soap has been added. The bug which eats the shoots will need a poison. Arsenate of lead whitens the foliage, but will not burn it. Use this at the rate of four pounds to fifty gallons of water. I would suggest using a combined spray of arsenate of lead, nicotine and soap. This should account for all pests reached, but several applications will probably be necessary. Do not leave any rubbish heaps over winter near your dahlias. They form good breeding places for the chinch bugs.

of course, ranks first, and the novelties in accessories should not be overlooked at this time.

The Coöperative "Stunt."

Perhaps a table decoration of unusual style would prove a card, but in arranging this feature one should not forget that women are critical. If such a display should turn out to be too expensive, one may try coöperative advertising; that is, by using the equipment of a good caterer and compensating him by a card in the window. I have seen this coöperative idea worked out in many cases, the other party usually being glad to supply his material for a good window showing.

Another idea is to have a tile or mantel firm put in a temporary mantel. Use care in selecting it; have one with a fireplace, for here is where you can use to advantage a good bunch of autumn foliage. The same terms might be made with the mantel people as with the caterer, but I think after you have once tried this you will want it to be permanent.

Remember the Weddings.

Then there is the bride's corner for a home wedding, and as it is the beginning of the social season, when many a young miss may be contemplating matrimony, it behooves the window trimmer to do his best. If the work is good it is likely to be remembered when the final arrangements are made. The white mats should be used, as well as the kneeling stool, white pedestals, roping—any good accessory that you may have. Let the opening be an exhibit of what you are prepared to offer the public during the coming season. Any extra expense in this is to be charged to advertising, so the next important thing is to have as many of the people visit your establishment as possible during the opening week. One way to do this is to insert a card in the daily papers. Another is to have a neat invitation engraved or printed, but remember that it frequently is false economy to use cheap stationery. The retailer should not forget that every paper in the city has a lady reporter. See that each receives an invitation to the affair, in order that you may have a news notice in the paper. Tate.

CLEVER WORK FOR DOG DAYS.

While some retailers are spending their time at the seaside or the lake resorts, presumably to avoid the sight of their idle cash registers, others are making use of the dull season by going after business with clever bait. J. W. Rodgers, of Dayton, O., is one of those who believe that the slack time is the right time for coaxing business in through the door. And Mr. Rodgers is unique in his publicity methods. He believes in the power of suggestion, and last week he mailed out 4,000 little suggestions to Dayton men, like this:

TO YOU, MR. MAN.

There are occasions that should never be forgotten, and the two suggested on the enclosed card, while not the most important, are, to a woman, whether in the glowing fire of youth or the darkening embers of later life, periods that even a word of remembrance will bring like the rainbow, memory of the sunshine past and promise of brightness to come.

In the busy routine of a man's life occasions of this kind are frequently forgotten.

May we not remind you of them a day previous? We will not ask you to purchase, even though we believe flowers to be the best medium of conveying your good wishes.

J. W. Rodgers.

Accompanying the letter was a return card that read like this:

J. W. Rodgers, Florist:
You may remind me of the following dates, one day previous to them, understanding that I am not in any way obligated to you.
Name .....Phone .....
Address .....
Date of wife's birthday.....
Wedding anniversary.....
Other occasions .....

The possibilities of Mr. Rodgers' scheme, with the return cards filed so that they are taken care of at the proper time, are unlimited. An index of 500 such cards, with two dates specified, would represent 1,000 possible sales. Every time Mr. Rodgers has a wedding decoration he makes out a card, in order that he may remind Mr. Newlywed of the wedding anniversary the following year, and the many years to come. Incidentally, Mr. Rodgers has not copyrighted his "stunt."

A WHOLLY HOLY HOLLER.

A southern florist some time ago gave a toothpick concern an order. When the toothpicks were received, they were without a feature that evidently appealed to the purchaser, as he sent the manufacturer the following letter:

"Enclosed find check to balance our account. When you were here last, you sold us 50,000 toothpicks with holes in them, quoting as follows: 'The hole is the whole.' You failed to ship the holes, or they were lost or stolen in transit, as we could not find the holes.

"The next shipment you make us we want you to add the 50,000 holes that were short this time. We would have written sooner but thought we might find the holes in the bottom of the box. But we have reached the bottom and still are minus the holes."

C. O. D. BOOKKEEPING.

We formerly had trouble keeping our c. o. d. accounts straight. The system we have been using for several years is simple and practically eliminates trouble.

We open in our individual ledger one account against Mr. C. O. D. When the c. o. d. order goes to Mr. Jones, 800 Sixteenth street, we charge Mr. C. O. D. with Jones' flowers, $2. When the c. o. d. comes back, Mr. C. O. D. is credited with Jones' $2. In this way at the end of the month we can check up and tell just when every c. o. d. account came in. I recommend a trial of this system to anyone who is not satisfied with his system of keeping c. o. d. accounts. Z. D. Blackistone.

A BASKET FUNERAL PIECE.

Baskets as funeral pieces are unusual, but P. V. Matraia, of the Art Floral Co., San Francisco, Cal, is having great success with them. One of three he recently made in a single day is shown in the illustration on page 15. The basket is on a column base. Mr. Matraia points out that pieces of this character give opportunities to dispose of baskets, which may be filled with different kinds of stock. One he made was so acceptable that he received a similar order for the same funeral.

SEASONABLE SUGGESTIONS

Callas.

The callas should now be well ripened off and can be shaken out and repotted. Cut away any decayed parts on the tubers. Any that are badly affected would better be thrown away. Small tubers, if wanted, can be planted in flats six inches deep or placed several together in pots. Use a rich soil for callas. Give them good drainage and, after potting, stand them outdoors and leave them there until September.

As between bench and pot culture, the latter has manifold advantages. The roots are under better control, the pots can be moved about at any time and the plants are much more floriferous than when given unlimited root run. A narrow bench containing a single row along the side of a carnation house is ideal for callas and I find that three tubers in an 8 inch pot give splendid results.

The Godfrey calla is much more prolific and much purer in color than the old æthiopica.

Antirrhinums.

For a fall and winter crop the first half of August is a good time to plant out snapdragons. I prefer to use only four and one-half to five inches of soil and to run the rows twelve inches apart, allowing nine inches between the plants. The plants should be allowed to run up their flower spikes until the blooms start to open and then should be pinched back fairly hard. This will cause them to break away strongly from the base. In planting out, if the balls are at all matted, loosen them a little and be sure that the balls are moist.

Until the plants take hold of the soil it is better to water a little around each plant rather than to soak the entire bed or bench. Do not keep a moist atmosphere and, while an overhead spraying on extremely hot days is refreshing, do not overdo this, as it is easy to develop fungoid affections, to which snapdragons are no longer immune.

The Aphis Plague.

From many sections come advices that large batches of vegetable, flower and orchard plants have been terribly infested with green and black aphis. Even fields of potatoes and tomatoes, usually immune, are almost ruined, while miscellaneous root crops, peas and beans, asters, various herbaceous perennials and even dahlias are alive with aphis. Where whole fields are attacked the spraying is a big proposition, but the average florist can easily care for his sweet peas, carnations, asters and other infested crops by spraying the plants with a good nicotine extract, to which some soap is added to make it more adhesive. Use a fine, misty nozzle. Direct the spray with a good force and remember that you must wet each individual with the spray to kill it.

Calceolarias.

Sow the seeds of herbaceous calceolarias about August 1, in a coldframe or well shaded greenhouse. Protect the pan with glass and paper. Let the soil be finely screened, water and then sow the seeds; later scatter a little fine sand over it. Another plan, and a good one, is to screen a little fine, dry sphagnum moss over the surface of the pan, scatter the seeds on this and then water. It is too soon yet to take cuttings of the rugosa calceolarias.

SINGLE YELLOW DAISIES.

I should like to know the name of the single yellow daisies that are used as cut flowers in the winter and spring for basket and corsage work. When should they be planted in the greenhouse? Shall I buy rooted cuttings or 2½-inch stock? Do they need solid beds or raised benches? How much space do they require? Please give me any cultural directions that are necessary.

SOCIETY OF AMERICAN FLORISTS.

The New York Convention.

The trade in New York is greatly elated over convention attendance prospects. Reports coming in from state vice-presidents point to a banner delegation from many sections, and there appears to be little room for doubt that the convention will be the biggest and, from a business point of view, the best on record.

The announced curtailment of the customary entertainment for visitors does not seem to be at all detrimental to the success of the gathering; judging from many communications received, the absence of anything functional in character is a most welcome feature of the program. Still, as a precedent the desired policy of no general entertainment is hard to establish and many little surprises await the visitors. New York has always been conspicuous at conventions through its large delegations, whose enjoyment of the hospitalities extended by convention cities has been most marked and it goes sadly against the grain of the New Yorkers to have to give the first push to the new order of things.

The success of the trade exhibition is practically assured. The display will be staged on the main floor of the Grand Central Palace, the home of New York's big annual flower show, and the meeting quarters will be adjacent. The convention management was most fortunate in being able to house the convention in this fine building. Incoming exhibits will be conveniently handled; in fact, will be received practically on the floor where they are to be staged. There is an excellent cafe and restaurant in the building, and other conveniences, such as telegraph, telephones and post-office chutes. Adjoining the secretary's office will be found the bureau of information, where attendants will be constantly at the service of visitors.

Visitors upon arrival should report immediately at the secretary's office, which will be found at the left of the main entrance to the building.

Fifth National Flower Show.

Arrangements for the Fifth National Flower Show, to be held in St. Louis, April 6 to 15 next, are progressing nicely. The second preliminary schedule of prizes has been sent out and floor plans of Moolah Temple and the adjoining building, where the show is to be held, are in course of preparation.

As the S. A. F. convention is to be held in conjunction with the show, more than ordinary interest attaches to the trade section of the show, which naturally will absorb the usual convention trade exhibition. The advantage this presents to exhibitors is being recognized and reservations of space for extensive displays are already being made. Among the concerns which have booked space are Lord & Burnham Co., Chicago; A. L. Randall Co., Chicago, and the Fulper Pottery Co., Flemington, N. J.

Copies of the second preliminary schedule may be had on application to the secretary, 53 West Twenty-eighth street, New York.

John Young, Sec'y.

LADIES' S. A. F.

The adoption of a new constitution and by-laws will be considered at the annual meeting of the Ladies' S. A. F., to be held in New York city August 22. Members of the society will please take notice.

Mrs. Chas. H. Maynard, Sec'y.

WHERE TO STOP IN NEW YORK.

The New York Florists' Club committee on arrangements for the S. A. F. convention in New York August 21 to 23 has made a list of hotels which it recommends to the delegates and their families. The list of these hotels and a schedule of rates at each follow:

Hotel Algonquin, 59 West Forty-fourth street, single with bath, $2.50; double with bath, $3.

Hotel Astor, Broadway and Forty-fourth street, single, $2 to $3.50; with bath, $3 to $6; double, $3 to $5; with bath, $4 to $8.

Belmont, Park avenue and Forty-second street, single, $2.50 to $4; double, $5; with bath, $5 to $6.

Biltmore, Madison avenue and Forty-second street, single with bath, $3.50 to $5; double with bath, $6.

Bristol, 122 West Forty-ninth street, single, European, $1.50 to $2; American, $3 to $3.50; double, European, $2.50 to $3; American, $5 to $5.50, all rooms with bath.

Flanders, 133 West Forty-seventh street, single with bath, $1.50 to $2.50; double with bath, $2.50 to $3.

Hotel Longacre, 157 West Forty-seventh street, single, $1; with bath, $1.50 to $2.50.

Manhattan, Madison avenue and Forty-second street, single, $2.50; with bath, $3 to $5; double, $4 to $8.

McAlpin, Broadway and Thirty-fourth street, single, $2 to $3; with bath, $2.50; double with bath, $4 to $7.

Somerset, 150 West Forty-seventh street, single, $1 to $1.25; with bath, $1.50 to $2; double with bath, $2 to $2.50.

Wallack, Broadway and Forty-third street, single, $1.50 to $2; with bath, $2 to $3; double, $2.50 to $3; with bath, $4 to $6.

Webster, 40 West Forty-fifth street, single with bath, $3; double with bath, $3.50.

Woodstock, Forty-third street near Broadway, single, $2; with bath, $2.50 to $3; double, $3; with bath, $3.50 to $4.

Hotel Woodward, Broadway and Fifty-fifth street, single, $1.50 to $2; with bath, $2 to $2.50; double, $2 to $2.50; with bath, $3 to $3.50.

As some of these hotels will be busy at the time of the convention, it is urgently recommended that reservations be made in advance. Write any one of the hotels in the list, stating explicitly what you desire in the way of accommodations, and ask that reservations be made. You will receive prompt and courteous reply.

All of the hotels listed are convenient to the Grand Central Palace, the exhibition building, in which all of the sessions of the convention will be held and where registration headquarters will be located.

W. A. Sperling, Sec'y Hotel Committee.

PANSIES NOT SEEDING.

My pansies are covered with blooms, but they do not bear seeds. Do you think bees would help matters any, or can you suggest some other remedy?

C. W. H.—Mo.

A deficiency of moisture at the roots and your warm climate will both be against your pansies setting seeds. Even with bees present, matters would not be helped much. Pansies and all members of the viola family are cool and moisture-loving subjects and reach their greatest perfection under such conditions. The specialists in Great Britain, France, Germany and America who have extra good strains do much hand pollination and take great pains with their stocks. I would not advise you to save seed. The resultant plants would be of inferior quality. Buy seeds of a good strain produced under cooler conditions and you will be money in pocket.

C. W.

Rotterdam, Holland.—While no assurance can be given as to the changes that may occur, there now seems to be no reason for thinking the bulb exports will not go to the United States us usual this season. The Holland-America line has indicated its expectation of moving this class of freight with its usual promptness, inquiry having been made in the interest of the Dutch Bulb Exporters' Association. Officers of the line have stated their purpose to be to afford every possible assistance for the Holland bulb and nursery industry in reaching the only market now available.

Haarlem, Holland.—The temperature since May has been ideal for plant growth, but the rainfall has been scant. The month of May this year was one of the warmest on record in the Netherlands. The temperature averaged 4 degrees above normal, while the rainfall was fifty per cent below normal. June was even warmer, drier and sunnier than May. In Friesland, many thousands of cabbage plants that had been transferred from hothouses shriveled and died under the hot sun, but in the bulb district the conditions were favorable for the ripening, cleaning and curing of the crop.

Sas van Gent, Holland.—Although it is only twenty-five miles from this Holland border city to Ghent, the center of the former Belgian nursery industry, it is impossible to keep in touch. The mails cannot be depended on for any purpose, least of all to convey information. Whenever important military affairs are afoot in Belgium the frontier is closed and few Hollanders have cared to make the effort necessary to visit the Ghent and Bruges district. The growers of azaleas, palms and bay trees have had a hard time. They are only a few miles back of the battle line where it runs up to the sea, and nearly three years of military occupation has resulted in the destruction of a large part of the peace-time industries. Many of the men are gone, one way and another, and fuel has been difficult to obtain, but a considerable number of nurseries have managed to carry on. If the German, British and American governments agree on permission to export in Holland this fall there will be as much stock as is needed to fill orders, as nearly all American and Holland dealers seem to have given up the attempt to do business with the Belgians under present conditions.

CANADIAN FLORISTS TO MEET.

The Canadian Horticultural Association will hold its twentieth annual convention in Synod hall, Montreal, Que., August 7 to 9. Arrangements for the convention and entertainment of the visitors are in charge of the Montreal Gardeners' and Florists' Club. Aside from the convention program, there will be many social features, ending August 9 with a trip to St. Annes and Senneville, where are located a number of private gardens and the famous Macdonald college.

The convention program is as follows:

TUESDAY, AUGUST 7.

Opening Session.

2:00 p. m.—Opening remarks by E. J. Hayward.
Address of Welcome by His Worship the Mayor.
Reply by T. Manton, Toronto.
President's Address, by James Fraser, Prescott, Ont.
Appointment of judges on Trade Exhibit.
Appointment of Committee to study President's Address.
Report of Secretary-Treasurer, J. Luck, 5 Macdonald avenue, Montreal.
Paper on "Cyclamen," by William C. Hall, Montreal West.

Second Session.

8:00 p. m.—Paper by J. H. Dunlop, Toronto, on "Recent Introductions of Carnations of Merit."
Committee report on President's Address.
Paper by Special Committee, Joseph Bennett, chairman, on "What Experimental Farms Could Do for the Florists."
Question box.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 8.

Third Session.

9:30 a. m.—Paper on "Chrysanthemums," by J. H. McKee, Ottawa.
Report of Judges on Trade Exhibit.
Paper on "Sweet Peas Under Glass," by James Kean, of the St. Bruno Floral Co.
Selection of place for next meeting.

In the afternoon the delegates will be the guests of the city of Montreal for a drive to the parks and to the mountain. Also for a visit to the greenhouses of McKenna, Ltd.

9:30 a. m.—Ladies meet at Synod hall, city sight-seeing.

Fourth Session.

8:30 p. m.—Paper on "Tomatoes under Glass," by A. H. Walker, of Macdonald College.
Paper on "Packing and Shipping Cut Flowers," by William Cotter, of the Floral Exchange, Montreal.
Election of officers.
Paper on "Some Problems of the Retailer," by Frank McKenna, Montreal.
Question box.
Unfinished Business.

Thursday, August 9.

Bowling Tournament, Montreal vs. All Canada at Windsor Alleys, 476 St. Catherine, West.

The officers of the association are: President, James Fraser, Prescott, Ont.; first vice-president, E. J. Hayward, Montreal; second vice-president, F. Dicks, London, Ont.; secretary-treasurer, J. Luck, 5 Macdonald avenue, Montreal.

ANNUALS FOR WINTER BLOOM.

Please give me a list of annuals which are adapted for indoor culture and which it is not yet too late to grow from seeds or cuttings. I want some that will do fairly well in a carnation temperature and which will flower early in winter, such as calendulas, mignonette and pansies. O. W.—Wis.

The following annuals are satisfactory for winter and early spring flowering: Mignonette, which can be sown now and can be depended upon to bloom all winter; calendulas, which should be sown in August for an early crop; stocks, including such varieties as Beauty of Nice, Pink Column and White Column, which should be sown at once; pansies, which can be sown at once—the Giant Trimardeau strain is a superior one; Centaurea Cyanus, or bachelor's button, to be sown now; Dimorphotheca aurantiaca, a pretty and useful plant, which flowers earlier than any other annual from seed; sweet peas, where there is sufficient head room—among the most profitable of all annuals, enjoying a carnation temperature while flowering; antirrhinums, which may be had from seed or cuttings. Some special forcing varieties of antirrhinums are offered and these are prolific bloomers. While all the foregoing are winter bloomers, they will not be at their best in early winter, but will improve as the days lengthen and the sun's rays grow somewhat stronger. C. W.

A Pleasant Place to Live and a Pleasant Place to Do Business.

THEY STOP, LOOK AND BUY.

L. Epple, a grower at North Pelham, N. Y., is one of the many florists who believe in what The Review recently termed "taking our own medicine." The accompanying illustration shows his range of greenhouses and bungalow home adjoining. But what is of most importance in the picture is the manner in which he practices what he preaches—flowers and shrubs for home decoration, indoors and out.

If you were not a florist, but still had the same love for flowers, would not a view of the Epple home and grounds make you want to "go and do likewise?" Mr. Epple could use no other means that would better advertise his business. It is safe to hazard that his yard has caused many a passer-by to halt and leave good cash in return for good plants and flowers.

OUTDOOR LILIES IN U. S.

Charles L. Baum, of Baum's House of Flowers, Knoxville, Tenn., believes that lilies can be grown outdoors in the United States as well as in Japan, and sends the photograph from which the accompanying illustration was made to prove his assertion. These giganteum lilies were grown from cold storage bulbs planted out under trees. Two cases were planted each week for several weeks. They now are throwing from three to five buds each, and next year are expected to give from two to three buds each after being left out all winter. Should they not be cut, but disbudded next year, Mr. Baum believes, they would do better the third year than the first.

Springfield, Ill.—Lewis H. Wise, successor to John M. Gaupp, is getting the North Side Greenhouses in first-class shape for autumn. He anticipates a good season's business.

The convention management was most fortunate in being able to house the convention in this fine building. Incoming exhibits will be conveniently handled; in fact, will be received practically on the floor where they are to be staged. There is an excellent cafe and restaurant in the building, and other conveniences, such as telegraph, telephones and post-office chutes. Adjoining the secretary's office will be found the bureau of information, where attendants will be constantly at the service of visitors.

Visitors upon arrival should report immediately at the secretary's office, which will be found at the left of the main entrance to the building.

Fifth National Flower Show.

Arrangements for the Fifth National Flower Show, to be held in St. Louis, April 6 to 15 next, are progressing nicely. The second preliminary schedule of prizes has been sent out and floor plans of Moolah Temple and the adjoining building, where the show is to be held, are in course of preparation.

As the S. A. F. convention is to be held in conjunction with the show, more than ordinary interest attaches to the trade section of the show, which naturally will absorb the usual convention trade exhibition. The advantage this presents to exhibitors is being recognized and reservations of space for extensive displays are already being made. Among the concerns which have booked space are Lord & Burnham Co., Chicago; A. L. Randall Co., Chicago, and the Fulper Pottery Co., Flemington, N. J.

Copies of the second preliminary schedule may be had on application to the secretary, 53 West Twenty-eighth street, New York.

John Young, Sec'y.

LADIES' S. A. F.

The adoption of a new constitution and by-laws will be considered at the annual meeting of the Ladies' S. A. F., to be held in New York city August 22. Members of the society will please take notice.

Mrs. Chas. H. Maynard, Sec'y.

WHERE TO STOP IN NEW YORK.

The New York Florists' Club committee on arrangements for the S. A. F. convention in New York August 21 to 23 has made a list of hotels which it recommends to the delegates and their families. The list of these hotels and a schedule of rates at each follow:

Hotel Algonquin, 59 West Forty-fourth street, single with bath, $2.50; double with bath, $3.

Hotel Astor, Broadway and Forty-fourth street, single, $2 to $3.50; with bath, $3 to $6; double, $3 to $5; with bath, $4 to $8.

Belmont, Park avenue and Forty-second street, single, $2.50 to $4; double, $5; with bath, $5 to $6.

Biltmore, Madison avenue and Forty-second street, single with bath, $3.50 to $5; double with bath, $6.

Bristol, 122 West Forty-ninth street, single, European, $1.50 to $2; American, $3 to $3.50; double, European, $2.50 to $3; American, $5 to $5.50, all rooms with bath.

Flanders, 133 West Forty-seventh street, single with bath, $1.50 to $2.50; double with bath, $2.50 to $3.

Hotel Longacre, 157 West Forty-seventh street, single, $1; with bath, $1.50 to $2.50.

Manhattan, Madison avenue and Forty-second street, single, $2.50; with bath, $3 to $5; double, $4 to $8.

McAlpin, Broadway and Thirty-fourth street, single, $2 to $3; with bath, $2.50; double with bath, $4 to $7.

Somerset, 150 West Forty-seventh street, single, $1 to $1.25; with bath, $1.50 to $2; double with bath, $2 to $2.50.

Wallack, Broadway and Forty-third street, single, $1.50 to $2; with bath, $2 to $3; double, $2.50 to $3; with bath, $4 to $6.

Webster, 40 West Forty-fifth street, single with bath, $3; double with bath, $3.50.

Woodstock, Forty-third street near Broadway, single, $2; with bath, $2.50 to $3; double, $3; with bath, $3.50 to $4.

Hotel Woodward, Broadway and Fifty-fifth street, single, $1.50 to $2; with bath, $2 to $2.50; double, $2 to $2.50; with bath, $3 to $3.50.

As some of these hotels will be busy at the time of the convention, it is urgently recommended that reservations be made in advance. Write any one of the hotels in the list, stating explicitly what you desire in the way of accommodations, and ask that reservations be made. You will receive prompt and courteous reply.

All of the hotels listed are convenient to the Grand Central Palace, the exhibition building, in which all of the sessions of the convention will be held and where registration headquarters will be located.

W. A. Sperling, Sec'y Hotel Committee.

PANSIES NOT SEEDING.

My pansies are covered with blooms, but they do not bear seeds. Do you think bees would help matters any, or can you suggest some other remedy?

C. W. H.—Mo.

A deficiency of moisture at the roots and your warm climate will both be against your pansies setting seeds. Even with bees present, matters would not be helped much. Pansies and all members of the viola family are cool and moisture-loving subjects and reach their greatest perfection under such conditions. The specialists in Great Britain, France, Germany and America who have extra good strains do much hand pollination and take great pains with their stocks. I would not advise you to save seed. The resultant plants would be of inferior quality. Buy seeds of a good strain produced under cooler conditions and you will be money in pocket.

Rotterdam, Holland.—While no assurance can be given as to the changes that may occur, there now seems to be no reason for thinking the bulb exports will not go to the United States us usual this season. The Holland-America line has indicated its expectation of moving this class of freight with its usual promptness, inquiry having been made in the interest of the Dutch Bulb Exporters' Association. Officers of the line have stated their purpose to be to afford every possible assistance for the Holland bulb and nursery industry in reaching the only market now available.

Haarlem, Holland.—The temperature since May has been ideal for plant growth, but the rainfall has been scant. The month of May this year was one of the warmest on record in the Netherlands. The temperature averaged 4 degrees above normal, while the rainfall was fifty per cent below normal. June was even warmer, drier and sunnier than May. In Friesland, many thousands of cabbage plants that had been transferred from hothouses shriveled and died under the hot sun, but in the bulb district the conditions were favorable for the ripening, cleaning and curing of the crop.

Sas van Gent, Holland.—Although it is only twenty-five miles from this Holland border city to Ghent, the center of the former Belgian nursery industry, it is impossible to keep in touch. The mails cannot be depended on for any purpose, least of all to convey information. Whenever important military affairs are afoot in Belgium the frontier is closed and few Hollanders have cared to make the effort necessary to visit the Ghent and Bruges district. The growers of azaleas, palms and bay trees have had a hard time. They are only a few miles back of the battle line where it runs up to the sea, and nearly three years of military occupation has resulted in the destruction of a large part of the peace-time industries. Many of the men are gone, one way and another, and fuel has been difficult to obtain, but a considerable number of nurseries have managed to carry on. If the German, British and American governments agree on permission to export in Holland this fall there will be as much stock as is needed to fill orders, as nearly all American and Holland dealers seem to have given up the attempt to do business with the Belgians under present conditions.

CANADIAN FLORISTS TO MEET.

The Canadian Horticultural Association will hold its twentieth annual convention in Synod hall, Montreal, Que., August 7 to 9. Arrangements for the convention and entertainment of the visitors are in charge of the Montreal Gardeners' and Florists' Club. Aside from the convention program, there will be many social features, ending August 9 with a trip to St. Annes and Senneville, where are located a number of private gardens and the famous Macdonald college.

The convention program is as follows:

TUESDAY, AUGUST 7.

Opening Session.

2:00 p. m.—Opening remarks by E. J. Hayward.
Address of Welcome by His Worship the Mayor.
Reply by T. Manton, Toronto.
President's Address, by James Fraser, Prescott, Ont.
Appointment of judges on Trade Exhibit.
Appointment of Committee to study President's Address.
Report of Secretary-Treasurer, J. Luck, 5 Macdonald avenue, Montreal.
Paper on "Cyclamen," by William C. Hall, Montreal West.

Second Session.

8:00 p. m.—Paper by J. H. Dunlop, Toronto, on "Recent Introductions of Carnations of Merit."
Committee report on President's Address.
Paper by Special Committee, Joseph Bennett, chairman, on "What Experimental Farms Could Do for the Florists."
Question box.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 8.

Third Session.

9:30 a. m.—Paper on "Chrysanthemums," by J. H. McKee, Ottawa.
Report of Judges on Trade Exhibit.
Paper on "Sweet Peas Under Glass," by James Kean, of the St. Bruno Floral Co.
Selection of place for next meeting.

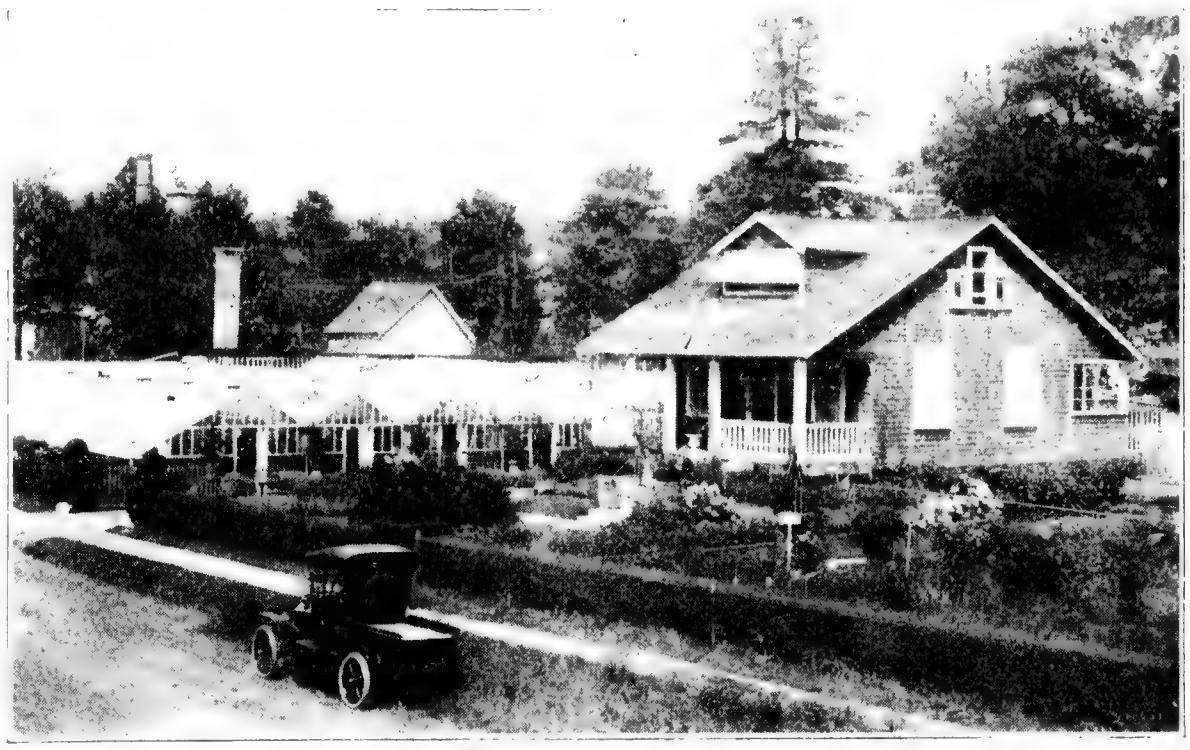
In the afternoon the delegates will be the guests of the city of Montreal for a drive to the parks and to the mountain. Also for a visit to the greenhouses of McKenna, Ltd.

9:30 a. m.—Ladies meet at Synod hall, city sight-seeing.

Fourth Session.

8:30 p. m.—Paper on "Tomatoes under Glass," by A. H. Walker, of Macdonald College.
Paper on "Packing and Shipping Cut Flowers," by William Cotter, of the Floral Exchange, Montreal.
Election of officers.
Paper on "Some Problems of the Retailer," by Frank McKenna, Montreal.
Question box.
Unfinished Business.

Thursday, August 9.



Bowling Tournament, Montreal vs. All Canada at Windsor Alleys, 476 St. Catherine, West.

The officers of the association are: President, James Fraser, Prescott, Ont.; first vice-president, E. J. Hayward, Montreal; second vice-president, F. Dicks, London, Ont.; secretary-treasurer, J. Luck, 5 Macdonald avenue, Montreal.

ANNUALS FOR WINTER BLOOM.

Please give me a list of annuals which are adapted for indoor culture and which it is not yet too late to grow from seeds or cuttings. I want some that will do fairly well in a carnation temperature and which will flower early in winter, such as calendulas, mignonette and pansies. O. W.—Wis.

The following annuals are satisfactory for winter and early spring flowering: Mignonette, which can be sown now and can be depended upon to bloom all winter; calendulas, which should be sown in August for an early crop; stocks, including such varieties as Beauty of Nice, Pink Column and White Column, which should be sown at once; pansies, which can be sown at once—the Giant Trimardeau strain is a superior one; Centaurea Cyanus, or bachelor's button, to be sown now; Dimorphotheca aurantiaca, a pretty and useful plant, which flowers earlier than any other annual from seed; sweet peas, where there is sufficient head room—among the most profitable of all annuals, enjoying a carnation temperature while flowering; antirrhinums, which may be had from seed or cuttings. Some special forcing varieties of antirrhinums are offered and these are prolific bloomers. While all the foregoing are winter bloomers, they will not be at their best in early winter, but will improve as the days lengthen and the sun's rays grow somewhat stronger. C. W.

A Pleasant Place to Live and a Pleasant Place to Do Business.

THEY STOP, LOOK AND BUY.

L. Epple, a grower at North Pelham, N. Y., is one of the many florists who believe in what The Review recently termed "taking our own medicine." The accompanying illustration shows his range of greenhouses and bungalow home adjoining. But what is of most importance in the picture is the manner in which he practices what he preaches—flowers and shrubs for home decoration, indoors and out.

If you were not a florist, but still had the same love for flowers, would not a view of the Epple home and grounds make you want to "go and do likewise?" Mr. Epple could use no other means that would better advertise his business. It is safe to hazard that his yard has caused many a passer-by to halt and leave good cash in return for good plants and flowers.

OUTDOCR LILIES IN U. S.

Charles L. Baum, of Baum's House of Flowers, Knoxville, Tenn., believes that lilies can be grown outdoors in the United States as well as in Japan, and sends the photograph from which the accompanying illustration was made to prove his assertion. These giganteum lilies were grown from cold storage bulbs planted out under trees. Two cases were planted each week for several weeks. They now are throwing from three to five buds each, and next year are expected to give from two to three buds each after being left out all winter. Should they not be cut, but disbudded next year, Mr. Baum believes, they would do better the third year than the first.

Springfield, Ill.—Lewis H. Wise, successor to John M. Gaupp, is getting the North Side Greenhouses in first-class shape for autumn. He anticipates a good season's business.

NIEUW AMSTERDAM CLAIMS

A COMPROMISE IN PROSPECT.

All Branches of Trade Involved.

Of all the losses that have occurred to importers since the war began, and they are well known to have been many, nothing has hit the trade like the claims growing out of the Nieuw Amsterdam, but there seems to be a probability, or at least a possibility, that they will be settled out of court, by compromise.

All branches of the trade are involved, for the Nieuw Amsterdam carried what probably was the largest cargo of horticultural goods ever stored in the hold of a steamer. Whether or not the Holland shippers had a tip that this would be their one chance to get their stock away to America, they acted with promptness and unanimity; they got an enormous quantity of stock ready for this sailing, consigned to florists, seedsmen and nurserymen in all parts of America.

To Freshen Memory.

Those of the hundreds directly concerned will not require to have their memories refreshed and readers of The Review probably will recall the circumstances, but it may be noted that the Nieuw Amsterdam, with many millions of gladiolus bulbs, hundreds of cases of boxwoods, scores of cases of dormant roses and hundreds of cases of general nursery stock on board, sailed for New York late in January and in the course of a few days returned to Rotterdam. Report had it that the steamer was recalled by wireless, but this now is denied—it is said the master returned because the perils of navigation endangered his vessel.

At any rate, after a while the cargo of the Nieuw Amsterdam was transferred, about February 7, to two smaller boats, the Maartensdyk and Westerdyk. These lay at Rotterdam week after week, repeatedly announced to sail "in a few days," until April, when the Holland-America line accepted the trade's representation that the stock would not now be worth the United States tariff duties, unloaded the steamers and returned the stock to the shippers if they would take it, as most of them did.

Slow Getting Through.

It took some little time for the meaning of this to penetrate the mind of the average consignee, but one by one the men to whom this shipload of stock had been sold awakened to the fact that they might have to pay for something they never got, that, indeed, they might in addition have to pay the freight on it. Might even have to pay for the cases the goods were packed in!

No specially active imagination is needed to conceive the extent of the shock! At first sight, it seemed impossible; those who read the notes in The Review were incredulous, but gradually it came to be recognized that the trade was confronted with a quite unusual but not unprecedented situation.

The Shippers' Responsibility.

A couple of seasons ago one of the trade organizations adopted resolutions pledging its members to place orders only on the basis of freight and duty paid, but nearly all of the Nieuw Amsterdam's cargo was sold f. o. b. nursery, packing extra. That seemed to let the shipper out.

But the stock was returned. What bearing had that? The shippers claim that in receiving stock back they acted only as the agent of their customers, for the purpose of stopping warehouse charges, insurance fees, etc., and in the hope of salvaging some of the stock. Not many consignees have been able to get an exact statement of what was saved. With the gladiolus bulbs the salvage should have been considerable, as a shortage existed and the stock should have been in condition to replant. With boxwoods, so-called 2-year-old dormant roses and other nursery stock it is a different matter; the shipper probably had no place or need for the stock if it was in condition to replant and no doubt practically all of it was burned.

Also, the shipper had guaranteed the freight and in most cases was required to pay when the stock was returned. Most American consignees have received memoranda of the expense incurred under this head.

The Carrier and Insurer.

The Holland-America line gets its money whether or not the boat arrives at its destination. It is not responsible for cargo under any conceivable circumstances unless negligence can be proven. In this case the ship put to sea and there encountered dangers such as to cause its captain, so it is said, exercising the discretion shipping laws place with the master of the vessel, to return to port. The company had done its part; it claimed its charges and denied all responsibility.

Most, if not all, the bulbs and plants in the Nieuw Amsterdam were fully covered by marine and war risk insurance, including insurance against heating to destination, and they were reinsured at an increased rate when the shipments were transferred to other steamers, but the insurance company disclaims liability for damage through delay. Attorneys to whom the policies have been submitted for opinion say that the insurance company can not be held liable unless it is proven that the damage was caused by heating or usual marine or war risk causes.

Action to Defend the Trade.

The nurserymen were quicker to take action than the bulb importers or florists. On a call issued by Thomas B. Meehan, Dresher, Pa., a committee was formed which invites all interested parties to place claims in its hands. An agreement form has been prepared and a large number of consignees have signed it. Mr. Meehan says the committee does not care to give out any information at this time, but that it will be glad to hear from anyone who had goods on this boat.

Apparently, concerted action was not wholly to the liking of the exporters. Usually, in case of numerous losses from any cause, the Dutch exporters of bulbs or nursery stock do not stand on their legal rights, fearing to kill the business. Instead, they settle with each man as best they may. From some they get the money; from others, part of it; from a few, none at all; but they keep the business.

A Basis for Compromise.

Concerted action may result in a lawsuit to test the liability of the trade. Or it may result in a compromise. There is an attorney here from Holland who claims to represent the shippers and the insurers, although the extent of his authority has not become apparent.

One man who had close to $1,000 worth of goods on the boat ventures the opinion that if it is decided that the Hollanders are right on the law points, it still will be possible to effect a compromise, perhaps one even better than the proverbial fifty-fifty. He says when the disposition of his stock is shown he expects the shipper will stand one-third, the insurance company will pay one-third and the American who got nothing but trouble will pay the remaining third. The most doubtful factor is the insurance company.

To forestall a probable shortage of forcing bulbs, S. J. Goddard, of Framingham, Mass., is planning to follow his chrysanthemums with stocks and snapdragons.

William Vert, president of the Chrysanthemum Society of America, has left Castlegould, Port Washington, L. I., and become superintendent at The Elms, the home of C. V. Brokaw, at Glen Cove.

Automobilists always are welcome at flower stores, but when a car driven by a woman skidded and crashed through the display window of The Rosery, at Bridgeport, Conn., George Pflomm remarked that he "would rather they left their cars outside."

It is good news to hear that Frederick J. Michell, of the H. F. Michell Co., Philadelphia, who was severely injured four weeks ago when struck by an automobile, is on the "highroad" to complete recovery. It is to be hoped that there are no speed maniacs on that highroad.

The biblical pronouncement that "the first shall be last and the last first" does not apply to the selective draft, and in all probability John Walch, of H. Bayersdorfer & Co., Philadelphia, is glad of it. Mr. Walch's "red ink" draft number was the last one drawn at Washington, and in this case the first shall be first and the last last.

While many growers are complaining about the rise in the price of coal, Blewitt & Pickett, of Des Plaines, Ill., came near having a record rise in that precious commodity. Two dynamite bombs were found July 25 in a car of coal consigned to the firm, according to a report, and delivered at the range. Federal agents are investigating the case.

CARNATIONS

DO CARNATIONS PAY?

Well, They Certainly Pay Kinzie.

Motorists passing through the city of South Bend, Ind., note a well kept greenhouse property just outside the city on the east, on the Lincoln highway. It is the establishment of H. M. Kinzie, who sells most of his cut flowers at retail, although a part go to the flower stores in South Bend. Like many of the smaller growers, Mr. Kinzie pins his faith to the Enchantress family, growing Enchantress, White Enchantress and Rose-pink Enchantress. In the season just closed by throwing out and replanting, he had 930 plants on the benches. Here is the record of the cut by months:

	Blooms Cut	Splits
September, 1916	154	...
October, 1916	937	7
November, 1916	946	14
December, 1916	1,051	72
January, 1917	2,168	152
February, 1917	1,559	83
March, 1917	2,085	68
April, 1917	1,772	68
May, 1917	2,480	158
June, 1917	3,754	61
July, 1917	2,827	15
Total	19,733	698

This makes an average of twenty-two blooms per plant, counting the splits, which were less than one per plant.

The total sales for the season were $736.82, which is 3.11 cents per flower, counting splits, or 3.73 cents per flower counting only perfect flowers.

The receipts per plant were 79.22 cents.

A part of the good financial showing was due to the fact that only two plants died, and these two so early in the season that they were replaced; every plant therefore was a producer.

This was Mr. Kinzie's second season. In his first year at carnation growing he had 798 plants on the benches. Forty-two died, but the others gave 14,717 blooms, which sold for $575. It was 18.4 blooms per plant and 72 cents per plant.

A SUBSTITUTE FOR WARD.

Please give me the name of a rose-pink carnation that will take the place of Mrs. C. W. Ward and make as good a plant as the members of the Enchantress family. We have Mrs. C. W. Ward now, but cannot do anything with it and should like to find a substitute for it, aside from Rose-pink Enchantress.

W. A. & S.—Wis.

Mrs. C. W. Ward and Rose-pink Enchantress are the two popular varieties in this vicinity in the medium shade of pink. The former is liked for its general excellence and the latter on account of its easy management. There are other varieties in the same shade of color, each of which has its special merits. Among these is Good Cheer, which makes a good flower on a splendid stem; its most serious fault is an inclination to show traces of carnation yellows and this demands close selection in propagating. Another is Miss Theo, which makes a fine plant and blooms freely, but is a trifle undersized for high-class trade. Zoe Symonds seems quite popular with some growers; it does not grow quite so vigorously as the Enchantress varieties in our soil, but might prove quite satisfactory with you. Mrs. C. E. Akehurst has some friends, on account of its vigorous growth; it is a good carnation, but not good enough to displace Ward here. We suggest that you try a limited quantity of each of these and select the one that comes the nearest to filling your needs. You might also try some of Dorner's Rosalia and Roper's Albert Roper, two of this year's acquisitions.

A. F. J. B.

CARE OF THE BENCH PLANTS.

Spraying and Other Attentions.

After having set the carnation plants in the new soil and watered them in well, you will confine your watering mainly to the overhead spraying, except to touch a dry spot here and there occasionally. Not much of this watering in spots will be required if the soil was moistened evenly all over the bed before planting. You will notice that, as a result of the first watering, many of the plants have fallen over to one side. After a few days the soil will become drained of the excess water and become set, as growers term it. You should then go over the beds and straighten up the plants that have fallen over, by pressing the soil against the stems enough to hold the plants upright. If the plants have been set deep enough in the soil they will stand upright without further trouble. This method is better than to put on the supports right away, as the supports interfere more or less with working the soil.

Using the Soil-Scratcher.

By the time the plants will stand up without being sprayed overhead during the heat of the day, you will find the soil in excellent condition to be worked on the surface for the first time. There may be a light green scum on the surface and the first crop of young weeds probably will be pushing through the soil. Both of these you want to get rid of speedily. Use one of the many styles of soil-scratchers for this. Break up the crust to a depth of about an inch and pulverize it thoroughly, but be careful not to heap it up around the plants, a mistake we find prevalent among green help. After a bed is scratched, spray lightly overhead and leave the bed in that condition for a day before you water. Then give a thorough watering, and thereafter water as you would any established plants. The texture of your soil will determine how frequently you should work the surface afterward, but it should not be allowed to become crusted over hard at any time.

UNDER SUNNY SOUTHERN SKIES

Teacheys, N. C.—While Magnolia, S. C., has the reputation of being a larger bulb town, Teacheys ships as many more tuberoses and caladiums.

Alexandria, La.—A flower store has been opened here under the name of Manhein & Schubert, both of whom are associated in the business at Shreveport.

Leland, N. C.—W. G. Adams, whose principal business is truck gardening, during the last four years has worked up a considerable side line in holly, moss and other evergreens.

Knoxville, Tenn.—A resolution on the death of Dr. Samuel Boyd, extending sympathy to the family of the departed member, has been drawn by the Knoxville Florists' Society.

Charlotte, N. C.—Louis Ratcliffe, of Richmond, Va., has opened a flower store in the McKinnon building. Many people visited the store the opening day, July 12, and Mr. Ratcliffe expressed much satisfaction over the future of his venture.

Teacheys, N. C.—Justice Bros., who have been shipping gardenias and tuberoses principally, expect to add peonies to their stock.

Bonham, Tex.—Baxter Sitzler, proprietor of the City Greenhouses, has let the contract for a new greenhouse to be erected on West Seventh street. It will be 36x191 feet. In addition there will be a potting shed and boiler room 16x38 feet.

Woodward, Okla.—Ross D. Dockerty, clerk of Woodward county, is getting sketches and plans for a greenhouse which he and his brother, L. R. Dockerty, of Mitchell, Ia., expect to build. The latter is a specialist in gladioli and does a considerable business in bulbs.

Paris, Tex.—J. W. Goree is moving his greenhouse establishment to a 10-acre tract he recently purchased adjoining Evergreen cemetery on the west. The city waterworks system does not extend that far, so Mr. Goree sank a well 100 feet deep and eight feet in diameter, and will have a private plant.

NEW YORK.

The Market.

Last week was a scorcher, Friday being the hottest July 27 in twenty-five years, and as a result there was a noticeable absence of demand in the wholesale market until Saturday, when there was a clean-up of everything of good quality. The accumulations of the week, however, could scarcely be given away.

Roses, the perfect ones, were steadier. Good Ophelias and Prima Donnas sold at $8 per hundred. The best American Beauties brought $25 per hundred. Many roses showed the effects of heat and mildew, and thousands were small in bud and stem. These were quoted at 50 cents and $1 per hundred. Some excellent carnations, especially Wards, still arrive. The shipments, however, grow smaller each week and the quality is depreciating.

The market is heavily stocked with lilies. The price July 28 was $4 per hundred. A few extra long-stemmed brought $5 per hundred. Valley is not abundant, but little of it brings more than $4 per hundred. The supply of rubrum lilies is excessive. The prices on orchids are holding steady, good gigas bringing 60 cents each. The flood of asters is beginning. Last week 50 cents to $2 per hundred were the quotations. Every window in the wholesale section displayed them. Everything indicates an enormous supply, the weather having been especially favorable to them. The supply of gladioli is sufficient for the demand. There is a large supply of miscellaneous stock, which finds little demand. Daisies, sweet peas, delphiniums, coreopsis and the other outdoor flowers arrive in such quantities that they bring little money.

Various Notes.

The next meeting of the New York Florists' Club will be held at the club's rooms in the Grand Opera House building, Monday evening, August 13. Exhibits of gladioli and asters will be staged.

The S. A. F. convention is the principal topic of conversation among the florists and preparations are being made for a large attendance. The headquarters of the Ladies' S. A. F. will be at the Hotel McAlpin, where the annual meeting and a social gathering for the members will be held Thursday evening, August 23. Philip Kessler, chairman of the entertainment committee, has engaged the blue and green rooms at the hotel for the occasion. A buffet supper will be served.

Many of the New York wholesalers attended the annual outing of the Essex County, N. J., Florists' Club at Gillette, N. J., August 1.

When all the young men who are drafted leave for the front, Twenty-eighth street and other florists' centers will be lonesome.

N. Christatos will build a 13-story apartment house on the site of his store at Fifty-eighth street and Sixth avenue, retaining the corner room for his business.

Harold Cooper now is one of the office force of the Kervan Co.

Kenneth Shaw, bookkeeper for Badgley & Bishop, has returned from a two weeks' vacation spent at Niagara Falls and in Ohio. John Eganbrod, head salesman for this firm, left July 31 for a trip to California, with stops at the principal cities en route. He will return in September.

Walter Siebrecht and Clarence Slinn, who made an auto trip to California, have arrived at Pasadena. They will return by train after spending two weeks on the coast.

D. F. Pappas, president of the United Cut Flower Co., spent last week in New England, visiting Newport, Boston and several other cities. After the S. A. F. convention, Mr. Pappas expects to take a fishing trip.

Henry Weston, of Hempstead, L. I., and Charles Weber, of Lynbrook, L. I., and their wives have returned from a week spent in the Berkshire hills, Connecticut.

John Donaldson, of Patchogue, L. I., who recently was severely bruised when he was struck by an automobile, is recovering.

Traendly & Schenck have moved their offices to the front of their store at 43 Sixth avenue, thereby doubling the space in the rear where shipments are handled.

James B. Deal, who has stands at several of the cabarets, is serving on a jury.

Paul Meconi has a new glass front for his store at 55 West Twenty-sixth street. On it appears the new firm name, Meconi & Son. The young man paid his first visit to the wholesale market July 28. Mrs. Meconi again is in charge of the office.

James Coyle is seriously ill and his store is closed.

The Henry M. Robinson Co. is making several changes in its store, including a new front.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Goldstein have returned from their wedding trip and are living at Averne. George Futterman also is at Averne for the summer.

James Hart, of Madison, N. J., again is back on Twenty-eighth street after an enforced vacation with a broken rib. It was his first vacation in thirty years.

The R. J. Irwin store now closes at 1 o'clock Saturdays.

Charles Matthews, salesman for E. Horan, who had been ill for five weeks, has recovered.

P. J. Smith received a total of 50,750 lilies last week, 10,625 arriving Saturday.

Mrs. Fred Kervan and family spent the last two weeks at Asbury Park, N. J.

A. L. Young & Co. are putting a new front in their building at 54 west Twenty-eighth street and are preparing for an energetic campaign this fall.

Robert Jackson's draft number was 1,999 and he expects to be called to the colors soon.

Many employees of the wholesale and retail stores are away on their vacations. Among them are: Joseph Levine, of Guttman & Raynor, at White lake, in the Catskills; H. W. Gallaer, with the G. W. Crawbuck Co., is at Springfield, L. I. Those who returned last week are Miss Jeanette McNamey, bookkeeper for Charles Millang; Miss Brandt, bookkeeper for Goldstein & Futterman; Mr. Bradshaw, of William Kessler's staff; Frank Golsner and Robert Jackson; Isadore Duke, of Gunther Bros.; Miss Conklin, bookkeeper for H. E. Froment; Miss Goldberg, bookkeeper for the United Cut Flower Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kessler have left for two weeks at the seashore.

Percy Rigby, manager of the New York store of the S. S. Pennock Co., Philadelphia, says that it is difficult to secure competent female office help, the demand by banks and other institutions being so great now that the war has called many young men. Mr. Hicks, of this company, has returned from a three weeks' rest at his home on Long Island.

J. Austin Shaw.

Wertheimer Bros. are now working in their mill at Paterson, N. J., on a large contract secured from the United States government to supply ribbon hat bands for the United States navy.

It Is Now Max Schling, Inc.

Max Schling's business has outgrown its quarters at 22 West Fifty-ninth street and the retail cut flower and landscape department will be moved to 785 Fifth avenue, although the present store will be retained to house the seed department. At the same time it is announced that the business has been incorporated under the name Max Schling, Inc., with a capital stock of $50,000.

The new Fifth avenue store has 9,000 square feet of space and is in the heart of the more exclusive residence and hotel section of the city. The Fifty-ninth street store has two floors, but they did not provide sufficient space. Both stores will bear the new name.

MOTT-LY MUSINGS.

Otto Ernst, of Norwich, Conn., sees good business ahead and predicts quite a crowd at the convention of the S. A. F. A special car will be chartered if enough florists from his neighborhood can go.

Johnston Bros., of Providence, speak well of the F. T. D. A fine spray formed of Lilium auratum—some blooms had a double row of petals—was noted.

W. A. Dawson, of Willimantic, Conn., notes a smaller call for bedding plants this season, the more noticeable because the stock was excellent. He looks for a good fall business, nevertheless.

The W. W. Edgar Co., of Waverley, Mass., is preparing stock for next winter quite independently of any foreign assistance. A fine batch of Giant cyclamens, in 6-inch pans, was noted. "This matter of being independent," observed Herman Bartsch, "reminds me of the sick man who was prescribed a tonic to be taken in small doses. He argued that by absorbing the whole contents at one time he might knock down Goliath. Go slowly, but surely," concluded Mr. Bartsch, "and we will certainly get there."

D. N. Potter, of Auburn, R. I., one of the largest growers of vegetables in this locality, says that while the wholesale prices are unsatisfactory on account of the quantity of vegetables being grown by amateurs, the consumer who has to purchase is paying high. The professional will have his turn later.

W. M.

Waterbury, Conn.—A. Dallas & Son are most sanguine regarding fall business. "We certainly shall keep the fires burning, expecting to grow more stock if imported stock fails us," said Mr. Dallas. "Funeral work shows no sign of decreasing; in fact, it was never better."

OBITUARY

Joshua Ladley.

Joshua Ladley, who was well known in the Philadelphia market, died last week at his home at Kennett Square, Pa., where for many years he specialized in carnations. He was for many years a regular shipper to William J. Baker, the wholesaler of Philadelphia, and believed that, like a good family doctor, a good commission merchant should not be changed when once chosen. A son of the decedent is foreman for William Swayne, of Kennett Square.

A. A. Pantet.

One of the old-time florists of Arkansas, A. A. Pantet, who for many years conducted a business at Fort Smith, died last week at his home, at the age of 52. The decedent was born in France, December 30, 1865, and at the age of 15 came to America. Upon his arrival at Fort Smith ten years later he started a florists' business, which he conducted successfully until failing health in 1912 caused him to retire and turn the business over to another concern. Mrs. Pantet, two daughters, two brothers and a sister survive.

William E. Cratz.

William E. Cratz, a pioneer seed dealer of Toledo, O., died at his home in that city July 21. He was 63 years old. Mr. Cratz first engaged in business in Toledo thirty-three years ago. Later he formed a partnership with his brother, Henry, doing business under the name of Cratz Bros. Henry Cratz died twelve years ago. Mr. Cratz leaves his wife, one son, Benjamin A., and a daughter, Miss Hazel Cratz.

John C. Mulder.

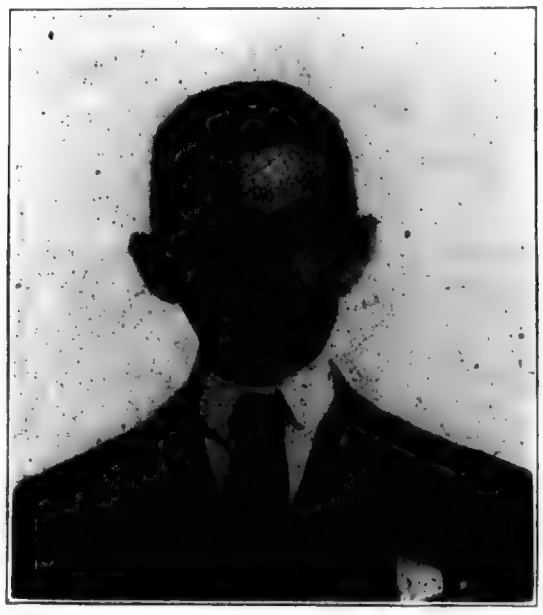
The Chicago trade was startled last week by news of the sudden death of John C. Mulder, one of the first florists of the city, who had conducted greenhouses on Normal avenue since the days when Auburn Park was a swamp, and whose father's establishment dated as far back as the year 1867. Mr. Mulder was stricken with heart failure while out driving with Mrs. Mulder July 24, and died at the wheel—an unusual, but one may say easy end.

The decedent was born November 21, 1859, at Groningen, Holland, where his father, Carel Mulder, conducted a nursery and florists' business. He came to America with his parents in 1866, and later learned the business under his father, who had established a greenhouse business at what then was 868 West Lake street, Chicago, in 1867, the establishment passing to other hands after nineteen years of success.

At the age of 27, in 1886, John C. started the business which later became known as the Auburn Park Greenhouses, at 7923 Normal avenue, and in which he was engaged at the time of his death. In the course of thirty-one years Mr. Mulder built up a good trade. He was well liked in the community and was known as a man of sterling character. He is survived by his wife, two married daughters and a son, Miner, who was associated with his father in the business and who will continue it.

The funeral services were held Friday, July 27, from the residence, 7923 Normal avenue, with interment in Mount Greenwood cemetery.

CLEVELAND.



The Market.

Business this week has been rather dull, due chiefly to the abnormally hot weather. Asters are more plentiful, taking the place of carnations, which disappeared from this market last week. Sweet peas are abundant, but are rapidly deteriorating in quality. Roses, particularly the longer grades, are scarce, while the medium and short stock is in moderate supply. Some choice gladioli of the varieties America, Niagara, Pink Beauty and King are coming in, but not in sufficient abundance to meet the demand for this ever popular flower. Easter and rubrum lilies are plentiful, moving slowly.

Some retailers report a July business in excess of that for the same period of last year, while many claim to be barely approximating their previous records, but the consensus is that trade has been materially better.

H. "Publicity" Knoble.

The lavish use of printers' ink by Knoble Bros. is much commented on by observing competitors. This enterprising firm believes that in constantly keeping at it by this method lies the sure and logical road to ultimate success. And results prove it for them! Their slogan, "A store as near to you as the nearest phone," is being speedily converted into household words by constant use of the advertising columns of the daily papers. This course, combined with the analysis of prevailing conditions and application of accepted business principles, is turning the trick. And it is worthy of emulation.

John C. Mulder.

Various Notes.

A regular meeting of the Florists' Club will be held Monday, August 6, at 8 p. m. sharp. Annual nomination of officers and final arrangements for the picnic will be the chief matters of business for transaction at this meeting.

Carl Wilson, son of Ella Grant Wilson, has enlisted in the engineer corps and is wearing the khaki in camp at Gordon park.

Hester A. Getz, of Westman & Getz, has returned from a three weeks' sojourn in Canada, part of the time being spent at the Algonquin National park. Discussing business conditions with leading florists of Montreal and Toronto, Miss Getz found the general tone weak, due, doubtless, to the country having been in the throes of war for three years.

H. P. Merrick, of the Lord & Burnham Co., has completed an exceptionally active month. Building two conservatories in Cleveland, one pipe frame greenhouse in Youngstown and a couple of similar structures in Cuyahoga Falls, in this period, bears ample evidence that this progressive concern is playing a large part in the structural work in this vicinity. It also evinces a condition anything but apathetic in the trade.

The Gladiolus Society of Ohio will hold its annual show at the store of Halle Bros., upon the tentative dates of August 14 to 16. This exhibition usually has been staged at the Hollenden hotel, but has never attained the high degree of success to which its merit entitles it. Congratulations are due the society for its extremely good fortune in securing this highly favorable setting on Euclid avenue for its display. The prize list is in the course of preparation and can be obtained from the secretary, Wilbur A. Christy, Warren, O. There is to be no entry fee and no charge for admission.

According to present indications, Cleveland will be well represented at the New York convention. Among the number who have announced their intention of going are F. C. W. Brown, of the Gasser Co., and H. P. Knoble, the latter, with his family, combining the trip with a vacation in the mountains.

Speaking of vacations, listen: Al. Barber, of the Jones-Russell Co.; Walter Priest, of the Plant & Flower Co.; Frank Ritzenthaler, of Knoble Bros.; George Bate, of the Cleveland Cut Flower Co.; Frank Kocher and James McLaughlin, of the Gasser Co.; Walter Rokusek, of the Cleveland Florists' Exchange, and Frank Schoen, of the Schoen Floral Co., have just returned, rested and rejuvenated, from their vacations. Frank Williams, of the Cleveland Cut Flower Co.; Carl Lee, of the Gasser Co.; Miss Stroh, of Westman & Getz; George Schaub and Jack McGilly, of Smith & Fetters, and Miss Cliff, of Christine the Florist, are away, and a host of others making preparations to go. Speaketh not this, more convincingly than words, of an era of prosperity among Cleveland florists? J. McL.

FLOWERS FOR IDENTIFICATION.

I am sending you two wild flowers for identification. They undoubtedly will be badly withered when they reach you, as these prairie flowers wilt quickly even in water. One flower suggests to me the petunia. The root of the spike-formed flower is woody, or nearly so. The individual blossoms are extremely small and of a most intense blue. The stamen stalks are brown and the anthers are dark golden yellow. The plant is beautiful when in bloom. If only the blue part of the flower were larger, the effect would be magnificent. B. C. A.—Mo.

One plant only was in such a condition as to be recognizable. It is Amorpha fruticosa, commonly called the false indigo. This is used a good deal in shrubberies and succeeds well under adverse conditions. C. W.

Results bring advertising.
The Review brings results.

WHERE Mrs. Russell is available there is little need for any other summer rose.

IT never has paid to advertise so well as it will pay the trade from this time on.

THE end-of-July heat wave was general over almost all the United States. Florists who complain would do well to remember that in the apparel trade bathing suits are the only ones that sell in such weather. We could expect nothing else than that the selling end of the flower business would be dull.

CHARLES W. JOHNSON, secretary of the Chrysanthemum Society of America, has just mailed to the members the proceedings of the fifteenth annual meeting, held at Philadelphia last November. It is a pamphlet of thirty-two pages, with a portrait of President Vert as a frontispiece, and contains lists of varieties disseminated last year and a review of the work of the examining committees, which was published from week to week in The Review last autumn. The list of members shows 109 names.

THE Florists' Hail Association never has advertised its advantages in such a way as to bring them to the attention of the entire body of the trade; instead, it has relied largely on word-of-mouth advertising. The Review, therefore, regularly receives, from persons not thoroughly informed about the Hail Association, inquiries regarding such insurance as the association offers. That there is room for much growth is shown by the fact that these inquiries have been considerably more numerous this summer than ever before.

IS COAL CHEAPER?

When F. S. Peabody, chairman of the Committee on Coal Production in the Council of National Defense, wrote to The Review about its article on the fixing of coal prices, this paper replied to the effect that the only result of the widely heralded "reduction" of prices had been to affirm previously existing high prices. The letters appeared in The Review of July 26.

In reply Mr. Peabody wrote:

I shall appreciate very much your giving me the names of any operators or wholesale companies asking prices in excess of those established as tentative, a list of which I sent you with my previous letter.

The Review, in reply to the above, insisted:

That is not the point. The agreement, widely heralded as a reduction in fuel prices, afforded our subscribers no reduction at all. Responsible florists had been buying prior to the agreement at not more than the agreement prices. The agreement has served only to affirm prices this trade regards as extortionate.

Large Chicago growers in the spring made contracts for Pocahontas coal for the year at $3 per ton at the mine. Smaller buyers have had to pay middlemen's profits. The condition today is illustrated by the following paragraph from the Coal Trade Journal, New York:

Trading in the local bituminous market has been at low ebb during the week, because there has been little to trade with. Practically all of the soft coal coming to tidewater is being applied on contracts or is being held, usually in boats, for bunker orders in the offshore trade, there being no price restrictions on this business. Some middle houses are getting a small tonnage from their regular connections on the basis of $3 net at the mines, but to go into the open market and buy freely at that price is impossible, and to pay more would be a violation of the Washington agreement.

The government's war committees are composed of men from the industries with which they deal. The Review hopes to see the consumers represented the next time an agreement is made to reduce coal prices, or other prices.

FLORISTS' CREDIT.

On another page of The Review this week appears a letter from the secretary of the Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association which calls for comment.

"A goodly number of retail florists are absolutely unreliable," says Mr. Pochelon, "and never intend to pay a bill they contract."

The Review believes the statement overdrawn and in no way justified by the facts.

In an experience of some twenty years dealing exclusively with florists the publishers of The Review have come in contact with only one man whom they believe to have been deliberately dishonest. Against that man The Review supplied the evidence that put him in the penitentiary, but against the rest of those who failed to meet their obligations, nothing worse can be said than that they failed to find the pot of gold when they reached the end of their rainbow. They would have paid if they could.

There is danger that Mr. Pochelon will give the impression that the florists' trade is a trade of dead beats, only a minute fraction of the total number engaged in it having placed themselves where they are held to the straight path by the firm hand of the F. T. D. That is a wrong impression. Florists in this respect are no worse than the rest of humanity; indeed, it is the belief of The Review that they are distinctly above the average of mankind.

Nor does The Review believe that the business methods of florists are less exact than those of other people, although this paper freely admits that there is room for great improvement. But there are extenuations. Bookkeeping is drudgery for the man who works all day at more urgent tasks; the importance of financial management is little appreciated by those accustomed to carrying most of the details of their business in their heads; the present-day need for prompt settlement of bills is not realized by those who always have got along the other way, paying when they can. But there is progress. As the trade grows beyond the one-man stage the personal element becomes less and less a factor and the business must be conducted by and be judged by the rules of merchandising that apply in larger trades.

Only we hope we of the trade will not handicap our own progress by spreading the idea that we are bad people to trust.

WHAT HAVE YOU?

Note the Wanted and For Sale department in The Review; the number of ads and their diversified character show how well other people must be reading them. And here is the evidence the readers have money and the desire to buy good used articles:

I sold my used tubular boiler the same day the paper came out, thanks to The Review.—W. F. Dintleman, Bensenville, Ill., July 28, 1917.

And then this from an advertiser who offered new apparatus:

Please discontinue our ad for the Detroit return trap, as it has been sold through The Review, which certainly gave us prompt and satisfactory results.—Rollins Supply Co., Chicago, July 30, 1917.

Wonder if the maker of the Detroit return traps has any of them he would like to sell?

THE RIGHT IDEA.

Lloyd C. Stark, the new president of the American Association of Nurserymen, apparently appreciates that the national organizations representing the various branches of the trade have not done good team work, as he writes: "The nursery, florist and seed associations should work in closer coöperation, because, when all is said and done, their interests are very similar; indeed, many concerns are engaged in all three branches."

CHICAGO.

The Market.

That there is no complaint to be found about the general condition of the wholesale cut flower market, is the consensus among the wholesalers. Although business may perhaps be considered to be at its midsummer dullest, there is a fairly strong and insistent demand from out of town, which keeps shippers moderately busy. The end of last week may be said to have been unusually good for this season, with July 29 as the outstanding day. Business held up fairly well July 30, but a noticeable decrease was felt July 31. The heat for the last few days has been terrific and this has had its effect on buying as well as on the quality of the flowers. Really good stock is not abundant and it finds a ready sale, but there is a considerable quantity of inferior quality stock arriving which it

GLADIOLI ARE HERE

All the New and Popular Varieties in Quantity

OUR Gladioli are locally grown, by a specialist in cut flowers, not by a man whose first idea is a crop of bulbs. The early varieties are ready in quantity—we have a large supply of all the best sorts, the old favorites and newer kinds that we believe are an improvement.

We call special attention to Myrtle, which is here offered in quantity for the first time. It is the most pleasing shade of pink and it affords more open flowers at one time than any other gladiolus. Fine stock at $5.00 per 100.

AMERICAN BEAUTIES

In addition to a large stock of long-stemmed Beauties that are fine quality for the season, we now have a large crop of short Beauties cut from young plants. These are extremely popular at from $4.00 to $8.00 per 100.

SUMMER ROSES

If you think your trade won't buy Roses in summer, it is because you have not offered them Amling's Roses. Show our stock and the public will buy it every day in the year. We are now ready with large crops of fine Ophelia, Milady, Sunburst, Ward and Hoosier Beauty, cut from young plants—and of course we have the usual large daily supply of Mrs. Russell.

Plenty of Short Roses, good stock, our selection of varieties, at $15.00 per 1000

ASTERS OF ALL SIZES

We now have a complete stock of Asters, all colors and all sizes, small flowers for work or big, fancy flowers for the best purposes; prices from $1.00 to $4.00 per 100.

VALLEY
We never are without it.

LILIES
Large supply, fine flowers.

NEW FERNS, $1.50 per 1000
No shortage here. Order and we ship at once.

is found difficult to move at even the greatest concessions.

American Beauties are hardly a factor in the market, as there is but a small supply coming in. What stock does arrive, however, is readily disposed of. Good roses, of all varieties, were not plentiful, but moved well. A slight shortage of Russell, which still retains its supreme popularity, was noticed at times in some houses, but they could fill their needs in others. All roses may be said in a greater or less degree to show the effects of the heat.

Carnations have about run their course. Hardly any stock arrives and with this shortening the demand also has fallen off almost entirely. Valley is not plentiful, as little forcing is being done. Orchids remain scarce.

There were considerable quantities of Easter lilies to be seen about the market, but they had only a small sale. A moderate supply of rubrum lilies is also arriving.

Gladioli are more plentiful, and good quality stock is in strong demand at good prices. A few stocks arrive, but they are not in much demand. Sweet peas, also, are only represented by a little poor stock. Asters are more plentiful, but the quality on the whole is poor. There are many daisies, but they are not in large demand. Peonies have about reached the end of their season. Centaureas sell only fairly well. Snapdragons are of poor quality and move slowly.

Agmco Buys Pana Factory.

The American Greenhouse Mfg. Co. has bought the buildings and site of the Progressive Mfg. & Mercantile Co., Pana, Ill., and work is now under way to move the company's factory at Cicero, Ill., to the new location.

The new plant comprises four brick buildings with a floor space of about 80,000 square feet, besides a large office building located directly on one of the four railroads which run through the five acres of ground owned by the company. Three railroad switches facilitate the handling of stock. A private electric power plant is on the grounds, while on the adjoining property is the city gas and water works. Of the 80,000 square feet of factory space nearly 70,000 are main floor and room for about 1,000 workmen is afforded. Pana is about eighty miles from St. Louis.

Various Notes.

The majority of growers have been steadily reducing the number of varieties grown, some of them now having only two or three sorts of roses or a half dozen varieties of carnations, but at J. A. Budlong's it is considered good policy to cling to a considerable number of varieties each of which has proved profitable in its season. This establishment probably grows more varieties of roses than any other in this district. The sorts planted for next season are Mrs. Russell, Lady Alice Stanley, Mrs. Wm. R. Hearst, Sunburst, Champ Weiland, Mrs. Aaron Ward, Hoosier Beauty, Milady, Double White Killarney, Killarney Brilliant, Ophelia and Double Pink Killarney. Of the corsage roses George Elger, Baby Doll, Evelyn Nesbit and Cecile Brunner have been benched. It will be noted that American Beauty and Killarney are not in the list.

The 5-story warehouse of the John C. Moninger Co., which was destroyed by fire on New Year's eve, is being rebuilt this summer. The lower floor has a 17-foot ceiling and is to be used as a foundry.

There are two things that impress the eastern florist when he visits California, said C. L. Washburn, in speaking of his recent trip to the coast. The first of these is the high quality of the outdoor flowers, which are not surpassed anywhere; the second, the low prices at which flowers sell, carnations being sold at retail for as low as 5 cents per bunch of 100.

The E. Wienhoeber Co., on Elm street, comments on the number of July weddings. This florist had charge of the flowers at the Halle funeral, at the Germania Club and at Graceland, July 29, making the casket cover of Milady roses. Most of the leading stores were represented in the three van loads of pieces. William Wienhoeber returned last week from his vacation trip to California.

W. J. & M. S. Vesey, Fort Wayne, Ind., have arranged with the E. C. Amling Co. to handle their cut of orchids this season, an initial shipment having been made last week. The Veseys expect to cut between 40,000 and 50,000 orchids this season, embracing a full list of the popular varieties.

Albert F. Koehler, secretary of the American Bulb Co., with Mrs. Koehler, returned July 28 from a fortnight's vacation trip to Colorado. August 5 the company will celebrate its first anniversary.

A. C. Kohlbrand, secretary of the Wholesale Cut Flower Association, with Mrs. Kohlbrand, is visiting this week at the old home in Cincinnati. Bert Cole and wife have returned from a

H. C. Wendland and family are summering at Lake Villa. Mr. Wendland comes in once a week or so to spend a day or two in the city and at Elmhurst.

So successful did Swain Nelson & Sons Co. find its peony show that a display of flowers of hardy perennials has been held at its offices in the Marquette building, backed by considerable newspaper advertising to get the public in.

A. Lange does not stop pushing because it is the middle of the summer. Finding a rose bargain last week, he advertised a sale of dollar boxes, each containing five dozen roses. The same ad offered longer roses at 25 cents to $2 per dozen. He moved a large quantity.

As president of the board of county supervisors Peter Reinberg has allied himself with the forces intent on making Cook county dry on the Sabbath.

The George Wittbold Co. has been busy working up stock of Boston ferns and recently had 200,000 ready for the market.

After having spent so many years in the flower business in Chicago, H. W. Rogers, formerly with Weiland & Risch, found it impossible to keep away from the trade after Mrs. Rogers inherited a competence and they removed to Detroit. He is with the G. H. Taepke Co.

That he conducts "the only real flower store in Chicago that has no ice-box" is the only boast Walter Adams ever makes. He believes it is good policy to have no refrigerator, because, he says, people feel sure then they get fresh flowers.

Miss Nettie Parker, who is secretary of A. T. Pyfer & Co., plans to attend the S. A. F. convention at New York on an eastern vacation trip she will make in company with her sister.

Visitors.

Miss Mae M. Carroll, of Norwood, O., possibly the only woman bulb merchant, has been at the Auditorium hotel this week, on a trip combining business and pleasure.

S. S. Pennock, of the S. S. Pennock Co., Philadelphia, made a brief stay in Chicago July 30, on his way to Denver. Mr. Pennock expects to be back in Chicago for a slightly longer visit in about a week.

John Stuppy, of the Stuppy Floral Co., St. Joe, Mo., and Wm. Hasselman, of Independence, Kan., were visitors last week.

John Furrow, of Guthrie, Okla., was a visitor last week. Mr. Furrow together with a friend made the trip to Chicago by automobile in the record time of three days. They drove day and night.

J. R. Souder and wife, Hutchinson, Kan., were visitors last week.

MILWAUKEE.

The Market.

The weather has been more than comfortably warm during the last week and this put the finishing touch to business, which had kept up fairly well for so long. Stock in general is not in oversupply and everyone says that things would be stagnant were it not for funeral work, which has been fairly good up to this writing.

The new-crop asters are beginning to arrive and the blooms move rather well. The quantity, however, as yet is negligible, and the stems are short. Sweet peas are still with us, although the stems are short and the quality is only medium. There are good snapdragons, which move as well as could be expected. Lilies have shortened in supply to some extent, but they are not selling any better than they have for the last few weeks. Valley remains scarce and the quality is not what it should be, but the daily cut nevertheless finds a ready sale, despite the condition of the stock.

Carnations are still in the market,

The Market.

Gladioli were the principal item of stock both in supply and demand last week. The flowers are of good quality, America, Peace and a few of the other leading varieties selling for $4 per hundred, while the ordinary stock brought $3 per hundred. Lilies were scarce the first part of the week, owing to the dark weather. The sunshine of the last part of the week, however, brought plenty of them to supply the demand. Giganteum and rubrum still are selling for $8 per hundred. A few gold band lilies have made their appearance.

Good roses sold at prices ranging from $1.50 to $5 per hundred. Carnations are scarce. Daisies are less plentiful, but the demand was good. Snapdragons are of good quality and supply. Asters are arriving in quantities, but the quality so far has been inferior. Sweet peas have gone and buddleia has taken their place. Dahlias are coming in larger quantities. Miscellaneous outdoor stock is being used for window displays. Plumosus, Sprengeri and smilax are scarce, but good ferns are in the market.

Various Notes.

Tennis Elder and family have been on a fishing trip in the northern part of the state. They went by automobile.

Business was quiet with the retailers last week, the principal source of sales being funeral work. The same condition prevailed in the wholesale market. There was a good supply of many varieties of stock. Lilies of fine quality with long stems, and sweet peas, both sold well. The market has many good sweet peas coming now and these flowers always are in demand. The extreme heat and absence of rain have hit the growers and outdoor stock is suffering.

Moore, Llewellyn & Co. made a window of outdoor flowers; William F. Holmes presented pandanus and the New York Florists had a pretty window of sweet peas in various hues and wondrous colors. The latter had a good week of funeral work.

Swanson's had a fine stock of garden flowers last week. The interior of the store was a mass of gladioli, baby's breath, daisies, sweet peas and other stock, including roses and greens.

E. M. P.

PHILADELPHIA.

The Market.

The intense heat has depressed the cut flower market.

The supply of gladioli has increased heavily, beyond the ability of the buyers to take them. Prices have fallen, despite the fact that the quality of the blooms is excellent. Asters have also increased, but there are more poor asters in proportion to the good ones than there were a week ago. Roses are more abundant in the lower than upper grades. Easter lilies continue plentiful. There are not many small white flowers just now, but there are plenty of colored flowers from outdoors—the showy kind suggestive of old-fashioned gardens. They sell rather poorly, at low prices. Taken all in all, July has been quite as good as usual from a business standpoint, probably a little ahead of last year.

Summer Chat.

Adolph Farenwald, the well-known rose specialist, now president of the Philadelphia Florists' Club, is speaking. "It does not," he says, "take brains to grow flowers successfully. It takes conditions—good soil, good food and, above all, good water. It takes brains to run a business, to sell the product, to pay the bills. It does not take brains to grow flowers. Take my own case. Those ground shoots that Liberty produced in winter were the result of good conditions. Since then the Springfield Water Co. has changed the source of its water supply. It got its water from Neshanning creek. The water was so muddy that tons of alum were used to clarify it, and the alum poisoned the roses. My plants would not grow. Now we have good water and our plants are doing better. Then take soil that has been used in the greenhouse, seeded over outside and then brought into the greenhouse again. Plants will not bloom well in it. They will grow, but not as they should. They require virgin soil. No, it does not take brains to grow plants; it takes conditions, proper conditions."

"I think," Leo Niessen gently interposed, "close personal attention is what counts."

Mr. Farenwald evidently intended to lay special stress on judgment or foresight as indispensable where hard work is to receive proper returns.

M. J. Callahan, the leading West Philadelphia retail florist, is answering a query regarding midsummer business. "It is not difficult to make expenses in summer with a little care. There is always a certain amount of funeral work and a few other things. I carry a little

BRIDGEPORT, CONN.

The Market.

There are still some unusually good carnations coming from the local growers, but other indoor stock is done for. Outdoor stock is plentiful. Sweet peas and gladioli are in abundance, and roses, although late this season, are excellent. There is a supply of fine asters, snapdragons and various other items of outdoor stock.

The Florists' Club.

Bridgeport florists recently formed a club and have found it helpful, not only as a means of getting together for a social time, but as a place where subjects of interest to the trade can be discussed. No rooms have been secured for the meetings, it having been decided to meet at the members' establishments for the present.

The July meeting was held at Fred Kolb's place on Capital avenue. At the meeting it was decided to have an outing and sheep roast. Mr. Kolb tendered the use of his grounds, which are ideal for the occasion.

The officers of the club are: President, Carl Reck; vice-president, Gustave Herthal; secretary, Stephen Horan; treasurer, Lewis Bill. The board of directors is made up of the membership.

Various Notes.

The downtown stores are closing at 5 p. m. during July and August, and the greenhouse men also are closing earlier. All have had good business this summer.

Robert Hawkins recently made several designs for the funeral of a prominent resident. He reports a good business in July. Several of Mr. Hawkins' employees are away on vacations.

An automobile, driven by a woman, skidded recently in front of The Rosery and the car crashed through the store's show window. George Pflomm says he is always ready to welcome the ladies, but would rather that they leave their cars outside. Funeral work and trade in general has been excellent at The Rosery.

James E. Beach had a church wedding decoration that called for large quantities of cut flowers, ferns and palms.

Julius C. J. Reck, of the Brooklawn Conservatories, reports that funeral work has been keeping everything in the cut flower line cleaned up. He still is cutting carnations and the outdoor stock, including snapdragons and zinnias, is excellent. Mr. Reck recently installed a new hot water boiler.

Splendid asters and sweet peas are being cut at the Park Gardens. A pall of white sweet peas, white roses and baby's breath recently was made at the retail store. Business is good.

Horan & Sons are benching their chrysanthemums, three houses already having been filled.

John Beach, who formerly was with his father, David Beach, has started in the vegetable growing business at Fairfield, Conn.

G. C. Bouton & Son are making repairs to their establishment on Myrtle avenue. They are cutting some fine gladioli now.

Carl Reck, of John Reck & Son, is on a motor trip through New Hampshire.

Miss Jennings' private estate at Fairfield, Conn., was thrown open to the public for a week recently. The rose garden holds a great mass of pink and white ramblers on trellises on either side of an artificial lake, while Mrs. Aaron Ward roses were in profusion. A marble urn filled with dark purple petunias of a rare variety, and the rock garden, were interesting. I. L. B.

The Market.

Trade is frightfully dull and shipments arrive in none too good condition. The extreme heat is responsible for this. Outdoor stock is arriving in large quantities and much of it goes to waste on account of existing conditions. There is an excessive supply of carnations and they are offered at sacrifice prices to clear. Good quality stock is bringing from $1 to $1.50. The daily shipments of roses are not extra large at this time, but as soon as the blooms arrive they open completely, and consequently the sales are not so good. Francis Scott Key is one of the best sellers. Ophelia and Double White Killarney move fairly well, but prices are low on all stock.

There is a mammoth supply of sweet peas in all shades, but the stock does not move fast. Bachelor's buttons and calendulas are popular at this time for window decorations. There are many Easter lilies, but there is little demand for them. Rubrum lilies have made their first appearance, but they are soft and practically unsalable. Achillea and gypsophila are used largely in baskets. Early Market asters in pink, white and lavender are making their first appearance this week. Outdoor gladioli are coming in well now, but chiefly in the red shades. Candytuft, Shasta daisies, gaillardias and coreopsis are in large supply. The receipts of greens are large. Most of the fern leaves are being brought in from local points.

Various Notes.

The vacation season is well under way and many are enjoying the lake and ocean breezes. Mrs. K. Owen is at Sea Breeze, N. Y.; Miss Bossler, of the Lord & Burham Co., is in the Adirondacks; George Pringle, of Salter Bros., is on an auto trip to Boston; I. Briggs, of James Vick's Sons, is at Summerville, N. Y.; Mrs. E. C. Armbrust is at New Britain, Conn.; William H. Dildine is spending the summer season at his cottage on the Vick seed farm.

Chas. W. Curtis is cutting good early asters, which bring good figures.

Among visitors last week were T. M. Phillips, of S. A. Weller, Boston; H. Kurth, of Reed & Keller, New York; F. G. Nelson, of the Burlington Willow Ware Shops, Burlington, Ia.; Morris Cohen, of New York; H. Moore, of the Sefton Mfg. Corporation, Chicago; I. M.

GREENHOUSES AND RESIDENCE

SPLENDID BUSINESS. FINE HOME. SIX GOOD HOUSES. EIGHT FINE LOTS.

Corner location in a midwestern city of 200,000 inhabitants

THIS PROPERTY FOR SALE

The greenhouses are well located. There are eight lots 25x125 feet. Six greenhouses 21x156 feet. Five of them are iron guttered with angular purlins, with seven-foot iron posts under the gutters.

The houses are stocked with over five thousand carnation plants, four thousand seven hundred roses—American Beauty, Killarney Brilliant, Ophelia, Lady Alice Stanley, Hadley, Madame Shawyer, Sunburst and Hoosier Beauty. About twenty-six hundred mums, in the leading varieties; ferns, palms, asparagus, asters and snapdragons, and plants of all kinds for pot plants for the coming season. There are three hundred and twenty-five feet of beautiful parking planted in flowers for stock plants.

The greenhouses and everything are in fine shape. Large brick boiler house and garage, built two years ago. Fine, new, 125-H. P. steam return tubular boiler, tested to carry one hundred and twenty-five pounds of steam. With new Morehead double system of steam traps. The boiler is in first-class condition and heats the office and dwelling.

The office is 26 feet square, with four good living rooms overhead. It opens into the show room and rose house, also the back way to the kitchen of the dwelling. In contains two counters, one large marble counter, with large mirror 4 x 10 feet and wall shelves back of the counter. Fine, large ice box, with a large mirror in front and at one end. Large wall case 12 feet long and 8 feet high. Case with glass sliding doors and marble base and finished with white enamel. One large marble top store table with marble slab 4 x 6 feet. Private office with large safe, with double combination and money compartment. Good roll top desk. There are three large plate glass windows and plate glass door in front of office. You can go out of the public office into the cellar, where a room is fitted up for storing cut flowers, and a large zinc table for sorting. There are four rooms in the cellar under the house, all cemented. One laundry room, with stationary tubs and clothes chute from the bath room.

The dwelling is a nine-room house, made of light colored brick with dark brown trimmings. The rooms downstairs are all finished in oak, upstairs are natural wood varnished There is a large sitting room with fireplace and mantel. A large dining room with bay window and built-in sideboard with large mirror and leaded glass doors in the cupboards and drawers for the silver, table linen, etc. The library looks out on the conservatory. A large front hall which opens into these rooms. A good sized kitchen and pantry. A good sized clothes closet and stationary lavatory in the kitchen, also sink with two large draining boards. Large glass-enclosed back porch, also large front porch. There are four large rooms upstairs with a clothes closet in each room. A large bath room with fine, open plumbing. A large open porch or balcony upstairs. Electric lights and gas throughout the house. A gas grate upstairs and down. The front room upstairs has a large fireplace with gas grate and mantel. You can go from the library through a hall and into the cellar, also out into the conservatory. Stained glass windows in sitting room and dining room, also stained glass window on the landing of the stairway.

The streets are all well improved, good cement gutters, storm sewer and sanitary sewer. The parkings are planted with nice hard maple and shade trees.

Most of the walls of the greenhouses are brick with pressed brick front. These are all in good shape and planted up for the season with plenty of stock for next year. A good local retail and shipping trade. Auto delivery car.

Property is worth $20,000. Will make liberal discount and terms to right party. Owners have other business interests which demand their attention. For particulars, panoramic photograph, price and terms, write to

The Market.

We have experienced the hottest and most enervating weather of the year, and this has made business quiet. The quality of indoor flowers has deteriorated and the supply has shortened. A fair number of American Beauties arrive, but the call for them is meager. The ordinary Killarneys now are poor and hardly salable, but the double white sport, Ophelia, Stanley, Miller and Kaiserin still are quite good and are realizing fair prices. The intense heat is finishing the carnations, which now are small and in many cases spidery. Most of the carnation specialists have stopped sending flowers, being busy replanting. Asters are somewhat more plentiful, but do not sell with their accustomed snap early in the season. Local outdoor gladioli are not yet seen except in small lots, but good flowers from the south are arriving.

Sweet peas are becoming short-stemmed on account of the long drought, but the flowers are clean and move quite well. Lilium giganteum is still far too abundant. There are supplies of speciosum album and rubrum, auratum and regale coming in. Sweet sultans are rather popular; bachelor's buttons quite the reverse. Valley continues scarce and high. Cattleyas are somewhat more plentiful. Miscellaneous flowers include helichrysums, cosmos, salpiglossis, globe amaranths, rudbeckias and Golden Glow mums. No one wants mums, however, at this season. Gypsophila is, in large measure, taking the place of asparagus now.

Gardeners' and Florists' Picnic.

The annual picnic of the Gardeners' and Florists' Club, which was held at Cunningham park, East Milton, July 25, proved to be the most successful outing in all respects and was the most largely attended affair in the club's history. Weather conditions were perfect, there being a cloudless sky, with the temperature moderate. A large number arrived at the picnic grounds as early as 10 o'clock and nearly all stayed until the prizes had been distributed, at 6 p. m.

Great interest centered in the baseball and football games. The commercial baseball nine, captained by George B. Palmer, defeated the private gardeners' team with comparative ease, but the latter, with their superior weight, brawn and muscle, made short work of their opponents when it came to the grilling tug of war, the last event on the day's program. The married ladies did not show their usual prowess in the baseball match and were rather easily defeated by their unmarried sisters. The soccer football game proved to be a strenuous one. J. R. Ness put through both goals for Captain Miller's team. The children's races were heavily contested, there being from twenty-two to twenty-six entries in some of the classes.

The club provided sandwiches, beverages, ice cream and boxes of chocolates. Most of the married members brought their own lunches and there seemed to be an abundance for everyone. Prizes were presented by James Methven at the conclusion of the sports, which everyone voted to be a most delightful occasion. Members and friends were present from Pennsylvania, Providence, R. I.; Lowell, Swampscott, Fall River, Taunton, Hingham, Natick, North Easton, Manchester, Beverly, Wellesley,

Various Notes.

July 23 a fire starting at the establishment of the New England Nursery Co., of Bedford, destroyed two buildings and partly wrecked two others, also destroying the Shady Hill station of the Boston & Maine railroad, which was used by all visitors to the nursery. The fire started in the pump house of the nursery, causing a collapse of the water tank and making pumping machinery useless. It spread to the packing shed and destroyed a carload of lumber and 500 hot-bed screens. The fire was believed to be due to defective wiring; the estimated damages are $10,000.

Mann Bros., of Randolph, grow a large variety of summer flowers and their stand at the Exchange is always attractive. At present they have fine batches of Lilium speciosum album and melpomene, rudbeckias, cosmos, helichrysums, asters, salpiglossis, globe amaranths, candytuft and gladioli.

The Welch Bros. Co. reports business about as usual. They have been receiving Golden Glow mums for over three weeks from one of their growers, but few will buy them at this season. Gladioli of exceptional quality are arriving, while sweet peas, roses and asters all are good.

A. A. Pembroke, of North Beverly, shipped in his last carnations of the season July 28 and George Gordon, who handles his flowers, will now be out of the market until fall. Mr. Pembroke will plant charily of novelties, relying largely on such varieties as Matchless, Benora, Alice, Pink Delight and a few others of proven excellence.

Patrick Welch has handled a large quantity of Farquhar's Lilium regale of late and still is receiving shipments of this beautiful summer lily. Quite a number have been shipped long distances. He also has a fine lot of speciosum lilies, asters, gladioli, roses and sweet peas.

The draft is affecting the majority of the growers, both on commercial establishments and on private estates. It is causing a still greater shortage of greenhouse assistants. A great many of the latter enlisted prior to the draft. This shortage will be relieved in some measure by the closing of numbers of private greenhouses and curtailment on others, which is reaching quite serious proportions in Massachusetts. The coal situation is responsible for the majority of the shut-downs.

Henry W. Vose, of Hyde Park, is shipping in splendid lots of giganteum lilies and asters. Whatever Mr. Vose takes in hand he does well.

George W. Hamer, the genial and popular assistant manager of the Flower Exchange, left July 28 for a fortnight's vacation on the North Shore.

The management of the Montrose Greenhouses has increased its planting of Stanley roses for next season, but is not trying any novelties. At present a nice lot of Killarney, White Killarney, Stanley and Black Beauty, locally called Crimson Queen, are being cut.

The usual fishing trip in Boston harbor by the growers and salesmen of the wholesale markets will not be held this year because of the war restrictions of the government. A trip to some inland lake or river may be arranged later.

David Welch thinks he will spend his vacation at home this year and may have to forgo his annual exploits as a cavalryman. Business with D. & E. J. Welch is down to the midsummer basis.

The annual phlox and gladiolus show will be held at Horticultural hall August 11 and 12. There are fifteen classes allotted to gladioli, with prizes ranging from $40 downward.

At the establishment of R. & J. Farquhar & Co. summer sales of vegetable seeds are good, with many lines sold out. There is a large call for cabbage, celery, strawberry and other plants and a great call for sprayers and insecticides. Aphis has attacked potatoes and other root crops, in addition to trees and shrubs.

Little S. A. F. convention talk is heard here as yet, but there will be a fair attendance at New York from here, the water route being the one most favored.

At the Park street store of Thomas Galvin, Inc., the July business has been quite good. A number of the staff are away on vacations, but funeral and other work has kept those at home busy. Window decorations now are mainly ferns, palms, aquatics and hardy herbaceous plants.

Carbone at this season uses lilies, larkspurs and aquatics mainly in the windows, the stock being arranged lightly and gracefully. This store is doing a large business in garden furniture and other accessories.

Recent visitors included Robert Tyson and son, Convent, N. J.; F. G. Sea-

The Market.

Business last week was dull and although the supply of cut flowers was comparatively small, it did not clean up. Asters and roses were in greatest demand. Gladioli are in heavy supply, but the choice flowers bring $6 per hundred. America and Augusta are the best sellers, while many of the Mrs. Francis King variety are dumped for want of demand. Local carnations are small and have short stems. The best stock is shipped in.

There was a shortage of valley and orchids. While the demand for these two items is not large, it is steady. There is a large supply of outdoor stock coming, the recent rains having had a good effect on it. All kinds of greens, especially smilax and asparagus, are in demand.

The Club Picnic.

The twenty-fourth annual picnic of the St. Louis Florists' Club was held at Ramona park July 26, and it was by far the most successful in the history of the club. Nearly 800 florists, their families and friends attended. Mr. J. Pluvius tried several times to put a damper on the festivities, but Old Sol won out and the day was almost perfect.

One of the principal events of the day was an automobile parade, which preceded the picnic. It started from the wholesale district at noon and forty elaborately decorated machines were in the line, which was headed by President Jules Bourdet. The route led through the principal business streets to the park. Everything was in readiness for the picnickers when they arrived.

Entries were numerous in the ten athletic events and some of them were run off in heats. This was especially so in the contests for women and girls. The results follow:

Novelty race—O. K. Sanders, first.

Fifty-yard dash for boys—Louis Weinberg, first; G. Cerny, second.

Nigger baby contest for boys under 12 years—D. Dasey, first; D. Wells, second.

Flags of all nations for girls under 12 years—Miss Weisser, first with American flag; Marge Wors, second with Belgian flag.

Ball throwing contest for girls—Miss Chadaey, first; Violet Furber, second.

The tug of war between the growers and retailers resulted in a technical draw, although the growers, captained by W. J. Pilcher, won. Count von Hoffman, who led the retailers, protested the results on the ground that the growers added two men to their team while the contest was in progress. The protest was allowed and the cigars divided between the two teams.

There also were races for single women and for married women, but the modest correspondent looked away and did not see who won.

The most exciting event of the day was the ball game between the wholesalers and retailers, the former led by Otto Bruenig and the latter by Count von Hoffman. Frank Gorly was the umpire. Mr. Gorly had, perhaps, more excitement out of the game than anyone else, as he nearly lost his fancy shirt through having it pulled by excited players of both sides during arguments over his decisions. The final score was 15 to 14 in favor of the retailers.

Dinner was served following the ball game and during the evening there was dancing to the music of Arthur Beyer's orchestra. The outing was arranged by the trustees of the club, J. J. Windler, W. W. Ohlweiler and W. A. Rowe. The parade was in charge of the club's publicity committee, of which W. C. Smith is the chairman.

Among those who had automobiles in the parade were the Bourdet Floral Co., the Flower Shop, Pelletier Floral Co., F. C. Weber, Joseph Witek, L. Baumann, F. H. Weber, George Waldbart, Vandervoort's and Young's. W. A. Rowe, W. J. Pilcher and S. E. Cerny, St. Louis county growers, and practically all the wholesale houses also had machines in the parade. All were prettily decorated and attracted a great deal of attention along the route.

the S. A. F. and his membership committee made hay while the sun shone and displayed a number of applications for membership in the S. A. F. Several new members also were secured for the club.

Charles Wors, as usual, presided over the attendance guessing table. The prize was won by Thomas Kirkwood, Jr., whose guess was 777.

President W. A. Rowe and Secretary Joseph Deutschmann, of the County Growers' Association, brought their families and said that they had an enjoyable day. The association was well represented.

Fred Foster came alone. He informed questioners that his two sons have entered the service of their country, one in the marine corps and the other in the navy.

George Madsen, of Alton; G. W. Grossart and Henry Emunds, of Belleville, and Edwin Denker, of St. Charles, were among the visitors from out of town.

George Waldbart and his whole force of employees were among the first to reach the picnic grounds.

Fred Grossart, a former member of the club and now a resident of Omaha, Neb., and Allen Humason, representing the Raedlein Basket Co., Chicago, were there and said they were glad of it.

at the Washington University and August 1 became associated with City Forester Julius Koenig.

Henry Emunds, of Belleville, Ill., has a big field of yellow cannas, known as Queen Helen, in fine shape. The entire crop has been sold to a Chicago firm.

Ray Young, son of Henry Young, and Andre Baurdet, son of Jules Bourdet, are members of the Fifth regiment, which has been ordered to report for duty August 5.

Fred W. Ude, Jr., of Kirkwood, has rebuilt one of his houses this summer. He has several houses of fine young chrysanthemum stock.

A visit to the establishment of John Steidle and that of his son Charles, across the way at Olivette, Mo., disclosed that their stock is in excellent shape for next season. Roses in all varieties are grown here and the young stock gives promise of producing a large crop. The output will be marketed by Henry G. Berning.

The Young Bros. Floral Co. is making preparations to move from 5504 Waterman avenue to a new building being erected at the corner of Berlin and DeGiverville avenues, in the heart of the best residence section of St. Louis. The building is expected to be ready within two weeks.

At the meeting of the County Growers' Association August 1, it was to be decided when the annual picnic will be held. The outing will be under the management of the trustees.

The next meeting of the St. Louis Florists' Club will be held at Edwin Denker's place in St. Charles, August 9. Officers will be elected at this meeting. Automobiles will be in the wholesale district at 12:30 to carry the members to the meeting. J. J. B.

Wichita, Kan.—Charles P. Mueller, state vice-president of the S. A. F., has sent a circular letter to the florists of the state. He calls attention that Kansas has only six representatives in the S. A. F. and calls on the nearly 200 florists in the state to send in their applications.

Seed Trade News

AMERICAN SEED TRADE ASSOCIATION.
President, F. W. Bolgiano, Washington, D. C.; Secretary-Treasurer, C. E. Kendel, Cleveland, O.

WORD has been received that French bulbs are afloat.

THE weather to date continues favorable for the Chicago onion set crop.

THE Leonard Seed Co., Chicago, reports a heavy demand for turnip seed.

EXCAVATION work has been completed by the John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., for a 4-story brick and concrete building, 63x163 feet. When completed the building will be used for the company's office and mailing room.

CHARLES DICKINSON, of the Albert Dickinson Co., Chicago, is president of the Aero Club of Illinois, and is devoting a large part of his time to the affairs of the two airdromes the government has established in his state for the training of army aviators.

THE trade is issuing its summer catalogues of fall bulbs, later than usual but in much the same form as heretofore, indicating general confidence that imports will come. Prices quoted are high, especially on French bulbs, some of the books omitting figures on Paper Whites.

THE Leonard Seed Co., Chicago, is erecting a new warehouse for onion sets at Des Plaines, Ill. The building will be entirely of tile and concrete, absolutely fireproof, and will have a capacity of about 75,000 bushels. John C. Leonard is on a western trip, inspecting crops.

CHICAGO seedsmen were visited last week by C. Herbert Coy, president of the Coy Seed Co., Valley, Neb., who, accompanied by members of his family, is going by easy stages to New York in his Moline-Knight. Mr. Coy says that so far the crops in his state are doing well.

SLUIS & GROOT, Enkhuizen, Holland, July 3 celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of the business. Both founders, N. Sluis and N. Groot, respectively 83 years and 73 years of age, still enjoy excellent health and are active. The fathers and grandfathers of both these gentlemen occupied themselves in seed growing, and the vegetable and flower seeds of the firm now are sent to all parts of the world.

THE nation-wide campaign for gardens has made for a tremendous lot of early green vegetables, as the weather has been favorable and amateurs have been successful. This was strongly felt by the truck grower for a while, but the market now is picking up rapidly and there undoubtedly will be a strong fall market. The success of home gardens this year will undoubtedly tend toward stimulating efforts in the future.

MORE than $100,000 and stock in the L. Teweles Seed Co. are bequeathed to six children under the terms of the will of Ludwig Teweles, the veteran seedsman of Milwaukee, who died last month of heart failure. The widow, Mrs. Hariette Teweles, receives $40,000, while numerous relatives are remembered to the extent of from $500 to $1,000 each. The business becomes the property of the five sons, Hugo, Arthur, Max, Oscar and Edwin Teweles.

AMERICAN growers of aster seeds are justified in putting out a capacity acreage this year. With the German seed out of the market the demand for home-grown seed will be greatly increased.

A BANNER SEED SEASON?

Field's Figures Say Yes!

The government estimates that there are $350,000,000 worth of home gardens in the United States this summer—a wealth which seedsmen say represents the aftermath of the greatest spring business ever done by their trade. Never before has an industry been boomed by a fad or propaganda of such proportions as that which took the seedsmen by storm last spring, when the government, the papers, in fact, everybody, exhorted the people to plant each plot and lot to vegetables.

In some cases, of course, the dealer's greater prosperity was cut short by an early exhaustion of seed supplies, and because of inefficient methods of distribution or unfavorable weather conditions others suffered; but it is believed, nevertheless, that the spring business of 1917 was greatly in excess of that of any other spring.

Reports from many quarters inform that this drive for increased vegetable production hacked off a big fraction of the usual flower seed business; but others say the initiation of vast numbers of people into amateur gardening carried with it a demand for flower seeds that offset, or will offset in later years, this factor. A keen observer suggested that if the home gardener did not have flowers, in the fall the florist would be required to supply him, thus indirectly increasing the florists' requirements for seeds of annuals, perennials, etc.

There'll Be Vacations at Field's.

As indicative of its banner year, the Henry Field Seed Co., of Shenandoah, Ia., has been pleased to supply comparative figures covering the amount of business done by the company during the last five years, the business year ending July 1, as follows:

Year	No. Orders	Amt. Sales
1913	60,804	$170,973.09
1914	82,628	241,486.13
1915	105,122	313,373.12
1916	133,652	412,912.29
1917	204,773	631,206.74

The total sales for the year ending July 1, 1917, show the remarkable increase of $218,294.45 over those of the previous year, an advance of more than fifty per cent. The number of orders seem to have increased in about the same proportion as the total sales, the average order for the year ending July 1, 1916, being for $3.09 as against $3.08 for the year ending last month.

In speaking of the substantial increase Henry Field says:

"Of course, there is a good reason for this increase, but I am willing to leave it to you to figure out for yourself.

"Advertising? Yes, but all the advertising in the world won't do a bit of good unless you back it up with the goods. You know that. Anyway, we are doing less advertising every year, and probably less than any other big seed house in the country.

"Of course, we made a good, fair profit out of the year's business. We do every year. Nothing startling, but enough so we can all live pleasantly and comfortably and decently, and that is enough for anyone. It takes lots of the money we get to pay postage and pay roll and war taxes and all the rest of it.

"One thing, we believe in the help getting their share. We get good help, pay good wages and try to keep them happy. We gave them all a raise of about ten to fifteen per cent July 1, put in free life insurance for everyone working for us and gave them a share of the year's profits again—what we call a 'labor dividend.'"

OPAQUE SEED PACKETS.

In the report of the committee on postal laws presented at the recent Detroit convention attention was drawn to a matter many seedsmen have overlooked. The committee said:

"H. M. Earl was instrumental, through the Pennsylvania congressmen and senators, in the rescinding of the post-office order covering the use of transparent bags, with the result that this order was canceled, and we are now able to use bags of any color or any degree of opacity that we may choose. This is a valuable decision, as many of us found it a real hardship to be compelled to use a bag that met the requirements of the Post-office Department as to transparency."

THE BRITISH SEED SITUATION.

In view of the close alliance between England and the United States and the probability that the problems of the trade in England may soon be the problems of the trade in America, the following from a British trade paper will be of interest here. It is a statement of the attitude of the British government toward the seed trade:

"The government realizes that there will probably be a serious shortage of seeds next season, and more especially of those seeds upon which we depend for food.

"The authorities do not propose to take control over the seed trade, as has been done in the case of some industries, as it is realized that the seed industry is too complicated and requires too much special knowledge to be tackled by any politician, or in fact anyone who has not had a life experience in it. The board proposes to intervene in two ways, viz., by assisting seedsmen to obtain their supplies more expeditiously, and, secondly, by checking waste.

"With regard to the first, the Horticultural Trades' Association has already approached the board, pointing out that shipments of seed from America were last season delayed as much as three months, arriving in some cases after the sowing season was over. The same thing happened with consignments from Italy and other places. The government is now prepared to act in this matter and to intervene to secure shipping facilities and more prompt delivery. The shortage is, of course, more or less world-wide, but it will ease the situation considerably if what surpluses do exist can be promptly moved to those places where the deficiency is greatest.

We are all Gamblers

otherwise we would not be in the flower-growing business. The growing of plants from hybridized seed is a sure-enough gamble, but it is gambling with some of the thrills of "playing the ponies" or "hitting" the stock market, and without the same chance of going broke in the game.

THIS MIGHT BE CALLED A 100 TO 1 SHOT

We have grown a small quantity of cross-bred Antirrhinum seed, from the best greenhouse varieties in existence. This seed will certainly produce some winners, as the cross-pollenization was done by one of our best artists. We are going to sow a generous lot of it ourselves and we would use every seed, if we had the room. The man who can not get $10.00 worth of pleasure in watching these choice new hybrids as they bloom for the first time, must be troubled with an in-growing grouch, and —well, he is not in our class, that's all. We have a sort of a hunch that from this lot of seed will come that one best snapdragon that the world is waiting for. Will you be the lucky one to raise it?

One seedling that pleased you and suited your special trade would be worth $100.00 to you, and it would be exclusively yours. And then, there is always the chance of producing a pre-eminent rip-snorter of a snapdragon, that would be worth much more. In any case, seed sown this autumn will give you a bench of flowers, every one of which will be salable. You can't lose.

THE PRICE IS $1.00 PER TRADE PACKET

To clinch the bargain, we will include a package of seed of NELROSE, the best Antirrhinum yet introduced, and all for a dollar bill. Seed ready now, but quantity limited. Better get a move on.

New Sweet Pea—Rose Queen

Henry F. Michell Co.

518 Market Street, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

"Special attention will be given to those cases where seedsmen have placed orders for seeds to be grown abroad on contract, as many grievous cases occurred last season, where after making all arrangements, the wholesale trade were unable to get delivery of the goods, and execute orders which had been taken on the strength of the contract.

"Then as to waste: Everyone in the trade knows that even the professional gardener usually buys and sows at least double as much seed as is really necessary. As a remedy, the board proposes to start to educate the public to plant fewer seeds. In spite of the fact that it may at first sight seem somewhat against their own interests, the government expects great assistance from the seed trade in this matter. It is questionable whether waste really benefits any trade in the long run."

LANCASTER, PA.

The Lancaster Florists' Club held its July meeting as guests of C. M. Weaver and Elmer J. Weaver, near Ronks station. Thirty florists went to see the Weaver aster planting, which consists of 90,000 plants. Many thousands of blooms have already been cut and have brought prices that were worth while. The Weavers have grown asters for many years, never replanting on the same field until seven years have elapsed. They save their own seed, and have something to show for it, a superior strain of blooms. Vick's Lavender Pink is being tried, and the visitors were pleased with its lovely tint and large blooms.

Charles M. has a house of peas 50x400, in which the plants now are three inches in height. Many pompon mums are being grown in connection with sweet peas and are in fine condition. On his home grounds he has many tuberous-rooted begonias, a collection not surpassed in this part of the country. His beds of the newer cannas are superb.

After passing around cigars we inspected the houses of Elmer J., where quantities of tomatoes have been a feature for some time, the best ones going to the Boston market and the seconds disposed of locally, also at extremely good figures. A new house 62x400 will be planted to carnations, the stock in the field being in good condition.

Returning to the Weaver home, the meeting was called to order by President Schroyer. Those of the members who attended the Reading florists' picnic spoke in glowing terms of the royal time shown them. On motion of M. J. Brinton, the club voiced a protest against the announced intention of the express companies to place an embargo on shipments of flowers at certain seasons of the year; also that of overruling the rule calling for delivery of flowers in twenty-four hours after receipt.

B. F. Barr invited the florists to meet in August at his home and the invitation was accepted with thanks. Harry G. Haverstick, formerly with M. S. Hershey, of Hershey, Pa., but now with B. F. Barr & Co., was elected a member of the club.

The KENILWORTH Giant Pansy

Seeds are all grown by myself and are offered in the following mixtures and separate colors:

All sorts and mixtures except where noted are: $5.00 per oz., $1.25 per ¼ oz., 5000 seeds. $1.00; trade packet of 1000 seeds, 25c; any 5 packets, $1.00. Please order by number.

22. GIANT KENILWORTH STRAIN. The flowers are of perfect form and substance; many of the immense flowers are from 3½- to 4-in. It is a striking collection of beautiful colors and markings, rich with shades of red, brown, bronze, mahogany and many others too numerous to mention. Light, Medium or Dark Mixtures.
24. GIANT KENILWORTH SHOW. An extra fine strain of large flowers; the immense flowers are of circular form and great substance. A beautiful collection of colors and markings.
26. GIANT KENILWORTH CUT FLOWER MIXTURE. Is a distinct class by itself, surpassing all other strains as a cut flower for inside or outside growing; the large flowers are carried erect above the foliage on heavy stems, 7 or 8 in. long, in the most graceful manner, and stand the hot, dry weather well.
28. GIANT MASTERPIECE. A remarkable type; the curled, wavy petals giving the flower a double appearance; large flowers of great substance, on long, strong stem.
30. GIANT THREE AND FIVE BLOTCHED PANSIES. A superb mixture. Flowers large and of circular form and of great substance. The display of coloring is unsurpassed. A combination of almost every shade of rich, velvety colors; reds are particularly conspicuous; the petals being distinctly marked with three or five large, dark blotches.
32. GIANT PARISIAN. The flowers are of enormous size and beautifully marked, mostly five dark blotches on white and yellow ground; an unusually showy mixture.
34. GIANT BRONZE. A fine mixture of all shades of velvety brown, bronze, Havana brown, mahogany and copper shades.
36. TRIUMPH OF GIANT. Remarkably beautiful. The imposing five-spotted flowers on long, vigorous stalks surmount the foliage in the most graceful manner, are of enormous size, perfectly round and of unusual substance. The individual petals are very broad and cover each other in such a manner as to make the flowers appear almost double, the border of every petal being conspicuously curled. The plants are of a robust growth and form compact bushes of a round shape.

10. KENILWORTH GIANT EXHIBITION is the very finest complete mixture ever sent out. Seed carefully saved only from marked plants of the best varieties, with the largest and best shaped flowers and richest coloring. It is impossible to convey an adequate idea of the delightful variations in color and markings of this unrivaled mixture. 500 seeds 30c, 1000 seeds 50c, ⅛ oz. $1.35, ¼ oz. $2.50, oz. $10.00.

New Early-flowering, or Winter Blooming

An entirely new and distinct strain of Pansies The main advantage of these new Pansies over all hitherto existing Pansies is the extreme earliness of flowering. Sown at the same time as other Pansies, they begin flowering the early part of March or as soon as the snow is off the ground, many times having four or five large flowers to a plant, when all other Pansies are only showing buds. The flowers are large, well formed and fragrant.

14. WINTER SUN. Golden yellow with dark eye.
15. ICE KING. Silvery white, with dark eye.
16. CELESTIAL QUEEN. Light or sky blue.
17. CHARM OF MARCH. Dark velvety blue.
18. MIXED. The above four colors with other shades and variations.

500 seeds 25c, 1000 seeds 40c, ⅛ oz. $1.10, ¼ oz. $2.00, oz. $7.50.

20. PRINCESS. (The New Upright Pansy.) This strain is entirely distinct from all others. It is absolutely compact, upright growing. The flowers are mostly blotched and frilled like the Masterpiece, of good form and heavy velvety texture on heavy stem carried well above the foliage. Attractive by brilliancy of its colors.

40. GIANT BATH'S EMPRESS. The finest of fancy English Pansies. Flowers are very large, mostly frilled and blotched and of great substance and the colors are brilliant and varied.

70. ORCHID-FLOWERED, Mixed. A dwarf, free bloomer, with a range of delicate colors that do not exist in any other Pansies; a remarkable combination of light rose, shell pink, blush mauve, fawn, light brown, orange and chamois.

GIANT PANSY SEED

In Separate Colors

38. Mme. Perret. Red and wine shades.
42. Adonis. Light blue, white center.
44. Black. Almost coal black.
46. Giant Apollo (Masterpiece type). New bronze, veined and blotched.
48. Lord Beaconsfield. Purple, shaded white.
50. Goliath. Large, curled yellow, blotched.
56. Light Blue Shades.
58. Indigo Blue. Deep, velvety blue.
80. Purple. Large, rich deep color.
84. Mercury. New. A deep blackish purple, really self-colored.
86. Pres. McKinley. Yellow, dark blotched.
90. Vulcan. Dark red, with five blotches.
92. Victoria. Blood red, violet blotches.
94. Red. A collection of rich, red shades.
98. Psyche. Curled white, with five blotches.
100. Yellow. With dark blotch.
102. Yellow. Large golden yellow.
104. White. With violet blotch.
106. White. Large satiny white.

PACIFIC COAST DEPARTMENT

Long Beach, Cal.—H. N. Lowe, of Lowe's Flower Shop, 220 West Ocean avenue, says business has been quite good this summer, although it largely is funeral work. There has been, however, an increased call for corsage bouquets. Ophelia and Russell roses are the popular greenhouse flowers of the season, but zinnias, dahlias and asters are fine and sell well. Amaryllis Belladonna soon will be available in quantities and is a popular flower here.

LOS ANGELES, CAL.

The Market.

Cut flowers still are scarce, the supply not equaling the demand in carnations, roses, valley, orchids and asters. Gladioli continue plentiful and the flowers are good. The same can be said of centaureas and rose-pink asters. The lighter shades of asters are scarce and of poor quality. Dahlias are making their appearance in the market and seem to be meeting with favor among the retail florists.

The warm weather that has prevailed here for the last month has brought on a fine growth of plumosus, which can now be obtained in any quantity.

Various Notes.

H. R. Richards, of S. Murata & Co., who was operated on July 20 at the Clara Barton hospital, is getting along nicely and will probably be up and around in a week or ten days.

L. H. Freeman, 212 West Fourth street, has sold his retail store to a Mr. Wilson. Mr. Wilson has a large personal acquaintance in Los Angeles and should do well in his new undertaking. We understand that Mr. Freeman is going on a large ranch at Tehachapi.

A. Beverley, of Santa Barbara, was in town last week making purchases for his Santa Barbara nursery.

Charles Gutting, of the Superior Nursery Co., is cutting some nice dahlias at his dahlia farm at 1417 East Fifty-ninth street. He has some new varieties which are prize-winners, but has not had a large enough cut yet to begin to supply the demand.

Mrs. A. M. Wilton, who has so successfully managed the retail store of C. H. Kolle, El Paso, Tex., for the last five or six years, is spending her summer vacation on the coast, and is now located at the Northern hotel. She expects to stay here for a month or more.

H. N. Gage is cutting some fine gladioli at his new ranch at Baldwin Park.

Dr. C. H. Castle, 2943 Walton avenue, has been so successful with his bulbs this year that he is going into the business on an extensive scale next year, having bought all the remaining stock of the Leedham Bulb Co., of Santa Cruz.

Thomas Kobata has completed two houses and has them filled with carnations. He has already commenced to cut from the new stock, which is all contracted to the L. A. Floral Co.

C. B. Knickman, of McHutchison & Co., New York, is in town in the interest of his firm.

Mrs. Bessie A. Rease, of Grossmont, Cal., is now able to supply Egyptian lotus in any quantity. A sample of these blooms was brought in today and they are the finest we have ever seen, a beautiful shade of pink and nearly ten inches across when open. F. S.

PORTLAND, ORE.

The Market.

There was a marked increase in business last week and most of the stock that reached the market was cleared. Roses and carnations are scarce, and the hot weather has about finished the outdoor crop of sweet peas. There also do not seem to be the quantities of gladioli and lilies there were in former years. Asters are slow in arriving, but most of the other annuals are plentiful. No rain had fallen for five weeks, making conditions bad for the growers. The dahlia producers say their crops are suffering from the continued drought.

Various Notes.

Martin & Forbes furnished the decorations for the Green-Ladd wedding, which was the leading society event of last week.

The Floral Studio has been having some especially attractive window displays, featuring the different annuals which this firm has made popular.

H. H. Beckett, who planted his houses in vegetables this spring, says that his tomatoes have yielded good returns. Preceding this crop he had his houses filled with peas.

Julius Broetje has a novel way of shading the glass at his range at Courtney station. He uses heavy cheesecloth, six feet wide, on wooden rollers, which roll by gravity from the center of the greenhouses. Wires guide the rollers, which are immediately beneath the glass. W. G. W.

SAN FRANCISCO.

The Market.

With the uncertainty of the draft over and the opening of the city schools, local florists feel that the demand for cut flowers will increase during the month of August. Some improvement is already noted, indicating that the quietest part of the summer is already past. The demand last week was more or less erratic, but the total volume of business was satisfactory, considering the season of the year. It is gratifying to the trade that July has been a good month in comparison with the same month of other years.

There is a good supply of flowers. The shipping business is beginning to take on new life with the advent of asters, auratum and rubrum lilies. The asters are hardly up to standard as yet, but they are improving rapidly and the eastern movement will soon be in full swing. Chrysanthemums promise well. The weather is all that can be desired for growing purposes; the buds are beginning to set and from present indications the flowers will begin to arrive the latter part of August.

Ulrich Brunner roses show up better than any of the other varieties. The blooms are plentiful and in excellent demand. Carnations are scarce and poor, as most of the growers are changing their plants. Sweet peas are not so much in evidence, either. There is plenty of seasonable stock to take their place, however. Gladioli continue to flood the market and dahlias are rapidly increasing in supply, many fine specimens being shown. Zinnias are still fine and move exceedingly well. Other items being handled in quantity are scabiosas, gaillardias, marigolds, cornflowers, etc. The supply of valley is about equal to the demand, while the shortage of orchids is even more acute than it was last week.

Various Notes.

In order to provide better light and more room, the offices of the E. W. McLellan Co. are being moved from the front of the establishment on Bush street to the rear, where the workers will get the sun a good part of the day. Manager J. A. Axell says that a good many more select roses could be sold if they were available.

The C. Kooyman Co., Inc., is starting to ship asters and looks for a splendid season. Messrs. Kooyman and Madvig report a strong demand for calla and freesia bulbs. Miss Hogan, the bookkeeper, has returned from a two weeks' vacation at Ziegler springs, in Lake county.

Rubrum lilies are demanding attention at the Domoto Bros. store. The men are bringing in some fine flowers and report a ready market.

Mr. Onishi, of the United Flower & Supply Co., visited the chrysanthemum fields down the peninsula last week and found the plants in excellent condition. Many of the plants are from three to four feet in height and the buds are beginning to set nicely. Mr. Onishi counts on fifty days from the time the buds set till the flowers are ready to cut.

says business has been a little better since the draft. A. A. Cuneo is receiving congratulations on the arrival of a baby girl.

The Misses Hannon report business good since the middle of July, which makes only two really quiet weeks this summer. There was much funeral work last week. The firm is starting its second year in the downtown location and the members are well satisfied with the results thus far, as the list of regular customers is gradually increasing.

Henry Avansino, of Avansino Bros., says he could sell three times as many orchids as they can get.

F. C. Jaeger, of F. C. Jaeger & Son, reports a strong demand for straw flowers. He has been shipping many east.

Walter Hofinghoff, of MacRorie & McLaren, is spending a vacation on his ranch in Sonoma county. This firm, under the supervision of P. H. Graves, has completed landscaping an extensive city garden. At the MacRorie & McLaren nurseries at San Mateo several thousand Nephrolepis Norwood plants have been received from the east.

P. V. Matraia, head of the Art Floral Co., has been busy taking stock. He reports business good for the season, funeral work being especially heavy.

G. C. Roeding, president of the Fancher Creek Nurseries, Fresno, Cal., was a recent visitor in this city.

METHODS OF PROPAGATION.

[This is the fifth installment of extracts from a paper read by T. D. Hatfield, of Wellesley, Mass., at a meeting of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society. The sixth will appear in an early issue.]

Grapevines are nearly always raised from cuttings or layers. The youngest plant, being a part of the parent, is just as old. It has been on its own roots all the time. Varieties on their own roots show no constitutional variation. The Black Hamburg grape is the same the world over, now as ever.

It is not so with grafted plants. There are variations even in the Baldwin apple. Go to our fruit shows and it will be hard to find two dishes of Baldwin apples that look alike. The fact is, the Baldwin apple has sported, and to standardize that or any particular sport it will have to be fixed and the best way to do that is to get it on its own roots. Propagators will use the best form or variety for grafting and still get sports. No reliance can be placed on any as long as mixed seedling apple stocks are used. Something has been done by root grafting to get apples on their own roots. It does not appear, however, that this was what the operators had in view, but rather economy in operation. It is a cheap and easy way, but there is a good chance that scions will get on their own roots when root grafted.

Division of the Roots.

The division method of propagation should be easily comprehended. It is applied mostly to herbaceous or hardy border plants and some greenhouse plants. It is best done when the plants are at rest. It is also the general practice with ferns, except some tree ferns, in which case one must depend on spores, which will be described farther on.

Propagation by Seeds.

One does not have to look far for evidence of the seed method in the propagation of plants. It is to be seen everywhere. To reproduce itself is the last expiring effort of all plant life. The annual does it in one year, the biennial in two. When an old black spruce or pitch pine is seen loaded with cones it is getting ready to die. I have known peach trees make an unusual floral display, set a big crop of fruit, and die before bringing it to maturity. It is often stated that peach trees are short-lived. The probability is that they had been allowed to carry too much fruit.

When a cutting, layer or graft is started the parent is reproduced, but when a seed is started a new individual is created. Seedlings have an individualism not possessed by cuttings or layers. A counterpart of the parent may be reproduced, or something new is liable to happen. In the one way it is known what to expect, in the other it is uncertain, and therein lies the fascination of growing plants from seed. A man with a thousand carnation seedlings about to bloom is on tiptoe all the time.

KANSAS CITY, MO.

The Market.

An unusually large quantity of funeral work brought a week of good business; in fact, flowers were actually scarce at the end of the seven days. Gladioli held the center of the stage last week, but it was necessary to mix in delphiniums and other outdoor blooms to make the supply go around. Blooming plants had a dull time of it last week. The hot, dry weather is expected to cut down the receipts considerably.

Various Notes.

A. Elberfield is receiving some extra fine asters and out at his farm the men are picking 2,500 good peas daily. Mr. Elberfield has been doing extremely well in oil investments.

Some of the best gladioli in the market have come from the nursery of M. E. Chandler. The proprietor left this week for a two weeks' fishing trip in the Ozark mountains.

Another vacationist is W. J. Barnes, who is enjoying the cool breezes in Colorado for two weeks. The stock at Barnes' range is in the pink of condition. Henry Kusik also chose Colorado for his vacation.

A liberal quantity of funeral work had the force of the W. L. Rock Flower Co. fully occupied last week, a number of the workers being at the summer resorts.

Arthur Newell says that business last week panned out well, thanks to a good batch of funeral orders. The boss recently returned from a week at Excelsior Springs. W. J. B.

OAKLAND, MD.

Nestled among the Alleghany mountains of Maryland, near Oakland, are the greenhouses of the H. Weber & Sons Co. More than 100,000 feet of glass glisten in the sun, the houses being at an altitude of 2,500 feet, and there are 350 acres of intensely cultivated land. The products of the range are sold by the three stores of the company, at Oakland, Md., and Clarksburg and Fairmont, W. Va. Roses of wide variety are grown, as well as carnations and decorative greens. Lilies are produced in large quantities, about 160,000 bulbs being forced annually. To do this with greater ease a cold storage plant is being erected, in addition to the one already on the premises. The new system will be of the ammonia and brine type.

William Weber, who is in general charge, says that the company has found it profitable to grow cauliflower. A plot of twenty acres is devoted to this vegetable, which is marketed at a good price in Baltimore, Washington, Philadelphia, New York and Pittsburgh. Many other crops are grown on the farm, and to save labor and expedite the work a large tractor is employed. A special truck is used to haul the products to Oakland, two miles distant. The Clarksburg and Fairmont stores are under the management of the Misses Weber. Ralph Weber, the junior member of the company, is in charge of the motor vehicles.

The question of fuel is a simple one at Oakland. A sufficient quantity of natural gas may be had to heat the houses. During the cold snap last February, and for the first time in nine years, the company used coal, which is procurable at the local mines for $1.50 per ton.

Oakland is a mountain resort with many fine hotels and is well patronized by people of the eastern cities. The splendid state roads leading to the city bring many tourists during the season.

Bailey's Cyclopedia

—florists' 6-volume library

Bailey's "Standard Cyclopedia of Horticulture"—the recognized authority, the best work of its kind, the best for florists, growers and nurserymen—is offered in its new edition. Six volumes of advice—4000 engravings—96 full-page cuts.

Bailey's splendid work now is offered on monthly terms of $3.00 per month, or on a cash basis of $36.00 for the 6-volume set. No florist who is in the game to win can afford to be without a set, even at three times this price.

COLUMBUS, O.

Business has been extremely quiet, and the dullness has seemed more marked in the face of a plentiful supply of stock. Gladioli have become more abundant, but not to the extent of overstocking the market. Good asters arrive and are welcomed in the absence of carnations. Roses are available in numbers, but the blooms cannot survive the heat for any length of time. Snapdragons are here in numbers, and those not taken up by funeral work frequently go to waste. Many good dahlias also are unappreciated and share the fate of the snaps. Lilies have a good call, but the erratic demand sometimes finds only a few of them.

There is a flood of outdoor stock, so it is no wonder that the public's demand should dwindle. The call to colors of the militia and reserve units now is beginning to reflect itself in the flower business. Many of the prosperous young business men who are counted as flower buyers have gone into camp, as well as professionals who have enlisted in the special branches.

Eureka, Kan.—Another greenhouse is being erected by L. Vanhaverbeke, proprietor of the Eureka Greenhouses, bringing the total glass area to 12,000 feet. Mr. Vanhaverbeke started in 1908 with a house 25 x 40.

Middletown, O.—Two sons of N. O. Selby and wife have joined the army, one the ambulance corps at Cincinnati, the other the aviation corps at Milwaukee. Neither has been engaged in the florists' business, although their father has done splendidly at it, his business methods being shown by the line on his stationery, "It pleases us to please you."

NURSERY NEWS.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF NURSERYMEN.

President, Lloyd C. Stark, Louisiana, Mo.; Vice-president, J. R. Mayhew, Waxahachie, Tex.; Secretary and Counsel, Curtis Nye Smith, 19 Congress St., Boston, Mass.; Treasurer, J. W. Hill, Des Moines, Ia..

SEVERAL buildings of the New England Nursery Co., of Bedford, Mass., were destroyed by fire July 23, the damage being estimated at $10,000.

LLOYD C. STARK returned to Louisiana, Mo., last week after a month's trip east, in the course of which he attended the Philadelphia convention and was elected president of the American Association of Nurserymen.

BECAUSE of the spring scarcity of boxwoods and the probability that none can be imported this season, the D. Hill Nursery Co., Dundee, Ill., is looking forward to an unusually large demand for native conifers.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

President Lloyd C. Stark, of the American Association of Nurserymen, has made the following committee appointments, subject to acceptance, etc.:

Arbitration—W. C. Reed, chairman; G. A. Marshall, John Dayton, J. M. Pitkin, T. W. Stark.

be planted by the customer is not guaranteed, but where the price paid covers planting by the seller, the guarantee applies, and in case a sufficient price has been paid a special guarantee of one or two additional years is given. The guarantee requires that claim be made if replacement is necessary, but it is not the custom to wait for claims. When July arrives the annual drive is arranged. A large map of Chicago is pasted on a board and into it a pin is driven showing the location of every guaranteed planting. Each season there are between 400 and 500 pins in the map. From the pins a route is made and an automobile, carrying three or four men qualified to inspect and render first aid to any failing plant, starts out for the drive. The trip is made in less than a week, sometimes in three or four days, and the nursery is in possession of a record of the exact condition of every guaranteed planting. But the best result is that customers gain confidence and also profit by the suggestions that are given, the replacement of stock frequently being avoided by a timely suggestion for care.

FORT WAYNE, IND.

The Market.

The wholesale market was unusually active last week, a condition attributed to the fact that many of the society people are remaining in the city this summer. This creates a good demand for cut flowers for small social affairs. Funeral work also is brisk and hospital orders are numerous.

In spite of the hot weather, the supply of flowers has been unusually good. The quality of roses is fine, Ophelia, Russell, Kaiserin, Double White Killarney and Maryland standing the heat well. Carnations have suffered from

FIELD-GROWN CARNATION PLANTS

We have had unusually favorable weather conditions for the growing of Carnation Plants thus far this season, and with continued good weather, they will be ready for benching somewhat earlier than previous years, and of very much better quality.

It is generally conceded by Carnation experts that the best results are obtained by early planting. Ready for immediate delivery.

SNAPDRAGON PAYS

When sending a repeat order for snapdragon seed, K. J. Snyder, North Germantown, N. Y., writes:

"During March and April alone, from 148 plants of your Silver Pink Snapdragon, I cut $150.00 worth of blooms. I think that great for the bench room they occupied."

Do you know of any plant that will do so well? Seed should be sown now for plants to follow mums. We have seed as follows:

Seed of our famous Silver Pink, $1.00 per pkt.; 3 for $2.50; 7 for $5.00. Seed of Nelrose, Garnet, Yellow, White, Light Pink, Buxton and Fancy Mixed, 35c per pkt.; 3 for $1.00. Seed of special Pink Mixture, $1.00 per pkt. All orders cash. Free cultural directions.

We offer a few thousand Silver Pink SEEDLING plants, FREE FROM DISEASE, at $5.00 per 100; 250 for $10.00. Be quick.

the high temperatures and most of the growers have emptied their houses. The best of them bring 50 cents per dozen. Gladioli are increasing in supply and the best sell at $1, $1.50 and $2 per dozen. Asters are a close second, but the demand for them is not so good. There is a liberal supply of sweet peas, but on account of the hot weather the quality is none too good. Lilium longiflorum and speciosum are in good supply and sell exceedingly well for funeral work. Valley, however, is none too plentiful and the prices are high.

Outdoor flowers sell well for table decorations. Some excellent cattleyas move well. The supply of greens is good, although smilax is scarce.

GERANIUMS

A flower in every home in bloom every day in the year. The Geranium is the logical solution. It is everybody's flower all the time, Christmas, Easter, Birthday, and every other day. The demand will be greater next season than ever, and every indication is that the price of young stock will be advanced to meet the present industrial condition. Our present price will only hold good until October 1st.

We have a fine lot ready for immediate shipment in a good assortment of varieties, at Greenhouse Heating.

SUBSCRIBERS are invited to write the Editor of this Department with regard to any details of greenhouse heating that are not understood. But please do not ask The Review to make a choice of apparatus for you. The greenhouse heating equipment advertised in this paper is, we believe, the best for the trade to buy, and each article the best in the special field of its adaptation.

SPENCER HEATING CO. LOSES.

A jury in the civil courts at Trenton, N. J., has awarded a verdict of $2,500 against the Spencer Heater Co., of Philadelphia, in favor of the Park Floral Co., of Trenton, with an offset of $1,307.20. The heater company has appealed from the decision.

The Spencer company installed two boilers in the Park Floral Co. greenhouses at Lafayette and Buchanan avenues. The latter company claimed that the boilers were too small to heat the houses and, as a result, thousands of dollars' worth of stock were destroyed by frost.

When suit to recover the amount due on the boilers was filed by the Spencer company, the Park Floral Co. set up a counter claim for damages, alleging its loss was $15,000. The jury, which returned its verdict June 1, fixed the amount of damages at $2,500, with the deduction for the amount due on the boilers.

TWO BOILERS—ONE IN RESERVE.

We understand that you undertake to pass along to your subscribers various technical points regarding the growing of plants and the construction of greenhouses. Believing that our inquiry comes within the scope of your bureau, we shall be duly appreciative if you will give us the following information:

We have greenhouses with a roof exposure of 27,000 square feet of glass and with sides and gable ends containing 5,000 square feet of glass. Seven of the greenhouses are each 28x194 and fourteen feet high; another is 28x150 and sixteen feet high. Aside from these, we have two rooms, 30x50 and 20x65, each eight feet high. We also have under construction a new building of four floors and basement. This building is to be used as a warehouse and office and will require 7,000 square feet of radiation, according to the estimate of our architects.

If it is not imposing too much on your good nature, will you let us know what size of boilers will be required to heat the entire amount of space described? If such a plan is practicable, we should prefer having two boilers, alternating with them in heating; in other words, only using one boiler at a time.

S. S. C.—Wis.

The amount of radiation and the boiler capacity required for heating a greenhouse depends not only upon the amount of exposed glass, but upon the temperature to be maintained in the houses, the minimum outside temperature and the amount of exposure to the prevailing winds, none of which particulars is given in the foregoing letter. We would say, however, that for temperatures averaging 60 degrees in the different houses, when the temperature is 10

The Kroeschell has replaced hundreds of cast iron boilers. In every case higher temperatures are secured with the Kroeschell, with the same piping and with less fuel.

KROESCHELL BOILERS, the best by test since 1879. Forty years' experience—guaranteed design—workmanship and working capacity.

The Kroeschell is making the most wonderful greenhouse heating record in the world. Florists who have used other makes are constantly giving the Kroeschell the highest praise.

3,016,286 sq. ft. of glass was equipped with Kroeschell Boilers during the year of 1916.

Hundreds of Florists' Review readers are using the Kroeschell Boiler and mighty is their praise. The year of 1915 brought an enormous number of new customers who saw our boiler in operation at other places. We attribute the large sales of this season to the good work the Kroeschell Boiler is doing everywhere.

With our policy—"the customers' interest first"—perfection of construction—factory to user prices—honest and "true blue" boiler ratings—you simply cannot lose.

THE QUALITY PLACE OF BOSTON.

Regarding the Kroeschell, it is the best we have ever had and satisfactory beyond our expectations. It heats up especially quick and has saved us considerably already in the price of fuel. When we are in need of another boiler we will give the Kroeschell the first consideration.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST MUSHROOM PLANT.

We spent $100,000 in building and equipping the largest modern mushroom plant in the world. We purchased in every instance the best of everything we could get, and the fact that we installed a Kroeschell Boiler to furnish our heat is sufficient evidence of our opinion of same.

Since installing this boiler and operating it we have never had any reason to change our opinion.

The carnation range of Mr. Nic Zweifel, of North Milwaukee, consists of nearly 70,000 sq. ft. of glass and the water plant is heated by a No. 14 and No. 15 Kroeschell Boiler and Kroeschell Generator. The product of the plant is known throughout the West for its fine quality. Mr. Z. has used different kinds of boilers. degrees below zero outside, with an average amount of exposure to the prevailing winds, we would use 5,500 square feet of radiation for the 32,000 square feet of glass.

Before we can estimate with any accuracy the amount of radiation required in the two rooms, 30x50 and 20x65, each eight feet high, we should also have similar data to those already mentioned, but for the present purpose it will be sufficiently accurate if we estimate the radiation at 250 square feet for the two rooms.

On the basis of 5,500 square feet of radiation for the greenhouses, 7,000 square feet for the office building and 250 square feet for the two rooms referred to, it will be necessary to provide radiation and boiler capacity for 12,750 square feet of radiation. For this amount of radiation a boiler rated for 150 horsepower will be desirable, and if a duplicate plant, to be held in reserve, is to be installed, two boilers

TEND-TOS
That Will Make Your Boiler A Better Boiler Next Winter

A FELLOW will take all kinds of trouble and time to go all over his auto carefully after trips; clean the carbon out of the cylinders, and tend to everything else that needs tending to.

Yet that self-same fellow won't pay a bit of attention to his boiler after it finishes its long, hard trip through the winter. He'll just plain forget about it until firing-up time calls around again. And yet boilers need tending to between trips just like autos.

Here are a few things you can do this summer to put your boiler in better condition for next winter's work:

Open all doors. The boiler will sweat if you don't.

Slip off the smoke-pipe while your boiler is out of use.

Clean out all soot. Soot is a non-conductor of heat, you know. It wastes coal just like carbon in the cylinders wastes gasoline.

It collects dampness and forms a dangerous rust-out acid.

Swab your boiler out carefully with crude oil. It's an effective rust-preventing "internal bath" that will add years to its life.

Little things to do, perhaps.
But big in their resultfulness.

rated for 150 horsepower each will be required.

However, a boiler rated for 125 horsepower will be amply large except when the weather approaches zero, and, unless the number of the greenhouses is to be increased, we would recommend the installation of two boilers of 125 horsepower each, planning to hold one in reserve, except in severe weather, to be used in case of accident to the other boiler. Although one of these boilers will not be quite as large as will be desired for carrying the radiation with the temperature at zero and below, it will do so with a little extra attention in case of a breakdown of the other boiler, and in ordinary weather it can be operated much more cheaply than the larger boiler.

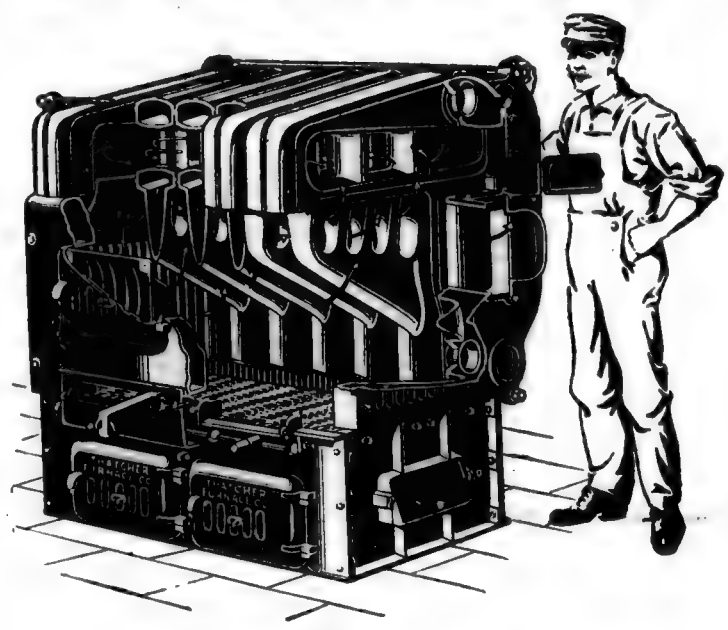
QUANTITY OF COAL CONSUMED.

I am of the opinion that I am using more coal than I ought to use in heating my establishment, which comprises the following buildings: One greenhouse 18x85, with two feet of glass in the sides and a 10-foot gable; another greenhouse 24x110, with four feet of glass in the sides and a 12-foot gable; a packing room 12x24, with 9-foot studding and a quarter-pitch roof; a residence, of which I heat the first story, which is nine feet high and contains five rooms, 14x16, 12x14, 12x12, 14x15 and 10x11, and a bathroom 5x9. I have an American hot water boiler, rated at 3,750 feet. Please let me know about how much mine-run soft coal should be required each season to heat this place, running the greenhouses with a temperature of 50 degrees at night and 60 degrees in the daytime.

C. J. S.—Pa.

So many conditions affect the coal consumption that what might prove ample in one season might come far short in another. The construction and exposure of the greenhouses will have much to do with it, and the weather might be much more severe one year than another. Careful firing will have much to do with the economy in coal consumption.

We would think that under good average conditions the temperature mentioned might be maintained in the greenhouses and dwelling with fifty tons of coal. Under the best of conditions it might be done with forty tons, while seventy tons might be used by some firemen.



CHANGING BENCHES AND PIPING.

I wish to make a little change in the piping of a greenhouse, 21x50, which is heated with hot water. The house has a 2-inch flow on each side. These flows feed four 2-inch returns under each outside bench, four 2-inch returns on the west line of purlin supports and three 2-inch returns on the east purlin supports. Having decided to put raised benches in the middle of the house, instead of the present solid beds, I wish to know whether I shall get the same service if the pipes now on the purlin posts are put under the benches.

M. W. T. B.—N. C.

As we understand the plan described, the proposed change in the location of the return coils will have no effect on the circulation, provided the returns will be above the top of the boiler. The higher the returns are located, the better will be the circulation. When the flows are overhead, there should be no difficulty about securing a satisfactory circulation if the returns are even with the top of the boiler.

If care is taken that the soil in the benches is not allowed to dry out, the bottom heat secured when the returns are under the benches is often decidedly beneficial to the growth of the plants.

The letter does not state the amount of glass in the side walls or mention the temperature desired, but for a temperature of 60 to 65 degrees and with no more than three feet of glass in each of the walls, we would consider that the amount of radiation is correct as described, provided the coldest outside temperature is not below zero. We would suggest, however, that two of the present returns be used as flows and placed overhead on the purlin supports, thus making four flows in the house. If this is done, better results can be obtained than when only two flows are used for the present radiation.

The Market.

Many spring and summer flowers are passing from the market and each week sees a smaller variety to select from. Gladioli are abundant and China asters, which made their appearance two weeks ago, are coming in larger quantities now. Roses are in good supply and of fair quality for the season. Retailers say business is quiet.

Various Notes.

D. E. Davis, 178 South Grove street, East Orange, is benching his chrysanthemums.

F. A. Kuehn says that while business is quiet, it is better than usual for the time of year.

The eleventh summer meeting of the New Jersey Horticultural Society will be held August 8 in the auditorium at Bridgeton park, Bridgeton, N. J.

John W. Blakeley, of Elizabeth, reports summer trade as being unusually good.

R. B. M.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

At the annual meeting of the New Orleans Horticultural Society, held July 19, the election of officers resulted in the choice of the following: President, E. Farley; vice-president, Peter Ackermann; treasurer, John Eblen; recording and financial secretary, Richard Eichling. A vote of thanks was extended to the outgoing officers.

Secretary Eichling reported that the cash in the society's treasury amounted to $753.69. The membership now numbers forty-five active and two honorary members. A brief address was made by Solomon Marx.

Upon the suggestion of P. A. Chopin, state vice-president of the S. A. F., that the society empower him as its representative to say that the New Orleans and Louisiana horticulturists are ready to turn their greenhouses into food nurseries if the government so requests, a resolution to that effect was passed. It was said at the meeting that should such action be taken, Steckler & Co. were ready to furnish free seeds.

IF NOT—WHY NOT?

Myers & Company, well-known florists of Bluffton, Indiana, write as follows:

Regarding the line of Fertilizer you offer The Greenhouse Trade, will say we have used it the past season with very gratifying results. My only regret is that we did not begin using it sooner. We used it on the carnations, greens, etc., as per your instructions, and have never cut as many or as nice stuff as this season. We also used it on the roses, and the crops of Ophelia beat anything around here. Our soil is a very heavy clay and your line of Fertilizer just fills the bill exactly, when used with plenty of manure in the soil.

Yours respectfully, MYERS & COMPANY,

PLANT TUBS

EVERLASTING VIRGINIA WHITE CEDAR

EVERYBODY agrees that Plant Tubs made of everlasting Virginia White Cedar will best resist rot or decay. The "Keystone" brand of White Cedar Plant Tubs are made of this celebrated wood, and these goods are painted inside and out with best oil paints, a rich green.

They are bound with heavy steel hoops for the large size, and electric-welded wire hoops (galvanized) on the small size. The large sizes are trimmed with handsome drop handles and metal feet, and have perforated, removable bottoms.

These Cedar Tubs are made in all sizes, from 24¼ inches top diameter down to 6 inches, amply large for a Bay Tree and small enough for a Hyacinth. Every one guaranteed. Booklet in colors, with prices, furnished upon request.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.

Business with the Providence florists, especially with those in the downtown district, was good in spots during the month of July. A few weddings and a fair volume of funeral work kept business a trifle above the normal for this season. The work was fairly divided, although some houses were favored with one or two special calls.

Prices of coal have not eased off to any appreciable extent, but the greenhousemen are placing their orders for the winter supply wherever possible, taking a chance on prices.

A campaign has been started to secure a good attendance from Rhode Island at the convention of the S. A. F. at New York.

The Budlong Rose Co. is sending large shipments of roses to the Boston and New York markets daily.

Harry Swanson, of Swanson Bros., was a member of Battery A, which mobilized last week.

The Hoxsie Greenhouses have completed two new greenhouses. Mr. Bourgaige is on a visit to relatives on the Isle of Guernsey.

V. J. Berarducci is spending the summer at his cottage at Highland beach.

Alfonso Lefazia, of Thornton, has opened a store on Atwells avenue.

NEWPORT, R. I.

Members of the Newport Garden Club last week held their first business meeting in the new club house on Bellevue avenue. The schedule of the club's summer lectures has been announced. Usually these have been free, but this year it has been decided to make a charge of $1, the proceeds to be donated to the Red Cross.

Andrew S. Meikle has been appointed by Mayor Burdick a member of the board of park commissioners, for the term expiring in 1922.

William J. Gardnear, of New York, is here for the rest of the summer season, associated with Wadley & Smythe. The floral decorations for the recent Red Cross concert at the Casino theater were by Wadley & Smythe.

Patrick F. Reynolds reports an unusually busy season in outdoor work.

The Market.

Stock is plentiful, but business is quiet. About the only item for which there is a steady demand is greens and the bulk of the call for this is from out of town. Roses are abundant, but they have been affected by the heat. Asters now are in big supply, nearly all local growers having heavy cuts, and many more are shipped in. Easter lilies are in sufficient supply to meet the demand. Gladioli are abundant and are of excellent quality. Other offerings include rubrum and auratum lilies, snapdragons, hardy hydrangeas, phlox and a few carnations.

Various Notes.

Louis H. Kyrk had some excellent Shawyer roses last week.

P. O. Coblentz, of New Madison, O., has begun to ship his cut of gladioli to C. E. Critchell. Mr. Coblentz has gained fame as a grower of gladioli and the blooms he has shipped in other years have found ready sale.

The Cincinnati Cut Flower Exchange has been handling some excellent asters from local growers.

Among recent visitors to Cincinnati were Frank Schoen, Cleveland, O.; William Hull, Bristol, Tenn.; H. P. Smith, Piqua, O.; H. F. Winter, Charleston, W. Va.; William Gardner and Joseph H. Hill, Richmond, Ind.; Alfred Pahud, Indianapolis, Ind., and Fred and Charles Pommert, Amelia, O.

BRAMPTON, ONT.

Many florists from Brampton and vicinity are going to the convention of the Canadian Horticultural Association by boat from Toronto, leaving August 4. A number of outings during the convention have been arranged and, with the program that has been prepared, the visitors are assured an interesting time.

The weather during the last week was extremely warm and, although outdoor stock was plentiful, there was a good call for flowers of all kinds.

The Dale Estate employees held a picnic at Snell's lake July 21. It was a great success. W. G. P.

Wooster, O.—The large Kingsley greenhouse is to be dismantled to make room for a smaller one of more modern type. Mrs. G. Kingsley will continue the business, as formerly.

This advertisement is addressed to Florists, Seedsmen, Nurserymen and Landscape Architects. Render Real Service Realize Real Profits

Note the condition of the drive-way shown above. How many similar places do you yourself know of—right in your own vicinity?

Hand-weeding, at its best, is of the horse car class, costly, and must be done over and over again. Besides, labor should be put to more productive work.

The remedy?

Owners of estates and homes, as well as leading railroads, municipalities, country and golf clubs, parks and cemeteries all over the country, have found a solution to the weed problem in Atlas Chemical Weed Killer.

One application of this chemical, diluted with 20 parts water, permanently destroys weed growth for the entire season. Atlas burns down to the very root—also sterilizes the ground round about.

Tell your customers of Atlas—its economy, effectiveness and how easily it is applied. They'll remember, then, of having read of it in the magazine advertisements. They will buy—you will profit.

The Market.

Business was quiet last week despite the convention of the Loyal Order of Moose, and the visit to Pittsburgh of Colonel Roosevelt. The wholesale houses are busy about one hour in the morning. The retailers, those who are not away on vacations, are busy preparing for next season.

Various Notes.

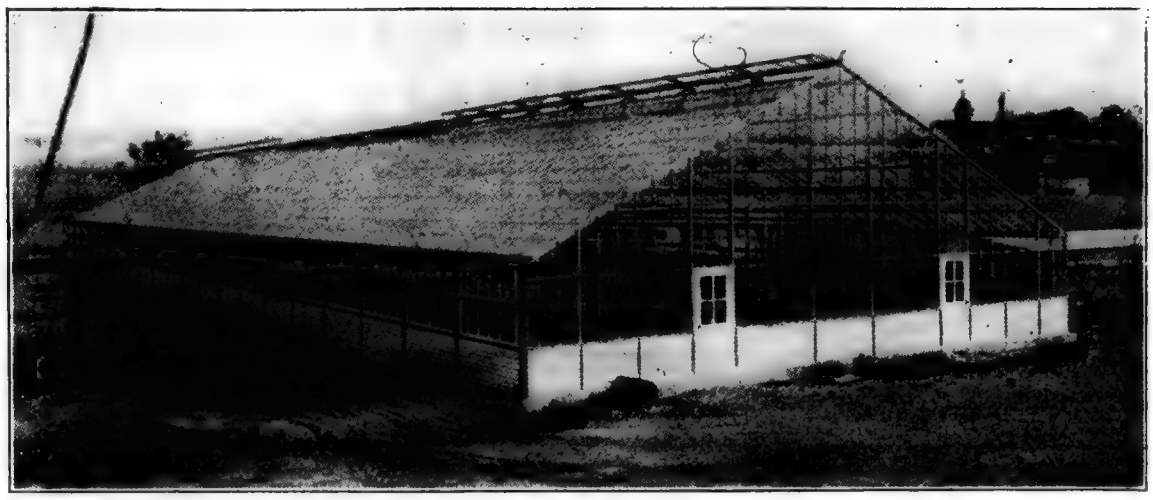
Samuel McClements, of Randolph & McClements, with his wife and Samuel McClements, Jr., spent a portion of their vacation at Mt. Clemens, Mich. Employees of the firm who are away on their vacations are: Miss Reilly, who is camping at Ardmore; William Picket, who is at Atlantic City, N. J., and Mr. Flavina, who is at Erie. John Greeney, of the same firm, is a member of Battery B and expects to be called into service soon.

George Meuschke, of the Ludwig Floral Co., is building a brick house at the company's range at Castle Shannon. The Misses Margaret and Tillie Baldinger and Miss Rensiehausen, employees of the company, are away on their vacations.

Miss Kathryn Drewes, buyer for her father, W. F. Drewes, Braddock, Pa., is spending her vacation at York Beach, Me.

T. P. Langhans and family drove to Bedford Springs for the week end.

Leon Bergmann, of the Pittsburgh Cut Flower Co., has gone to Geneva-on-the-Lake for his vacation.



W. A. Clarke is spending his vacation with his family at Chautauqua lake, N. Y.

E. C. Reineman and E. C. Ludwig are arranging to attend the S. A. F. convention in New York. A number of Pittsburgh florists will go together.

Employees of the E. C. Ludwig Floral Co. on vacations are: Edward Bumbach, at Erie, Pa.; Lawrence Richter in Butler county; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Tiel at Great Belt, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. De Forest Ludwig at Morgantown, W. Va. Mrs. E. C. Ludwig is visiting her brother, William Lauch, of New Galilee, Pa.

A number of the retailers have window displays of ferns and plants, which look cool. Clarke.

NEW SOLANUM EUREKA.
The greatest novelty in berried plants for Christmas. This solanum, unlike the old variety, bears its berries on the top of the plant, which gives it the appearance of a solid mass of large red cherries.
The habit of the plant is dwarf and bushy; the fruit is perfectly round, the color a brilliant red and larger than an ordinary cherry.
A 4-inch plant will carry from 150 to 200 berries.

Concordia, Kan.—Harry L. Hunt finds his light car a convenience in delivery and also a means of valuable advertising. For instance, in the parade of July 4 he obtained the prize for the most prettily decorated car without covering up his name on the panel body.

Grand Haven, Mich.—Herman W. Rogers, with the G. H. Taepke Co., Detroit, and for many years with Weiland & Risch, Chicago, accompanied by his family, is visiting relatives here. It was as a volunteer from Grand Haven that Mr. Rogers went to the Spanish-American war.

Horticultural Books

We can supply any of the following books at the prices noted, postpaid, and any other book at publishers' prices:

Daffodils and How to Grow Them
By A. M. KIRBY. All that is really worth while about these most popular of spring bulbs, written from the standpoint of American conditions. $1.20

Hardy Perennials and Old-fashioned Garden Flowers.
By J. WOOD. Describing the most desirable plants for borders, shrubberies, etc., foliage and flowering. Illustrated. $2.00

Tomato Culture.
By W. W. TRACY, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. The book deals with every phase of tomato culture and was written for the man who wants the latest and most complete information on the subject. Cloth. 150 pages. Illustrated. 50 cents

The Forcing Book.
By L. H. BAILEY. In this work the author has compiled in handy form the cream of all the available information on the subject of forcing vegetables under glass. In addition to this, the experience of many practical growers in different localities is furnished. $1.25

Celery Culture.
By W. R. BEATTIE, Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. A practical guide for beginners and a standard reference for those already engaged in celery growing. Cloth. 150 pages. Illustrated. 50 cents

Landscape Gardening.
By SAMUEL PARSONS, JR., ex-Superintendent of Parks, New York city. Practical hints on lawns, the laying out and arrangement of large and small parks, cemetery plots and railway station lawns, also on the subjects suitable for planting. Illustrated. $3.50

The Propagation of Plants.
By ANDREW S. FULLER. Illustrated with numerous engravings. Describing the process of hybridizing and crossing and also the many different modes by which cultivated plants may be propagated and multiplied. Cloth. 359 pages. $1.50

Bulbs and Tuberous Rooted Plants.
By C. L. ALLEN. A complete history, description, methods of propagation and full directions for the successful culture of bulbs in the garden, dwelling or greenhouse. The illustrations which embellish this work have been drawn from nature, and have been engraved especially for this book. Cloth. $1.50

The Chrysanthemum.
By ARTHUR HERRINGTON, formerly president of Chrysanthemum Society of America. The most complete and comprehensive work on the cultivation of the chrysanthemum that has yet been published in America. The book will be welcomed for the lucid, comprehensive, as well as the practical character of its contents. Handsomely illustrated. 168 pages, 5x7 inches. 50 cents

Cabbage, Cauliflower and Allied Vegetables.
By C. L. ALLEN. An explanation of the requirements, conditions, cultivation and general management pertaining to the entire cabbage group. The chapter on seed raising is probably the most authoritative treatise on this subject ever published. Insects and fungi are given due attention. Illustrated. 128 pages. Cloth. 50 cents

Gardening for Pleasure.
By PETER HENDERSON. An illustrated guide to the amateur in the fruit, vegetable and flower garden, with full directions for the greenhouse, conservatory and window garden. Winter-Flowering Sweet Peas

GIANT SPENCER VARIETIES

The best that can be procured for winter flowering under glass.

Five Good California Varieties

Early Snowflake, large, pure white, ¼ oz., 75c; ½ oz., $1.25; oz., $2.00.

Early Spring Maid, beautiful cream-pink, ¼ oz., 40c; ½ oz., 75c; oz., $1.25; ¼ lb., $4.00; lb., $12.00.

Early Melody, soft rose-pink, ¼ oz., 40c; ½ oz., 75c; oz., $1.25; ¼ lb., $4.00; lb., $12.00.

Early Song Bird, pale pink, ¼ oz., 40c; ½ oz., 75c; oz., $1.25; ¼ lb., $4.00; lb., $12.00.

Early Heather Bell, rich mauve, changing to lavender, ¼ oz., 40c; ½ oz., 75c; oz., $1.25; ¼ lb., $4.00; lb., $12.00.

YARRAWA

The most popular winter-flowering Sweet Pea. Color is beautiful rose-pink with a slight salmon tint. We offer a selected strain of this variety. ½ oz., 40c; oz., 75c; ¼ lb., $2.25; lb., $8.00.

Six Splendid Australian Varieties

CONCORD Spencer types

The Concord Varieties of Winter-flowering Spencer Sweet Peas are perhaps the most advanced and finest of all. The colors are distinct, clear and true. They flower earlier than any other type, and the blossoms are of large Spencer form, with long stems. Unfortunately they are shy seeders and, therefore, the seed is scarce and expensive We are obliged to offer in packets only this year.

Prices, any of the following:
Pkt. (50 seeds), 40c; 5 pkts., $1.75.

Concord Pink, beautiful delicate pink.
Concord Crimson, fine ruby red.
Concord Lavender, light lavender blue.
Concord White, large, pure white.
Concord Salmon, soft salmon pink.
Concord Blue, dark purple blue.

We have on hand fresh seed of Giant Flowered Cyclamen in all popular colors, also Primula, Cineraria, Calceolaria; Perennial Flower Seeds for summer sowing and Annuals for winter flowering under glass.

SIM'S HYBRID YELLOW POLYANTHUS

This is one of my houses. 20x300 feet, of National Flower Show Gold Medal Polyanthus. These have been in bloom constantly since November.

I had two houses of Giant Yellow Polyanthus in full crop at Easter. A Review correspondent saw them March 31st and wrote:

"They include some beautiful varieties, which are being carefully marked and saved for propagation. One bed 300 feet long, of a pale yellow polyanthus, true to type in every plant, was particularly fine. I measured individual flowers two inches in diameter and many of the stalks stood eighteen inches high. Two houses, each 300 feet long, are devoted to this crop, and a glorious sight they are."

But the best of it is they had a glorious sale. You can do as well next season if you order your stock now.

THE FLORISTS' REVIEW, 508 South Dearborn Street, CHICAGO

THE FLORISTS' REVIEW

CANADIANS MEET TO TALK SHOP

The problems of our neighbors may be our problems soon and the twentieth annual meeting of the Canadian florists' society, in progress at Montreal this week, therefore is of special interest to the trade in the United States as reflecting the conditions brought about by war. It is encouraging, a reassurance.

THERE is in Canada as brave a little body of florists as one could wish to see. They have gone through three years of war without a whimper and without a suggestion that they can not "carry on," supporting burdens such as probably never will come upon the trade in the United States. Of her eight millions, Canada has sent across the seas as many men as the first draft will take out of the more than a hundred millions of people this side of the boundary. In other words, twelve such drafts will be necessary to make the labor situation in the United States what it now is in Canada, or to so affect the purchasing power of the people.

That the Canadian Horticultural Association, the trade body in the Dominion, should be able to show undiminished strength at this time and under these circumstances is a matter for felicitation.

The Membership.

In his report at the opening session of the twentieth annual convention, at Montreal, August 7, J. Luck, the secretary-treasurer, showed a membership list of nearly 100 and a good balance in the bank. It is a record of maintenance of membership in the face of difficulties and, it is worth while to note, the organization includes a much larger percentage of the total number engaged in the trade in Canada than does the Society of American Florists of those who are eligible to its membership. The Canadians certainly have every reason to be proud of the showing they make.

The Montreal florists express themselves as delighted with the attendance at this meeting. It exceeds that of recent years in spite of the fact that everything of a general entertainment nature has been omitted. Particularly large is the delegation from Toronto, headed by John H. Dunlop; there are thirty in this party and other parts of Ontario and Quebec are well represented, although the maritime provinces and the west are not accounted for.

The War the Topic.

The war and its effects constitute almost the only topic, in meeting and out; everything hinges on the war. President Fraser, of Prescott, Ont., in his address, said he would try not to mention war, but he talked of little else. The convention was opened by E. J. Hayward, of the Montreal Florists' Club, who welcomed the visitors and introduced Alderman Weldon to speak for the mayor. That gentleman showed an unexpected acquaintance with flowers, but he began by saying he had three sons in France, each of whom had been wounded at least once, and he went on to tell what one of them wrote about the pleasure afforded by the flowers which so quickly spring up on a battle field after the scene shifts. The influence of the war is everywhere apparent in the convention.

The talk shows quite clearly that the trade is not profiting in any way by the war. Business has not been bad, but it has been different and difficult. The large social affairs of the wealthy have been discontinued and the loss of these orders is rather keenly felt by some of the members. On the other hand, the sales to working people have increased, for employment is more general and family earnings are higher than before. On the whole, it is easier to sell flowers than to grow them at a profit. Labor is scarce, unskilled and high, making the owner do more of his own work than he should. All expenses are up. Flowers are bringing fair prices, but not so much as to offset the increased costs. Taxes are constantly increasing.

James A. Fraser, President of the Canadian Horticultural Association.

Home Production.

President Fraser, although he said he would not discuss the war, devoted a considerable part of his address to the problem of a home supply of stock to meet the present lack of imported plants and to obviate the necessity of importing from Europe after the war. It was his view that it is not necessary to produce all the kinds of plants previously imported, but that substitutes can be developed for the varieties not easily grown in Canada.

At the same session W. C. Hall, of Montreal, read a paper on the cyclamen, which was followed by a general discussion. It was the consensus that the cyclamen now takes the place of the azalea for Christmas and that it will be hard to displace after the war.

New Varieties.

The evening session August 7 was devoted to the discussion of novelties. John H. Dunlop, of Toronto, read a paper on the behavior of the newer carnations and Joseph Bennett, of Lachine, presented a report on what the Experimental Farm can do for the trade in the way of testing new sorts. There was a long discussion of much interest to those participating. It brought out many opinions as to the value of the assistance the trade already has received from the government stations and also regarding data that could be provided the stations by florists. In the end it was decided to appoint another committee to work out coöperation between the trade and the stations, or vice versa.

Mums and Peas.

The morning of the second day was devoted to a paper on chrysanthemums, by J. H. McKee, of Ottawa, and one on sweet peas under glass, by James Kean, of St. Bruno. The lady visitors went sight-seeing about the city.

In the afternoon the visitors were the guests of the city on a drive to the parks and the mountain, followed by a visit to the greenhouses of McKenna, Ltd.

The convention will close at the evening session, except that on the following day the Montreal Gardeners' and Florists' Club will take the visitors who remain for a visit to the St. Annes and Senneville region, including the inspection of the famous Macdonald college.

The trades' display appears to be less than at previous conventions.

PACKING AND SHIPPING.

[Following is a paper by William Cotter, of Montreal, Can., delivered at the convention of the Canadian Horticultural Association at Montreal, August 8, 1917.]

There are many methods of packing cut flowers, but only two degrees—good and poor. Any process of handling and packing cut flowers that will conduce toward putting the stock in the hands of the consignee in good condition—by that I mean stock that arrives fresh, not bruised, and with no apparent loss of vitality—would be designated as good packing.

There is no doubt that a flower of any description loses a certain amount of its original perfectness during transportation, and that is what I have in mind and which I wish to bring before our members—the treatment of stock from the time it is cut in the greenhouses until it is actually packed and shipped. This treatment, or, as I might call it, "the curing of stock," has every effect upon the condition of the flowers, not only on arrival at the wholesalers or retailers, but also ultimately at the consumer's home—the length of time it lasts in the home. In a decoration the apparent freshness of the stock is due to the original treatment the stock received from the grower from the time of cutting.

I find that the successful rose growers cut their stock two and three times a day, regulated by weather conditions, and then rush it immediately to the coolers or refrigerators, which are kept at a temperature of from 38 to 40 degrees. They allow the stock to stand for ten to twelve hours, after which, as the hardening process has taken effect, it is graded. I might mention that if the stock can be left to harden twenty-four hours previous to grading, it will help to improve its condition and it will also carry better after packing.

For the Sake of Better Prices.

This treatment is adaptable to chrysanthemums, lilies, stevias, some bulbous stock—in fact, everything but perhaps carnations, which will take a little higher temperature in the curing process, but even so it is a debatable question.

The growers who are in close proximity to any market would not perhaps have to go into the above methods so closely, but I would mention that it is advisable.

It is apparent that the grower who gives his stock this sort of treatment will put it on the market in better condition and will be able to obtain, through good keeping qualities, better prices than the grower who ships his stock without hardening and too soon after cutting.

I might state that sweet peas, violets and flowers of that description are best put on a market or shipped as soon as is possible after picking, as they will lose their greatest values, fragrance and sweetness, if held any length of time.

The packing now enters into the question and can be discussed in its various forms by the members.

I do strongly recommend plenty of ice for roses in packing at all times of the year, as I find that stock comes through better from growers who use ice than from those who do not. I suggest well lined boxes, careful handling and packing, not forgetting what a lot of good two cleats will do if used properly.

The Need for Standard Grading.

There have been many arguments relative to the method of shipping carnations. Some growers prefer to pack carnations one by one in layers in the boxes, while others bunch them in twenty-fives. I think that the latter method is perhaps best in most cases, as they can on arrival be unpacked, checked and put away with less labor and loss of time than through the first method mentioned.

One more item regarding grading is that we do not have a standard system of grading in Canada at present, and, as you are all aware, two or three growers grade to a certain system and two or three to another system, and so on. It would be a good idea in general to take such steps as might produce a standard system, and I feel confident that it would result in much good for all connected with the trade, growers, wholesalers and retailers.

There are many features regarding this topic which have not been gone into, but I feel that in making the paper as concise as possible the discussion perhaps will bring out more good points, and in a way that would prove more beneficial than a lengthy paper.

EXPERIMENT FARM AND TRADE.

[An extract from the report of Joseph Bennett, chairman of a special committee to consider the work of the Canadian Experimental Farms, presented at the Montreal Convention of the C. H. A. August 7.]

The members of this committee have visited the Experimental Farm at Ottawa for several years and have been much interested in the work carried on at this station. There is no doubt but what plants, flowers and fruits are grown here to perfection, and it is well worthy of a visit from any gardener or florist in the country, especially gardeners, but while we were always delighted with what we saw and were well repaid for our visit, as any flower lover would be, we always came away with the impression that there was little benefit to the florist from a business standpoint.

Chrysanthemums.

In the first place we will take chrysanthemums: They are grown at Ottawa to perfection; that is, from an exhibition point of view, but of little use to a florist in his business. The latest introductions are procured, which is commendable, but they are grown to single flowers in pots, given lots of room and the best of attention, whereas the florist has to grow his plants in a bed or bench, three flowers to a plant and close enough to make them pay for themselves, which is an entirely different proposition. The florist visiting the experimental station while the mums are in flower knows no more which varieties to grow than if he stayed at home.

We suggest that these same varieties be planted in a commercial way; that is, in the same way in which the florist is obliged to grow them. They will be just as interesting to the ordinary visitor and a source of income to the commercial man.

No Carnation Tests.

Carnations are not grown at all at this station, and, as they are practically the standby of the cut flower grower of Canada, we would suggest that a house be devoted entirely to them. So many varieties are introduced yearly by hybridizers that it is practically impossible for the commercial man to buy them all. He buys what he thinks will suit him, and oftentimes he is disappointed with the results, losing valuable time, labor, space and money. If the experimental stations would take up carnations and devote enough space to them it would be a boon to the florist and a source of delight to visitors. The originators of new carnations would be pleased to supply twenty-five to 100 plants the year before dissemination, upon condition that the young plants be not sold or given away, but kept strictly for experimental purposes and reported on accordingly. Of course, we could not expect the stations to grow these plants under anything but ordinary circumstances; that is, an even temperature and ordinary soil. We know that one variety will make good in a light soil and another variety in a heavy soil, and that some varieties like a little more heat or a little less heat than other varieties, but what the commercial florist wants to know more especially is what varieties to grow under ordinary conditions, and this is where the experimental farms can get in their good work.

Rose Tests Needed.

A few years ago there were only three or four standard varieties of roses that a florist could grow with profit, but the hybridizers have done wonderful work lately and new roses are being sent out yearly which have entirely outclassed and superseded the old ones, and here again is where the florist is at a disadvantage. He cannot afford to buy every variety offered by the disseminators, so speculates in one or more varieties and often finds that he bought the wrong one. Not only is the price of the new plants lost, but a whole year's labor, bench space, firing, etc., which is a considerable item in the year's returns. If the Experimental Farm would take up rose growing and report, the florist would not be in such a hurry to take up catalogues, and trade papers' glowing accounts and throw their good money after bad, for a commercial grower is always on the lookout for something better than he is growing at present and is always willing to take a chance. We consider that the government should take this chance and give the hard-working florists the benefit of experience, thereby saving them a lot of disappointments and expense and also helping the flower-buying public of Canada to procure the best varieties obtainable.

The above remarks apply equally to all cut flowers grown by florists, such as violets, mignonette, antirrhinums, sweet peas and any other subjects that are or could be grown to advantage commercially.

What we suggest is that the greenhouse work in connection with the farms be treated exactly the same way as they are treating the outdoor departments; viz., hardy shrubs, perennials, vegetables, fruit or ornamental trees and hedges. We immensely appreciate the efforts which have been made in these departments. The grounds are an object lesson to anyone wishing to beautify grounds and an education to landscape gardeners and nurserymen.

Insect Studies Needed.

Another thing we would like to suggest is that the Experimental Farm take up what we can vulgarly call the bug question. We all realize the necessity of keeping our plants and flowers clean and free of insects, and most florists know how to combat the commoner form of insect pests, but there are some bugs and grubs that the average florists have found impossible to eradicate.

THE COST OF COAL

A GROWER TALKS TO PUBLIC.

No Reduction in Sight.

A Chicago daily paper is conducting a campaign to develop the facts with regard to the cost of fuel, the idea being that a "Peabody" reduction in prices is not sufficient to meet the needs of the case. In the course of its investigations it obtained the following statement from a down-state grower of greenhouse vegetables:

"A large grower of hothouse vegetables down-state who wishes his name withheld says:

"'The florists and hothouse vegetable growers will be hardest hit by the exorbitant prices of coal, which, excepting labor, is their heaviest expense. Many will go into bankruptcy or experience heavy losses by allowing greenhouses to freeze up, as prices of their products have not advanced and they cannot possibly make enough profit to pay the increasing cost of coal, which means about 100 per cent increase, figuring delivery cost.

"Too High to Meet."

"'Cost at the mines is 125 to 150 per cent higher than formerly. There is not the faintest hope that prices of flowers and hothouse vegetables can be advanced to cover the enormous cost of fuel.

"'The florist who spends $3,000 a year for coal would have to raise $6,000 to keep from freezing up his establishment this winter. If he is fortunate enough to have $3,000 available for the additional cost he may not lose his all. But most of them have extreme difficulty meeting their heavy coal bills every winter and cannot see any way around it now.

"'The problem which confronts them is whether to stick to it until the sheriff takes the place for the creditors, or let the greenhouses freeze up and get a job in some factory, thereby losing what represents a lifetime saving, now tied up in the business.

"'Boilers and pipes would be seriously damaged, established trade entirely lost and there would be little encouragement to start in again after the war. The best bet seems to be to stick to it in the hope conditions may improve or that the florist may be able to borrow money, for he surely will run behind this winter.

Credit Aids Large Growers.

"'The large growers will probably run at a loss, but having credit will pull through and get on their feet at some later date.

"'Enormous quantities of coal are mined and being stored for winter; more than ever before, so there should be no trouble taking care of the demand later on for those who have not stored any. Conditions will be nothing like they were last winter. There is, however, a shortage of cars or motive power to haul them, so that some mines are not able to run every day.

"'The railroads need more engines and cars. Enormous farm crops to move will make the car shortage more serious later in the fall.

"'Coal prices should be lowered now and train service improved, to get people to buy and the mines to run at full capacity before the roads are blocked with bumper farm crops and troops to move.

"'What the miners' wages may be next year has nothing to do with this year's coal prices. The prices are simply robbery which has been legalized by the establishing of the maximum price, to which all operators promptly set their price.

Tells of Price Jump.

"'We have contracted for eighty to 100 cars a year for several years. The price was $1.25 per ton for nut coal from southern Illinois mines. Last year it was raised to $1.35. This year they are asking $3.50 for the same nut coal, but we cannot get either mine-run or screenings at $2.75, which is the lowest on southern Illinois coal. The mine operators claim as one excuse that the cost of rails is 100 per cent higher. But, even so, this probably would not necessitate raising the price of coal more than five per cent, because of the few rails they need compared with the entire sales.'"

SCABIOSA CAUCASICA ALBA.

Please inform me as to the culture, blooming season and keeping quality of Scabiosa caucasica alba.

E. A. R.—Ill.

Scabiosa caucasica alba is a white form of scabiosa. It is carried on long stems, is a good perennial and well adapted for cutting. S. caucasica, with light lavender blue flowers of large size, I consider a more valuable form commercially than S. caucasica alba. The average height of the plant is eighteen inches. It is easily grown from seed. If started early in the year, it will flower the following summer. Give the plants well manured soil for best results and allow eighteen inches of space between the plants. C. W.

HEDGE OF LILACS.

What would you suggest to make a hedge of lilacs grow faster? The lilacs were planted five years ago, when they were one to one and one-half feet in height, and they now are only about two and one-half feet in height. Would a top-dressing of bone meal and dried blood in the fall be good, or would you prefer mulching with cow manure? Our winters are quite severe, the temperature dropping sometimes to 70 degrees below zero. A. R. S.—Can.

A top-dressing of cow manure in the fall would be much better than one of bone meal and dried blood. I cannot understand why your plants have not grown faster, unless they are in poor soil. Lilacs like rich soil and an annual top-dressing of manure, and plants set out five years ago should now be not less than five to six feet high. C. W.

TOMATOES UNDER GLASS

A Treatise on a Subject of Wartime Significance

An address by A. H. Walker, of Macdonald College, Quebec, Can., delivered at the convention of the Canadian Horticultural Association at Montreal, August 8, 1917.

THE subject is one which it might be well for many florists to consider. The decreased demand for flowers, or the comparatively low prices obtained in order to get rid of them, as compared with the cost of production, must make thoughtful men consider what is best to do in order to keep operating their greenhouses, and at the same time make it pay to do so. As flowers are more or less a luxury, it follows that if this war lasts for any considerable time the tendency will be that a further decrease in demand for flowers must be the result. That being so, it follows that the growers will be forced to shut down parts of their ranges, or grow something else that is not a luxury, for in these days of high prices of all foodstuffs greenhouse tomatoes are just as cheap as most other things.

I make this plea, gentlemen, in the hope that instead of closing down part of your range you will utilize that space, in so far as it is possible for you to do so. I feel sure that you will have no cause for regret; on the contrary, you will feel a great measure of satisfaction in the fact that you are really doing war work, even though the profits may not be so high as you have been accustomed to in growing other crops.

The Importance of Right Variety.

The general public has acquired such a liking for tomatoes that the demand for them the year around is on the increase, and anything which the public desires that can be home grown is always much more appreciated, not only from a patriotic standpoint at this time in our history, but also because it reaches them in that fresh condition which is so desirable in fruits or vegetables. The question which naturally arises to one's mind as a grower is, Will it pay to grow them? The answer is found in the demand—anything that there is a demand for will surely pay, providing the crop is grown properly. Good prices are obtained throughout the period that it is possible to have them, and if proper attention is given to every detail I have no hesitation whatever in saying that they pay, and pay well.

The variety grown has much to do with whether they pay or not. The Toronto market, I understand, calls for a small fruit, whereas the Montreal market is supplied with fruit of good size. My experience in testing out varieties has proven to my satisfaction, at least, that there are few varieties worth growing, and for the Montreal market only one, namely, Livingston's Globe. This variety has an ideal habit of growth, and the leaf stalks are far enough apart, offsetting the necessity of removing any of them to admit light, while the foliage itself is not too heavy; and last, but not least, it is a heavy cropper, the fruit being most regular in shape, with but few small fruits that cannot be shipped. With other varieties tried out, the amount of waste in this respect was altogether out of proportion, even with so-called good forcing varieties. On this point I should say that while I do not wish to appear "Kaiseric," it seems to me that if one variety is so much better than another and the same prices are obtained for both, it is up to the growers, no matter where they are situated, to grow the variety that nets them the largest returns, irrespective of what the market calls for. The markets will fall in line when there is nothing else left for them to do.

Profits per Square Foot.

Regarding the returns per square foot of bench area, I may say that records were kept for several years at Macdonald College to ascertain the productiveness of varieties, and here again, let me say, Globe led them all by a handsome margin. We continued to keep records from houses planted entirely with Globe and found that one house, producing two crops on the same soil during the year, yielded a total of over 3,600 pounds. The bench area devoted to the crop was 716 square feet; therefore the weight per square foot was over five pounds. The prices obtained during the season fluctuated, according to the time of year and due to the influence that imported southern fruit has on the market for a few weeks, but, notwithstanding this, good prices are obtained. For the fall and winter crop this year, commencing the second week in October and lasting until the second week in January, the wholesale prices obtained ran from 25 to 40 cents per pound, the bulk realizing 25 cents, while the tail end realized from 30 to 40 cents. The prices obtained for the spring and early summer crop, of which we usually ship from the end of April until well into July, usually start at 25 cents, which price holds well until the southern fruit comes in, when the price drops to 20 and even 15 cents for a couple of weeks, then soars up again to 20, 22½, 25 and 27 cents.

At these prices the gross earnings per square foot of bench for the two crops will be $1 or over. Deduct from this ten per cent commission, express at 35 cents per hundred pounds, the cost of crate, baskets and wrapping paper, and you still have from 75 to 80 cents per square foot.

Now, gentlemen, I give you these figures to show the possibilities of tomato growing, and I would like to add that I know these figures can be improved upon by the commercial grower, as it is his business to grow everything to the highest perfection. He puts his time on the crop, while with men in my position the growing is done amid multitudinous daily interruptions.

The Three Crops in Canada.

Having dealt so far with the possibilities of tomato growing, I will now endeavor to outline the actual growing, for the benefit of those who have but little or no experience in handling this plant.

While it is not advisable to attempt to keep up a supply of tomatoes the year around for reasons I will mention later, it is quite possible to supply the market from October until the middle of January; then again from the end of April until the end of August. In order to do this, three sowings are made. The first sowing is made June 25, the second October 25 and the third on or about December 20. The plants from the June sowing will continue in fruit from October until January, as before stated. In the meantime the plants from the October sowing are being grown along in pots and as the growth is slow at that time of year these plants will average ten inches in height by the second week in January, when the June-sown plants are finished. These plants are removed, the benches manured, dug over and replanted. Thus the house is kept occupied by the first two sowings. The plants from the third sowing can be grown along in pots until space is available; for instance, after the violet crop is finished.

It will be noticed that there is an interval between the middle of January and the end of April during which no fruit is being picked, and just at a time when high prices could be obtained. In order to have plants in bearing covering that period, the fruit would have to be set during the darkest months of the year, November, December and January. The weather conditions during that period render it impossible to obtain a setting of fruit in sufficient quantity to make it pay, as experiments conducted at Macdonald College proved beyond doubt.

Treatment of Fall and Winter Crops.

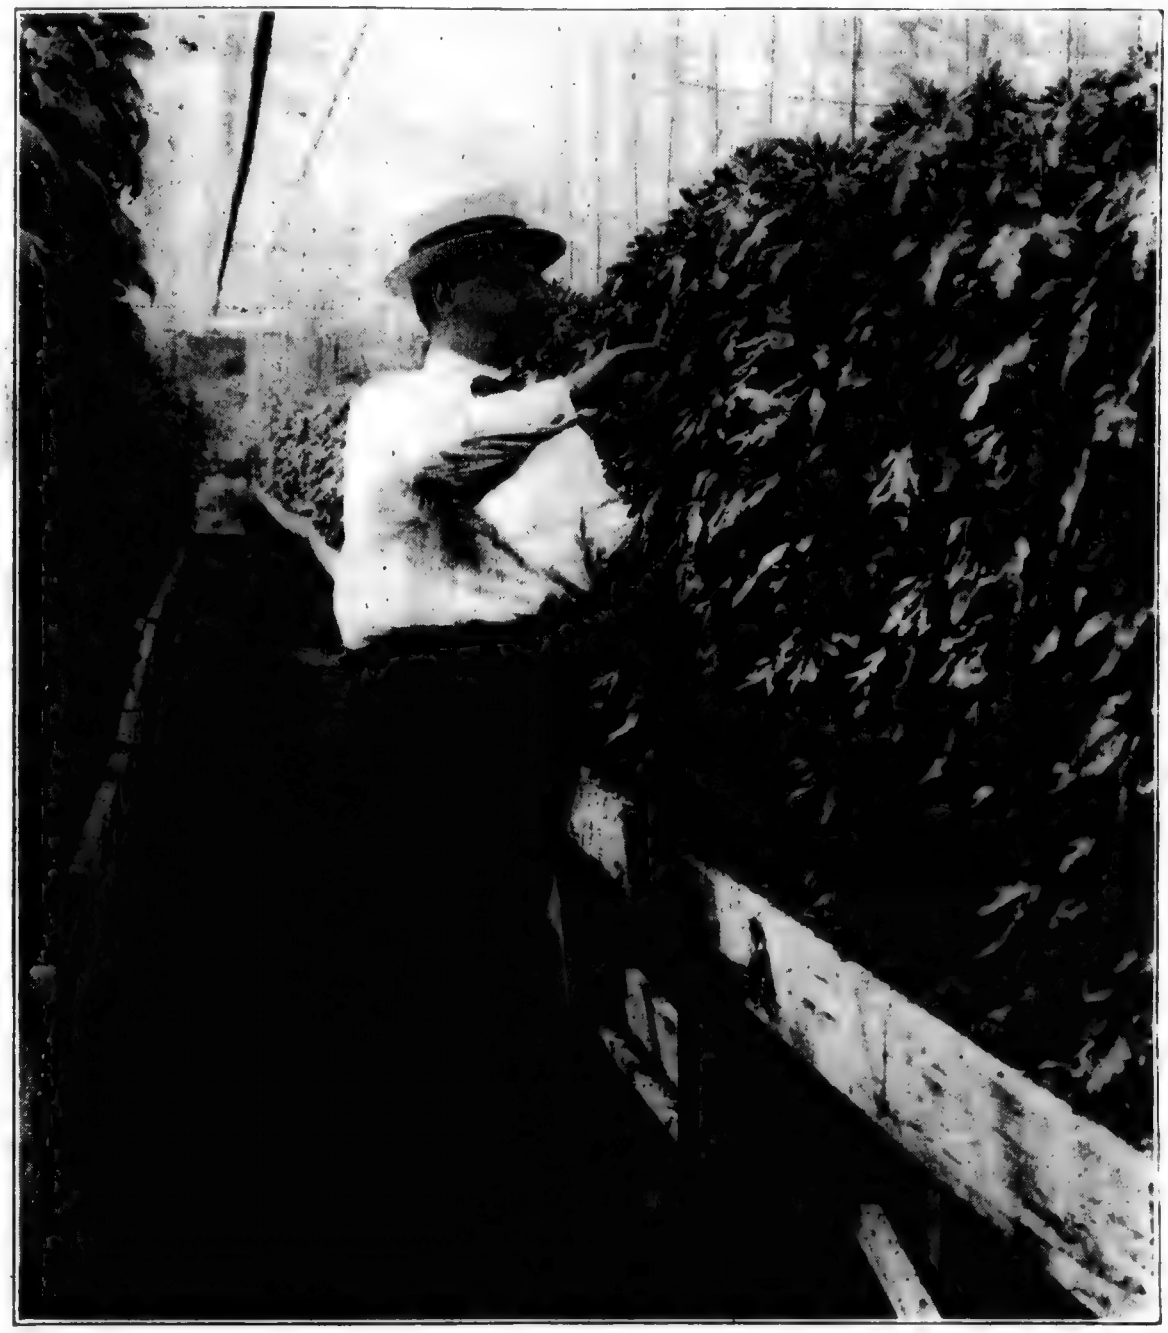
In handling plants for fall and winter crops the seeds are sown in flats of sandy soil, June 25, as before stated. When large enough the seedlings are pricked off, four inches apart, in flats of good, loamy soil, and shaded until established. The plants then are exposed to full sunlight in an airy house, the plants having ample room in these flats until August 1. A week at least before that the spring and summer crop will have finished, giving ample time to empty and refill the benches, when planting can be done direct from the flats, thus saving time and material in potting and caring for them while in pots. Plants from the other sowings have to be grown along in pots until space is available for them, and we have found that 3-inch pots are large enough to carry the October-sown plants until planting takes place the second week in January; while the December-sown plants, which are to replace violets, will require 4½-inch pots to carry them in good shape.

For bench soil a good sandy loam perhaps is best, but experience has shown me that a good crop can be grown on a variety of soils. One year we had to use ordinary soil from the field, which, when watered, ran together like cement. On another occasion two of the best crops we have had were grown on soil which had grown carnations for two years. I therefore feel safe in saying that if good drainage is provided and all other details in the growing are attended to, any variety of soil will do, with the possible exception of heavy clay. In filling the benches with fresh soil the grower should not add too much manure or fertilizer, as this is apt to encourage too rank a growth, which is not desirable in the early stages of growth. Feeding can be quite freely given after the plants have set their fruit.

Benches, Spacing and Staking.

With all fruiting crops the maximum amount of sunlight is most essential, especially during the time of year when the day is short, the sun is low and roofs are apt to be coated with frost and snow. The nearer the plants are to the glass in reason, the better are the light conditions obtained. This, of course, will depend to a large extent on the type of house used. In an up-to-date house of the u-bar type the ground bench will be quite suitable. In ridge and furrow houses raised benches would be preferable, especially for the spring and summer crop, as the setting of the early trusses of fruit takes place during February and the early part of March. Any type of bench will suit the other two crops, as the setting of fruit takes place during fine weather.

In order to arrive at something definite in the matter of distances between plants, experiments were conducted at the college for several years, the results showing that, from a commercial standpoint, plants spaced eighteen to twenty inches apart each way gave the largest yield per square foot. In planting the fall and winter crop set the plants eighteen inches apart, as excellent weather conditions obtain during the setting period. With the spring and early summer crop set the plants twenty inches apart, on account of the less favorable conditions during the early period of their growth.



Staking should be done as soon as possible after planting, for when the plants are small the work is more rapidly accomplished. At the college we use 5/6 wire stakes clipped to two longitudinal wires, these giving an excellent support. Bamboo canes have also been tried out, thinking that they would be strong enough without the support of the middle wire, but they doubled up under the weight of fruit. We have never tried to support them with binder twine or other strong cord, but it seems to me that if four longitudinal wires were stretched, binder twine would do nicely. One advantage this form of staking would have over any other would be the rapidity with which a house could be cleaned out. The strings would simply be cut and everything thrown out, whereas in using stakes all ties holding the plants have to be cut and clips taken off and wires removed.

WHO'S WHO IN THE TRADE—AND WHY

CHARLES H. TOTTY.

To those who know Totty only through his writings in The Review, the portrait will seem characteristic because of the environment—a house of fine mums—but to those who also know the man from association with him it will seem characteristic because it shows him with his coat off. For Totty's coat always is off in the figurative sense—there is no more indefatigable worker for the general welfare of the trade. Because of his experience and ability he is to be found wherever the work is heaviest, for flower show or trade society—if modesty prevents his volunteering for some conspicuous service he is sure to be drafted. Born at Shropshire, England, in 1873, educated as a private gardener and in business for himself at Madison, N. J., since 1903, he is unusually well equipped to serve the trade, and his friends plan to place him in the presidency of the S. A. F. for 1918.

This variety has an ideal habit of growth, and the leaf stalks are far enough apart, offsetting the necessity of removing any of them to admit light, while the foliage itself is not too heavy; and last, but not least, it is a heavy cropper, the fruit being most regular in shape, with but few small fruits that cannot be shipped. With other varieties tried out, the amount of waste in this respect was altogether out of proportion, even with so-called good forcing varieties. On this point I should say that while I do not wish to appear "Kaiserie," it seems to me that if one variety is so much better than another and the same prices are obtained for both, it is up to the growers, no matter where they are situated, to grow the variety that nets them the largest returns, irrespective of what the market calls for. The markets will fall in line when there is nothing else left for them to do.

Profits per Square Foot.

Regarding the returns per square foot of bench area, I may say that records were kept for several years at Macdonald College to ascertain the productiveness of varieties, and here again, let me say, Globe led them all by a handsome margin. We continued to keep records from houses planted entirely with Globe and found that one house, producing two crops on the same soil during the year, yielded a total of over 3,600 pounds. The bench area devoted to the crop was 716 square feet; therefore the weight per square foot was over five pounds. The prices obtained during the season fluctuated, according to the time of year and due to the influence that imported southern fruit has on the market for a few weeks, but, notwithstanding this, good prices are obtained. For the fall and winter crop this year, commencing the second week in October and lasting until the second week in January, the wholesale prices obtained ran from 25 to 40 cents per pound, the bulk realizing 25 cents, while the tail end realized from 30 to 40 cents. The prices obtained for the spring and early summer crop, of which we usually ship from the end of April until well into July, usually start at 25 cents, which price holds well until the southern fruit comes in, when the price drops to 20 and even 15 cents for a couple of weeks, then soars up again to 20, 22½, 25 and 27 cents.

At these prices the gross earnings per square foot of bench for the two crops will be $1 or over. Deduct from this ten per cent commission, express at 35 cents per hundred pounds, the cost of crate, baskets and wrapping paper, and you still have from 75 to 80 cents per square foot.

Now, gentlemen, I give you these figures to show the possibilities of tomato growing, and I would like to add that I know these figures can be improved upon by the commercial grower, as it is his business to grow everything to the highest perfection. He puts his time on the crop, while with men in my position the growing is done amid multitudinous daily interruptions.

The Three Crops in Canada.

Having dealt so far with the possibilities of tomato growing, I will now endeavor to outline the actual growing, for the benefit of those who have but little or no experience in handling this plant.

While it is not advisable to attempt to keep up a supply of tomatoes the year around for reasons I will mention later, it is quite possible to supply the market from October until the middle of January; then again from the end of April until the end of August. In order to do this, three sowings are made. The first sowing is made June 25, the second October 25 and the third on or about December 20. The plants from the June sowing will continue in fruit from October until January, as before stated. In the meantime the plants from the October sowing are being grown along in pots and as the growth is slow at that time of year these plants will average ten inches in height by the second week in January, when the June-sown plants are finished. These plants are removed, the benches manured, dug over and replanted. Thus the house is kept occupied by the first two sowings. The plants from the third sowing can be grown along in pots until space is available; for instance, after the violet crop is finished.

It will be noticed that there is an interval between the middle of January and the end of April during which no fruit is being picked, and just at a time when high prices could be obtained. In order to have plants in bearing covering that period, the fruit would have to be set during the darkest months of the year, November, December and January. The weather conditions during that period render it impossible to obtain a setting of fruit in sufficient quantity to make it pay, as experiments conducted at Macdonald College proved beyond doubt.

Treatment of Fall and Winter Crops.

In handling plants for fall and winter crops the seeds are sown in flats of sandy soil, June 25, as before stated. When large enough the seedlings are pricked off, four inches apart, in flats of good, loamy soil, and shaded until established. The plants then are exposed to full sunlight in an airy house, the plants having ample room in these flats until August 1. A week at least before that the spring and summer crop will have finished, giving ample time to empty and refill the benches, when planting can be done direct from the flats, thus saving time and material in potting and caring for them while in pots. Plants from the other sowings have to be grown along in pots until space is available for them, and we have found that 3-inch pots are large enough to carry the October-sown plants until planting takes place the second week in January; while the December-sown plants, which are to replace violets, will require 4½-inch pots to carry them in good shape.

For bench soil a good sandy loam perhaps is best, but experience has shown me that a good crop can be grown on a variety of soils. One year we had to use ordinary soil from the field, which, when watered, ran together like cement. On another occasion two of the best crops we have had were grown on soil which had grown carnations for two years. I therefore feel safe in saying that if good drainage is provided and all other details in the growing are attended to, any variety of soil will do, with the possible exception of heavy clay. In filling the benches with fresh soil the grower should not add too much manure or fertilizer, as this is apt to encourage too rank a growth, which is not desirable in the early stages of growth. Feeding can be quite freely given after the plants have set their fruit.

Benches, Spacing and Staking.

With all fruiting crops the maximum amount of sunlight is most essential, especially during the time of year when the day is short, the sun is low and roofs are apt to be coated with frost and snow. The nearer the plants are to the glass in reason, the better are the light conditions obtained. This, of course, will depend to a large extent on the type of house used. In an up-to-date house of the u-bar type the ground bench will be quite suitable. In ridge and furrow houses raised benches would be preferable, especially for the spring and summer crop, as the setting of the early trusses of fruit takes place during February and the early part of March. Any type of bench will suit the other two crops, as the setting of fruit takes place during fine weather.

In order to arrive at something definite in the matter of distances between plants, experiments were conducted at the college for several years, the results showing that, from a commercial standpoint, plants spaced eighteen to twenty inches apart each way gave the largest yield per square foot. In planting the fall and winter crop set the plants eighteen inches apart, as excellent weather conditions obtain during the setting period. With the spring and early summer crop set the plants twenty inches apart, on account of the less favorable conditions during the early period of their growth.

Staking should be done as soon as possible after planting, for when the plants are small the work is more rapidly accomplished. At the college we use 5/6 wire stakes clipped to two longitudinal wires, these giving an excellent support. Bamboo canes have also been tried out, thinking that they would be strong enough without the support of the middle wire, but they doubled up under the weight of fruit. We have never tried to support them with binder twine or other strong cord, but it seems to me that if four longitudinal wires were stretched, binder twine would do nicely. One advantage this form of staking would have over any other would be the rapidity with which a house could be cleaned out. The strings would simply be cut and everything thrown out, whereas in using stakes all ties holding the plants have to be cut and clips taken off and wires removed.

WHO'S WHO IN THE TRADE—AND WHY

CHARLES H. TOTTY.

TO those who know Totty only through his writings in The Review, the portrait will seem characteristic because of the environment—a house of fine mums—but to those who also know the man from association with him it will seem characteristic because it shows him with his coat off. For Totty's coat always is off in the figurative sense—there is no more indefatigable worker for the general welfare of the trade. Because of his experience and ability he is to be found wherever the work is heaviest, for flower show or trade society—if modesty prevents his volunteering for some conspicuous service he is sure to be drafted. Born at Shropshire, England, in 1873, educated as a private gardener and in business for himself at Madison, N. J., since 1903, he is unusually well equipped to serve the trade, and his friends plan to place him in the presidency of the S. A. F. for 1918.

SEASONABLE SUGGESTIONS

Yellow Marguerites.

The yellow marguerite has become a popular flower in some of the large markets the last few years and as the winter culture becomes better understood more florists are trying the crop. While anyone can bloom marguerites in spring or early summer, only a few have as yet had full success with them as a winter crop.

The idea, held for years, that old plants must be carried over from year to year is largely exploded. The best results are now had from young plants propagated in late spring and planted out in July or August, in solid beds. Some growers only allow twelve inches each way between their plants, but I think fifteen inches is better.

There are more uncertainties in growing yellow than white marguerites. Apparently healthy plants may never produce a flower, no matter how much they grow; others will give flowers of inferior quality and careful roguing and selection are necessary to get anything like a uniform crop. If leaf miners attack the plants, spray with a nicotine solution.

Schizanthus.

The schizanthus makes one of the most attractive of spring pot plants. S. Wisetonensis and improvements on it should be sown now, where handsome plants are wanted for Easter or the spring exhibitions. Sow the seed thinly; it will germinate quickly. Do not allow the seedlings to become drawn. Prick off into flats and later pot off singly. The large specimens seen at the big eastern flower shows each spring are grown from single seedlings, but have one or two pinchings and are kept potted along, using a rich soil for the two final pottings.

Schizanthus needs a cold house; one not over 45 degrees at night in winter suits it best.

Show Pelargoniums.

Plants laid on their sides outdoors about the end of June should now have well ripened wood of a nutty brown color. These can now be pruned back quite hard and watered moderately. When they have started to break nicely they can be shaken out, have the longer roots cut back and be repotted in pots a couple of sizes smaller than they have been flowered in.

If young plants are wanted, save some of the tops when pruning back and place them in flats or pans of sand in a coldframe, where they will root in a few weeks and can be grown along to flower in 5-inch or 6-inch pots next spring.

Repairs.

While the weather is extremely warm and it is almost dangerous to work in the greenhouses for long periods, some attention should be given to the boilers, and any necessary cleaning and repairing should be attended to. It is necessary to do this work now and not to keep putting it off. Firing may be necessary within six weeks, in spite of the present torrid conditions.

Painting and glazing should be done when the weather is suitable; there is nothing like getting the roofs tight now. Perhaps you have a lot of hotbed sashes which need painting and glazing. Why not haul them into a cool shed and do the needed work now? And how about the coal supply? This is what worries many of us now, but the outlook is better than it was. Lay in all the coal you need now if at all possible. It is going to be hard to secure it during the coming fall and winter.

Buddleia Magnifica.

The beautiful, floriferous and extremely useful hardy shrub, Buddleia magnifica, is commencing to bloom. It is of easy culture and has with us withstood 15 degrees below zero without protection. Best results are had by cutting plants down to the ground each spring. If the cutting back is done in the fall the plants are pretty sure to die. The long, lavender-mauve racemes are sometimes eighteen inches in length and stand erect. Plants under quite ordinary conditions will bloom from early August until mid-October and the flowers are sweet scented, well adapted for cutting and splendid in floral designs.

The two best Buddleias, both forms of variabilis, are magnifica and superba, but the former I find to be far the more floriferous. Propagation by either soft or hard-wood cuttings is quite simple.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO A. D. KING.

J. F. Ammann, secretary of the Illinois State Florists' Association, who made an appeal for funds and donations of stock to help A. D. King, when he lost his greenhouse range and home in the cyclone which struck Mattoon, Ill., May 26, submits the following list of contributors:

In addition to the above, Addems, Morgan & Co., of Paxton, Ill., sent Mr. King a receipted bill for $24.80 for plants sold him before the cyclone, and John A. Evans, of Richmond, Ind., has offered to rebuild any ventilating machines Mr. King may send him and also offers to pay the freight both ways.

Mr. Ammann concludes his statement with: "In the name of Him who first taught the world what it meant to be charitable, I want to again thank every contributor."

THE RETAIL FLORIST.....

A NEW THOUGHT.

Irwin Bertermann believes that one of the things for the Florists' Telegraph Delivery to do is to let every one of the young men going abroad as soldiers know that the Florists' Telegraph Delivery will take care of their needs while gone. Of course, many of the soldiers will not care to buy flowers, but, again, thousands of the Sammies, officers in particular, are easily able to buy flowers. All of them will leave behind loved ones whom they will wish to remember upon different occasions. Why not have every member of the F. T. D. impress upon the thousands going abroad that their florist friends will take care of orders for their sweethearts, wives and, in particular, their Christmas orders? It is doubtful if a more suitable present could be sent here in this country than a beautiful lot of flowers as a remembrance from the European trenches. Let the members of the Florists' Telegraph Delivery make a united effort so that the fact will be impressed upon the minds of the young men before they leave on their noble mission.

The following is the letter used by the Bertermann Bros. Co., of Indianapolis, in the official paper at Fort Benjamin Harrison, reminding the soldiers of the above:

TO OUR NOBLE SAMMIES AND FRIENDS.

Arrangements are being rapidly completed for the leading florists in France to relay orders to this country and to give particular care to the wishes of those carrying forward the Stars and Stripes. There will be occasions, particularly the holidays, when the services of the Florists' Telegraph Delivery will prove invaluable. We are at this time booking orders and carefully laying them aside for the coming year, so that any flower messages to the loved ones at home will be given unusual attention. Any florist in the larger cities of France will relay your order. We will be pleased to book it at this time or hear from you via mail or cable.

With best wishes, we are very truly yours,

CASKET COVER OF ORCHIDS.

Summer may come and business may go, but funerals go on forever.

Thus might run the song of the florist, for funeral work is the mainstay of the business, in season and out. When there is little else to create a demand for flowers, some prominent man dies and the florist profits thereby.

Grimm & Gorly, of St. Louis, will vouch for this statement. Recently a wealthy St. Louis man died and his family ordered, among other designs, the casket cover of orchids and valley shown in the accompanying illustration. The family order ran into thousands of dollars. The designer who made the cover is Henry Duringburg and he received many compliments on his work, both from the trade and the family of the man whose casket it covered. It was said to have been one of the handsomest and most expensive pieces ever made in St. Louis.

"NOBODY HOME."

It develops that the pronouncement of the secretary of the F. T. D. in the matter of the credit of retail florists, which appeared in The Review for August 2, grew out of an incident which well illustrates the heedlessness with which some persons conduct their business. It appears that a member of the Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association had occasion to send an order for about $100 to be executed by a member in another city. The receiving member wired back for the money before he would fill the order, utterly forgetful of the fact that the principal reason for the organization of the F. T. D. was to guarantee credits between its members. It simply was a case of "nobody home."

The further development of the exchange business between florists seems to call for more prompt attention to the payment for flowers ordered. One large firm which practices the Golden Rule fills orders for other florists without questioning their credit. It now has on its books, so its president says, about 100 cases of overdue accounts from florists who are not members of the F. T. D. and who do not respond to statements and letters. It is not possible for the average florist to have at hand credit information on the standing of every florist throughout the United States and to secure the prompt filling of orders demands that the trade be prompt in paying the bills. It should be like a matter of honor.

ACCESSORIES TO THE FRONT!

Interest Flower Buyer In Container.

Each year the accessories of the retailer cut a bigger figure in his business—what formerly were sales of flowers and plants only, stock unaccompanied by paid-for containers, now in many cases are combined sales of flowers and baskets, or of plants in pretentious potware. The sale of stock and receptacle, of course, is a thing to strive hard for, inasmuch as two profits are involved. Another nice point is that a smart basket, vase or bowl has the happy effect of enhancing the "show" value of the stock, thereby providing the retailer with a leeway for a much-needed "war tax." A third factor not to be ignored is that earnings on basket and vase sales represent an insurance, so to speak, on repeat orders. It is obvious that the more baskets and roses the florist sells the more frequent will be the repeat orders for stock to keep the receptacles filled. Some of the painstaking retailers even circularize those patrons who, as the sales file shows, have purchased baskets or vases that are likely to be permanent adornments in the home.

Dull Time Right Time To Work Hard.

It is during the summer, when flowers do not have so strong an appeal to the buyer, that the unique container plays a big part. The novel conceits of the basket and vase makers serve splendidly in aiding the stock to make a better bid for the buyers' attention. Many a man or woman who comes into the store with the intention of purchasing only a few flowers for a vase may be attracted by the filled baskets and vases, and purchase one of them, as well as the stock to go with it.

The idea presented may be a small one, but there are many such small matters that count in the week's business, particularly if it happens to be a midsummer week. Take, for instance, the summer display in Lowe's Flower Shop, at Long Beach, Cal., as pictured herewith. Note that nearly all the stock is displayed in receptacles which are intended as a part of the sale, and not displayed in plain display units. The buyer is given the impression that the pretty basket and the fresh roses in it go together; the palm in the rear is intended as a gift to someone, but it really would not do to present it without the tasteful tub.

Variety Helps To Sell.

Mr. Lowe believes in showing a wide variety of styles, on the proposition that at least one of the pieces will take the fancy of the customer. In the center is shown a good-sized pond with a fountain, about which are arranged the items for sale.

The other illustration, showing the interior of the Nicollet avenue store of the Whitted Floral Co., at Minneapolis, gives an idea of how the company aims to sell bowls and urns as well as plants. No two containers are alike, and the display requires the entire length of the store on one side.

A profit of $2 on a plant is business, but an additional profit of $2 on an accessory to go with the plant, is better business.

TOO FAST

That rapid-fire florist and Rotarian, William C. Gloeckner, of Albany, N. Y., has sent his customers a card which reads:

Your order for flowers for Chicago, placed at 2:48 p. m. in Albany, was delivered in Chicago at 2:36 p. m. the same day.
How did we do it to beat the time?
Figuring difference of eastern and central time, and good service from the Western Union and our correspondents, in response to our telegraphed instructions.
Are You Satisfied?
Send us your order for any city in the United States or Canada.

Many retailers who are friends of the F. T. D. idea feel that it is inadvisable to educate the public to expect too much. It is not practicable to "beat the time" on every order, and the florist who teaches his customers to expect everything else to be laid aside for one small order is only laying up trouble for himself. Instead, educate the public to the idea that rush service is not the best service; teach the buyers to give time for careful work.

A Drive on "Artware," by Whitted Floral Co., Minneapolis.

PLANTING THE STOCK.

Look over the violet plants in the field and remove any runners and dead foliage. Keep the cultivator constantly going among them. They may not be making growth to please you now. That will come, however, when we get cooler nights and a little more moisture. If the weather is extremely dry and you have water convenient, let a sprinkler run among them, allowing it to run from two to three hours before changing. You then are sure the plants will have a good soaking.

While double violets can be housed as early as the end of August, do not on any consideration plant your singles earlier than the middle or end of October. Several years ago we made the blunder of housing that best of all singles, Princess of Wales, early in September. We got a tremendous crop of lusty leaves and a limited number of poor, wishy-washy flowers. Since that time we have always waited for cool nights in October before housing any singles, preferring to let the plants have some frost on at least a couple of occasions before lifting. A temperature of 24 or 26 degrees will suffice to check the exuberant leaf growth and start flower production in quantity. Plant singles early and failure is sure to result, no matter what you may be told to the contrary.

Years ago, any old houses, even those with 6x8 glass and heavy rafters, were considered good enough for violets. While you can grow violets and some other plants after a fashion in such structures, if you want really good results give them light, roomy and well ventilated houses, not small, dark, hot and stuffy ones.

VIOLETS POOR SECOND YEAR.

I have a bed of 400 violet plants which were planted last August and from which I picked flowers all winter. Will these plants do as well again this year, if I trim them back and feed them, or shall I set new rooted cuttings and discard the old plants? The variety is Governor Herrick.

L. E. G.—D. C.

No, you will not get good results by attempting to carry your violets over a second season. To achieve success with violets you should have taken runners or divisions in spring, planted them out in nursery rows and lifted them in October, after the plants had been subjected to one or two moderate freezings. I would advise you to use the rooted cuttings for the coming season. If these are planted out, well and good, but do not house them until about the end of October, otherwise you will have many leaves and few flowers. C. W.

GULLETT'S COMPLETED RANGE.

Ten Houses Just Finished.

With the completion of the additions to the Gullett & Sons range of greenhouses at Lincoln, Ill., which, by the way, is one of the few establishments that have been materially increased this season, the firm has one of the most up-to-date places in the trade. A recital of some of the outstanding features of the range will give an idea of its modernity and size.

It has in its boilers an aggregate of 2,000 horsepower. It has electric refrigeration. It has three watering systems, all cross-connected for use in any part of the vast glass area. One of these systems has ninety pounds pressure, one forty pounds and the third is used for manure. A section man in any part of the range has any of the three systems at his service by the turn of a valve. The plant houses are one-quarter of a mile from the boilers, and yet the entire range is heated from the central heating plant by means of the McKee vacuum system. The pipe is carried underground in special tile conduits provided with sewer drains and insulation. There are 320 benches, 4x250 feet, filled with stock. There are forty miles of heating pipes in the range, and if the pipes were laid end to end they would reach from Chicago to Aurora.

A feature of the establishment is the system of cement walks which extend all around the range and through the center. These walks are wide enough to permit the free use of wheelbarrows.

Two huge Babcock & Wilcox water boilers, each 250 horsepower, are now being installed.

Year's Additions to Range.

The three big steel houses finished last fall were planted to roses and chrysanthemums. The two steel houses, each 60x500 feet, finished last May, were planted to Russell and Ophelia roses. Twelve coldframes, 200 feet long, just completed, are to be used for hydrangeas and azaleas. Ten pipe-frame houses, 28x200 feet each, just receiving the finishing touches, will be used for cyclamens, ferns and pot plants. The rest of the range is planted to miscellaneous varieties of roses and carnations.

The new service building for the plant range is 28x300 feet, and contains an ideal layout of soil bins, potting tables, shipping benches, pot racks, office and packing room. This building is so arranged that the firm's motor trucks can drive through it for purposes of loading and unloading. The building is heated and electrically lighted.

The American Greenhouse Mfg. Co., Chicago, which furnished all the material and equipment, and erected the range, used 310 carloads of material, making six trains of more than fifty cars each.

With this record of activities during the last year, Gullett & Sons may well claim the distinction of being among the best business boosters, not only in the florists' trade, but in the commercial world at large.

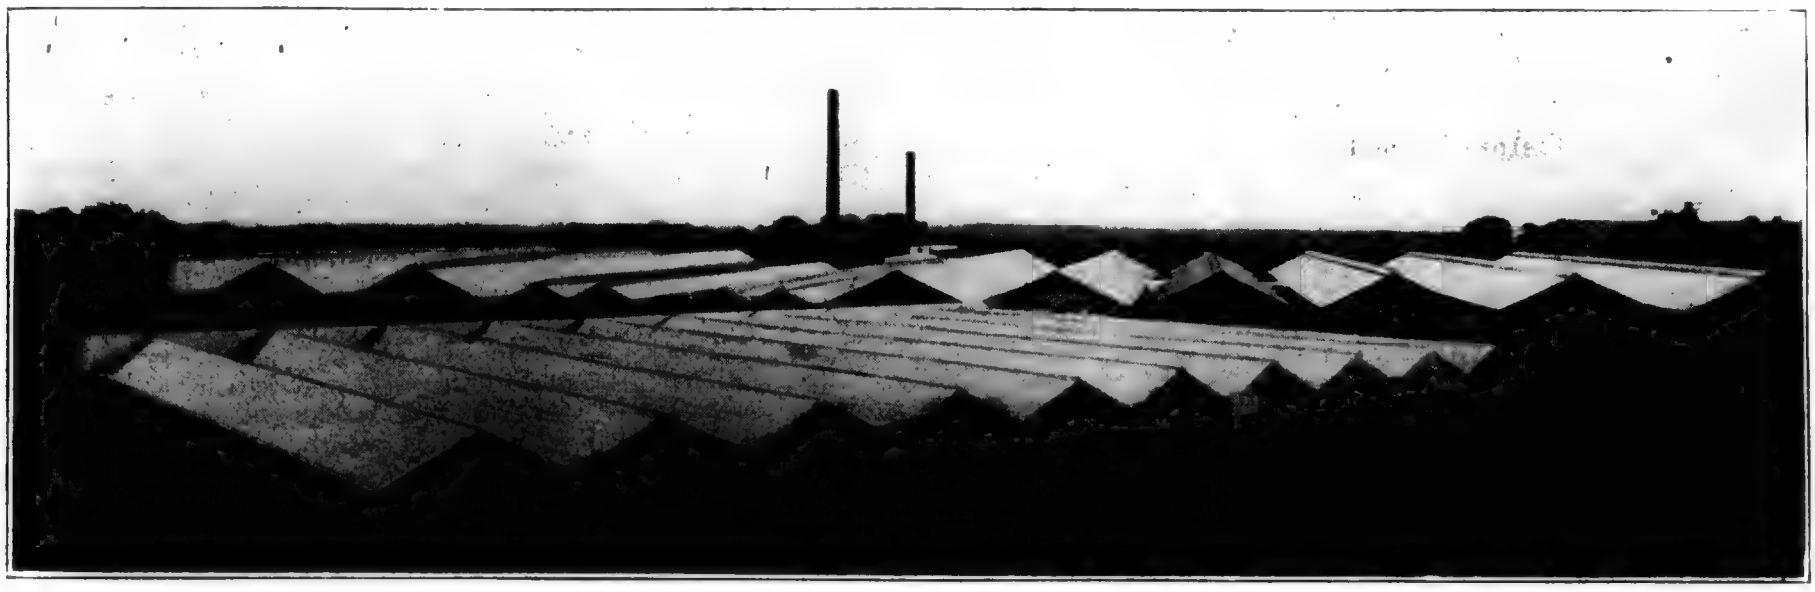
SHIP AHOY!—MOTT IS SKIPPER.

Visitors to the convention of the S. A. F. at New York August 21, who come from points west of Albany, N. Y., have an informal but cordial invitation from the Albany Florists' Club to break their journey at the New York capital. Any of the following members are within easy reach and will gladly extend courtesies: F. A. Danker, William C. Gloeckner, Fred Goldring, W. W. Hannell, Edward Tracey, of The Rosery, Fred Henkes, of Henkes & Sons, and Thomas Tracey, of the Albany Cut Flower Exchange.

A delightful and restful trip following a hot and dusty experience on the railroad is a refreshing thing to suggest: Why cannot the conventionists from the west get off at Albany and there connect with the Hudson river boats for New York? All through railroad tickets are good on any of the Hudson boats, which leave every week day at 8:30 a. m. and arrive at New York at 6 p. m.

Boarding, for instance, the "Washington Irving" on a bright, warm day, such as we are now being favored with, we take our chair and settle down for a long and pleasant sail. We pass many large ice houses, recalling to mind that there is a close affinity between ice and coal just now.

Hudson is the first stopping place, the home of the Allen Greenhouses, the proprietor of which does a snug retail business. Catskill is the next port of call, and there the veteran Henry Hansen will leave his prosperous place to join the crowd, which will surely be augmented by the addition of Brother Snyder, of Rhinebeck. At Kingston Point we remember the Burgevin brothers, and would not be surprised to see them. Their unique range is well worth the time it would take to visit it.



Poughkeepsie follows, and here the genial Saltfords, father and sons, may be seen, busy even in vacation time; and their well kept place rewards their efforts. Conrad C. Gindra is also to be found and most likely will be ready to join the convention party. Across the river is Highland, where A. Ley & Bro. and John Madden grow such fine Adiantum hybridum.

Our boat is now passing New Hamburg, the home of W. P. Clyde, of steamboat fame and an ardent horticulturist, who possesses one of the finest herbaceous gardens on the Hudson.

Directly opposite Newburgh is Beacon, where Benjamin Hammond greets us and offers us the freedom of the commissary department of his establishment. L. Wood, of Wood Bros., accompanied by Samuel Benjamin, joins the party, and as our boat passes Storm King mountain and Cold Spring, where Seymour Cunningham keeps a snug range, we are informed that George Washington once drank at the spring close by the railroad station. Here the famous aqueduct crosses under the river. The next point of interest is West Point, with its immense graystone buildings, now so intensely interesting.

Nearing our journey's end, we pass Tarrytown and Scarboro, both associated with the well known name of F. R. Pierson, while beyond Nyack lies the range of Alexander Burns, conceded to be the largest shipper of lilies to Manhattan. Passing the Palisades recalls R. W. Clucus at his extensive nursery at Sparkill. All are pleased to know that he is again convalescent.

On our left we are deeply impressed with the view of the tomb of General Grant, and as our boat threads its way through the fleet of Holland steamers, now lying idle, the sight strengthens the opinion now generally accepted that the outlook for any Dutch bulbs this fall is none too promising; but we are determined to make the best of the situation and take all the pleasure we can while the opportunity offers. With this determination we arrive at our destination, tired but happy. W. M.

TOO FAST

That rapid-fire florist and Rotarian, William C. Gloeckner, of Albany, N. Y., has sent his customers a card which reads:

Your order for flowers for Chicago, placed at 2:48 p. m. in Albany, was delivered in Chicago at 2:36 p. m. the same day.

How did we do it to beat the time?

Figuring difference of eastern and central time, and good service from the Western Union and our correspondents, in response to our telegraphed instructions.

Are You Satisfied?

Send us your order for any city in the United States or Canada.

Many retailers who are friends of the F. T. D. idea feel that it is inadvisable to educate the public to expect too much. It is not practicable to "beat the time" on every order, and the florist who teaches his customers to expect everything else to be laid aside for one small order is only laying up trouble for himself. Instead, educate the public to the idea that rush service is not the best service; teach the buyers to give time for careful work.

PLANTING THE STOCK.

Look over the violet plants in the field and remove any runners and dead foliage. Keep the cultivator constantly going among them. They may not be making growth to please you now. That will come, however, when we get cooler nights and a little more moisture. If the weather is extremely dry and you have water convenient, let a sprinkler run among them, allowing it to run from two to three hours before changing. You then are sure the plants will have a good soaking.

While double violets can be housed as early as the end of August, do not on any consideration plant your singles earlier than the middle or end of October. Several years ago we made the blunder of housing that best of all singles, Princess of Wales, early in September. We got a tremendous crop of lusty leaves and a limited number of poor, wishy-washy flowers. Since that time we have always waited for cool nights in October before housing any singles, preferring to let the plants have some frost on at least a couple of occasions before lifting. A temperature of 24 or 26 degrees will suffice to check the exuberant leaf growth and start flower production in quantity. Plant singles early and failure is sure to result, no matter what you may be told to the contrary.

Years ago, any old houses, even those with 6x8 glass and heavy rafters, were considered good enough for violets. While you can grow violets and some other plants after a fashion in such structures, if you want really good results give them light, roomy and well ventilated houses, not small, dark, hot and stuffy ones.

VIOLETS POOR SECOND YEAR.

I have a bed of 400 violet plants which were planted last August and from which I picked flowers all winter. Will these plants do as well again this year, if I trim them back and feed them, or shall I set new rooted cuttings and discard the old plants? The variety is Governor Herrick.

L. E. G.—D. C.

No, you will not get good results by attempting to carry your violets over a second season. To achieve success with violets you should have taken runners or divisions in spring, planted them out in nursery rows and lifted them in October, after the plants had been subjected to one or two moderate freezings. I would advise you to use the rooted cuttings for the coming season. If these are planted out, well and good, but do not house them until about the end of October, otherwise you will have many leaves and few flowers. C. W.

GULLETT'S COMPLETED RANGE.

Ten Houses Just Finished.

With the completion of the additions to the Gullett & Sons range of greenhouses at Lincoln, Ill., which, by the way, is one of the few establishments that have been materially increased this season, the firm has one of the most up-to-date places in the trade. A recital of some of the outstanding features of the range will give an idea of its modernity and size.

It has in its boilers an aggregate of 2,000 horsepower. It has electric refrigeration. It has three watering systems, all cross-connected for use in any part of the vast glass area. One of these systems has ninety pounds pressure, one forty pounds and the third is used for manure. A section man in any part of the range has any of the three systems at his service by the turn of a valve. The plant houses are one-quarter of a mile from the boilers, and yet the entire range is heated from the central heating plant by means of the McKee vacuum system. The pipe is carried underground in special tile conduits provided with sewer drains and insulation. There are 320 benches, 4x250 feet, filled with stock. There are forty miles of heating pipes in the range, and if the pipes were laid end to end they would reach from Chicago to Aurora.

A feature of the establishment is the system of cement walks which extend all around the range and through the center. These walks are wide enough to permit the free use of wheelbarrows.

Two huge Babcock & Wilcox water boilers, each 250 horsepower, are now being installed.

Year's Additions to Range.

The three big steel houses finished last fall were planted to roses and chrysanthemums. The two steel houses, each 60x500 feet, finished last May, were planted to Russell and Ophelia roses. Twelve coldframes, 200 feet long, just completed, are to be used for hydrangeas and azaleas. Ten pipe-frame houses, 28x200 feet each, just receiving the finishing touches, will be used for cyclamens, ferns and pot plants. The rest of the range is planted to miscellaneous varieties of roses and carnations.

The new service building for the plant range is 28x300 feet, and contains an ideal layout of soil bins, potting tables, shipping benches, pot racks, office and packing room. This building is so arranged that the firm's motor trucks can drive through it for purposes of loading and unloading. The building is heated and electrically lighted.

The American Greenhouse Mfg. Co., Chicago, which furnished all the material and equipment, and erected the range, used 310 carloads of material, making six trains of more than fifty cars each.

With this record of activities during the last year, Gullett & Sons may well claim the distinction of being among the best business boosters, not only in the florists' trade, but in the commercial world at large.

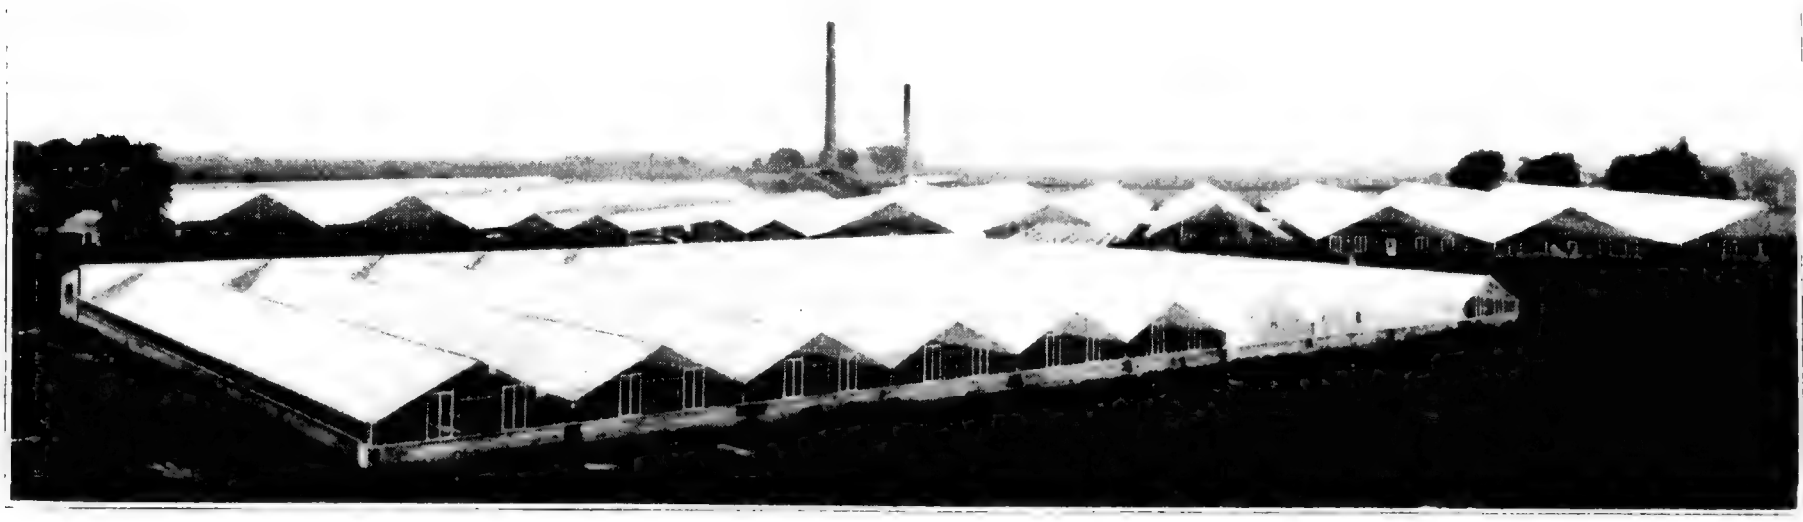
SHIP AHOY!—MOTT IS SKIPPER.

Visitors to the convention of the S. A. F. at New York August 21, who come from points west of Albany, N. Y., have an informal but cordial invitation from the Albany Florists' Club to break their journey at the New York capital. Any of the following members are within easy reach and will gladly extend courtesies: F. A. Danker, William C. Gloeckner, Fred Goldring, W. W. Hannell, Edward Tracey, of The Rosery, Fred Henkes, of Henkes & Sons, and Thomas Tracey, of the Albany Cut Flower Exchange.

A delightful and restful trip following a hot and dusty experience on the railroad is a refreshing thing to suggest: Why cannot the conventionists from the west get off at Albany and there connect with the Hudson river boats for New York? All through railroad tickets are good on any of the Hudson boats, which leave every week day at 8:30 a. m. and arrive at New York at 6 p. m.

Boarding, for instance, the "Washington Irving" on a bright, warm day, such as we are now being favored with, we take our chair and settle down for a long and pleasant sail. We pass many large ice houses, recalling to mind that there is a close affinity between ice and coal just now.

Hudson is the first stopping place, the home of the Allen Greenhouses, the proprietor of which does a snug retail business. Catskill is the next port of call, and there the veteran Henry Hansen will leave his prosperous place to join the crowd, which will surely be augmented by the addition of Brother Snyder, of Rhinebeck. At Kingston Point we remember the Burgevin brothers, and would not be surprised to see them. Their unique range is well worth the time it would take to visit it.



Poughkeepsie follows, and here the genial Saltfords, father and sons, may be seen, busy even in vacation time; and their well kept place rewards their efforts. Conrad C. Gindra is also to be found and most likely will be ready to join the convention party. Across the river is Highland, where A. Ley & Bro. and John Madden grow such fine Adiantum hybridum.

Our boat is now passing New Hamburg, the home of W. P. Clyde, of steamboat fame and an ardent horticulturist, who possesses one of the finest herbaceous gardens on the Hudson.

Directly opposite Newburgh is Beacon, where Benjamin Hammond greets us and offers us the freedom of the commissary department of his establishment. L. Wood, of Wood Bros., accompanied by Samuel Benjamin, joins the party, and as our boat passes Storm King mountain and Cold Spring, where Seymour Cunningham keeps a snug range, we are informed that George Washington once drank at the spring close by the railroad station. Here the famous aqueduct crosses under the river. The next point of interest is West Point, with its immense graystone buildings, now so intensely interesting.

Nearing our journey's end, we pass Tarrytown and Searboro, both associated with the well known name of F. R. Pierson, while beyond Nyack lies the range of Alexander Burns, conceded to be the largest shipper of lilies to Manhattan. Passing the Palisades recalls R. W. Clucus at his extensive nursery at Sparkill. All are pleased to know that he is again convalescent.

On our left we are deeply impressed with the view of the tomb of General Grant, and as our boat threads its way through the fleet of Holland steamers, now lying idle, the sight strengthens the opinion now generally accepted that the outlook for any Dutch bulbs this fall is none too promising; but we are determined to make the best of the situation and take all the pleasure we can while the opportunity offers. With this determination we arrive at our destination, tired but happy. W. M.

This Season's Additions to the Gullett & Sons Range, Lincoln, Ill., Make it a Mammoth Establishment.

NOT CRITICISM, MR. ESLER.

The Review, in a recent issue, arises to remark that "the Florists' Hail Association has never advertised its advantages in such a way as to bring them to the attention of the entire body of the trade.'' Inasmuch as this is a mild criticism of the policy adopted by the board of directors of the F. H. A., a few words of explanation may be necessary.

The F. H. A. is an association which is purely mutual and is operated without profit to any one, because insurance is effected at actual cost. Allow me to ask, for example, if the Editor of The Review were altruistic enough to hand out his advertisements without profit, how much money would he be willing to appropriate to advertise the fact?

To my mind, the directors of the F. H. A. have adopted a wise policy in using the money placed in their trust for the benefit of F. H. A. members, rather than use it in inducing others to share the benefits which the members have been wise enough to secure.

Equitable adjustments, prompt payment of losses and methods of promotion that have never conflicted with the insurance laws of any state, have given exceedingly satisfactory results.

BUFFALO, N. Y.

All those contemplating going to New York for the S. A. F. convention should get in communication with W. H. Eiss, vice-president for Western New York, 568 Washington street, Buffalo. Arrangements will be made to have a special car leave Buffalo Monday, August 20, which will take care of those going from Buffalo, also any who are going from the surrounding towns and from Rochester.

LADIES' S. A. F.

A meeting of the officers and board of directors is called at the Hotel McAlpin, New York city, the headquarters of the society, Tuesday evening, August 21, by order of the president, Miss Fulmer, and Mrs. J. G. Hancock, chairman of the board.

AMERICAN GLADIOLUS SOCIETY.

The eighth annual exhibition and convention of the American Gladiolus Society will be held August 23 to 26 in the Museum building, New York Botanical Garden, Bronx park, New York. The exhibition will be given under the auspices of the New York Botanical Garden, the Horticultural Society of New York and the New York Florists' Club, each organization having contributed to the prize fund. In addition to the general prizes, many special prizes are offered. Schedules may be had on application to the secretary of the Horticultural Society of New York, New York Botanical Garden, Bronx park, New York.

The annual meeting of the American Gladiolus Society will be held at the Museum building, Bronx park, at 2 p. m., August 24. H. Youell, Sec'y.

BUSINESS EMBARRASSMENTS.

Fort Recovery, O.—The Fort Recovery Dahlia Gardens, because of flood losses and other reverses, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy July 28.

Detroit, Mich.—Hugo Schroeter, Inc., has closed its store. The business was started a few years ago as the Schroeter-Stahelin Co., the interested parties being Hugo Schroeter, son of B. Schroeter, one of the oldest and most highly respected Detroit florists, and A. J. Stahelin, a highly successful young grower at Redfield, Mich. The business did not realize the hopes of the founders and in the course of time Mr. Stahelin disposed of his interest and the name of the corporation was changed to Hugo Schroeter, Inc. At that time the corporation was carrying a considerable load of debts and Mr. Schroeter states that it has not been possible to lighten this to any great extent except as he has raised money on his personal credit. ''Among our many creditors,'' says Mr. Schroeter, ''were some who made it possible to accomplish what we did, and to these I wish to say that I regret very much that they should be losers through their continued kindness.'' No court action has been taken; the business simply has been discontinued.

FOUR CLEVELANDERS AT PLAY.

After you have worked hard all winter, spending ten or more hours in the store, hustling out bouquets and designs, and being on the job seven days a week, and then, when summer comes and you have a chance to take a vacation, you go on a fishing trip with some good fellows, and have excellent luck, ''ain't it a grand and glorious feeling?''

The faces of the four Clevelanders shown in the accompanying illustration prove conclusively that they were feeling grand and glorious. They were at Pine lake, which is near Youngstown, O., and assert that during their stay they caught thirty-six black bass and 118 bluegills.

The barefoot fisherman is A. B. Barber, of the Jones-Russell Co., and secretary of the Cleveland Florists' Club; the two in the center are Frank J. Ritzenthaler, of Knoble Bros., and Charles E. Russell, of the Jones-Russell Co.; the other is Frank A. Friedley, who needs no introduction.

Needless to say that these four returned to Cleveland full of energy, and ready for a strenuous season. Work, they say, is worth while when at the end of the season there waits such a vacation as this one.

INDOOR SWEET PEAS.

There is no advantage in sowing the early indoor sweet peas before the middle or end of August. If started too soon, the intense heat half ruins them, and while the flowers may be had as early as October, they are not specially needed so early in the season, when mums and other flowers are abundant. From Thanksgiving onward, however, the market takes to them more kindly. Christmas Pink Spencer sells as well as anything, and if its white companion is also grown you will have two really good varieties. It is true that the old grandiflora varieties will bloom earlier and more abundantly, but their flowers will not command the same prices as the Spencers.

It is no use trying to grow sweet peas in small, narrow, dark and stuffy houses. Give them a house as roomy as possible, with plenty of head room, and remember that they succeed best in solid beds which have been well enriched with rotted cow or horse manure. Start the seeds in flats or pans of clear sand. Plant these out carefully four inches apart in the rows, and if you are growing any new or expensive sorts go to the trouble of potting off the seedlings singly in 2½-inch pots before planting out. You are sure, then, to lose none. Of course, you can sow them directly in the rows, but good winter sweet pea seed is costly, and I think it true economy to start them in sand and transplant them later. Sand gives a better germination than loam.

SPENCERS FOR CHRISTMAS.

Are the new early-flowering Spencer sweet peas, like Early Morning Star, Early Heather Bell, etc., suitable for winter growing? If so, when should they be planted to flower by Christmas?

R. E. M.—Okla.

Yes. Sow early in September for a Christmas crop.

C. W.

HOME-GROWN SWEET PEA SEED.

There are some good looking ripe seeds on my Spencer sweet pea vines and I should like to know what success I am likely to have if I plant these seeds the coming season. A. S.—Ill.

There is no reason why your sweet pea seeds should not prove perfectly satisfactory, and if you are growing only one or two special varieties they should come fairly true to color—more so, perhaps, than many which are sold.

C. W.

APHIS ON SWEET PEAS.

Will you please tell me what will destroy aphis on outdoor sweet peas? I have sprayed them with common soap and with fish oil soap, but the blooms were injured so badly as to be worthless. E. A. P.—Md.

Try nicotine, which will reach the pest better than any other insecticide. Use it according to the printed instructions on the cans. There are several excellent brands of liquid nicotine on the market. Spray in the evening, not when the sun is shining, and syringe with cold water early the next morning.

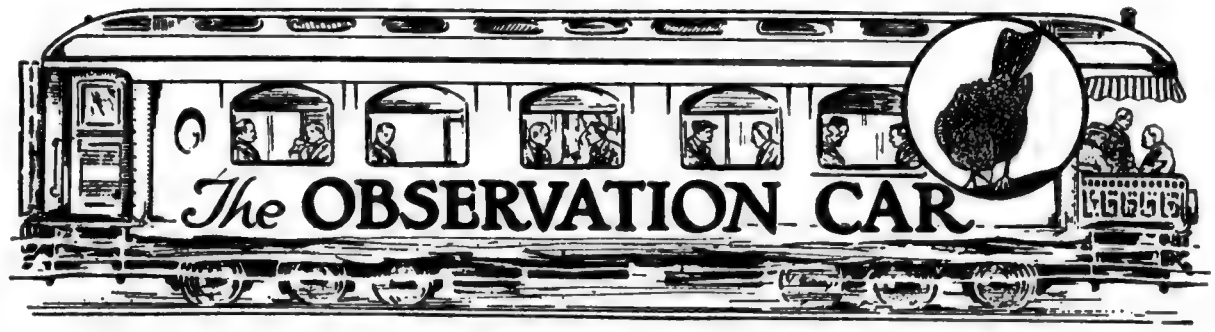
C. W.

GARDENIAS FOR CHRISTMAS.

Please tell me how to grow gardenias so as to have them in bloom by December. I tried them this season and they did not bloom until April. I planted them in the bed at the end of June and they grew well and made a great many buds by November. I then took off all surplus shoots around the buds, expecting to have plenty of blooms for Christmas, but from that time on they did not do well. In March the buds began to swell. I kept them in a temperature of 70 to 72 degrees. Is it customary to disbud these plants? I have 400 plants and from the middle of April I have been cutting from 100 to 200 blooms per day, but at that date they are too late to be of much value in the trade. Would you advise carrying over the old plants for another year?

C. J. R.—Ga.

Gardenias are by no means an easy crop to flower for the holidays. The soil should be quite porous, so that water passes readily through it, and should consist of fibrous loam with the finer particles screened out, dried cow manure well broken up and partly decayed leaves. Some coarse sand also should be added, especially if the loam is heavy, to give the soil more porosity. A few growers succeed in flowering gardenias well in solid beds, but I have had the best success with them in raised benches, with heating pipes running below them to give a little bottom heat. I prefer to use from four and one-half to five inches of soil and do the benching in June.



Your winter temperature of 70 to 72 degrees is too high for night. At night 62 to 65 degrees is ample and on severe nights 60 degrees is better. Ventilate a little when the temperature gets up to 72 degrees on cloudy days or 75 degrees with sun. Gardenias need careful watering to avoid a loss of buds. It is a safe plan to allow the benches to dry out tolerably well between waterings. Give the plants a thorough syringing twice a week even in midwinter, to keep them clean, selecting clear mornings for the work. Lighter sprayings may be given at shutting-up time in the afternoon.

Gardenias will bloom earlier in pots than in benches. Last season I had a batch in 8-inch pots which started to bloom about November 20 and gave a fine Christmas crop. These same plants bloomed profitably until May 20. They were grown in a house with poinsettias and begonias, where the average minimum in winter was 55 degrees, and occasionally lower. I think you kept your plants too close and warm. Keep them somewhat cooler and air more freely and you should get much earlier flowers.

Some Well Known Chicagoans Take an Afternoon Off.

With liberty loans, war taxes and other big figures goes the information that the Poehlmann Bros. Co., of Chicago, uses 39,000 tons of soft coal during the season.

Growers at Philadelphia were puzzled last week by the receipt of printed forms from the government asking them as to their fuel supply. "With whom have you placed your contract?" was the question that bothered the growers most. How much and what kind of coal the different industries require is probably what the government is driving at.

Paul Janisch, of the Broad Ripple Floral Co., Indianapolis, recently purchased an automobile. Since then he has been purchasing liberty bonds. No, not the kind that bears interest at the rate of three and one-half per cent, but the kind that gets one what the word implies, freedom. Twice he has been arrested for speeding; a like number of times he has engaged in disputes with policemen about how long his car has been parked. Not unlike his great namesake, Paul, the evangelist, Paul now preaches many sermons, but without exception they are on one subject—policemen.

Sam Seligman went fishing to rest. Asked how he managed to do both at one time, Sam replied: "I had plenty of time to rest while fishing, because the big fish didn't bother me much; I only had to wake up now and then to throw a minnow back into the water."

It sounds almost too good to be true, but it is fact that the H. Weber & Sons Co., at Oakland, Md., heats its houses with natural gas, of which there is an abundance, and when it becomes so cold that coal is necessary—why, the local miners are glad to furnish the article at $1.50 per ton. (Printer, set that $1.50, not $3.50.)

Some men are born wealthy, some achieve wealth, while others have wealth thrust upon them. Several years ago Charles Thorley, the New York retailer, had a lease on a store where now stands the Times building. He is said to have received $30,000 a year for the surrender of the lease. Now the building at Fifth avenue and Forty-sixth street, known as the "Thorley corner," has been sold, and Mr. Thorley is found to be the possessor of another lease. It appears certain that lightning will strike in the same place a second time.

It sounds almost too good to be true, but it is fact that the H. Weber & Sons Co., at Oakland, Md., heats its houses with natural gas, of which there is an abundance, and when it becomes so cold that coal is necessary—why, the local miners are glad to furnish the article at $1.50 per ton. (Printer, set that $1.50, not $3.50.)

Some men are born wealthy, some achieve wealth, while others have wealth thrust upon them. Several years ago Charles Thorley, the New York retailer, had a lease on a store where now stands the Times building. He is said to have received $30,000 a year for the surrender of the lease. Now the building at Fifth avenue and Forty-sixth street, known as the "Thorley corner," has been sold, and Mr. Thorley is found to be the possessor of another lease. It appears certain that lightning will strike in the same place a second time.

NEW YORK.

The Market.

The extreme heat of the first five days of last week paralyzed the cut flower business. However, relief came August 3, in the shape of a violent thunder storm accompanied by hail. There practically was no demand for stock of any variety until August 4, when the wholesalers cleaned up fairly well at good prices.

The prices of orchids and longiflorum lilies advanced during the week. Good gigas sold for 75 cents and $1 each Saturday. The supply is limited, and so is the demand. Lilies ranged from $3 to $6 per hundred, while some of the selected stock sold at even higher prices.

The effects of the heat were shown in the shipments of roses received during the week. Almost every rose that arrived was open. Thousands were sold at 25 and 50 cents per hundred, and other thousands found no buyers. The few good roses that arrived sold readily at satisfactory prices. American Beauties were scarce. Good flowers sold as high as $25 per hundred August 4. Good white roses were in demand, but the supply was short.

There were few carnations in the market. Those that did arrive did not bring more than $1 per hundred. Valley was scarce and selected stock sold as high as $6 per hundred. The demand was light. The market already is flooded with asters, but the best flowers sold at $4 per hundred. The great mass of asters, however, brought only $1 and $1.50 per hundred. Gladioli, also, are in big supply, with a light demand. They sold at $1 per hundred. There is a great abundance of summer flowers.

The demand at the nearby summer resorts is light. In the city and Brooklyn retailers are doing little besides funeral work.

Various Notes.

The hail storm August 3 did considerable damage to greenhouse ranges in the neighborhood of New York. The Rose Hill Nurseries at New Rochelle lost 3,000 panes of glass. Outdoor stock also suffered.

The last regular meeting of the New York Florists' Club before the S. A. F. convention will be held Monday evening, August 13, at the club's rooms in the Grand Opera House building. There will be exhibits of gladioli and final arrangements for the convention will be made.

Philip F. Kessler is handling the cut of 35,000 lilies at the Charles Smith's Sons place. They are exceptionally fine and bring high prices. The cut is from 1,000 bulbs. After the S. A. F. convention, Mr. Kessler will go to his summer home in the Adirondack mountains to stay until October.

William Hackland, who has been with the New York Cut Flower Co. for many years, has been appointed secretary-treasurer of the company, filling the vacancy made by the death of George W. Hillman in July. Percy Richters, who has fully recovered from an attack of pneumonia, has been appointed assistant bookkeeper.

R. J. Irwin was in Boston last week and is at Montreal this week attending the convention of the Canadian Horticultural Society. A. L. Rickards, of the Irwin force, is making a southern trip.

Robert D. MacNiff and family are spending the summer at Callicoon, N. Y. The Misses Mae and B. Ward, Florence Gallagher and E. Romanik and Messrs. Wells, Jacobs, Gallagher, Kratsch, Larsen, and Charles and David MacNiff, of the MacNiff force, also are on vacations.

The building in which is Charles Thorley's flower store, 562 Fifth avenue, has been sold, but Mr. Thorley is protected by a lease that has several years to run.

One of the victims of the heat July 31 was Albert E. Wilson, who for many years had a flower stand at Thirty-third street and Eighth avenue. Mr. Wilson was 68 years of age and was well known among the members of the trade.

J. K. Allen, P. J. Smith and Walter Sheridan were among the New York wholesalers who attended the outing of the Essex county, N. J., florists August 1. There were 200 present and all had a good time, Mr. Allen says.

Crystal White was seen at J. J. Coan's last week. The flowers were grown by Baer Bros., at New Hyde Park.

Patrick Donegan, with M. C. Ford, is at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., for three weeks; Matthew Sampson, with Noe & Co., is at Cape Vincent, N. Y., for two weeks; N. Bernstein, manager for Gunther Bros., is at Rockaway Beach, and B. Rosens and Mrs. Rosens are on a week's motor trip in the Catskills, while their sons Adolph, Herman and Leo Rosens are at Mr. Rosens' new villa at Rockaway, L. I.

Paul A. Rigo, manager of the Henshaw Floral Co., and his family have returned from Cape Elizabeth, Me., where they spent a two weeks' vacation.

The eighth annual exhibition of the American Gladiolus Society will be held at the Museum building, Bronx park, August 23 to 26. The exhibition will be under the auspices of the New York Florists' Club, the New York Botanical Garden and the Horticultural Society of New York. There will be liberal prizes.

The popular varieties of gladioli in the New York market this season are America, Afterglow, Peace, Prosperity, Crystal White, Dawn, Peachblow, La Luna and Chicago White.

The Convention Garden, Bronx park, is rapidly rounding into form and will be one of the points of interest for the visitors to the S. A. F. convention. About twenty of the leading growers will be represented there. The space in the Grand Central Palace allotted to the trade exhibitors is nearly all engaged. Forty separate exhibits have been booked, the leading firms of the country are participating and all branches of the trade will be represented.

Frank Millang, Jr., again is at his place in the Coogan building. The injury to his foot, which kept him at his farm at Somers, N. Y., is cured.

Ex-President Richard Vincent, Jr., of the S. A. F., White Marsh, Md., and Albert Herr, Lancaster, Pa., with their families, have engaged rooms at the Woodstock hotel for convention week.

Employees of William Elliott & Sons are alternating their vacations. Miss Lillian Kunath, the cashier, returned July 29; P. Liggett is now away and upon his return, August 12, Miss Sternberg will leave for two weeks.

Charles Schaimel, of M. C. Ford's force, and his family have returned from a two weeks' vacation.

L. B. Coddington, Murray Hill, N. J., is daily sending thousands of roses to H. E. Froment.

J. Austin Shaw.

Haarlem, Holland.—The General Bulb Growers' Society has continued its meetings with regularity this year and during the blooming season made many awards to a considerable number of novelties.

Haarlem, Holland.—It is the opinion of the most conservative men in the bulb trade that prices will be high for some seasons after the war. There has been some reduction in acreage this season and if conditions go on as at present indicated there will be a steady curtailment of production as long as the war lasts. This reduction, of course, is of the cheaper varieties, as it takes as much land and care to grow cheap varieties as it does to grow those that represent more money. When the war ends it will take some time to restore stocks and production to the level of recent years and the demand is likely to increase at least as fast as the supply, especially in view of the fact that the markets of England, France and Germany now are closed and are pretty sure to stay so as long as the war lasts.

Sassenheim, Holland.—The market is fairly stiff on the popular varieties of tulip, partly perhaps because all other commodities are high, but also partly because of decreased supply. Word comes from various points in the bulb district of small growers who plowed up their patches of the cheaper bulbs in spring while there still was time to plant cabbage or potatoes.

London, England.—The British Wholesale Florists' Federation has been urging its members to assist in the production of food and the secretary states that in many places under glass, ferns, flowers, etc., have given place to tomatoes, cucumbers, lettuces, early potatoes, and many millions of vegetable seedlings for the use of war-time gardeners. While retaining stocks of flowering subjects for future development and keeping up a modest supply for the florists' shops (most of the flowers go to military and civil hospitals), flower growers are greatly increasing the supply of food, notwithstanding the shortage of labor.

OBITUARY

M. Rozain-Boucharlat.

Word comes from France of the death of M. Rozain-Boucharlat, of Lyons. A generation ago his was a familiar name to chrysanthemum growers. Etoile de Lyon was probably the largest Japanese chrysanthemum ever raised up to the time of its introduction in 1888. It was in the same nursery that the famous Mme. Castex Desgranges was raised. Deceased, who was a prominent man in the Lyons world of horticulture, was 68 years old. Chrysanthemums, dahlias and pelargoniums were his specialties.

Heinrich Auguste Jahn.

H. A. Jahn, of New Bedford, Mass., whose death occurred in that city August 4, was one of Massachusetts' pioneer carnation hybridizers, and was well known to many growers. He was 59 years of age. One of his introductions, Jahn's Scarlet, was introduced a number of years ago. He also originated other varieties and of late years he and his estimable wife had specialized in dahlias. The writer had known Mr. Jahn for twenty years and found him to be an excellent botanist, a good grower and one who took a wholesouled delight in his calling. His passing will bring pangs of regret to many.

W. N. C.

J. C. Elspermann.

The Evansville, Ind., trade has lost one of its veterans in the death August 7 of J. C. Elspermann. The decedent, who was 60 years of age and had suffered from a complication of diseases for many years, was taken suddenly ill July 28, and it was soon evident that it would be his last.

Mr. Elspermann was born at St. Joseph, Ind., and at the age of 14 began his career as a florist under the tutelage of J. D. Carmody, of Evansville, one of the pioneer members of the S. A. F. Some years later Mr. Elspermann began a business for himself, and in this he was said to be most successful. He is survived by his wife, one daughter and three sons, Joseph, Carl and Theodore, who will continue the business. E. L. F.

ST. LOUIS.

The Market.

There was a small supply of stock arriving in the market last week, but as business was light it was adequate for the demand. Funeral work and an occasional sale of cut flowers, or a basket, was all that was doing at the retail stores.

Some really good quality white and purple asters reached the market last week and found a demand. Large consignments of gladioli came daily from local growers. They also were in demand, especially the lighter shades. Choice stock sold for $4 and $5 per hundred. Carnations still are arriving, but they are of poor quality.

Quantities of short-stemmed roses are coming in. They are usually of poor quality and bring low prices. Easter lilies are selling well and usually clean up. Valley continues scarce, and there are no good sweet peas. A few dahlias and cosmos are coming in. Larkspurs, gypsophilas, phloxes and candytuft are in good supply and are in demand. There is plenty of green to be had at all times.

Various Notes.

The regular meeting of the St. Louis County Growers' Association was held August 1. The trustees were instructed to arrange for the annual outing, which will be held during August, the date not being fixed. There was considerable discussion regarding the meeting of the S. A. F. and the National Flower Show to be held in St. Louis next April. The association declared it would lend all assistance possible to make the show a success.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Berning left August 1 for Colorado. They will be gone several weeks. During Mr. Berning's absence, the store will be in charge of Otto Bruenig assisted by John Erlinger.

Peter Fender, one of Manager Westmann's standbys in Vandervoort's floral department, has joined the army and expects to be called soon. His departure will leave John Kern and Miss Ostertag Mr. Westmann's only assistants.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gorly left August 3 for Mackinac Island, Mich., where they will stay until time to go to the S. A. F. convention in New York city. Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Gorly have returned from the northern resorts where they spent several weeks.

P. Patton, of the Wm. C. Smith Wholesale Floral Co., has been on the sick list for a week, and the doctor has ordered him to take a rest for two weeks in the country.

Fred Michels, head of George Waldbart's designing department, has returned from a three weeks' eastern trip. Count von Hoffmann, with his family, left August 4 for a ten days' trip to the Thousand Islands, N. Y. David Banzhoff will be the next of the store's force to go on his vacation.

George Schmidt, in charge of the rose houses at the W. J. Pilcher range at Kirkwood, says his stock is in fine shape, especially the Russells and Hadleys.

H. J. Heinicke, of Cornell University, Dr. Norman E. Pfeiffer, of the University of North Dakota, Prof. B. S. Brown, head of the department of horticulture at the University of Maine, and Mrs. Flora W. Patterson, of the Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture, spent several days recently at the Missouri Botanical Garden.

Alexander Lurie, with a number of students at the Missouri Botanical Garden, recently visited Indianapolis, Ind., Barberton, Akron and Cleveland, O., Detroit, Chicago and Milwaukee, studying landscape gardening.

Robert Holm, until recently in the designing department at the Fred C. Weber store, is now with Grimm & Gorly.

Martin Seeger and N. Kingsley, heads of the Mullanphy Florists, will leave on a vacation the last of this week.

President Fred H. Weber announces that the next meeting of the Retail Florists' Association will be held August 20 at the Mission Inn Garden, outdoors, if the weather permits.

The Riessen Floral Co., on South Broadway, reports it had some heavy funeral orders last week. Edward Bueschel, head of the company, expects to visit friends in Sedalia and Joplin the last of the month.

Albert Gumz, of the Windler Wholesale Floral Co., is again at the store, his broken rib having mended. Both he and Frank Windler escaped the first draft, their numbers having been among the last. Some good quality summer stock from the W. A. Rowe establishment at Kirkwood was handled by the company last week.

William Smith has been supplying his force with fresh vegetables from his farm, to which he makes daily trips by auto.

Fred Alves, of the George H. Angermueller force, expects to make a trip to California, where he will remain until fall. He believes the climate will benefit his rheumatic arm, which has given him much trouble lately.

The meetings of the Lady Florists' Home Circle have been abandoned during the summer. The first meeting in the fall will be held at the home of Mrs. John L. Koenig.

C. E. De Wever, of Olivette, is cutting some extra fine gladioli, thanks to his Skinner irrigation system.

The August meeting of the St. Louis Florists' Club, which was to have been held at Edward Denker's place in St. Charles August 9, was held aboard the city harbor boat Erastus Wells, instead. The club members were the guests of Park Superintendent Strehle. A trip to Chain of Rocks park was made.

Hugo Werner, of Werner Bros., and George Berner, the well known retailer, became benedicts last week. Their many friends in the trade extend congratulations.

Mrs. Carew Sanders, widow of the late Carew Sanders and mother of C. C. Sanders, died at her home, 5738 Vernon avenue, at the age of 89 years. Funeral services were held from the home August 4, six grandsons acting as pallbearers. Mrs. Sanders' husband was one of the pioneer florists and nurserymen of St. Louis, starting in business in 1859 with Norman J. Coleman. She is survived by a daughter and three sons. Four of the grandsons, Oliver K., Frank, Edgar and Walter Sanders, are well known in the florists' trade. Friends sent many beautiful floral offerings.

George Asmus, of Chicago, chairman of the National Flower Show committee, and S. S. Pennock, of Philadelphia, representing the American Rose Society, were in St. Louis last week, making preliminary arrangements for the National Flower Show to be held next April. They met the local committees and discussed plans for the show. Mr. Asmus also conferred with L. P. Jensen, chairman of the grounds committee, which has in charge the erection of the building to house the show. This will be next to Moolah Temple, where the S. A. F. meetings and trade exhibition will be held.

FORCED PAMPAS GRASS.

What are the names of the varieties of green and white or green and red pampas grass, such as are forced for Christmas?

G. A.—O.

Cortaderia, or Gynerium argenteum, is the pampas grass of horticulture. There is a variegated form in commerce. I have never heard of this particular grass being forced for Christmas, or any other occasion. It is a grass of robust habit. Have you the right plant in mind? I doubt if the cortaderias would be of any value for Christmas. C. W.

SOCIETY OF AMERICAN FLORISTS.
Incorporated by Act of Congress, March 4, 1901. Officers for 1917: President, Robert C. Kerr, Houston, Tex.; vice-president, A. L. Miller, Jamaica, N. Y.; secretary, John Young, 53 W. 28th St., New York City; treasurer, J. J. Hess, Omaha, Neb.

Thirty-third annual convention, New York, N. Y., August 21 to 24, 1917.

RESULTS.
We give them. You get them.
We both have them.

DURING this season of quiet business, prepare for the rush that is to come soon.

BECAUSE of the high cost of galvanized wire, some of those who manufacture carnation supports as a side line have discontinued the business.

DURING the next to the last week in August, much money received for floral decorations will be used to decorate the gay white way in New York city.

THIS is the open season for the coal mine operators. Several of the states have organized posses to hunt them down, and the public is cheering them on.

IT is predicted that the war will eliminate many unnecessary things. Florists, think of the man who manufactures the furs that women wear in the summer!

NECESSITY is not only the mother of invention, but is a teacher of floriculture. Witness the successful experiments American florists are making in growing stock heretofore imported.

WHILE there has been no program of entertainment provided for the visitors to the S. A. F. convention, Secretary John Young intimates that the New Yorkers are most hospitable fellows.

MANY a man in the trade who tries to save money seems to think the way to do it is to withhold it from his creditors; that perhaps is an easier course than to deny himself habitual indulgence, personal or business, until the saving, applied to the debts and to the accumulation of capital, has secured financial safety.

THE call for field-grown carnation plants, like many other items of stock, is later than usual this year.

GLADIOLI now are coming into the cut flower markets in considerable quantity, the season for them being three or four weeks later than usual.

THE second preliminary schedule of the Fifth National Flower Show, to be held at St. Louis, April 6 to 15, 1918, has been issued. Copies may be obtained by addressing John Young, secretary, 53 West Twenty-eighth street, New York city.

PLEASE NOTE.

Each week a number of letters containing advertising instructions reach The Review while the paper is on the press—just a few hours earlier and they would have had attention a week sooner than is possible.

It is the aim to give prompt service, but to secure it advertisers should note: "It is impossible to guarantee the insertion, discontinuance or alteration of any advertisement unless instructions are received by 4 p. m. Tuesday."

IT DELIVERS THE GOODS.

The Review each week acts as a traveling salesman for hundreds of individuals and concerns who have something they want to sell to florists. But The Review is many times as efficient as one salesman, or a group of salesmen, because it calls on more than 12,000 florists each week, a task that would tax the speed of the speediest bunch of traveling men. It not only calls on florists, but it sells them the goods. Here is the proof:

Please discontinue our begonia ad in the Classified columns. We sold 8,000 of them in four weeks.—G. M. Reburn & Co., Chicago, Ill., August 4, 1917.

Discontinue our ad in The Florists' Review, as our stock of Sprengeri, smilax and mums is about sold ont. The writer must say that the insertion in your paper certainly brought good results.—The Miami Floral Co., A. A. Kramer, manager, Dayton, O., August 3, 1917.

When you hear a man complain of the cost of advertising, you can be pretty certain he spends a good bit of money elsewhere than in The Review.

MR. PEABODY ON THE DEFENSIVE.

In recent issues The Review has published correspondence with F. S. Peabody, chairman of the committee on coal production of the Council of National Defense. The Review is only one of many challenging the action of the committee as a party in the fixing of coal prices, as the daily press, which at first heralded a reduction, has come to the view held by The Review from the first, that Mr. Peabody and his committee of coal men were playing into the hands of the trade from which they were chosen. The result of the weight of criticism has been to place Mr. Peabody on the defensive. Where he challenged The Review's early statement that prices had been fixed but not reduced, he now writes as follows:

The object of establishing tentative maximum prices was to reduce the price of coal in the east, which from consumers bidding one against the other, had reached abnormal levels, being as high as $6 and $7 a ton at the mine, and to prevent the prices in the central and western parts of the country from going higher. This could only be done by the voluntary offer of operators to recognize any tentative prices that might be established, pending an investigation by the Federal Trade Commission as to the cost of production in the various producing districts.

There have been such marked increases in the cost of production during the last year, through increased labor expense and increased cost of all material used, such as steel rails, copper wire, powder, mining machinery, etc., and increases in the overhead expenses, which through light operating time, on account of inadequate car supply, have materially increased the cost per ton, that it was deemed wise to make these prices tentative until an investigation should determine whether any changes are to be made.

I am not prepared at this time to say that the tentative prices established are correct in all cases, but I do know that this action resulted in radical reductions in the eastern producing districts and prevented prices from going higher in the central and western parts. I have since had complaints from several operators that the prices established are less than their actual cost of production.

So utterly opposed to Mr. Peabody's statement of facts is the Illinois committee of the Council of National Defense, on which coal consumers have representation, that the state legislature is being asked to regulate the price of fuel in Illinois.

THE WANT AD DEPARTMENT.

No doubt you have noted the business-like appearance of the Wanted and For Sale department of The Review; small type, compactly spaced, as many opportunities as it is possible to put on the pages. Opportunities to buy, to sell and to hire. It works quickly, like this:

Stop the ad; I have sold the boiler; the first insertion did it.—L. D. Fisher, Sterling, Kan., July 26, 1917.

If you have nothing to offer in the Wants and For Sale, watch what the other man offers.

VACATION TIME.

Hundreds of those actively engaged in the florists' business are now away on their vacations and, as would be expected of those handling the products of nature, a great majority are spending their play time in the country, or at the lake or sea shore. They are taking advantage of the dull summer months to get fit and full of energy for the activities of the months of winter. The busy season means long hours of strenuous work for florists, but just now they are reaping the benefits of their labor and are enjoying their vacations with the freedom that comes only from knowing that their rest has been earned, and that there is nothing calling them back to work.

CHICAGO.

The Market.

Business continues to hold up satisfactorily in the wholesale cut flower market. Taken by and large, the quality of the stock for this season of the year is good and no general oversupply can be complained of. In fact, with the latter days of last week a decided shortening of stock, and especially of roses, was felt. With carnations practically out, this shortage of good roses was instrumental in increasing the demand for gladioli and asters, which are of good quality and now arrive in ample quantities, and for other summer stock, large shipments of which were moved at satisfactory prices. The market continued strong August 6, but a falling off in demand took place August 7.

There are only a few American Beauties obtainable, and what stock arrives is disposed of without difficulty. Of the other varieties of roses there is a marked scarcity of the better qualities, most of the stock being of the shorter grades. Russell continues in popularity and has a good sale. There is a scarcity of White Killarney. A few low-grade

The Newest "Glads" are Here in Quantity

IT is our belief that nowhere in America is there so fine a lot of cut Gladiolus flowers. We have every day in quantity (at $5.00 per 100) such new varieties as Myrtle, Pendleton, Peace, Gold, Pride of Haarlem, Halley, Primulinus Hybrids and many of Kunderd's new unnamed waved seedlings—also King, America and the old favorites. Order 25 of each and judge their merit.

SUMMER ROSES

We are now ready with large crops of fine Ophelia, Milady, Sunburst, Ward and Hoosier Beauty, cut from young plants—and of course we have the usual large daily supply of Mrs. Russell.

Plenty of Short Roses, good stock, our selection of varieties, at $15.00 per 1000

ASTERS IN ALL COLORS

We now have a complete stock of Asters, all colors and all sizes, small flowers for work or big, fancy flowers for the best purposes; prices from $1.00 to $4.00 per 100.

AMERICAN BEAUTIES

A large stock of long-stemmed Beauties that are fine quality for the season, and a large crop of short Beauties cut from young plants.

VALLEY
We never are without it.

LILIES
Large supply, fine flowers.

NEW FERNS, $1.50 per 1000

No shortage here. Order and we ship at once.

BRONZE GALAX, $1.50 per 1000 carnations still arrive, but on the whole they are not suitable for shipping purposes.

The most important of the summer flowers are gladioli and asters. Of the former some especially fine stock is seen and large quantities are being moved daily. Mrs. King is not arriving in large quantities as yet, but sells well. America, which arrives in more abundant numbers, is also a favorite with the trade. The novelties sell well. Although it is claimed the recent heat wave has somewhat impaired the quality of the asters, some good stock is, nevertheless, arriving and finds a ready market. In fact, there can be no real complaint on the quality of the asters of the last week.

The heat also has made itself felt on sweet peas, and what stock arrives is mostly of inferior quality. Orchids and valley both remain on the short side of the market. Easter lilies are plentiful, as are rubrums, but both act rather lethargic. The first of the outdoor crop of stocks is arriving. Shasta daisies are plentiful, but more slowly. Gypsophila and feverfew are in good demand. There is plenty of candytuft, but not much call for it. Centaurea moves slowly. Snapdragons are of poor quality and do not sell well.

The Fuel Problem.

Growers are not finding it easier to buy coal. The fuel is to be had, but the price is firm at $2.75 per ton for Franklin county, mine run. Many of the large users are holding off, in the hope that the agitation now in progress will result in lower prices; the public is aroused and the daily papers are full of coal-price denunciation. Poehlmann Bros. Co., the largest user in the trade, has made no provision for winter, taking in only its daily needs. A. F. Poehlmann stated August 6 that the company burned 39,000 tons of coal in the last year. He said that he believes he will wait another month before beginning to store coal for winter, unless prices come down in the meantime. At the Poehlmann establishment coal is handled much cheaper than at most other places, as it is dumped from an elevated switch and travels by mechanical means to and into the boilers, materially reducing the labor required.

Three Birthdays.

The dean of the Chicago market contingent, F. F. Benthey, passed another milestone Sunday. He was born August 5, 1850, so he's 67.

G. Swenson, the Elmhurst grower, observes August 6. Having been born in 1844, he is 73. He is said to be looking for a favorable opportunity to sell out and retire.

August Lange was born in Germany, August 7, 1868. He gets so much fun out of his business he can't keep away from the store, even on Sundays.

Various Notes.

July was a favorable month for the growers; the percentage of possible sunshine was seventy-one, exactly normal; the mean temperature, 72 degrees, was 6 degrees below normal; the precipitation, 2.68 inches, was more than last July, but an inch less than normal.

August Poehlmann, Wm. J. Keimel, Philip Foley, John Stuppy, of St. Joseph, Mo., and John Furrow, of Guthrie, Okla., drove to Lake Geneva, Wis., August 8 for a day and a half of fishing.

famous as the originator of the ruffled gladiolus, has arranged with the E. C. Amling Co. to market the blooms cut from his large field of new seedlings under trial.

Russell is doing exceptionally well at Peter Reinberg's greenhouses this summer, and Peter Schousboe, foreman, is greatly pleased with the cut he is obtaining.

R. E. Kurowski will go to New York next week to have a day or two at the eastern office of the Moninger Co., and to represent the home office at the convention, where a display will be made.

The entire third floor of the LeMoyne building is being made ready for use as show rooms by the A. L. Randall Co. In addition to this large space, the company will continue to use as a show room a large portion of the second floor, whereon are also located the office and cut flower department.

Kennicott Bros. Co., is receiving the shipments of T. H. Fuller, of Battle Creek, Mich., well-known gladiolus specialist and president of the Battle Creek Horticultural Society. Among the shipments received daily are some of Mr. Fuller's prize-winning varieties. This is the first year that Mr. Fuller has shipped to the Chicago market.

The first calla bulbs of the season last week were placed in the window of the American Bulb Co. They were shipped by the company's representative, Robert Newcomb, who has been on the coast several weeks. Mr. Newcomb now is in Texas, on his way home.

E. C. Amling, C. J. Michelsen and Mr. Amling's son-in-law, Rev. Bailey, went to Minong, Wis., August 6 to spend two or three days at a camp maintained there by Elmhurst fishermen. Eugene Dramm, of Meyer & Dramm Co., is one of the party that went north a few days ago. The camp is fifty miles from Duluth.

Miss G. Harper, of Bassett & Washburn, left on a three weeks' vacation August 4. Hugh Woell, of the same firm, has left for a two weeks' trip to New York.

Miss Nettie Parker, secretary of A. T. Pyfer & Co., accompanied by her sister, left on a circle tour of the east August 4. Miss Parker expects to be away about three weeks and will be in New York for the S. A. F. convention.

F. G. Healy, manager of the Rapid Wrapper Co., is back from a three weeks' vacation spent at his home town, Mazomanie, Wis.

PHILADELPHIA.

The Market.

The torrid wave has passed, leaving its mark in business conditions. While the extreme heat lasted business fell off, almost ceased. When the heat began to abate business improved, as normal conditions returned. The heavy mortality was a factor.

Good flowers, flowers that have been faithfully cared for throughout all the changes of weather, are none too plentiful. The tendency is downward as the crops pass and the heat stays. The moderate number of really good flowers are much sought, while the far larger number of medium and poor-grade flowers are difficult to sell. The early asters are retrograding, with a few exceptions. Gladioli have suffered from the heat. The finer varieties, such as America, Augusta, Panama and Mrs. Francis King, are pretty fair and are in demand, but the poorer mixed sorts are of no account and prove only a waste of time to grow.

The Easter lily market has undergone a complete change. Probably no more complete change could occur in one week. When the week opened they were in heavy supply, with few buyers. The price was $5 to $6 per hundred on ordinary stock. Most of the sales were in small lots and many flowers were left unsold. There were a few large sales at $45 per thousand. As the week progressed the buying became more active, largely influenced by funeral orders. The surplus was consumed. The lilies were bought as they reached the city. The price advanced to $8 a hundred, sometimes $70 per thousand. This advance from $6 to $8 gives but a faint idea of the real difference. There were but few sold at $6, while there were many sold at $8. When $6 was top, the average price was somewhat near $3.50; when $8 was top, the average price was near $7.25 to $7.50.

Roses suffered a good deal from the heat, the old stock particularly. It was also extremely difficult to get them to the customers in the proper condition. Much stock that was fairly good when cut flew open. Still, the best summer varieties of roses fared pretty well.

While there are other flowers to be found on the price list for this city, the few mentioned above cover the greater part of the trading. With them most of the orders are filled; the others simply lend variety. They hardly deserve special mention beyond saying that they can usually be obtained in moderate numbers when ordered ahead of time.

have you placed your contract?'' This is looked upon as a piece of meddling, or even worse, but was probably merely intended to aid in working up statistics. Every florist should do his utmost to aid his country in getting this information and getting it correctly.

that what prompted this article is that in going about I have asked some of the younger men in the business why they were not more regularly in attendance at the club meetings. Their answers have been that there was "nothing to interest them" at the meetings.

Now, this brings up the question: What is the object of the club? When the club first was organized its object was to provide a place where the florists could meet, and by discussion and interchange of experiences help each other in conducting their businesses. This object has been and still is carried out, but the business has grown so, would it not be well to introduce new methods in the club, the same as we have in our business? Perhaps the club has not kept pace with the modern methods introduced into the business, but it is well to remember that the young fellows know nothing else but these new methods, and expect the same thing at the club meetings.

Never Too Old to Learn.

Last winter we had a course of lectures by good men. I may speak particularly of one by Prof. Anspan, of the Maryland State Agricultural College. His subject was "Landscape Gardening as Applied to the Home," illustrated with stereopticon views, which made it practical, indeed. As I listened to the lecture, looked at the views and noted the rapt attention such men as Isaac H. Moss were paying, I recalled a favorite expression of William D. Brackenbridge. When he was about 80 years of age he heard a young fellow who was conveying the impression that he knew it all. Then the veteran remarked: "Young man, I have worked with flowers and trees all of my life, and I am still only an apprentice." When a man who was picked to go out with the Wilkes expedition as botanist for the Smithsonian Institution, and was one of the men who started the Botanical Gardens in Washington, has such a humble opinion of his abilities as a florist, there is surely none of us too old or too wise to learn.

How would it do this winter to elaborate a little on this lecture feature; have some good man for, say, about an hour each club night give a talk on some phase of the florists' business in which he is known to have been commercially successful? If it is possible, let these talks be illustrated, for, in my opinion, there is nothing that helps like a picture.

Think this over, and let us have some talks this winter on, say, decorations, funeral work and bridal bouquets as well as growing.

Study the Trade Paper.

Speaking of the value of pictures, in my own experience, when I was starting in the decorating end of the business, I remember how I looked in The Review for illustrations, and studied them to see where I might make an improvement on some other man's work. I have often gone into some empty church where I would have a job for a wedding with an illustration gotten from one of the trade journals in my mind, and with it for a working basis, studied the chancel—this perhaps a week before the wedding. During that week I would add to or take from the original plan, always keeping in my mind's eye the finished job. When the day for the actual work came around I had only to put the material in place.

It is often the work of the floral decorator to cover some unsightly spot, but it is just as much his business to be on the lookout for some piece of furniture, ornament or fixture that he can bring out to better advantage.

I recall a job at the old Baltimore Club that attracted a great deal of attention. It was for an "open house" on New Year's day, and let me say right here that building tried the patience of a decorator. In one of the lounging rooms there was a large English fireplace with a huge mantel above it. Over the mantel there was as fine a specimen of an elk's head as I had ever seen mounted, the antlers being especially good. With plants arranged on this mantel, it gave the effect of an elk peering through the foliage in a forest. This bit of the decoration attracted more attention than anything else in the house that day, and it was the elk's head that did it.

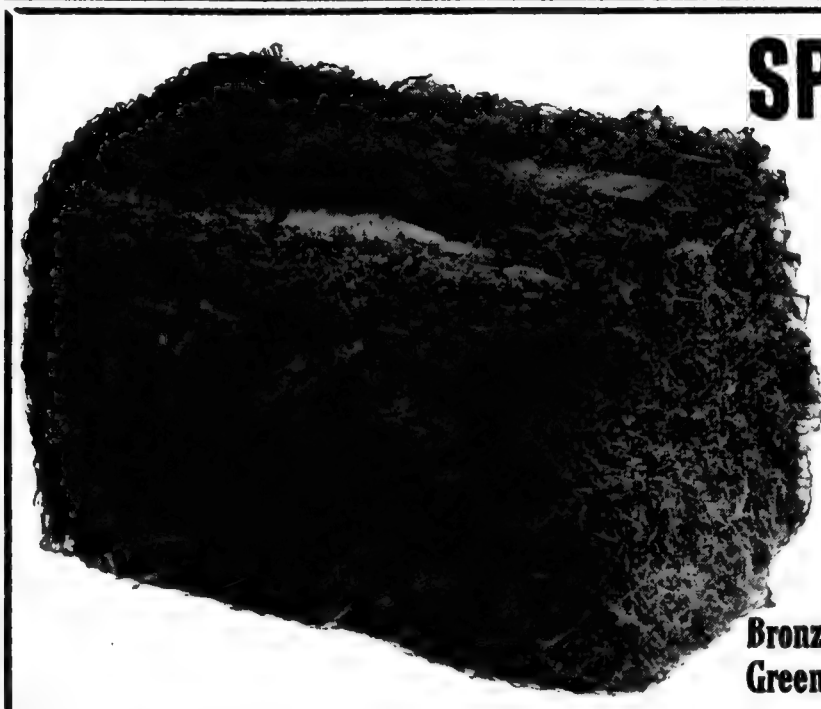
A short time ago Robert Halliday was showing me a number of photographs of decorations, funeral designs and bridal bouquets, all work done by him. As I looked them over, the thought came to me what a lot of ideas could be gleaned from these pictures. Designs among them that had cost the least were the most artistic. This recalled to me a favorite expression of his father: "Anyone can make a design when he has plenty of stuff, and the price will permit its use, but the true artist is the one who can arrange a design that will please when stuff is scarce."



Club Notes.

A letter was read at the last meeting of the Florists' Club from N. F. Flitten, the secretary, who has been ill. Everyone was glad to hear he was on the highroad to recovery. Harry Ekas, of the Leo Niessen Co., is taking care of the minutes during Mr. Flitten's absence.

Richard Vincent, Jr., of White Marsh, Md., was with us again, the first time in a good while. "Uncle Richard," as he is lovingly called by the boys, was given a warm reception. He said that something had prevented his coming to the last several meetings. Anyone who knows "Uncle Richard" knows that it must have been something important, for he is one of the most faithful members.

F. C. Bauer, the president of the club, is spending his week ends at his bungalow on the Patapsco. Tate.

Lackawanna, N. Y.—The Victory Floral Co. has been organized to deal in shrubs and plants. The capital stock of the company is $60,000. The incorporators are Robert C. Avery and Michael Mescoll, of Lackawanna, and Katherine Hanrahan, of Buffalo.

BOSTON.

The Market.

The terrific heat wave from which Boston, in common with other parts of the country, suffered last week, put almost a complete quietus on the cut flower industry temporarily. With official maximum readings of 98 degrees on four successive days, growers, salesmen, wholesalers and retailers had a hard week of it. Arrivals at this season fortunately are at their lowest ebb and the heat further reduced supplies. Such flowers as arrived in good condition sold fairly well, and now that we can breathe more comfortably conditions are not at all bad. Roses have been of poor quality, some with scorched foliage. Prices on hybrid teas have ranged from $1 to $8 per hundred. Beauties are plentiful and of fair summer quality, but there are no heavy calls for them. The few carnations coming in are of little value. Sweet peas were hard hit by the heat wave and such as are seen have short stems.

Asters are in much larger supply and sales are at lower prices, with a considerable surplus. Good local outdoor gladioli are now arriving. Panama, America, Chicago White and Lily Lehman are good sellers. Lilies are abundant and quite a variety of annuals are seen. The heat and drought have finished the perennial gypsophila. Little bouvardia has appeared, mostly Humboldtii. Cattleyas are now becoming scarce.

Various Notes.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Penn are enjoying a month's vacation at Belgrade Lakes, Me., where breezes are cool and fishing is good. William Penn, just back from his vacation, had exceptional success fishing, capturing seventy pickerel one afternoon. He also secured a good number of salmon. Benjamin Freeman, of Penn's staff, was presented with a wrist watch and a generous supply of cigars, tobacco, etc., August 3, before he joined the colors. Joseph F. White is enjoying his vacation at Ogunquit, Me. The duck farm window remains a stellar attraction and on the hottest days last week crowds could be seen admiring it.

50 years' experience in the florist business guarantees efficiency to take care of all orders. 20 per cent allowed.

July business averaged a little better than that of 1916. July was the driest since 1909. The total rainfall was 1.1 inches, against a normal of 3.36 inches. The mean temperature was 73 degrees, against a normal of 71.3. There were ten clear days, fifteen partly cloudy and six cloudy. The maximum temperature was 98 degrees and the minimum 53 degrees. Crops are suffering terribly from the heat and drought.

Carbone's are large importers from Europe and have been singularly fortunate in not losing a single shipment since the great war opened. They have received some choice garden furniture of late, which has sold well. They have large wedding decorations at Magnolia, Mass., and York Harbor, Me., August 18 and 23, respectively.

Andrew Christensen, of Stoneham, has his carnations out and will start replanting during the present week. He will plant a good many more Nancy this season. This variety did well last winter and spring. His other favorites are Pink Delight, Alice, Matchless, Benora, Beacon, Champion and Ward. Some of the old Queen and the new Albert Roper will also be planted. The first named has always done particularly well with Mr. Christensen.

Martin Wax got home August 3 from a five weeks' most successful fishing trip in Maine and Quebec. A number of the staff left on vacations this week,

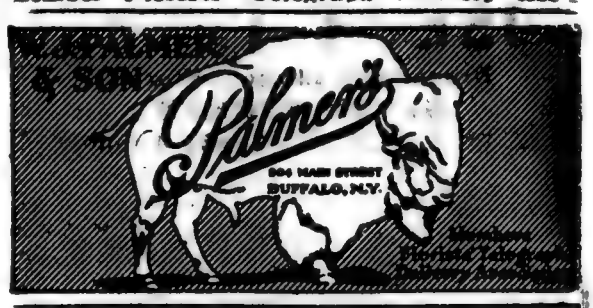
The finest outdoor-grown Panama gladioli coming in are from Peter Hylen, of Randolph. Mr. Hylen's asters, of which he had a large batch, all went off with stem-rot this season. A number of other growers have had similar losses.

Nathan Landerman, buyer for Harry Quint, has returned from a month's vacation at Hartford, Conn. Mr. Quint is himself away at present and on his return plans to make considerable improvements in his store, which has done a great business since it was opened.



The store of Crockford the Florist, in Winthrop, has been closed. Mr. Crockford did not wait to be drafted, but joined the Eighth regiment. He had got together a nice business and his many friends hope he will return safely after doing his bit in the war zone.

C. B. Johnson, of Woburn, is sending M. Leibmann an average of 5,000 Queen of the Market asters daily, of splendid quality, and in spite of the hot wave they have sold at good prices. Mr. Johnson is a big carnation specialist. He has not yet commenced planting in his young stock.

John W. Foote, of Reading, our leading specialist in Bouvardia Humboldtii, started making shipments of this sweet and popular flower last week.

James Collins, one of Galvin's employees, was one of Boston's heat victims. He died August 3. John Dowe,

The Budlong Rose Co. reports that the foliage on quite a number of its roses was scorched during the recent heat wave, and that the quality declined. This week the roses are arriving in better shape and selling well.

M. Aronson is receiving good gladioli from Woodward, of Saxonville, the best varieties being Spring Song, Halley, Lily Lehman, Emperor of India and Chicago White.

Blue bachelor's buttons, which used to be popular market flowers, now are in decided disfavor. The only way they can be sold to advantage is for use in tricolor boutonnieres. Too bad that prejudice should spoil the sales of a pretty, old-fashioned and innocent flower.

Peter Fisher started housing his carnations August 6. Thanks to the aid of the Skinner system of irrigation, his plants are fine, much better than if they had been housed before the late heat wave. He is cutting good Ophelia roses. This variety does specially well with him. He has dropped Killarney and White Killarney as unprofitable, these lacking petalage.

The garden committee of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society visited the estate of Bristow Draper, Hopedale, Mass., July 30, where George Piddington is head gardener. Splendidly kept lawns and shrubberies, displays of rambler roses and a neat Italian garden, were special features. In spite of this being the hottest day of the year, with a shade temperature of 98 degrees, the committee spent a most enjoyable afternoon, the journey by motor cars being most interesting.

John Barr, of South Natick, one of our champion carnationists, has faith in the future of the divine flower, as evidenced by the erection of a new house 200 feet long, now ready for the glaziers. Mr. Barr planted out nearly 100,000 carnations, and in spite of the drought they look splendid.

William R. Nicholson, of Framingham, has his mums planted and carnations all pulled out. He will start replanting toward the end of this week. He has a grand batch of the new rose-pink Albert Roper, on which he pins great faith.

The death August 4 of H. A. Jahn, the New Bedford grower, is recorded under Obituary. W. N. C.

TOMATOES UNDER GLASS.

required, all side or lateral growths are removed as soon as they are large enough to be handled with the finger and thumb.

I explained at the beginning of this paper that Livingston's Globe was of ideal growth, yet the shortening of the foliage is necessary in order that sufficient sunlight may penetrate to each individual plant to produce sturdy growth and fruitfulness. This consists of removing part of the foliage from each leaf stalk to accomplish the object in view, but no more.

Pollination is a most important matter and must receive proper attention, otherwise maximum results cannot be obtained, especially in setting fruit in October and February, or during other dull or cold weather when airy conditions cannot be given in the house. The best means of distributing the pollen grains is by using a rabbit's tail, or other such fur, attached to a light wooden stake. Go over the flowers with this every bright or airy day before noon, or directly after the noon hour. In order that conditions may be as favorable as possible for pollination, the air in the house should be dry. Therefore all watering should be done early in the morning or any time after pollination has been done. This should receive special attention in the fall and early spring.

Maintain a night temperature of 58 to 60 degrees during fine weather and also during the period of pollination, after which, while the same temperature should be aimed at, it may be reduced 5 degrees when the weather is extremely severe. It is wise to do this, for in attempting to keep up the temperature the plants will be weakened. The maximum temperature by day by fire heat during dull or extra cold weather should not be much above 60, with an increase of from 5 to 10 degrees according to weather. By sun heat alone the temperature may run up quite high, providing an abundance of air is admitted.

Control of White Fly.

Never allow the soil to approach dryness. This is especially important during the period of pollination, as a drying out of the soil at that time may mean the loss of a truss of fruit here and there by the flowers shriveling, and it is just as important afterward in swelling the fruit to a good size, thus finishing the fruit in heavy, plump condition.

The only insect which seems to care for the tomato is white fly, which is controlled by fumigating with potassium cyanide, sulphuric acid and water, in the following proportions per 1,000 cubic feet:

	Ounce
Potassium cyanide	¼
Sulphuric acid	½
Water	1

Earthenware jars are required, or fairly large bowls will suit. These should be spaced at intervals of thirty feet or thereabouts. Measure the cubic space of the house, dividing this by the number of jars required. In preparing the jars, first of all put in the water, then add the sulphuric acid quietly. Now weigh the cyanide required for each jar and wrap it in a piece of tissue paper, or, what is even handier, place it in small flower pots. When everything is ready, place the jars containing the liquid in the house, return for the cyanide, placing it alongside each jar. Then commence at the farther end of the house, dropping the cyanide in as you are making for the exit. Leave the house at once and do not enter again for at least four hours; in fact, everything should be arranged so that there will be no necessity for entering until morning.

Having explained how to go about the actual fumigation, there remain a few other points of equal importance that have to be observed in this connection. A still night with a clear atmosphere should be chosen, the gas doing its work and escaping quickly, which is desirable. The night you intend fumigating avoid watering the benches that day, in order that the air in the house may be as dry as possible, and in order to assist in bringing about this condition run the temperature high that night.

Picking and Packing.

For the local trade the fruits are usually wanted fairly ripe. For shipping, however, they should be picked while they are still quite firm, in order to reach the consumer in good condition. Let it be understood, however, that the consumer wants fruit that is ripe, providing there is no danger of waste. Therefore it is to the grower's advantage not to pick fruit that is too green, as every day adds weight to them.

In packing for shipment we use a crate the inside measurements of which are: Length, twenty-one inches; width, twelve and one-half inches; depth, five and one-half inches. This crate holds four 4¼-quart baskets, packed with two layers of fruits, which are wrapped in tissue paper, the weight per crate being around twenty pounds. In fine weather no paper is used for lining the crate, but in winter we do this and then wrap each crate in heavy wrapping paper, using plenty of newspapers as well. We have been shipping in this manner for years and have never had any complaint regarding injury from frost.

It is quite possible to increase the earning capacity of the space devoted to the late summer crop by planting lettuce between the plants. This was done at the college this year with success, well grown plants of good size being used. As the tomato plants were eighteen inches apart, the lettuce had plenty of room for development under good light conditions, and as lettuce grows rapidly at that time of the year it was fit to cut and to be sold before the tomato growth interfered to any extent. This could not be done with either of the other crops, as it is too early for lettuce to intercrop the fall and early winter crops, although the same favorable growing conditions would obtain at that time; and it would be out of the question to attempt intercropping the spring and early summer crops, as temperature and other conditions would be most unfavorable.

serious decline if the drought continues long unbroken. Good gladioli are readily absorbed; likewise roses, the quality of which is seasonably off at present. Easter lilies are in oversupply, miscellaneous garden stock is plentiful and greens of all kinds are easily obtained. Good valley is scarce, and so are orchids, for which there are frequent calls.

Various Notes.

That the method employed by J. W. Rodgers, of Dayton, O., as described in last week's issue of The Review, of going after business even in dull times, is full of possibility, has been amply proven at the Gasser Co. store. Last fall Manager Brown adopted this unique plan of approaching a selected list of flower buyers, with such gratifying results that it is not only being continued but its scope is also being enlarged as the returns increase. This and many similar ideas serve to point out what a wonderfully fertile field is that of commercial floriculture, only the surface of which has as yet been scratched, with the riches in store for them that delve deeper.

That there will be no importations of baskets and other supplies from Japan this fall and early winter, is an assured thing now. The transfer of the merchant vessels in the Pacific to the war service is the immediate cause of this condition. This is bad news for Cleveland florists, as many orders were placed by them with Japanese firms last spring.

F. C. Bartels, of the Gasser range, is much worried by the delay in the arrival of tile for the benches in the new greenhouse, the completion of the work being held up. His young rose stock has been kept regularly shifted and is in excellent condition.

F. R. Williams, of the Cleveland Cut Flower Co., is off for a month's vacation, touring through New York state and parts of Canada.

LARGE GREENHOUSES

Aquatics, fountains, miniature lakes and beaches, etc., are figuring extensively in the windows of the leading retail stores at present.

Among recent visitors were Mrs. V. L. Schluraff, of the Schluraff Floral Co., Erie, Pa., and R. E. Blackshaw, of the A. L. Randall Co., Chicago.

While returning from the bank with the pay roll to Rocky River last Saturday, F. C. Bartels had the misfortune to collide with a Lake Shore electric car. While not seriously hurt, Mr. Bartels was pretty badly bruised and shaken up, his new Dodge car being completely wrecked.

H. P. Knoble and Frank Friedley and families are off to Put-in-Bay for a few days' enjoyment of the cooling lake breezes and fishing. Woe to members of the finny tribe to whom tidings of the coming of these mighty anglers have not been passed!

The regular meeting of the Cleveland Florists' Club was held in the rooms at the Hollenden hotel August 6. There was a large attendance, due in part, somebody said, to the fact that refreshments were to be served, by courtesy of the wholesale florists. The committee on entertainment announced that the annual picnic would be held at Willough beach. A fine program is in course of preparation, a feature of which is to be a baseball game. After the nominations of officers a social session was held, with speeches, music and a generally good time. J. McL.

Elmhurst, L. I.—Peter Beuerlein, who for more than twenty-five years conducted a flower store on Queens boulevard near Grand street, has moved his stock to his farm near Westwood, N. J. The removal was caused by the work of widening Queens boulevard.

Grand Ledge, Mich.—M. W. Doty has purchased D. C. Huggett's interest in the firm of Doty & Huggett and will continue the business alone. Mr. Doty has been the managing partner during the last four years. He reports that business last season was satisfactory.

Established 1857.

Seed Trade News

AMERICAN SEED TRADE ASSOCIATION.
President, F. W. Bolgiano, Washington, D. C.; Secretary-Treasurer, C. E. Kendel, Cleveland, O.

W. W. Barnard, Chicago, again is in the hospital.

The Fangboner Seed Co., Bellevue, Ohio, has been incorporated for $50,000 and will deal exclusively in seed corn, wheat and oats.

Not only has it been the biggest seed selling season, but the seed houses that handle plants over the counter have had a tremendous business, especially in vegetable plants.

The American Seedtape Co., with principal office at 365 Ogden street, Newark, has been incorporated under the laws of New Jersey with $1,000,000 capital, to manufacture the seed container known as seedtape.

As an indication of the thoroughness with which certain of the Holland houses now curry the American field, Westerbeek & Klyn, in addition to a permanent representative in New York, have eight travelers on the road here.

The labor question is one of the worst of the numerous problems confronting the California seed growers. It is reported by some of them that they are required to pay $5 a day for Chinese labor, or see it employed in other lines.

Frank Rudy, vice-president of the Rudy-Patrick Seed Co., Kansas City, who retired from active business about a year ago on account of failing health, died July 31, aged 59 years, and was buried the afternoon of August 2. He is survived by a widow, one son and one daughter.

Latest reports from the west are that the pea yield will run from twenty-five to fifty per cent of a crop. Many canners and growers now feel that they would have been better pleased if their contracts had all been in Wisconsin and the eastern section, instead of in the irrigated country.

The extreme heat and hot winds of the last week in July have caused onion sets at Chicago to go down rapidly and they are ripening off small and will not bushel up and make so large a yield as was expected ten days ago. Harvesting is under way and considerable difficulty is found in getting sufficient help in the field.

The Berry Seed Co., Clarinda, Ia., has begun work on a 3-story brick addition to its office building. The new structure will be the same height and width as the present building. When completed it will be used to house the printing office and garden seed mailing department. Last season's business was the largest in the history of the company, officials say.

Representatives of the Leonard Seed Co., Chicago, J. Allen Bomm and W. A. Gardiner, salesmen, and A. H. Smith, treasurer, have returned from a trip to Columbus, Wis., where they inspected the company's trial grounds and looked over the pea crops the company has been growing and harvesting in that section. After spending a few days in Chicago, looking over the onion set crops and the company's warehouses, Messrs. Gardiner and Bomm returned to their eastern territory.

CHR. OLSEN, Seed Grower, Odense, Denmark (Estab. 1883)

THERE probably never has been a year when so many acres of seed crops were planted for the growers' own account. Seedsmen have increased their acreage as much as possible because of the difficulty of getting farmers to take contracts and more farmers than ever are growing for their own account, believing the crop will be worth at least as much when harvested as it was before planting.

NOORDAM HITS MINE.

A bit of disquieting news is contained in the report that the Holland-America line steamer Noordam struck a mine August 3 while bound for Holland, and was badly damaged. The explosion caused a dangerous list and the officials of the line declared that the steamer might have to be run aground, thereby greatly prolonging the time required for repairs.

In other seasons the Noordam has been one of the principal carriers of Dutch bulbs to this country, and it is probable the boat was scheduled to transport horticultural supplies this season, these supplies, according to a report, to come by three boats. In view of the scarcity of bottoms, therefore, the enforced idleness of the Noordam in dry-dock may be felt by American importers.

This is the second time the Noordam has struck a mine. There were no casualties among the 507 on board.

THE TAX ON PARCELS.

The Senate revision of the war revenue law contains a new paragraph which will exempt light parcels from the penny tax. As originally drawn, the bill provided for a tax of 1 cent on each parcel sent by mail where the postage is less than 25 cents. The new provision, if adopted, will exempt parcels of four ounces or less. This will be of some advantage to the seed trade, both in the matter of mailing of light catalogues and small packets of seeds.

As yet one can only guess at the form in which the tax law will come out. It will be at least a month in getting through the legislative mill and many changes seem imperative if confusion is to be avoided.

W. F. Therkildson, chairman of the American Seed Trade Association's committee on postal affairs, telegraphs as follows: "I have just been advised by Hon. Boies Penrose, under date of August 4, that the finance committee of the Senate has amended the proposed tax so as to exempt all catalogues and also parcel post packages under four ounces."

The bill was introduced in the Senate August 6, but printed copies have not yet come to hand, so that the exact wording of the paragraphs of special trade interest can not yet be quoted.

ENFORCEMENT OF SEED LIENS.

In North Dakota and other states which have laws giving seedsmen liens against crops to secure payment for the seed furnished therefor, it is important that the requirements of such laws be strictly followed, otherwise the lien is apt to be lost. This warning is suggested by the decision recently handed down by the Supreme Court of North Dakota, in a case where a lien was lost because the lien statement filed of record failed to contain a description of the land. The lien law of that state contains this section: "Any person entitled to a lien under this chapter shall within thirty days after the seed is furnished file in the office of the registrar of deeds of the county in which the seed is to be sown or planted a statement in writing, verified by oath, showing the kind and quantity of seed, its value, the name of the person to whom furnished and a description of the land upon which the same is to be or has been planted or sown. Unless the person entitled to the lien shall file such statement within the time aforesaid, he shall be deemed to have waived all right thereto."

In this case the lien statement failed to show any description of the land, and was held by the court to be insufficient to sustain a lien. On the back of the statement there was a statement, signed by the purchaser of the seed and reciting that it would be sown on certain land properly described, but the court said: "This is a mere unsworn statement by the purchaser of the seed grain, and it is not contended that it is any part of the lien statement on the front portion of the sheet, and we are clear that it cannot be resorted to for the purpose of aiding such lien statement by furnishing a description of the land. * * * In construing the seed lien statute, the fact must not be overlooked that the lien given is wholly statutory in its nature and origin. It was unknown at common law, and hence can neither be acquired nor enforced unless there has been a substantial compliance with the act of the legislature from which the lien arises." S.

FORAGE SEED IMPORTS.

The seed department of the Bureau of Plant Industry, United States Department of Agriculture, has issued a report showing the amount of the various kinds of forage plant seeds subject to the seed importation act which were permitted entry during the year ending June 30, 1917, as compared with the previous year.

The comparative amounts are shown in the following table:

Early Snowstorm

A Very Profuse Bearer.

BURPEE'S SWEET PEAS

NEW EARLY OR WINTER-FLOWERING SPENCERS.

Here are varieties that offer you a big profit. Sowings under glass in August flower in time for your Thanksgiving trade. September sowings produce the finest of flowers by Christmas. Grown in the open, they flower several weeks ahead of the Standard or Summer-flowering Spencers; yet they bloom quite as long as the Standard Spencers.

Having a survey over the whole trade, we foresaw the splendid future of early winter-flowering varieties years back. Since 1908 we have been crossing the Spencer-flowering Sweet Peas with the Early or Winter-flowering Grandiflora. The magnificent Australian variety, "Yarrawa," has also been used as a parent flower in our recent crosses, with results truly unique.

The varieties below are all true, thoroughly fixed in type, and because of their unusual development in color, both as to beauty and distinctiveness, they will appeal strongly to your trade.

Nine of these varieties were awarded nineteen Certificates of Merit by the following:

PENNSYLVANIA HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY, Philadelphia.
AMERICAN SWEET PEA SOCIETY, San Francisco.
THE INTERNATIONAL SHOW, New York.

Burpee's Early Snowstorm A truly magnificent pure white variety; the best of the white-seeded Early-flowering Spencers yet introduced. Flowers of great size and substance, beautifully waved, borne in great profusion. Snowstorm is an appropriate name, as the plants become a perfect mass of snow-white flowers. Pkt. (12 seeds), 25 cts., less 1/3.

Burpee's Early Enchantress Flowers immense in size, measuring two and one-half inches in diameter; exquisitely waved or frilled; stiff stems. Color most attractive and pleasing. A bright rose-pink, becoming deeper toward the edges of standard and wings, gradually softening in tone toward the center of the flower. 1/2 oz., 75 cts.; oz., $1.25; lb., $12.50.

Burpee's Early King A glowing, rich, bright crimson. Flowers are of great size, perfect form, averaging fully two inches in diameter, and are produced freely in threes and fours on strong stems of great length. 1/2 oz., 75 cts.; oz., $1.25; lb., $12.50.

Fordhook Pink and White The most popular color in early-flowering Sweet Peas. Similar to the old Blanche Ferry, having a bright rosy pink standard with creamy white wings, lightly suffused rose. Fowers often measure fully two and one-half inches in diameter, while the form is perfect. It is an especially early, free and continuous bloomer. 1/2 oz., 75 cts.; oz., $1.25; lb., $12.50.

Fordhook Pink A distinct shade of pink, suffused with lavender throughout. Flowers of large size, exquisitely waved, and usually produced in threes and fours on long stems. Particularly pleasing under artificial light. Flowers early and is a most continuous and free bloomer. Oz., 85 cts.; lb., $8.50.

Burpee's Early Pink Beauty Soft rose-pink on white ground, richer toward the edges, gradually softening in color as it reaches the center of standard and wings. The flowers are of great size, beautifully waved and finely placed on the immense stems, which usually carry three or four of the magnificent blooms. 1/2 oz., 85 cts.; oz., $1.50; lb., $15.00.

Burpee's Primrose Beauty An attractive shade of deep primrose, flushed with rose. Flowers of great size, splendid substance and beautifully waved in true Spencer form, on stems of great length. 1/2 oz., 85 cts.; oz., $1.50; lb., $15.00.

Fordhook Rose This lovely variety is a charming shade of rosy carmine. The flowers are of largest size and usually borne in threes and fours on long, stiff stems. 1/2 oz., 75 cts.; oz., $1.25; lb., $12.50.

Burpee's Rosy Morn A magnificent flower of great size and substance. Flowers grown under ordinary field culture have measured fully two inches in diameter. The color is a pleasing shade of rose, with crimson-scarlet standard, while the immense flowers are usually borne in threes or fours on stiff, long stems. Oz., 85 cts.; lb., $8.50.

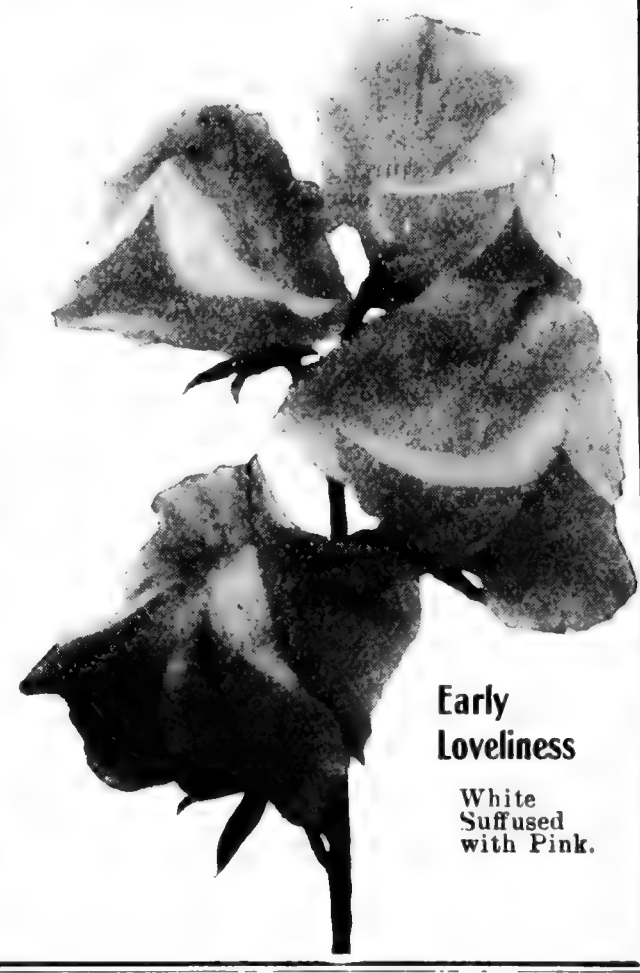
Burpee's Early Sankey This truly magnificent white was awarded a special Silver Medal when exhibited at the great International Show in New York, March 20, 1915; also Certificate of Merit at the Spring Show of the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society, Philadelphia, March 23, 1915. Black seeded. 1/2 oz., 85 cts.; oz., $1.50; lb., $15.00.

Yarrawa We first exhibited this novelty at the great International Flower Show in New York, March, 1914, where we were awarded a Certificate of Merit by the American Sweet Pea Society. Seed sown in early October at Fordhook Farms, the plants come into bloom December 20, and bloom profusely until May. Flowers are exquisitely waved, and when well grown average two and one-half inches in diameter; many of them duplex or double. They are usually produced in fours on extra long, strong stems. Bright rose-pink, with a clear, creamy base. Floradale-grown seed exclusively. Oz., 80 cts.; lb., $8.00.

Burpee's Early Lavender King A first-class rich, true deep lavender throughout; flowers of large size, beautiful, true-waved form and borne in threes and fours on stems of great length. Pkt. (20 seeds), 25 cts., less 1/3.

Burpee's Early Sweet Briar A most distinct and charming variety. Flowers are of good size with great substance, usually in threes and fours; lovely shade of pink throughout, with soft salmon or amber suffusion, this being more accentuated in the younger flowers and buds. A very strong grower and most florierous. Pkt. (20 seeds), 25 cts., less 1/3.

Burpee's Early Loveliness For dainty and delicate color effect, especially when bunched, this novelty stands head and shoulders above any variety we have seen. The color is white, the entire flower being suffused soft pink until it reaches the edges, which are distinctly picoteed with rose-pink. Immense size and great substance, beautifully waved and usually produced three or four on the longest stout stems. 1/2 oz., 75 cts.; oz., $1.25; lb., $12.50.



W. Atlee Burpee & Company have long been famous as American headquarters for Sweet Peas, and in addition to the Early or Winter-flowering Novelties listed above, we are in a position to supply a wonderful list of Standard or Summer-flowering Spencers.

We were the first to introduce the Spencer type into America, and such famous varieties as King White, Fiery Cross, Primrose Spencer, Apple Blossom, King Edward Spencer and many others. All our introductions serve to justify our claims, and each year many new varieties are tried out, but only those which prove themselves of exceptional value are offered to our customers.

THE DUTCH BULBS MAY COME.

The apparent general confidence that the Dutch bulbs will be shipped may prove misplaced, as the international situation is changing almost every week. After months of negotiation, the Dutch and British governments reached an accommodation that resulted in the Holland boats coming over with general merchandise, but it develops that few of them have been able to secure return cargoes, and that some sixty Dutch steamers now lie idle in American harbors. In addition, the government of the United States recently has placed an embargo on the exportation to neutral countries of commodities that may in any way serve as an aid to Germany. It is said that since this embargo went into effect sailings to Holland practically have been suspended.

If the boats that bring the Holland bulbs have little chance of securing return cargoes, the chances that the bulbs will come are visibly reduced.

KANSAS CITY.

The Market.

Market conditions are the poorest they have been this year. There is not nearly enough stock to supply the demands. Gladioli are the most plentiful flowers, but even at that only in sufficient supply for funeral demands. A few good asters are in, but they, too, are short in supply. Roses are too high in price for the quality offered. Perennials are not so plentiful as they were a week ago. Magnolia and cycas leaves are being used to help fill the deficiency in cut flowers. Much of the stock received in this market is from Colorado.

Various Notes.

Bryson Ayres left for Boston to take a summer course in landscape architecture and ornamental horticulture at Harvard University.

Adolph Mohr has a splendid crop of cyclamens and Begonia Cincinnati. His poinsettias are doing nicely.

James Payne is rapidly getting his new place into shape. There remains one house to be torn down.

The Humfeld-Orear Floral Co. has dismantled its greenhouses in the rear of the store building on Thirty-first street.

John Stevens dumped between 3,000 and 4,000 lily plants this summer, as there was little demand for them. He has about half of his carnations planted. Three of his men left August 4 to join the army.

The W. L. Rock Flower Co. has its carnations all planted. W. L. Rock is spending two weeks in Minnesota, while Hugo Neff is in Colorado.

The George M. Kellogg Flower & Plant Co. reports that business would be better if more stock were obtainable. Mrs. Lamb now is on her vacation.

Arthur Newell says that the scarcity of stock makes it hard to do business. Miss Klein, of the force, is on her vacation, taking a trip to the northern lakes for two weeks.

The Newest and Best Winter-flowering Sweet Peas

We offer with the greatest confidence the splendid Novelties listed below. These are all true, thoroughly fixed in type and are a great improvement on our various colors.

From sowing made under glass in August they may be flowered in time for Thanksgiving. September sowing will produce the finest flowers by Christmas. If grown in the open they flower several weeks ahead of the Standard or Summer-flowering Spencers, and with proper treatment continue to bloom quite as long as that type.

Burpee's Early Enchantress The flowers are immense in size, measuring two and one-half inches in diameter; they are exquisitely waved or frilled, well placed on stiff stems and usually produced in threes and fours. The color is most attractive and pleasing. It is a bright rose-pink, becoming deeper toward the edges of standard and wings, gradually softening in tone toward the center of the flower. ½ oz., 75c; oz., $1.25.

Burpee's Early Loveliness The color is white, the entire flower being suffused soft pink until it reaches the edges, which are distinctly picoteed with rose-pink. A flower of immense size and great substance, beautifully waved and usually produced three or four on the longest stout stems. ½ oz., 75c; oz., $1.25.

Burpee's Early King A glowing, rich, bright crimson. The flowers are of great size, perfect form, averaging fully two inches in diameter, and are produced freely in threes and fours on strong stems of great length. ½ oz., 75c; oz., $1.25.

Burpee's Early Pink Beauty The color is soft rose-pink on white ground, richer toward the edges, gradually softening in color as it reaches the center of standard and wings. The flowers are of great size, beautifully waved and finely placed on the immense stems, which usually carry three or four of the magnificent blooms. ½ oz., 85c; oz., $1.50.

Burpee's Primrose Beauty An attractive shade of deep primrose, flushed with rose. Flowers of great size and splendid substance, beautifully waved in true Spencer form. ½ oz., 85c; oz., $1.50; lb., $15.00.

Burpee's Early Sankey This truly magnificent white was awarded a special Silver Medal when exhibited at the great International Show in New York, 1915, also Certificate of Merit at the Spring Show of the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society, Philadelphia, 1915. Black seeded. ½ oz., 85c; oz., $1.50; lb., $15.00.

Fordhook Pink and White The most popular color in early-flowering Sweet Peas. Similar to the old Blanche Ferry, having a bright rosy pink standard, with creamy white wings, lightly suffused rose. The flowers often measure fully two and one-half inches in diameter. The form is perfect, the beautifully waved blooms being carried on stiff stems of great length, usually in threes and often fours. ½ oz., 75c; oz., $1.25.

Fordhook Pink A distinct shade of pink, suffused with lavender throughout. Flowers of large size, exquisitely waved, and usually produced in threes and fours on long stems. Particularly pleasing under artificial light. Oz., 85c.

Fordhook Rose This lovely variety is a charming shade of rosy carmine. The flowers are of largest size and usually borne in threes and fours on long, stiff stems. ½ oz., 75c; oz., $1.25.

Yarrawa First exhibited at the great International Flower Show, New York, 1914, awarded a Certificate of Merit by the American Sweet Pea Society. From seed sown in early October at Fordhook Farms, the plants came into bloom December 20, and bloomed profusely until May. Color, a bright rose-pink, with a clear, creamy base. Floradale grown seed exclusively. Oz., 80c; lb., $8.00.

Rose Queen (Pettit). Greenhouse-grown seed, greatly to be preferred to the California open-air grown seed of the variety that is sold at cheap prices. Oz., $3.00.

Mrs. Burke Light blue, received Certificate of Merit at New York Flower Show, greenhouse-grown. Oz., $5.00.

DETROIT.

There is little doing in the florists' business. Most of the fraternity either are going on their vacations, or have returned with brown skins and tales of how many fish they caught and of how far they swam.

One of the best times the local florists have had recently was at the Detroit Florists' Club outing at Charles Plumb's summer home, Pointe Tremble, July 31. It was a day devoted to fishing and swimming, which were followed by a dinner at the hotel.

F. J. Knecht, of Fort Wayne, was a visitor last week. He ships quantities of stock to Michigan florists.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Breitmeyer have returned from Montana, where they spent part of the summer with their daughter, Mrs. Frank Wright.

The stock that reached the market last week was of poor quality, with the exception of asters and gladioli. Roses are extremely poor, while sweet peas show the effects of the hot weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Breitmeyer have returned to their home at Pine Lake.

H. E. Taylor is back from a trip east.

SNAPDRAGON PAYS

When sending a repeat order for snapdragon seed, K. J. Snyder, North Germantown, N. Y., writes:

"During March and April alone, from 148 plants of your Silver Pink Snapdragon, I cut $150.00 worth of blooms. I think that great for the bench room they occupied."

Do you know of any plant that will do so well? Seed should be sown now for plants to follow mums. We have seed as follows:

Seed of our famous Silver Pink, $1.00 per pkt.; 3 for $2.50; 7 for $5.00. Seed of Nelrose, Garnet, Yellow, White, Light Pink, Buxton and Fancy Mixed, 35c per pkt.; 3 for $1.00. Seed of special Pink Mixture, $1.00 per pkt. All orders cash. Free cultural directions.

We offer a few thousand Silver Pink SEEDLING plants, FREE FROM DISEASE, at $5.00 per 100; 250 for $10.00. Be quick.

MINNEAPOLIS.

The Market.

Despite the hot weather and the absence of rain, the market was well supplied with stock last week. Baby's breath, sweet peas and gladioli are abundant, and last week saw the beginning of the aster arrivals. The latter had good stems and the blooms were of fair size. Easter lilies still are in quantities. Fine American Beauties are reaching the market and local growers are cutting some good short-stemmed roses. There are excellent Boston ferns to be had and there is a ready sale for plants. Business has been quiet with the retailers, funeral work creating about all the demand.

Various Notes.

Swanson's had an attractive summer window last week. Palms and ferns surrounded a fountain, in the basin of which were goldfish. The whole was illuminated by electricity.

The Franklin Nursery has been cutting some fine outdoor stock.

Amundson's had a supply of good asters and lilies last week. The store presented an attractive appearance. Business here has been good, considering the season.

While business has been quiet at the Whitted Floral Co. store, it has had some good funeral orders lately.

E. M. P.

FORT WAYNE, IND.

The Market.

The hot weather has had an unfavorable effect on business, there being almost no demand for flowers outside of funeral work.

There is a fine supply of lilies, including rubrum giganteum and regale, but the demand for them is light. Gladioli are arriving in large numbers and they are of extra fine quality. The prices obtained for these are good. Asters are scarce, especially those of good quality, many of them showing the effects of the extremely warm weather. Summer roses are fairly good, Russell, Ophelia, Kaiserin, Sunburst and Shawyer showing up best under the trying temperatures.

Mr. and Mrs. Clem Lanternier and Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Lanternier have returned from a several days' motor trip to Chicago.

The Doswell Floral Co. had a most attractive window display of gladioli and other summer flowers last week. Vacations are in order and the members of the force are having a well deserved rest.

Markey Bros. are showing some excellent blooming plants, including mammoth gloxinias and fuchsias. Business has been quiet, funeral work being the main activity.

Gladioli and fine, large asters are being featured at the Flick Floral Co. store. Flowers are in good demand for funerals and table decorations have helped out.

Lilies and roses were featured in the window of Edgar Wenninghoff's store last week. He has had a good call for flowers for hospitals. R. F.

PACIFIC COAST DEPARTMENT

Aberdeen, Wash.—Mrs. H. G. Ellis, owner of the Ellis Greenhouses, is remodeling and enlarging her greenhouse establishment. The work will cost about $3,000.

Long Beach, Cal.—The Belmont Fernery and the Marine Florist have consolidated under the name of Long Beach Floral Co., 3842 East Tenth street. The signs of the National Florist and the F. T. D. are conspicuous in the new company's store.

SALMON AND THE SALMON.

"Salmon" is neither the first nor middle name, but the last and most important in the three that identify H. C. Salmon, of Rochester, N. Y., from the rest of his fellows, but when it comes to extracting salmon from the Pacific ocean, Mr. Salmon lives up to his name. While at Palo Alto, Cal., for the benefit of his health recently, Mr. Salmon accompanied C. H. and A. F. Bearsby, of the Frank R. Mills nursery, on a fishing trip to Capitola. The trio made a combined catch of nineteen fish, the largest of which weighed twenty pounds. For verification of this statement see the accompanying illustration.

H. C. Salmon, of Rochester, N. Y., and C. H. and A. F. Bearsby, of Palo Alto, Cal.

LOS ANGELES, CAL.

The Market.

The feature of the week's business was the large quantity of funeral work done. The death of the millionaire owner of the principal newspaper resulted in the expenditure of several thousand dollars for funeral pieces, and probably never in the history of the Los Angeles flower business was there so large a number of costly designs and other work for an individual funeral. This made quite a clean-up in the wholesale houses and the work was fairly well distributed among the retailers. Dahlias are making a splendid showing now and some of the Giant zinnias are a great attraction. Rubrum and auratum lilies are arriving in fine condition and there is still quite a good sprinkling of gladioli.

The indoor roses are improving a little, but the stock is far from first-class even now. Carnations from indoors are poor, but the field crop is improving right along. Asters are at their best and centaureas help out in funeral designs. Sweet peas of the Spencer types meet with a good demand when the quality is right. Greens are plentiful and of fairly good quality.

Various Notes.

The California Cut Flower Co. has purchased the N. B. Williams place at Cudahy, where for several years Mr. Williams has been growing cut flowers for this market. The increasing value of real estate in this section should insure a profitable deal, to say nothing of the stock that can be grown for the company's retail trade.

The Roserie, 328 West Third street, has been opened again by Flower Gardens, Inc., with Mrs. Carter in charge of the retail end. A choice decoration of dahlias and other stock was shown on the opening day, making a bid for the transient trade, which should be considerable.

Howard & Smith report a great deal of work for the Otis funeral, as well as much other good business.

Wolfskills' & Morris Goldenson have a cool-looking window made of rocks, plants and asters. A large amount of good funeral work has been turned out this week.

Tassano Bros. have removed from their old address on Los Angeles street to a new store at 422 Wall street, opposite the California Flower Market.

A beautiful display of fancy-leaved caladiums and water lilies forms the attraction at Wright's Flower Shop this week. Funeral work has been heavy.

Fred Sperry, of the L. A. Floral Co., has been seeking relief from his cold in the mountains. He fears that an operation for an abscess near the eye may be necessary.

S. Murata & Co. report that the shipping trade is picking up again.

E. D. Sturtevant was the lecturer before the Los Angeles County Horticultural Society August 1. His subject was water lilies, and during the day he made an exhibit at the Chamber of Commerce rooms. His lecture was listened to with great interest, especially that part referring to the European novelties and those from the Kew gardens in England. H. R. Richards.

SAN FRANCISCO.

The Market.

July on the whole was a good month—comparatively. Some say it was the best midsummer month they ever had, and others, while not quite so sweeping in their remarks, agree that it was an unusually good July. The large number of weddings has helped out considerably. Funeral business has been heavy. The retailers have not been counting on much extra business from army sources, but it begins to look now as if the concentration of troops in this vicinity might help to stimulate business.

The stock situation remains about the same, with the exception that asters are more in evidence. They are coming in nicely now and quantities of them are being shipped to southern and middle western points. Shipments are being made to the east also. The flowers show good quality, the colors being bright and clear and the stems long. All indications point to a splendid season. Good carnations are hard to obtain and the limited offerings of inferior stock fail to get much attention. Fine assortments of zinnias are arriving and clean up without difficulty. Gladioli move well. Striking displays of dahlias appear at nearly every downtown establishment, and hydrangeas also are to be seen everywhere. The rose market shows little change. Ophelia is a little better, but Russell and the other varieties still show the effects of the hot weather. Large orders for freesia bulbs are now being shipped.

Various Notes.

The Dahlia Society of California at a meeting July 27 completed arrangements for the two shows to be given under its auspices this season. The first show is to be held at the Palace hotel, September 2 to 5, and the second at the St. Francis hotel, September 27 to 29. The exhibition committee consists of the following: A. J. Rossi, manager; Leslie E. Doolittle, assistant manager; Pierson Durbrow, Mrs. E. Lymbery, Mrs. W. E. Estes, L. R. Kessing, Mrs. Jessie Seal, R. C. Delameter, F. C. Burns, H. T. Henning, C. S. Quick and C. Gloecker. They have announced a special set of rules, which will be rigidly enforced in order to make the show a signal success. There will be three classes for which prizes will be offered; namely, classes for professional growers, semi-professional growers and amateurs. Prizes to the number of 150 are announced for the Palace hotel show and almost as many for the St. Francis exhibit.

The Sunset Dahlia Society, an affiliated branch of the Dahlia Society of California, will give the first district show of the year August 16 and 17, at Red Men's hall, Tenth avenue and I street.

F. C. Burns, who has charge of the trial gardens of the Dahlia Society of California, at San Rafael, Cal., says that a number of entries have been made and competition will be keen for the prizes offered this year. The judges, Thomas Stentiford, George Walters, W. Kettlewell, W. Munro and A. Twitchett, will begin their work about August 15.

bulbs. One order this week called for 100,000 bulbs. Mr. Axell thinks there will be a shortage of these bulbs before the end of next month.

The C. Kooyman Co., according to Mr. Madvig, is receiving a nice lot of orders for asters, principally from southern and middle western points.

Mrs. R. E. Darbee has been unable to find anyone to look after her store and shipping business while away, so she has had to give up her plan of attending the S. A. F. convention. She has decided to postpone her trip until December or January, so as to experience some of the eastern cold weather for the first time. She is starting to ship asters in quantity, as well as statice. The latter is well received in the east, she says. Mrs. Darbee features September Morn rose and finds that it gives general satisfaction. Store business has been a little spotted, but the total volume, she says, is well up to standard.

D. Traversaro, formerly with Pelicano, Rossi & Co., and more recently manager of Hyde's store at Watsonville, Cal., has enlisted in the navy.

Charles F. Shellgrain, manager of the Boland store, says July was a good month, especially in funeral work. A new location has not yet been decided upon by this concern.

Miss Recardie Lee Murray says business has picked up nicely during the last two weeks, last Sunday being the best Sunday in a long time.

J. Scanlon, with Albert O. Stein, has returned from a month's vacation at Los Angeles. Mr. Stein has no complaints to make about business.

Frank Claverie says business on Polk street is holding up well this summer.

Charles Stoppenbeck, the American Florist, on Polk street, who confines his attention to store trade entirely, reports a good demand for roses, although his blooms are at their lowest ebb just now. He expects to have a fine crop a little later.

The California Floral Co. is well satisfied with summer business. Potted gloxinias are having a nice sale here.

The Woodside Nurseries Co. has been granted permission to sell 100 shares of stock at par. The company proposes to utilize the proceeds of the sale in the development of the business. S. H. G.

TACOMA, WASH.

The Market.

Business, though not rushing, cannot be called dull. There are quiet spells between sales, but the sales are not half bad, thanks to good funeral work and some wedding orders.

The variety of the cut flowers offered has been limited. Sweet peas, said to lead the field, are of excellent quality and the supply is adequate. Growers are drying off the stock, so roses are off crop for the present. In gypsophilas, paniculata is taking the place of grandiflora. Carnations are poor and receive little attention, but gladioli are good property, making $1 per dozen at retail.

Various Notes.

A general street car tie-up last week threatened traffic until the "jitney" came to the rescue and made a joke of the strike. Everything went off good-naturedly, the people seeming to sympathize with the strikers. Labor troubles are stirring things up considerably in nearly all industries. Greenhouse help is scarce and there is a raise in wages of from twenty-five to fifty per cent in all branches of growers' labor. The big army post at American Lake gives the ordinary laboring man considerable leverage; if you do not like his style you can tell him so, but he will take a "jitney" and get a job at the army post, at good wages, too.

All of the big department stores have signed an agreement to close at 6 o'clock every night, including Saturdays. All of the downtown flower stores but one are closed all day Sunday, there being no funerals on the Sabbath.

Gardnerville. It proved to be an enjoyable affair. The weather was fine and a large and jolly crowd of florists turned out in their autos to celebrate their annual feast. Dancing was indulged in up to a late hour. A feature of the luncheon was a large sack of clams especially prepared by Mr. Benthien for his guests. All voted that Mr. Benthien is the man who put the "lam" in clam. A 10-gallon can of ice cream helped to cool off the crowd during the frolic. John Holze, of the Queen City Floral Co., of Seattle, who usually rounds up a large Seattle delegation and brings it to Tacoma, was sick, and this kept a number of Seattle florists from coming over. PORTLAND, ORE.

The Market.

Funeral work and social events caused a good demand for stock last week. Asters and gladioli are more plentiful. There were few roses. July business was better than during the same month last year, although there was a lull in the middle of the month.

President, Lloyd C. Stark, Louisiana, Mo.; Vice-president, J. R. Mayhew, Waxahachie, Tex.; Secretary and Counsel, Curtis Nye Smith, 19 Congress St., Boston, Mass.; Treasurer, J. W. Hill, Des Moines, Ia..

LICENSES of nurserymen in the state of Washington expired August 1 and all engaged in the trade were required to renew them. Notices to this effect were sent out by the state horticultural inspector.

LLOYD STARK JOINS ARMY.

It is announced by the newspapers of Louisiana, Mo., that Lloyd C. Stark resigned the vice-presidency and his directorship in Stark Bros.' Nurseries & Orchards Co., to accept a captain's commission in the U. S. army, his branch of the service to be field artillery. Paul C. Stark was elected to the vacancies. It is stated that Capt. Stark served in the navy after graduation from Annapolis, resigning his commission to enter the family's business enterprise. Mrs. Stark and children are spending the summer with relatives at Baltimore. Capt. Stark left July 23 to join the reserve corps in training at Fort Meyers.

Lloyd C. Stark was elected president of the American Association of Nurserymen at the Philadelphia convention in June.

EVERGREENS FOR LAWN.

Will you please recommend some small varieties of evergreens to plant as specimens in a lawn, and will you state the proper time to start them?

J. O. S.—N. Y.

In the way of small-growing evergreens for lawns, Juniperus Sabina, J. communis hibernica, Picea excelsa pygmæa, or dwarf spruce; Pinus Mughus, or dwarf mountain pine, and Taxus cuspidata brevifolia are good. All the retinisporas are excellent and hardy. Particularly good are R. plumosa, plumosa aurea, pisifera and filifera. For a large lawn the following make splendid specimen trees if given proper room for development and showing their individuality: Picea Douglasii; Picea pungens glauca Kosteriana, or Koster's blue spruce; Picea alba, or white spruce; Tsuga canadensis, or hemlock spruce; Sciadopitys verticillata, or Japanese umbrella pine; Pinus austriaca, or Austrian pine; Pinus Strobus, or white pine; Abies concolor, or Colorado silver fir; Abies Nordmanniana, or Nordmann's silver fir, and Abies Veitchii, or Veitch's silver fir.

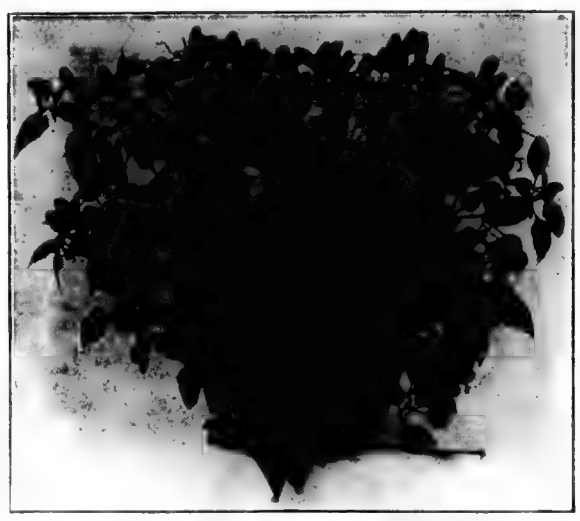
planting evergreens, but in the last half of August and early in September the work can be successfully accomplished if cloudy, cool and moist weather prevails, if the work is carefully done and if the plants are kept well supplied with water. C. W.

PENNSYLVANIA LICENSES.

Pennsylvania now has a nursery inspection law, one of the provisions of which is that all persons, including nursery stock dealers and agents, soliciting for the sale of nursery stock in the state, must secure and carry with them a state license. Penalties for noncompliance with the law are provided and willful misrepresentation of stock offered for sale is made a misdemeanor.

The law is aimed at irresponsible nursery stock agents who have worked in the state during the last several years. They, it is declared, made many fraudulent sales by various schemes.



There also has been passed in Pennsylvania a law providing standards of purity for insecticides and fungicides. Excessive or fraudulent claims as to the value of these materials will be curbed, and labels must bear a true statement of what the package contains.

PROHIBITING IMPORTS.

The inconsistency of the demand by certain entomologists for the complete prohibition of plant imports is well illustrated in the annual reports of F. L. Washburn, in charge of nursery inspection in Minnesota. In his report for 1916 he says:

Importation of foreign stock is a menace to our domestic plants and trees because of the diseases and insects which may find their way into the country in spite of a thorough inspection of the stock, and we believe it would be highly advisable for the United States to discontinue all importations of foreign stock to this country with the exception of such stock as is brought in by the United States Department of Agriculture for experimental purposes. When we look at the vast amount of damage done in the past and the property loss at the present time caused by these imported pests, as in the case of the chestnut blight, the citrus canker, the brown-tail moth and the white pine blister rust, we feel that a quarantine against all European stock is advisable.

But in his 1915 report Mr. Washburn had recorded that some of the Euro-

FIELD-GROWN CARNATION PLANTS

We have had unusually favorable weather conditions for the growing of Carnation Plants thus far this season, and with continued good weather, they will be ready for benching somewhat earlier than previous years, and of very much better quality.

It is generally conceded by Carnation experts that the best results are obtained by early planting. Ready for immediate delivery.

pean stock has been found to be so clean that his department inspects it only perfunctorily. This is what he then said:

> We find that stock coming from Holland is, almost without exception, free from insect pests and beautifully packed. This is also true of azaleas shipped from Belgium. These latter plants reach us in such fine shape and so free from insect pests that we have adopted the plan of allowing the importer to unpack shipments, keeping them together, and preserving all tags, records, and numbers on boxes (burning packing), pending the arrival of the inspector. This saves us additional trips to a distant locality to examine small consignments arriving later than the main part of the shipment.

It is amazing that a man of standing, after giving the Holland and Belgium stock a clean bill of health, should within a year recommend its exclusion from the country.

LINCOLN, ILL.

The employees of the Gullett & Sons wholesale cut flower department and wholesale pot plant department enjoyed their annual picnic Thursday, August 2. The trip to the grounds on Salt creek, near Baker's fish trap, was made in hayracks, automobile trucks and other conveyances. A fine time was had in bathing, swimming, fishing and general outdoor sports. Seventy-five employees were in attendance. It was an all-day affair, an all-around success.

The committee in general charge of the arrangements consisted of three men from the wholesale cut flower department, Chris Leithauser, Roy Conklin and Walter Sieloff, and two men from the wholesale plant department, Lonsdale Copeland and Albert Sieloff. The ample provisions and the program of sports attested to the efficiency of the committee.

HYDRANGEA OTAKSA

IN FULL BLOOM FOR SUMMER DECORATION

We have a large stock of plants grown in tubs and half-barrels, and they are in fine shape for August flowering. These make fine decorative plants for watering places and other summer resorts.

Large plants in 14-inch ordinary butter tubs, $2.50 and $3.00 each—according to size.

In addition to Otaksa, we have some very nice plants of Mme. E. Mouillere, the finest of all white Hydrangeas, which we can supply at the same price—$2.50 and $3.00 each.

Very large specimens of Otaksa in half-barrels, $10.00, $12.50 and $15.00 each—according to size.

We can supply, also, a few hundred small plants of Otaksa in 5-inch pots, one or more flowers per plant, at $3.00 per dozen.

Dreer Specials in Ferns

Adiantum Farleyense Gloriosum
The Glory Fern
(Ruhm von Mordrecht)

This splendid Fern, which so closely resembles Adiantum Farleyense in appearance and which does not require the special skill and care in growing that is necessary to produce good plants of A. Farleyense, has quickly made a place for itself not only on account of the fact that it can be produced for little over half that of growing Farleyense, but also because either in a cut state or as plants used in decorative work, it will outlast the old variety ten to one, making it an available subject where Farleyense cannot be used at all. Since its introduction some five or six years ago there has never been a supply large enough to meet the demand.

We have this season prepared an extra large stock and we offer

2¼-inch pots	$1.50 per doz.;	$10.00 per 100
3-inch pots	2.00 per doz.;	15.00 per 100
4-inch pots	3.50 per doz.;	25.00 per 100
5-inch pots	9.00 per doz.;	75.00 per 100

Asplenium Nidus Avis
Bird's Nest Fern

A splendid healthy lot of 2¼-inch pots, $1.50 per doz; $10.00 per 100; fine 3-inch pots, $2.50 per doz; $20.00 per 100.

Cyrtomium Rochfordianum Compactum
Awarded a Silver Medal at the National Flower Show, Philadelphia, April, 1916.

A splendid compact growing form of Cyrtomium Rochfordianum which originated with us. A variety which is meeting with universal favor. It is valuable either as a small plant or for growing on into specimens. We offer a fine stock.

2¼-inch pots	$6.00 per 100;	$50.00 per 1000
3-inch pots	1.25 per doz.:	10.00 per 100
4-inch pots	2.50 per doz.:	20.00 per 100

We also offer seedlings in flats, about 200 plants to a flat, at $3.00 per flat.

ASPLENIUM NIDUS AVIS (Bird's Nest Fern)

CYRTOMIUM ROCHFORDIANUM COMPACTUM

Pteris Rivertoniana
Awarded a Silver Medal at the National Flower Show, Philadelphia, April, 1916.

This is one of the most distinct and desirable of the many crested forms of Pteris now grown.
2¼-inch pots, $6.00 per 100; $50.00 per 1000.

Pteris Childsi

This beautiful variety is to Pteris what Farleyense is to Adiantums, and like that variety produces no spore, so that propagation is by the rather slow method of division, which will keep it a rare variety. The plant is of strong growth, attaining a height of about 20 inches; fronds large, pinnæ deeply dentated and undulated; tips crested. Makes a beautiful specimen for exhibition
Fine plants, 5 inch pots, 75c each.

We extend a cordial invitation to all delegates of the S. A. F. & O. H to visit our Nurseries at Riverton, N. J., on their way to or from the Convention, and also call your attention to our display at Convention Hall, where we will show a full line of samples of our various specialties. Our representatives will be in attendance and will be pleased to meet you.

MILWAUKEE.

The Market.

A spell of extremely hot weather has left the trade in a rather wilted condition. What little stock there is in the market is in about the same condition and the business done is next to nothing. The demand seems to be strong for this time of year, but the supply is so limited that there is nothing left to sell after the standing orders have been taken care of.

Carnations are scarce and only of medium quality. The throwing out process is nearing completion, but the new plants are smaller than usual and are not coming along so fast as heretofore. Asters are not arriving in any quantity as yet, so it is impossible to use these as a substitute for carnations.

Roses are arriving in small quantities and the quality is not so good as it might be. This stock is moving with no effort and a much larger quantity could be handled to advantage were it available. Lilies have shortened considerably and the demand easily takes care of the receipts each day. Valley remains scarce and is cleaned up early each day.

There is a fair quantity of gladioli being handled each day, but this is a small item and does not help the shortage, which is really acute just now, despite the fact that business is light.

Various Notes.

John J. Stuppy, of the Stuppy Floral Co., St. Joseph, Mo., was a visitor July 31.

M. E. Horacek, with the Hiawatha Gardens Co., Minneapolis, Minn., and G. A. Lien, of Washburn, Wis., were also visitors last week.

From present reports, it seems that C. C. Pollworth is the only local man who contemplates attending the convention. H. J. S.

Greenhouse Heating.

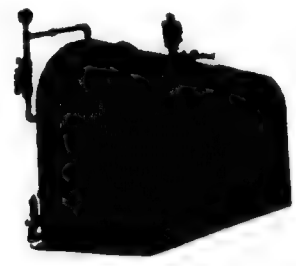
SUBSCRIBERS are invited to write the Editor of this Department with regard to any details of greenhouse heating that are not understood. But please do not ask The Review to make a choice of apparatus for you. The greenhouse heating equipment advertised in this paper is, we believe, the best for the trade to buy, and each article the best in the special field of its adaptation.

MAY CURB COAL PRICES.

Drastic action by the state to curb high prices of coal was recommended to the Illinois State Council of Defense by the council committee which last week met with representatives of the coal mine operators of Illinois.

The report said: "There is no excuse for the present high prices of coal in Illinois." Whether the action would be a request for a special session of the legislature to give greater powers to the council or an order fixing a maximum price was not announced. The report called attention to the fact that coal which was selling last year for $1.25 a ton is now being quoted at $2.75 a ton. Wages have gone up only 20 cents a ton. "This increase," the report declares, "cannot account for a jump of $1.50 a ton in the price of coal at the mines between July, 1916, and July, 1917. Federal action has been and may be so long delayed as to be totally ineffective. If no other way remains, the control of prices in Illinois alone will be urged and enforced if necessary."

WILL CHANGE THE BOILER.



I have a greenhouse 16x61, five and one-half feet high to the eaves and eleven feet high to the ridge. The house runs north and south. The north end is boarded up and lined with tarred roofing; the space between the inner and outer boarding is filled with sawdust. The west wall contains one foot of glass; the east wall contains two and one-half feet of glass. The south end has a 2½-foot sash across it. The rest of the house is finished like the north end.

Please tell me what size of Wilks boiler will be needed to heat this house to 60 degrees when the outside temperature is, say, 20 degrees below zero. Will a boiler 34x48 be too large? I am trying to get a used boiler and am wondering whether a boiler larger than is required would be unsatisfactory. Will you tell me how to install it? I have a quantity of 1¼-inch pipe and some of the 1½-inch size. At present I am using a boiler of another make and

"The Boiler of Unequaled Fuel Economy"

The Kroeschell has replaced hundreds of cast iron boilers. In every case higher temperatures are secured with the Kroeschell, with the same piping and with less fuel.
KROESCHELL BOILERS, the best by test since 1879. Forty years' experience—guaranteed design—workmanship and working capacity.

The Kroeschell is making the most wonderful greenhouse heating record in the world. Florists who have used other makes are constantly giving the Kroeschell the highest praise.
3,016,286 sq. ft. of glass was equipped with Kroeschell Boilers during the year of 1916.

Hundreds of Florists' Review readers are using the Kroeschell Boiler and mighty is their praise. The year of 1915 brought an enormous number of new customers who saw our boiler in operation at other places. We attribute the large sales of this season to the good work the Kroeschell Boiler is doing everywhere.

With our policy—"the customers' interest first"—perfection of construction—factory to user prices—honest and "true blue" boiler ratings—you simply cannot lose.

EXPRESSIONS FROM MEN WHO KNOW BOILERS

ONE OF BOSTON'S WELL KNOWN GROWERS.
The Kroeschell has taken the place of four cast iron boilers at a big saving in coal. We are using it now for the fifth year. The longer we use it the better we like it.
(Signed) A. B. KNOWLTON, NORTH GRAFTON, MASS.

THE PLANT KING OF THE WEST.
I have used Kroeschell Boilers ever since I built my first greenhouse. They have always given me the very best satisfaction and I believe them as good boilers as money can buy.
(Signed) F. OECHSLIN, CHICAGO, ILL.

OHIO'S CELEBRATED CYCLAMEN SPECIALIST.
After using your No. 12 Kroeschell Boiler I came to the conclusion that had I to install more boilers it would be the Kroeschell and no other. It really is a pleasure to heat, no trouble to get the desired heat in a very short time.
(Signed) CHRIST. WINTERICH, DEFIANCE, OHIO.

THE QUALITY PLACE OF BOSTON.
Regarding the Kroeschell, it is the best we have ever had and satisfactory beyond our expectations. It heats up especially quick and has saved us considerably already in the price of fuel. When we are in need of another boiler we will give the Kroeschell the first consideration.
(Signed) WM. W. EDGAR CO., WAVERLEY, MASS.

A BIG MAN IN THE FLORICULTURAL WORLD.
The Kroeschell Boiler I installed last year usually runs from 10 p. m. to 6 a. m. without attention. I do not have the least trouble to keep temperatures in the coldest weather. The boiler has given entire satisfaction.
The Kroeschell is the best boiler we have ever handled.
(Signed) CHARLES TOTTY, MADISON, NEW JERSEY.

A FAMOUS ILLINOIS ROSE RANGE.
In speaking of the Kroeschell Boiler as an economical greenhouse boiler I cannot say too much. Personally I have had the pleasure or misfortune to fire nearly every make of greenhouse boiler on the market and I can safely say the Kroeschell is the best of them all.
(Signed) CHAS. McCAULEY, RIVERBANK GREENHOUSES, GENEVA, ILL.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST MUSHROOM PLANT.
We spent $100,000 in building and equipping the largest modern mushroom plant in the world. We purchased in every instance the best of everything we could get, and the fact that we installed a Kroeschell Boiler to furnish our heat is sufficient evidence of our opinion of same.
Since installing this boiler and operating it we have never had any reason to change our opinion.
(Signed) FALMOUTH MUSHROOM CELLARS, INC., FALMOUTH, MASS.

The carnation range of Mr. Nic Zweifel, of North Milwaukee, consists of nearly 70,000 sq. ft. of glass and the water plant is heated by a No. 14 and No. 15 Kroeschell Boiler and Kroeschell Generator. The product of the plant is known throughout the West for its fine quality. Mr. Z. has used different kinds of boilers. As for the Kroeschell, he says: "I think the Kroeschell Boilers are the best boilers a florist can buy."

it is unsatisfactory; I cannot get it installed so it will keep the pipes hot more than two or three hours at a time.

L. H. C.—Ill.

Not over 500 square feet of radiation should be needed for heating a greenhouse of the dimensions stated, to 60 degrees, and a boiler rated at a capacity of 650 to 700 square feet should be ample. We do not recall the capacity of the different sizes of Wilks boilers, but one with a grate 34x48 inches is certainly three or four times as large as is needed. In case additions of considerable size are soon to be made, the boiler described might be installed and used with a fair degree of economy if about one-half of the grate bars are disconnected and the size of the grate is reduced by means of fire brick.

We would locate the boiler so that it will be below the level of the returns and we would then run two 2½-inch flow pipes either on the plates or just under the purlins, preferably the latter. For returns we would use thirteen 1½-inch pipes, placing seven on the south wall and six on the north wall.

In case there is a raised bench in the center of the house, we would use three 2-inch flows, placing the third flow under the ridge. With three flows, only twelve returns will be needed, in three coils of four pipes each, on the walls and under the middle bench.

IS PRESENT PIPING ADEQUATE?

I have a range of greenhouses 100 feet in length, with a total width of seventy feet. There are two main feed pipes, each 5-inch, from an 80-horsepower boiler, and there are also two 5-inch returns to the boiler. Connected to the main header pipe are ten 2½-inch flows, feeding about forty 2-inch returns. Are there enough feed pipes from the boiler and enough main returns? Would it save much fuel to have more openings made in the boiler for flows and returns? The grate of the boiler is 3x4 feet. The boiler tubes are 3-inch and are ten feet long. A. R. S.—Mont.

The data furnished do not cover the temperature desired in the houses, the amount of glass in the roofs and sides, or the number of tubes in the boiler, but a 25-horsepower boiler would undoubtedly heat the houses.

If a temperature of 60 degrees will answer, we would consider that the forty 2-inch returns, in addition to the main flow pipes, would suffice. With houses about fifteen feet in width and 100 feet in length, we would prefer to run a 2½-inch flow on each plate, but good results should be secured with the arrangement described, provided the return pipes are well above the top of the boiler.

North Warren, Pa.—Victor Offerlee is erecting a greenhouse establishment next to Hygia Hall. The location is excellent and as Mr. Offerlee will have a modern place, its success is assured.

The Market.

There was more activity in the market last week, despite the weather, which has been intensely hot. Sweet peas were burned considerably, but some growers have been cutting good quality stock, which sells fairly well. The gladiolus season is opening. Splendid quality America and Mrs. Francis King have reached the market and clear at $3 per hundred. Many other smaller varieties also are seen.

Double gypsophilas are favorites with buyers and are being grown more extensively this season. White asters of good quality have arrived and sell for $2 per hundred. There is little demand for the poorer grades. A few dahlias have arrived. Candytuft and achillea are abundant. Quantities of coreopsis, zinnias, lupines, bachelor's buttons, gaillardias and sweet alyssums are in the market, but meet little demand. Roses are plentiful. Russell is the best, but is showing the effects of the heat. Carnations are of poor quality. Easter lilies are plentiful. Ferns are coming in good supply from local sources. Speciosum lilies sell slowly. All kinds of greens are in the market in a supply greater than the demand.

Various Notes.

Charles E. Sharp was in Dansville August 1 attending the annual outing of the Sea Breeze fire department, of which he is a member.

Felix Alberts, of Buffalo, was in the city August 2.

Edwin C. Armbrust was in Buffalo August 1. He has since left for New Britain, Conn., for a ten days' vacation with relatives.

George B. Hart and family are spending the summer at Lakeside. Mr. Hart makes daily trips to the city by automobile.

George Case, of James Vick's Sons, is away on a two weeks' vacation.

Horace J. Head was one of the participants in a Red Cross benefit concert at Hilton, N. Y., July 29.

George T. Boucher returned August 2 from an automobile trip to Chicago, Ill. He was gone three weeks. Aside from being arrested in Benton Harbor, Mich., for speeding, the trip was most enjoyable, Mr. Boucher says.

Mary Smith, of George T. Hart's force, is away on a vacation.

Florists were busy August 3 with orders for the funeral of a prominent business man who was killed in an automobile accident. August 4 also was a busy day, the demand for flowers being larger than the supply.

The James Vick's Sons force is busy on the seed farm now. The clear weather of the last two weeks has enabled the men to plant the asters, of which there are 135 acres. It is not expected that asters and hardy stock will give a full crop because of the wet weather earlier in the season.

The Rochester Exposition and Flower Show will be held at Exposition park beginning Labor day, September 3, and will continue through the week. Besides premiums offered by the exposition, numerous prizes and silver cups have been donated by local florists.

Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose H. Secker are visiting relatives in Shortsville, N. Y.

The Market.

The demand continues active for this time of the year. The market is well supplied with stock, but the flowers clear well. Funeral work has been extensive this week and has been the most important factor in utilizing the large supply of lilies. The old crop of carnations is completely gone. Summer roses are becoming poorer and receive but little attention. They sell at from $1.50 to $5 per hundred.

Gladioli continue plentiful, but the supply is consumed daily. They are of good quality and move at $3 and $4 per hundred. Asters are fairly plentiful but still of poor quality, the price ranging from $1.50 to $3.

Various Notes.

Wm. Smith, from Iowa, formerly with the A. Wiegand's Sons Co., is visiting in the city.

The Bertermann Bros. Co. has installed a new pneumatic water pressure system at its Cumberland range.

Asters are poor in this section; those of Hartje & Elder and John Grande, Sr., were among the best.

The committee on wind storm insurance has been holding a number of meetings. Herman Young has been especially busy and announces that the committee soon will be ready to send out literature on this new project.

Allen Humason, of Chicago, visited the trade last week.

John Grande, Jr., was in the list of those conscripted.

Baur & Steinkamp have completed benching their carnations.

Edward Reinken is no longer with the Indianapolis Flower & Plant Co.

Henry Elsner has gone to Louisville, to stay indefinitely. Bertha Elsner has gone on a two weeks' vacation.

Mr. Bookedis has purchased a new 7-passenger touring car.

Mrs. A. P. Reynolds has had a nervous breakdown and at present is in the hospital awaiting an operation. E. E. T.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.

Charles Smith and his son, Joseph, returned last week from a three weeks' stay in the Berkshires. Mr. Smith is much improved in health.

William Doel, son of William Doel, of Pascoag, has been at Block Island on a few days' recreation.

Alonzo Vose is preparing to erect two more greenhouses at his range in Woonsocket.

Timothy O'Connor and family are enjoying their leisure time this summer at Narragansett Pier.

George C. Kelley is making a number of alterations at his greenhouses.

Albert Holscher has already got a long start on his early chrysanthemums at his houses on Hartford avenue.

John A. Macrae has more than an acre of unusually fine looking carnation plants, which he is commencing to bench.

William Crompton had a funeral commission last week by which he furnished more than a dozen designs.

Samuel Resnick, with Joseph E. Koppelman & Co., has been enjoying a few days' sojourn at Block Island.

Fred Dietz, of French street, has been on an automobile trip to New York and Philadelphia, combining business and pleasure. W. H. M.

Myers & Company, well-known florists of Bluffton, Indiana, write as follows:

Regarding the line of Fertilizer you offer The Greenhouse Trade, will say we have used it the past season with very gratifying results. My only regret is that we did not begin using it sooner. We used it on the carnations, greens, etc., as per your instructions, and have never cut as many or as nice stuff as this season. We also used it on the roses, and the crops of Ophelia beat anything around here. Our soil is a very heavy clay and your line of Fertilizer just fills the bill exactly, when used with plenty of manure in the soil.

Yours respectfully, MYERS & COMPANY,

KNOXVILLIANS TAKE DAY OFF.

The Knoxville, Tenn., Florists' Society held its fourth annual picnic August 3, at a fish trap on the Holston river, near Mascot, Tenn. Heretofore the picnics have been held at quite a distance from Knoxville and considerable time has been taken up in going to and from the place. This time it was decided to have it as near as possible, so Mascot island, a distance of about fifteen miles from Knoxville, was selected as the place. The trip was made in automobiles to the river, where rowboats were used to cross to the island.

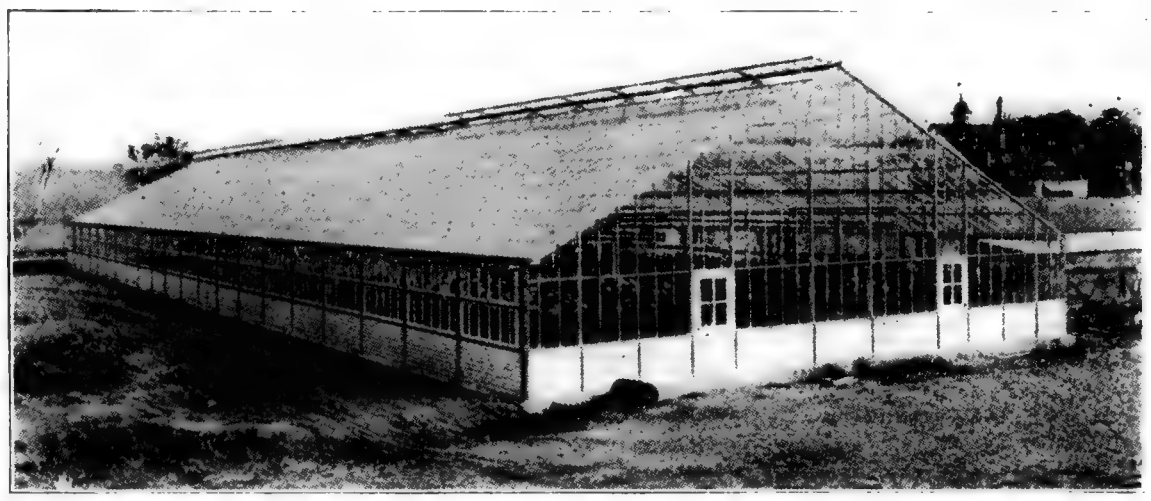
The forenoon was spent in rambling about the grounds and exchanging notes in the shade of the beautiful trees. At noon a bountiful dinner was served, and it seemed that everyone had a good appetite. Dinner over, many made for the river; some fished, some took target practice, while others just sat around in the shade and watched the various amusements. Late in the afternoon the entire crowd enjoyed a watermelon feast and soon after departed for home. The day was ideal for a picnic and the place was one of the most appropriate for the occasion in eastern Tennessee.

R. E. M.

NEWARK, N. J.

Business was quiet with the retailers last week, but the growers were busy. Most of them have their chrysanthemums benched. Carnations in the field are doing well.

The annual outing of the Essex County Florists' Club was held August 1, at Gillette, N. J. There were about 125 persons present, among them being several from New York city. There was a program of athletic events and a picnic supper. The crowd was taken from Lincoln park, Newark, to the grounds by automobiles.



McLaughlin & Murphy were unusually busy with funeral work during the last ten days.

Charles Luthy has been doing a good business at his new branch store on West Elizabeth street.

J. E. & A. G. Hutchinson, 227 Broad street, Elizabeth, have closed their store during the month of August. This is the firm's annual custom. R. B. M.

Ashtabula, O.—Silvieus & Silvieus, Roy L. and Virginia C., are planning to open a retail store this autumn in a town of 20,000 inhabitants which already has two flower stores.

Great Saving in Preparing Land for Carnation Stock

Following is what Kretschmar Bros., of West Nyack, New York, say of the System:

"It has always been a great expense to prepare our land for the carnation stock before planting, as each day we would only plough enough for the day's planting so that we could work in moist soil. This also would be all hand raked to get it in the best condition. We can now plough the whole strip and harrow with a spiked tooth harrow and use the Skinner System after each day's planting to water them down."

BERRIED PLANTS.

NEW SOLANUM EUREKA.
The greatest novelty in berried plants for Christmas. This solanum, unlike the old variety, bears its berries on the top of the plant, which gives it the appearance of a solid mass of large red cherries.
The habit of the plant is dwarf and bushy; the fruit is perfectly round, the color a brilliant red and larger than an ordinary cherry.
A 4-inch plant will carry from 150 to 200 berries.

3-in. plants, ready now	$12.00 per 100
4-in. plants, ready Sept.	20.00 per 100
5-in. plants, ready Sept.	35.00 per 100

PUSH

Don't stop for anything. Keep pushing every day. Make today bigger than yesterday and tomorrow bigger than today.

And don't depend entirely on YOURSELF. If your work is on the eighteenth floor of an office building, DON'T WALK UP THE STAIRS—USE THE ELEVATOR. If you want to ask a question of someone on the other side of the city, DON'T SPEND HALF A DAY GOING TO SEE HIM—USE THE TELEPHONE. Take advantage of the modern forces ALL AROUND YOU. Take advantage of the wonderful opportunities that other brains and organizations have provided to SAVE YOUR TIME AND SAVE LABOR AND HELP YOU MAKE MONEY.

Take advantage of the power of "Review" Classified Ads. They have built large and permanent business for many—for thousands of florists they have saved dumping a surplus; turned a loss into a quick profit.

They will do as much for you—but it is up to you to act. It is up to you to offer nothing but good stock, worth the money, and to get your ad to the office of "The Review" by

Winter-Flowering Sweet Peas

GIANT SPENCER VARIETIES

The best that can be procured for winter flowering under glass.

Five Good California Varieties

Early Snowflake, large, pure white, ¼ oz., 75c; ½ oz., $1.25; oz., $2.00.

Early Spring Maid, beautiful cream-pink, ¼ oz., 40c; ½ oz., 75c; oz., $1.25; ¼ lb., $4.00; lb., $12.00.

Early Melody, soft rose-pink, ¼ oz., 40c; ½ oz., 75c; oz., $1.25; ¼ lb., $4.00; lb., $12.00.

Early Song Bird, pale pink, ¼ oz., 40c; ½ oz., 75c; oz., $1.25; ¼ lb., $4.00; lb., $12.00.

Early Heather Bell, rich mauve, changing to lavender, ¼ oz., 40c; ½ oz., 75c; oz., $1.25; ¼ lb., $4.00; lb., $12.00.

YARRAWA

The most popular winter-flowering Sweet Pea. Color is beautiful rose-pink with a slight salmon tint. We offer a selected strain of this variety. ½ oz., 40c; oz., 75c; ¼ lb., $2.25; lb., $8.00.

Six Splendid Australian Varieties

CONCORD Spencer types

The Concord Varieties of Winter-flowering Spencer Sweet Peas are perhaps the most advanced and finest of all. The colors are distinct, clear and true. They flower earlier than any other type, and the blossoms are of large Spencer form, with long stems. Unfortunately they are shy seeders and, therefore, the seed is scarce and expensive We are obliged to offer in packets only this year.

Prices, any of the following:

Pkt. (50 seeds), 40c; 5 pkts., $1.75.

Concord Pink, beautiful delicate pink.
Concord Crimson, fine ruby red.
Concord Lavender, light lavender blue.
Concord White, large, pure white.
Concord Salmon, soft salmon pink.
Concord Blue, dark purple blue.

We have on hand fresh seed of Giant Flowered Cyclamen in all popular colors, also Primula, Cineraria, Calceolaria; Perennial Flower Seeds for summer sowing and Annuals for winter flowering under glass.

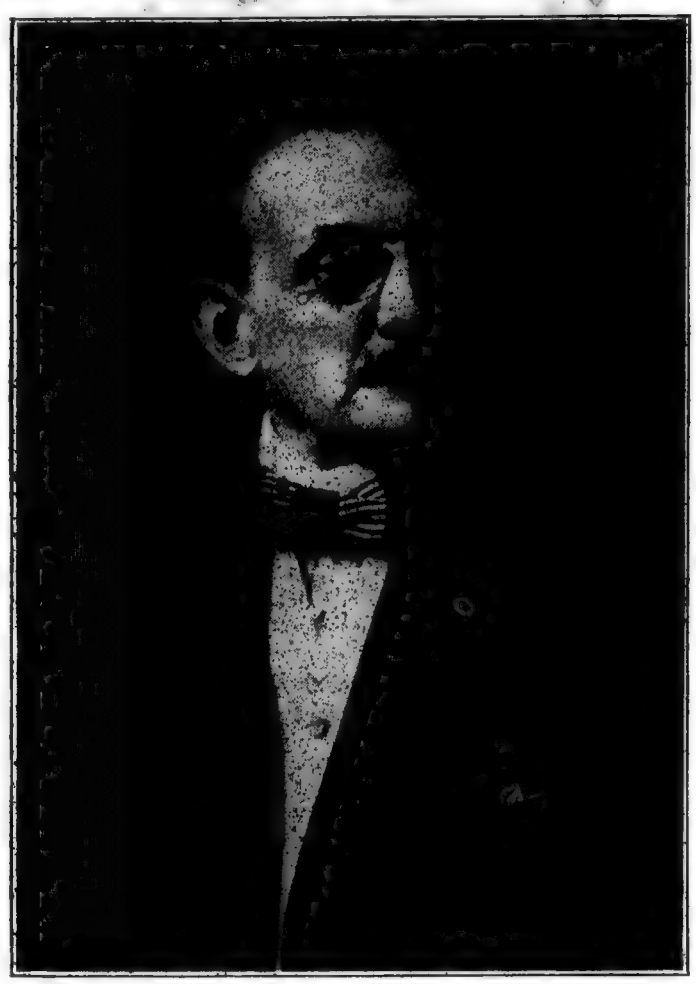
WHOLESALE GROWER OF CUT FLOWERS

30 E. Randolph St., PHONES: Central 2848 and 801 Greenhouses, Ravenswood 9825 CHICAGO, ILL.

1887 | 1917

¶ The oldest-established wholesale Cut Flower business in New York.

¶ A record unequaled in wholesale American floriculture.



118 West 28th Street, NEW YORK CITY

Telephone Nos. 167 Farragut and 3058 Farragut

HERE beginneth the thirtieth chapter of the Book of Allen, not quite as old a volume as the Psalms of David or the Proverbs of Solomon or the Book of Job, but far more practical and interesting to the retail florists and the growers of cut flowers in and around this wonderful city.

We are on the outskirts of a great revival. Never was there so bountiful a harvest. There will be food for man and beast. We hail our splendid staff of growers with high hopes, and we have room for more of them. There is no variety of flowers we do not handle. We ship to the leading out-of-town florists, and we sell to the cream of the local trade. If you are not yet on our books, it is your misfortune. "Every morning at 6" is our watchword. It has worn well. Don't visit the Convention without making a call on "the old reliable."

THE FLORISTS' REVIEW

"TAKE THE ELEVATOR AND SAVE ONE-HALF"

The application of a general merchandising idea to the management of a flower store conducted with unusually low overhead expense. How a Chicago retail florist, operating one store in which the service is of the most costly character also has built up a successful separate business on the low prices basis.

UPSTAIRS store methods as the means of selling flowers have been adopted by a Chicago florist and, at the close of a year's business, the innovation is a success, declare the men back of the enterprise. Under the name of the Ohio Floral Co., a store was opened on the second floor of the Ohio building, at the corner of Wabash avenue and Congress street, in May, 1916, an advertising campaign was launched and preparations were made to expend considerable money, if necessary, to discover whether or not a second-floor store in the business section, selling designs, cut flowers and plants at low prices, would be a money-maker.

"Take the elevator and save one-half" has been the slogan of the company's advertising, both in daily newspapers and on the windows of the store. While this was not original—many clothing and other classes of merchandising concerns have made the phrase familiar—it was unique in the retail branch of the florists' trade. Wreaths at $2 and sprays at $1.50 were the leaders announced in practically all of the advertising. Aside from a small card on the glass door at the entrance to the building, there was no opportunity for the pedestrian to know that there was a flower store in the building.

A Good Location.

The location has an unusual advantage, however, in that its windows, of which there are many, are but a few feet away from the elevated platform, from which thousands of persons daily take and leave trains to and from their homes. The proximity of the elevated structure also creates a disadvantage, as it partially shuts off the pedestrians' view of the windows from the streets.

Upon the windows are painted in large, bright red and white letters the name of the company, its business slogan, "Take the elevator and save one-half," "Wreaths $2, sprays $1.50," "Your money's worth or your money back," all of which savor of the department store. The large expanse of window space on both Wabash avenue and Congress street permits a striking display.

To attract business to a store so situated persistent advertising was necessary. The first announcements of the opening of the store brought business in such meager volume that the first week's receipts did not come near paying clerk hire. The second week was better; at the end of the year the store is paying expenses.

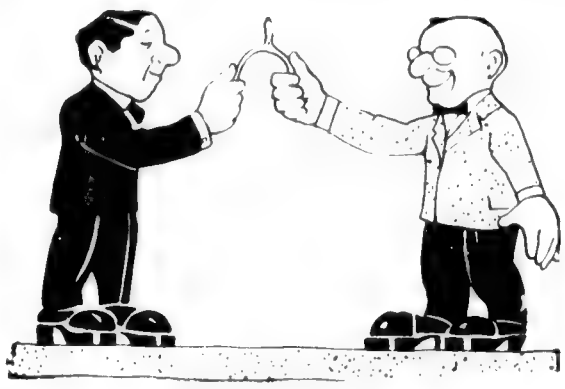
Appeals to the Thrifty.

This store and its method of attracting customers have demonstrated that flowers are, in truth, a necessity at one time or another to all the people. Its sales are made almost exclusively to persons who, by reading the advertising time and again, have the store name and location impressed upon their minds and who remember, when flowers are needed, that it is the best place to supply their needs for less money.

Consequently, weddings, funerals, celebrations of any kind that usually call for flowers or designs in the homes of those who wish to buy as cheaply as possible mean business for the Ohio Floral Co. The purchases are made when flowers are considered a necessity, and not usually for the gratification of a love of flowers.

Cut flowers and designs are the principal stock sold at this store. Elaborate bouquets and baskets make no appeal to the thrifty persons who trade there. Potted plants also sell well and there have been several calls for bedding plants and in one or two instances home owners have sought shrubs and trees.

Low prices for stock are made possible by the smaller rent a second floor location commands in comparison with the street level store in the same neighborhood; less expert help is needed, as there is little out-of-the-ordinary work to be made up; buyers are less exacting as to the attention they receive and sales are made rapidly; supplies cost less, as in most cases the purchases merely are wrapped in paper and taken away by the buyers, thus eliminating delivery cost, and there is no loss from bad accounts, all sales being for cash.



Applying the Upstairs Store Idea to the Retailing of Flowers.

Sells Good Stock.

It might be supposed that a store doing such a business would be an outlet for poor stock only. Such is not the case, it is declared. The best stock that can be sold at the prices asked and leave a small margin over the wholesale cost is the policy of the store. Patrons of the establishment are given the advantage of the decreased cost of doing business, which is figured to be only two-thirds what it is in a street level store of the same general character.

Making a success of this venture required patience, that quality which is best described as gameness in the face of continued money loss, and, last, but most important, a consider-

It might be supposed that a store doing such a business would be an outlet for poor stock only. Such is not the case, it is declared. The best stock that can be sold at the prices asked and leave a small margin over the wholesale cost is the policy of the store. Patrons of the establishment are given the advantage of the decreased cost of doing business, which is figured to be only two-thirds what it is in a street level store of the same general character.

Making a success of this venture required patience, that quality which is best described as gameness in the face of continued money loss, and, last, but most important, a considerable capital of either cash or credit. Such an undertaking means only failure for the man who has insufficient capital and who has not the ability to stick when his weekly reports show that his bank account is growing smaller, even though his sales are growing larger.

The Ohio Floral Co. is owned principally by Oscar J. Friedman, who for many years has had a high-class store near-by in the Congress hotel. The direction of the upstairs store is in the hands of Victor Bergman, who also is in charge of the Friedman quality store. Consequently the same brains decide the policies and do the buying for two extremely dissimilar retail flower stores. In the one only the highest class trade is handled, in the other the opposite class.

Future for This Class of Store.

Mr. Bergman believes that there is a great future for the retail florists' business in stores that will cater to such a trade as does the Ohio Floral Co. Constant increases in the business done at the second floor store give him confidence in his belief that there are many persons who buy flowers occasionally and who will travel to a certain place when there is a chance to save money. And it does not particularly matter where that place is, be it upstairs or down.

But, he warns florists, such a store requires what has already been detailed, money and courage. The man who has a few hundreds or a few thousands of dollars will fail, because he will be unable to continue the sales-creating stimulant without which such a store would do almost no business—advertising, consistent and persistent.

Advertising. That is the keynote of such success as the Ohio Floral Co. store has attained. Advertising has made possible an innovation in the retail end of the florists' trade. No elaborate fixtures are needed. There is no considerable investment in stock and the many accessories to be found in the average modern retail store. There is no highly paid help. Business is created by advertising, but newspaper space in a large city is expensive and success lies only in the ability to "keep everlastingly at it."

BUSINESS EMBARRASSMENTS.

Charleston, S. C.—Paul M. MacMillan, attorney for the Rodgers Floral Co., which was thrown into bankruptcy by its creditors recently, has sent a letter to those having claims against the company offering settlement on the basis of 50 cents on the dollar. The letter states that if the company's affairs are liquidated by the court the creditors will receive practically nothing, but that Francis S. Rodgers, Jr., has made arrangements to pay the amount stated. The company is a copartnership between Francis S. Rodgers, Jr., and Harold E. Rodgers, the latter a minor. An inventory of the company's property placed the assets at $13,500, while the liabilities are $17,000. The assets, however, consist of stock in trade, boxes, open accounts and $2,300 due from the minor partner. It is claimed that Harold E. Rodgers, being a minor, can repudiate his obligation to the company and that a forced sale will cut the value of the other assets materially. The letter asserts that all creditors must accept the offer, or the court will be allowed to go on with the liquidation. The trade in Philadelphia is understood to be principally interested.

THE CANADIAN MEETING.

[The twentieth annual meeting of the Canadian Horticultural Association, the trade body in the Dominion, was the special feature of The Review for August 9.]

Officers Elected.

At the closing session of the convention of the Canadian Horticultural Association, at Montreal, August 9, the following officers were elected:

President—E. J. Hayward, of Montreal, Quebec.

First vice-president—George Douglas, of Toronto, Ont.

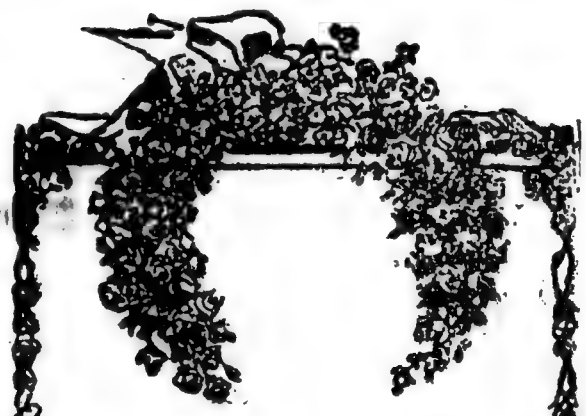
Second vice-president—E. B. Hamilton, of London, Ont.

Secretary-treasurer—H. J. Eddy, of Montreal, Quebec.

New members of the executive committee, to serve for three years—Luke Williams, Ottawa, Ont.; C. M. Baldwin, Toronto, Ont.; William Cotter, Montreal, Quebec.

This represents a complete change in the management of the society, none being a reëlection except that of Mr. Williams, who was returned to his place on the executive committee. Mr. Hayward was first vice-president last year and chairman of the local entertainment committee, of which Mr. Eddy was secretary; Mr. Eddy succeeds Julius Luck, who has been secretary-treasurer for many years.

It was voted to hold the next meeting August, 1918, at Ottawa, Ont.



Will Make War Record.

In view of the fact that many members of the association are or have been serving overseas, it was suggested by C. M. Baldwin, of Toronto, that some means be taken to record and honor the names of these men. This has not been done up to the present. The suggestion received the hearty approval of the association.

President James Fraser, of Prescott, who drove to Montreal for the meeting, has attended eighteen of the twenty conventions the association has held.

Bad Weather for Excursions.

The convention was conceded to be perhaps the best the association ever has held, in spite of the many reasons to expect the contrary. The weather was delightful on the opening day, but the two trips of inspection were marred by inclement weather the second and third days. The first trip was, as the guests of the city, for a drive through the parks and a visit to the greenhouses of McKenna, Ltd., Frank McKenna later reading a paper on the problems he has encountered in running the retailing end of the place. After the convention adjourned the visitors were the guests of the Montreal Gardeners' and Florists' Club on a trip to St. Anne de Bellevue, to visit Macdonald College and to view several of the private gardens at Senneville.

A SELF-WATERING BENCH.

Roy White, of the Lamar Greenhouse Co., Lamar, Colo., has received a patent on a self-watering greenhouse bench. It embodies the same principle as the Little Wonder plant irrigator. The bench is made of galvanized iron in any size and is about three inches deep. There is a perforated top which allows tubes with sponges to be placed at any distance apart.

Mr. White says the bench is only for potted plants. He has one of the benches in use at the Lamar range and says that it is a great labor saver. The bench is connected to the water supply and automatically fills itself, thereby eliminating the labor of watering. Mr. White says the plants do fifty per cent better in the bench, as there is always the right amount of water. Several of the benches will be installed in the Lamar greenhouses this fall.

Tama, Ia.—The Sheldon Gardens Co. has let a contract to the Foley Greenhouse Mfg. Co., of Chicago, for a greenhouse, 33x250 feet, to cost about $8,500. The Sheldon Gardens Co. was recently incorporated with a capital stock of $15,000, most of which was purchased by Tama business men. George Sheldon is the moving spirit in the enterprise.

FLORISTS ANSWER CALL OF MARS

THE TRADE'S PART.

Purely Personal.

Flowers are not classed among munitions, but florists make good soldiers and the trade will be represented in almost every department in the field, judging by the items of personal news that have come to hand this week. No doubt there are a great many more members of the trade who already have taken up arms and The Review will be pleased to hear of them.

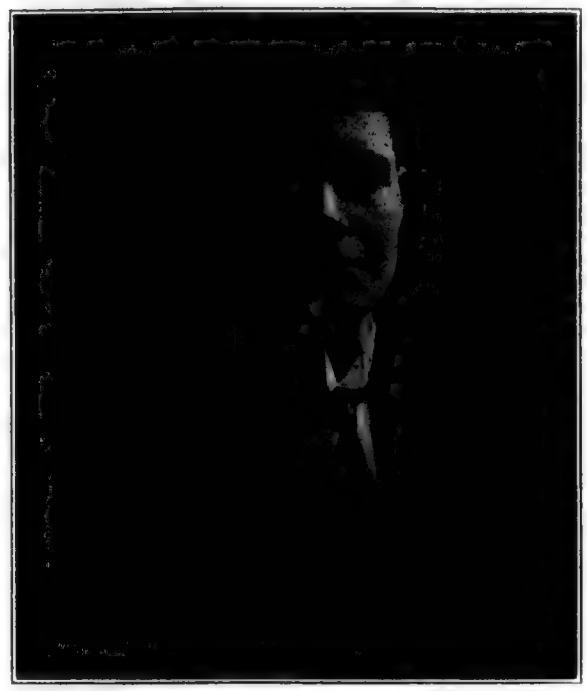
Correspondent Called to Colors.

Called into the service of the United States with the national guard, Adolph Ehmann, correspondent for The Review at Buffalo, is quartered at the Sixty-fifth Regiment armory awaiting orders. Mr. Ehmann, who is well known to the trade in western New York, is a member of Battery D, Third New York Field Artillery.

Building Wooden Ships.

Sherman W. Walker, president of the Portland Florists' Club and correspondent for The Review at Portland, Ore., has entered the service of the United States as inspector of hulls for the Shipping Board. The florists' trade has been recruited from practically all departments of human activity and before engaging in the greenhouse business, in which he was thoroughly successful, Mr. Walker was engaged in shipbuilding, so he has returned to a field in which he has special knowledge. It will be his duty to watch the work of building on the Pacific coast a part of the government's new fleet of a thousand wooden ships to break the U-boat blockade. Mr. Walker's greenhouse business is being continued in his absence and he intends to return to it when his task is finished.

Becomes Ambulance Driver.



The call of France, his native land, has been answered by Edward Dupuy, son of Louis Dupuy, nurseryman at Whitestone, L. I. Young Dupuy has joined the American Ambulance corps as a motor car driver and now is in France. His father is one of the several French nurserymen who have come to this country and established themselves.

Quits Flowers for War.

Harold William Crockford, florist, of Winthrop, Mass., had not been established in business many years when the United States entered the war. Nevertheless, Mr. Crockford had built up a good business and was making money. But recently he decided that he is needed to help fight the battles of his country, so he closed his store and enlisted in the Eighth Massachusetts regiment.

Chief Nurseryman in Reserve.

Lloyd C. Stark, president of the American Association of Nurserymen, who last week was reported as having resigned his office in the Stark Bros. Nurseries & Orchards Co., of Louisiana, Mo., to tender his services to the government, is in Washington, making his headquarters at the Army and Navy Club. He has joined the officers' reserve and is expecting to be commissioned in the new army. At Louisiana it is said he is to be placed as a captain of artillery. Mr. Stark was educated at Annapolis, for the navy.

O. W. Eklund.

To Fight for Adopted Land.

O. W. Eklund, foreman at the greenhouse range of the Sterling Floral Co., Sterling, Ill., was among those drafted June 5, has passed the physical examination and been enrolled in the United States army. He did not claim exemption.

Mr. Eklund was born in Kristianstad, Sweden, twenty-nine years ago. Before going to Sterling he was gardener at Minneapolis for Thomas Shevlin, the famous athlete and millionaire lumberman, who died two years ago. Of Mr. Eklund the Sterling Floral Co. says: "He has left ample testimony of his energy and skill, and it is with regret that this company cedes this valuable employee to Uncle Sam."

Haeger a Lieutenant.

In the great officers' training camp at Fort Sheridan, Ill., these last three months the trade has been represented by Frederick W. Haeger, of the A. L. Randall Co., Chicago. When the training camp closed August 13 it was announced that Mr. Haeger had been commissioned a second lieutenant of infantry in the officers' reserve corps. It is supposed that his first duty will be to assist in the training of the new army at one of the cantonments now in course of construction.

Will Join Officers' Camp.

Frank L. Sanders and Roland E. Hammer, both well known among St. Louis florists, will join the second officers' training camp to be held at Fort Sheridan, Ill. Mr. Sanders is manager of the flower department of the Grand Leader, a St. Louis department store. Mr. Hammer is a son-in-law of Fred C. Weber. Both are ambitious to become officers in Uncle Sam's army to be sent to Europe, and will work hard for commissions during the three months of intensive training.

Florist Gets Commission.

Maurice Bebb, the elder son of Robert Bebb and his chief assistant in the management of the affairs of the Muskogee Carnation Co., Muskogee, Ala., has just received his commission in the new army, after having spent three months in the officers' training camp at Little Rock, Ark.

Killed in France.

Howard Ford and William Hudson, employees at the Gullett & Sons establishment, Lincoln, Ill., could not wait until the United States got into the war to go to Europe and join in the fighting. So they enlisted with the allied forces. Word has been received that Mr. Ford was among those killed at Vimy Ridge, in France. Mr. Hudson was wounded four times, but has recovered and returned to the trenches.

Joins Aviation Corps.

Edwin Bebb, a graduate of Professor Dorner's department at the University of Illinois, and subsequently an employee of Mount Greenwood cemetery, Morgan Park, Ill., has been at the officers' training camp at Fort Sheridan since May, but recently has joined the Aviation corps and will fly an aeroplane in France.

CYCLAMENS LOSING FOLIAGE.

What is the cause of cyclamen plants losing their leaves? Some of the plants die. Others eventually have a new growth of foliage, but even these are not so well leaved as they ought to be. Any information you can give us will be appreciated. E. F. C.—Ore.

Possibly the soil is not altogether suitable or the drainage is defective. Another possible cause of loss of foliage is too deep potting. The corms should not be covered. For a compost, cyclamens like a loam containing a good proportion of leaf-mold, not too much rotted; also some sand and some old cow manure, well dried and broken up. I find it more necessary to use an abundance of leaf-mold and sand if the loam is naturally heavy. Keep your plants in a house or frames where they can be protected from the sun with lath shades. This manner of shading keeps them cooler than shading on the glass and allows them to get all available light in dark, cloudy weather. C. W.

West Haven, Conn.—Thomas Pattison says that unless something unforeseen happens to change his plans, he has decided to close down for the winter, as soon as the late chrysanthemums are gone. This can be done without much inconvenience by those who depend upon plants for the bulk of their business.

SOLVING SOME OF THE PROBLEMS

IT would need a book to deal with all the troubles of the retailer. In common with the rest of the world, we florists believe the work in which we are engaged to be the most exacting and the most laborious in the world. It comes often as a surprise to us that others think we are most fortunate fellows to dwell amid flowers, and to enjoy their beauty, coloring and fragrance while at the same time making a living. While we do love all these, we think sometimes that the customer does not begin to appreciate the problems and difficulties which prevent our living the "lives of flowery ease" many of them evidently think we lead. They do not think of the wide areas from which these flowers must be gathered; the changing seasons with their different requirements; the exacting public which wants the flowers it wants when it wants them; the difficulty of inculcating some conception of finance as well as of the rules of art into one's employees; the fragility and delicacy of our wares, which increase all the difficulties of purchase, transport and delivery; the losses from careless packing and handling; the excessive customs duties on flowers from the United States; the inadequate supply obtainable at the Christmas season; the eternal vigilance required to avoid monotony or sameness in the store arrangements; the kickers who demand immediate service and special attention; the efforts to get competent help; the enormous expenses, with the constant fear that these might eat up the profits; the sad experiences with giving credit which all retailers have.

Naturally, the ambition of every retail florist is that his business shall increase from year to year, and his problems must be related to the securing of that end. In the short time allotted to me it is impossible that I should deal with the thousand and one problems which the retail florist has to face. I will simply tell you a few of the main problems which I have encountered in our business, and the ways in which I have attempted to solve them. I will speak of buying, of the management of the store, with special reference to accounting and to deliveries, and of some general rules to be followed in the securing of new business.

Buying.

One of the big problems of the retailer is successful buying. Nothing but experience makes the buyer, and on him depends largely the success or failure of the business.

The first problem in buying nowadays is to decide whether one shall deal through a commission man or go direct to the grower. Trading direct with the grower is becoming more difficult every day. The reason for this is that the specialist is producing the best stock, and most growers are specializing today. That is a process through which all business is passing, and, though the difficulties of direct dealing increase, one can hardly quarrel with a process which produces better stock. It is a costly affair to secure a day's supply direct from the growers now. There are the telegrams and express charges on each shipment, and there is the cost of each box. Some growers even want to make profits on the box. Many disappointments ensue, and often unsatisfactory stock is received.

These considerations force us to the conclusion that we should buy from the commission man. No doubt he charges more for the stock, but we see what we are getting, and pay according to quality. It also cuts out our expenses for telegrams, express charges and the cost of boxes. Some say that flowers brought in from the growers last longer, but experience does not show this to have been always the case. Carnations and roses bought in Boston, and cut many hours longer than local or western stock, will at times be hard and sturdy after the home stock is asleep or fallen to pieces, even though the latter may have only come from three to fifty miles, and is supposed to have been cut the same day or, at the earliest, on the previous evening. More particularly is this true with regard to carnations. Boston stock appears to be better cured before shipping, and it will at certain seasons outlast by two or three days Ontario-grown or local stock.

It may seem hardly believable, but it is nevertheless true, that I have found it more profitable to pay twenty-five per cent duty on American stock than to buy locally. The reason for this is that what the American commission man has not he will endeavor to secure for us, whereas the grower simply replies too often "Impossible to ship," at an hour too late to buy elsewhere, or else he simply short-ships.

The idea of a local market deserves encouragement and support if only for the reason that short-stemmed or open stock may be obtained at a low figure should the requirement arise.

FRANK J. McKENNA

Author of this paper, read before the Canadian Horticultural Association at Montreal, August 9, 1917, is managing director of McKenna, Ltd., of that city. What he says embodies the experience of fourteen years' management of a business which had annual sales, at the beginning of that time, of $12,000 a year, and which had in the year just closed sales amounting to $142,000. These sales were all made in the retail business, and Mr. McKenna thinks it justifies him in claiming that it shows the business to be the largest in the Dominion.

Management.

Of all the problems confronting the florist, I believe the necessity of good bookkeeping is most neglected, and at the same time is the problem which, to my mind, it is most essential he should solve. It is notorious that a good florist is seldom a good accountant. Art and mathematics are poor mixers, and many men who are enthusiastic in their business cannot be convinced that they are neglecting a department vital to the success of their business. There are in the trade, however, some exceptions in men who have recognized the advantages of accurately systematizing costs and profits. These men state confidently that it is of primary value to them in being able to increase their business to know always at the end of each year, quarter or month, as the case may be, how much they can safely spend or put aside. The man who waits two or three years or longer to make a statement of his business deserves to find himself where he usually does, and that is nowhere. In all probability he will owe more than he is owed. In this connection, let me say that it is most important to keep personal and housekeeping expenses separate from your business expenses. I mention this because it is the most common mistake both of growers and retailers.

Keeping Tab on Business.

Just to illustrate my point, let us suppose your total sales for the year amount to $1,000, and that your books show the total cost of goods bought to be $600, or sixty per cent of the total sales, the business expenses to be $300, or thirty per cent of the total sales, and your profit to have been $100, or ten per cent of the total sales. Having discovered that your purchases last year were sixty per cent of the total sales, you could base your calculations on that. At any future time you could get a rough idea of your gross profits by deducting sixty per cent from your sales, and get at the profits approximately by deducting the actual expenses. If the next annual statement shows your percentage of the total sales for purchases to be higher, then you will know that you have sold your goods cheaper, and that to make the same profit you must get your expenses under thirty per cent, or increase the selling price.

Credit is the great bugbear of the retailer in any line of business, and is more so to the florist, who is usually lax in his accounting. The only satisfactory solution—I cannot urge it too strongly—is to employ a competent bookkeeper or accountant. If the latter has any ability he will soon show his worth in results achieved. If your business is too small to employ such a bookkeeper, there are many capable men and women looking for such work to occupy leisure hours. The amount of information you will secure about your own business by doing this will, I feel certain, increase your interest greatly in your business. By letting yourself know what you have already achieved it will enable you to set a goal for future efforts, and you will always have something to look forward to.

Other details of management I will refer to while considering the best methods of increasing the business, as all these problems have an intimate relation to each other.

New Business.

With a good location, attractive show windows well looked after, a limited amount of judicious advertising up to three or four per cent of the total sales, and the careful handling of all orders, a retail florist's business will grow as rapidly as one can well extend his facilities to look after it, and this without the aid of outside soliciting or crape chasing.

By the careful handling of orders, I mean not only that the flowers must be fresh and accompanied with sufficient green whether the green is charged for or not, but also that they must be done up to appear to the best advantage when received. We must always think of the effect produced on the person receiving the flowers. There is no excuse for a gift of flowers being wrapped only in a paper parcel for delivery. They should be in a box, and not bundled in, either. In certain cases they should be in a basket or vase. It must be acknowledged that many florists do not realize the importance of delivering flowers in a neat and attractive manner.

To avoid orders being overlooked, and charges being forgotten or lost, and to prevent disputes with customers, adopt a systematic routine for the handling of orders. Learn how others do it, and do likewise unless you can improve on their methods. I realize that I would be infringing on your patience if I were to go into full details on this subject, but I will take the liberty of making a few remarks on the use of duplicating order books.

Handling the Orders.

For many years I was strongly opposed to their use, but now I am just as strong in their favor. I have used them for three years, and find that the advantages outweigh many times the disadvantages.

Take the cash order, for instance. The original, which goes to the customer as a receipt, is a copy of the order, showing all details. This prevents many disputes. On a charged order the original remains with the duplicate until the time for delivery, and it is then filed without leaving the order desk. This prevents its being lost. Shipping tags are written in ink and attached to the duplicates. All orders are filled from the duplicate and notes of substitutions and made-up work are added and initialed by the clerk filling the order. These are our delivery records, and they are filed in the order of delivery. Once a day the original charges are filed alphabetically, summarized and handed over to the bookkeeper. This will show you a few of the advantages of the duplicate order sheet.

For c. o. d. orders a special c. o. d. delivery book is the best and simplest method.

Delivery.

Owing to the large territory which florists have to cover when making deliveries, auto delivery and messenger boys prove the most satisfactory methods. The lowest-priced machines with completely enclosed bodies, although not cheaper in upkeep and fuel consumption, afford the quickest means of delivering flowers, and therefore the best means in our climate. From my experience, I would not recommend using one of these machines for delivery for more than one year. After a year's service sell it and buy a new one. It pays. A delivery body, if well built, will outlast four or five chassis. Employ good, reliable help. It will cost you more, but it pays in the long run. The satisfied customer is your best advertisement. Good service in the delivery of orders has more to do with building up a successful business than all the other causes combined.

Bedding Plants.

Before I sit down I would like to say a word with regard to the sale of bedding plants in a retail store. It is a troublesome and unsatisfactory business for retail stores. My advice is, "Don't handle them." They suffer greater damage in a few days than the profits on them amount to. Should you grow them yourself, sell direct from the greenhouses, and make your customers go there. Don't say, "They won't go." They will if shown the advantages. We have proven it, and although we have not sold a bedding plant at the stores for years, we have developed the largest retail bedding plant business in the province, with gratifying results.

Herkimer, N. Y.—Neal Gleason, who owns a greenhouse here, intends starting in the florists' business, growing carnations, roses and pot plants. He says that the people of Herkimer now are forced to go out of town for flowers and that there is a good demand for stock.

WHO'S WHO IN THE TRADE—AND WHY

M. A. BOWE.

VISITORS to the S. A. F. convention next week will find the retail stores of New York city among the many interesting things they will see. And one of the stores that will be especially interesting is that of M. A. Bowe, 332 Fifth avenue, the proprietor of which is president of the New York Retail Florists' Association. By virtue of his position in the association, Mr. Bowe will be foremost among the local men who will do all they can to make the stay of the visitors pleasant. But even though he were not the head of the retailers' organization, Mr. Bowe would give the guests at Gotham a hearty welcome because he is a genial person. For proof of the last statement look carefully at the portrait above.

SOCIETY OF AMERICAN FLORISTS.

THE CONVENTION PROGRAM.

The thirty-third annual convention of the Society of American Florists, which will be held in New York city next week, beginning August 21 and ending August 23, naturally is the center of interest to florists everywhere. There probably is no city of any size in the country from which at least one florist will not attend, while in many places delegations have arranged to make the trip. What will be the effects of the war on the florists' business, of course, will be one of the principal topics of the addresses and discussions, but the program provides many other features that will hold the interest of the visitors. The Convention Garden at Bronx park, too, will attract many, as there are said to be some fine displays there. The New York Florists' Club has made arrangements for the convention and expects that there will be a record attendance at the sessions, which are to be held at the Grand Central Palace. Because of conditions there is no program of entertainment for the visitors, but New York and vicinity abound in places of interest, and no one who has the price will fail to find amusement in greater or lesser quantities, as he desires.

FIRST DAY, TUESDAY, AUGUST 21.

Opening Session.

2:00 P. M.—Opening exercises in Convention Hall.
Convention called to Order by George E. M. Stumpp, president of the New York Florists' Club.
Address of Welcome by Vice-President A. L. Miller.
Address of Welcome by Hon. John Purroy Mitchel, Mayor of New York.
Response, Robert Craig.
President R. C. Kerr's Address.
Reading of Minutes of Executive Board.
Report of Secretary, John Young, of New York.
Report of Treasurer, J. J. Hess, of Omaha, Neb.
Report of Washington Representative, W. F. Gude.
Reports of State Vice-Presidents.
Reports of Standing Committees.
Reports of Special Committees.
Discussion of Amendments to be voted on at evening session.
Miscellaneous Business.
Judging of Trade Exhibits.
Consideration of place of meeting for 1919.

Evening Session.

8:30 P. M.—President's reception in Convention Hall, Grand Central Palace. President Kerr wishes it distinctly understood that the reception will be informal and that the most comfortable clothing will be the most appropriate.
Amendments to Constitution and By-Laws to be voted on:
To amend Article II, Section 2 (a):
"Section 2. Elections and Appointments—
"(a) The president, first vice-president, secretary and treasurer shall be elected by ballot at the annual meeting of the Society, and their term of office shall begin with the first day of January next succeeding the election," by striking out the word "secretary" and adding: "The secretary shall be elected by the directors at the annual mid-Lent meeting and shall serve for one year." (If amendment is approved, the secretary elected at the next mid-Lent meeting of the Board of Directors shall assume office January 1, 1919.)
To amend Article III (b):
"Government, Executive Board—
"Between the sessions of the Society its government shall be vested in an Executive Board, consisting of the president, junior vice-president, secretary, treasurer and the board of directors. A regular meeting of the board shall be held each year about mid-Lent, at the call of the secretary, upon such date as the president may direct, etc.," by striking out the word "secretary" in the third line, after "vice-president" and before "treasurer."
Balloting on meeting place for 1919.
Polls open from 8:30 P. M. to 9:30 P. M.

SECOND DAY, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 22.

Morning Session.

LADIES' SOCIETY, S. A. F.

The headquarters of the secretary, Mrs. Charles H. Maynard, will be located near S. A. F. Secretary Young's office in the Grand Central Palace and will be open from 10:30 A. M. until 4 P. M. for the purpose of registration and payment of dues. Annual meeting at 10 A. M. August 22. Adjourned meeting August 23.

WHERE TO STOP IN NEW YORK.

The New York Florists' Club committee on arrangements for the S. A. F. convention in New York August 21 to 23 has made a list of hotels which it recommends to the delegates and their families. The list of these hotels and a schedule of rates at each follow:

Hotel Algonquin, 59 West Forty-fourth street, single with bath, $2.50; double with bath, $3.

Hotel Astor, Broadway and Forty-fourth street, single, $2 to $3.50; with bath, $3 to $6; double, $3 to $5; with bath, $4 to $8.

Belmont, Park avenue and Forty-second street, single, $2.50 to $4; double, $5; with bath, $5 to $6.

Biltmore, Madison avenue and Forty-second street, single with bath, $3.50 to $5; double with bath, $6.

Bristol, 122 West Forty-ninth street, single, European, $1.50 to $2; American, $3 to $3.50; double, European, $2.50 to $3; American, $5 to $5.50, all rooms with bath.

Flanders, 133 West Forty-seventh street, single with bath, $1.50 to $2.50; double with bath, $2.50 to $3.

Hotel Longacre, 157 West Forty-seventh street, single, $1; with bath, $1.50 to $2.50.

Manhattan, Madison avenue and Forty-second street, single, $2.50; with bath, $3 to $5; double, $4 to $8.

As some of these hotels will be busy at the time of the convention, it is urgently recommended that reservations be made in advance. Write any one of the hotels in the list, stating explicitly what you desire in the way of accommodations, and ask that reservations be made. You will receive prompt and courteous reply.

All of the hotels listed are convenient to the Grand Central Palace, the exhibition building, in which all of the sessions of the convention will be held and where registration headquarters will be located.

W. A. Sperling, Sec'y Hotel Committee.

AMERICAN ROSE SOCIETY.

There will be a meeting of the American Rose Society at the Grand Central Palace, August 23, 1917, at 11 a. m., following the morning session of the Society of American Florists. We hope to have a large attendance.

Benjamin Hammond, Pres.

RECEPTION COMMITTEE.

The reception committee of the New York Florists' Club asks visiting members of the S. A. F. and chairmen of the transportation committees of clubs to notify the undersigned immediately, at 117 West Twenty-eighth street, as to route of travel and time of arrival in New York.

Percy B. Rigby, Chairman.

COMMITTEE MEETINGS.

Chairman Patrick Welch, of the committee on National Credits and Collections Bureau, announces a meeting of that committee at the Hotel Biltmore,

Monday, August 20, at 8 p. m. All S. A. F. members are welcome.

Chairman W. F. Therkildson, of the committee on publicity, announces a meeting of that committee in the Grand Central Palace, Wednesday, August 22, at 9 a. m. John Young, Sec'y.

WIND AND HAIL.

The matter of the wind storm insurance will be up for discussion Sunday, August 19, on an express train from Indianapolis to New York. The committee appointed by the president of the S. A. F. has not yet had the opportunity to meet and prepare the report to be presented at the New York convention. The committee consists of Anders Rasmussen, New Albany, Ind.; E. G. Hill, Richmond, Ind., and J. F. Ammann, Edwardsville, Ill. They will get together at Indianapolis for the trip to the convention and will prepare their report on the train.

Mr. Hill is president of the Florists' Hail Association, J. F. Ammann is vice-president and Mr. Rasmussen is a director. Mr. Rasmussen also is the prime mover in the Florists' Mutual Casualty Association, which is being organized under the auspices of the State Florists' Association of Indiana.

The Florists' Hail Association will hold its annual meeting at the Robert Treat hotel, Newark, N. J., at 10 a. m., August 20. The special business will consist of the consideration and adoption of a new constitution and by-laws drafted by J. A. Valentine and the legal steps necessary to a renewal of the charter of the organization.

PENN'S PRODUCERS.

The thermometer registered 100 degrees in the shade at Boston August 1, but that fact did not bother the men of the force at the store of Penn, the Florist. Business was unusually heavy that day, there being orders for a number of funeral pieces that kept the designers on the jump. After the work was finished and ready for delivery, a man with a camera happened in and the force posed for him. The accompanying illustration is the result.

TATE'S TIPS.

The Telegraphic Delivery.

The telegraphic delivery of flowers is a feature of the business that has always appealed to me. It is the ideal way to deliver flowers when distance is a factor to be reckoned with, as it does away with the trouble and expense of packing and the danger of injury in transportation, to say nothing of weather conditions, extreme heat or cold. Then another feature that every florist should remember is the amount of business that is absolutely lost, simply because the public is not familiar with the system. To cite a case: A friend of mine died in Baltimore who had an only brother living in San Francisco. These brothers were devoted to each other and the first thing the family did was to telegraph to San Francisco. Of course it was impossible for his brother to get there in time for the funeral and I am sure he knew nothing of the F. T. D. service or he would have been represented at the funeral by a floral offering. Many such cases are happening every day. This is business entirely lost to the trade, the profit of which the florists of each city might have shared.

A National Business.

I fail to see how any florist can be satisfied with the narrow confines of his home town, when, by investing capital that is absolutely trifling in comparison with the results obtained, he can become a member of an organization that will make his business national in scope. To illustrate what I mean, take W. F. Gude, for instance. Everyone knows that Gude Bros. Co. is located at 1214 F street, N. W., Washington, D. C. Say a customer who has just been advised of the death of a loved one or friend in Denver walks into the store; they are in a position to take the order and assure the customer that it will be delivered in good condition almost as soon as they could deliver it in Washington. In this way Gude Bros. Co. and the florist in Denver divide the profit on business that would otherwise be lost to both. But I can hear the skeptics say that at such a distance no one knows what you are getting for your money! Everyone knows that the first thing some member of the bereaved family will do after the funeral is to write to the one who sent the offering, acknowledging its receipt and describing it to them, and no doubt marveling at the system that made it possible for a token of sympathy to be sent, bearing the card of the sender, thousands of miles away.

This feature of the F. T. D. carries out another idea of the association, the fostering of fellowship and good will among the florists themselves, for will it not be natural for a pleased customer to tell the florist from whom he ordered that he has heard from his friends or relatives and that a handsome offering had been sent?

Branch Stores Everywhere!

Now, both of the florists figuring in this transaction know that because of their memberships in the F. T. D. the whole transaction is guaranteed. The sender knows his order will be taken care of by reliable people and the other that there will be no question about the pay for his work—the association stands back of both. In fact, every member of the F. T. D. is in the same position as if he had a branch store in almost every city in the United States.

I have spent some time in investigating this organization, in talking to its members, and they are all loud in its praises. Every place that I ask about the F. T. D. there is the same reply, that business done through this medium is most satisfactory.

William F. Gude, of Washington, sent me a copy of the constitution and by-laws. In his letter he told me that these tell the whole story—I agree they do. They are as near perfect as it is possible for human agency to make them. How any florist can read this and not become a member is more than I can understand. The trustee fund is a feature that, as far as the interchange of business between members is concerned, makes Bradstreet's and Dun's useless. Another fine feature of the by-laws is the pledge each member must make before he can become a member. This binds him to faithfully observe and be bound by each article of the constitution and by-laws and report to the board of directors any irregularity or fraud that may come to his notice on the part of any member of the association.

In conclusion let me say that in The Review of July 19, page 14, there is an invitation to every florist in the United States to attend a meeting of this organization on the first day of the New York convention. Mr. Gude, its president, and Albert Pochelon, its secretary, will be there to explain its benefits. My advice to every retail florist who is not a member is—don't miss this meeting, for it will be an opportunity for you to derive more practical good for your business than any other feature of the convention that I know of.

SOCIETY OF AMERICAN FLORISTS.

THE CONVENTION PROGRAM.

The thirty-third annual convention of the Society of American Florists, which will be held in New York city next week, beginning August 21 and ending August 23, naturally is the center of interest to florists everywhere. There probably is no city of any size in the country from which at least one florist will not attend, while in many places delegations have arranged to make the trip. What will be the effects of the war on the florists' business, of course, will be one of the principal topics of the addresses and discussions, but the program provides many other features that will hold the interest of the visitors. The Convention Garden at Bronx park, too, will attract many, as there are said to be some fine displays there. The New York Florists' Club has made arrangements for the convention and expects that there will be a record attendance at the sessions, which are to be held at the Grand Central Palace. Because of conditions there is no program of entertainment for the visitors, but New York and vicinity abound in places of interest, and no one who has the price will fail to find amusement in greater or lesser quantities, as he desires.

FIRST DAY, TUESDAY, AUGUST 21.

Opening Session.

2:00 P. M.—Opening exercises in Convention Hall.
Convention called to Order by George E. M. Stumpp, president of the New York Florists' Club.

Report of Washington Representative, W. F. Gude.
Reports of State Vice-Presidents.
Reports of Standing Committees.
Reports of Special Committees.
Discussion of Amendments to be voted on at evening session.
Miscellaneous Business.
Judging of Trade Exhibits.
Consideration of place of meeting for 1919.

Evening Session.

8:30 P. M.—President's reception in Convention Hall, Grand Central Palace. President Kerr wishes it distinctly understood that the reception will be informal and that the most comfortable clothing will be the most appropriate.
Amendments to Constitution and By-Laws to be voted on:
To amend Article II, Section 2 (a):
"Section 2. Elections and Appointments—
"(a) The president, first vice-president, secretary and treasurer shall be elected by ballot at the annual meeting of the Society, and their term of office shall begin with the first day of January next succeeding the election," by striking out the word "secretary" and adding: "The secretary shall be elected by the directors at the annual mid-Lent meeting and shall serve for one year." (If amendment is approved, the secretary elected at the next mid-Lent meeting of the Board of Directors shall assume office January 1, 1919.)
To amend Article III (b):
"Government, Executive Board—
"Between the sessions of the Society its government shall be vested in an Executive Board, consisting of the president, junior vice-president, secretary, treasurer and the board of directors. A regular meeting of the board shall be held each year about mid-Lent, at the call of the secretary, upon such date as the president may direct, etc.," by striking out the word "secretary" in the third line, after "vice-president" and before "treasurer."
Balloting on meeting place for 1919.
Polls open from 8:30 P. M. to 9:30 P. M.

SECOND DAY, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 22.

Morning Session.

Hotel Woodward, Broadway and Fifty-fifth street, single, $1.50 to $2; with bath, $2 to $2.50; double, $2 to $2.50; with bath, $3 to $3.50.

As some of these hotels will be busy at the time of the convention, it is urgently recommended that reservations be made in advance. Write any one of the hotels in the list, stating explicitly what you desire in the way of accommodations, and ask that reservations be made. You will receive prompt and courteous reply.

All of the hotels listed are convenient to the Grand Central Palace, the exhibition building, in which all of the sessions of the convention will be held and where registration headquarters will be located.

W. A. Sperling, Sec'y Hotel Committee.

AMERICAN ROSE SOCIETY.

There will be a meeting of the American Rose Society at the Grand Central Palace, August 23, 1917, at 11 a. m., following the morning session of the Society of American Florists. We hope to have a large attendance.

Benjamin Hammond, Pres.

RECEPTION COMMITTEE.

The reception committee of the New York Florists' Club asks visiting members of the S. A. F. and chairmen of the transportation committees of clubs to notify the undersigned immediately, at 117 West Twenty-eighth street, as to route of travel and time of arrival in New York.

Percy B. Rigby, Chairman.

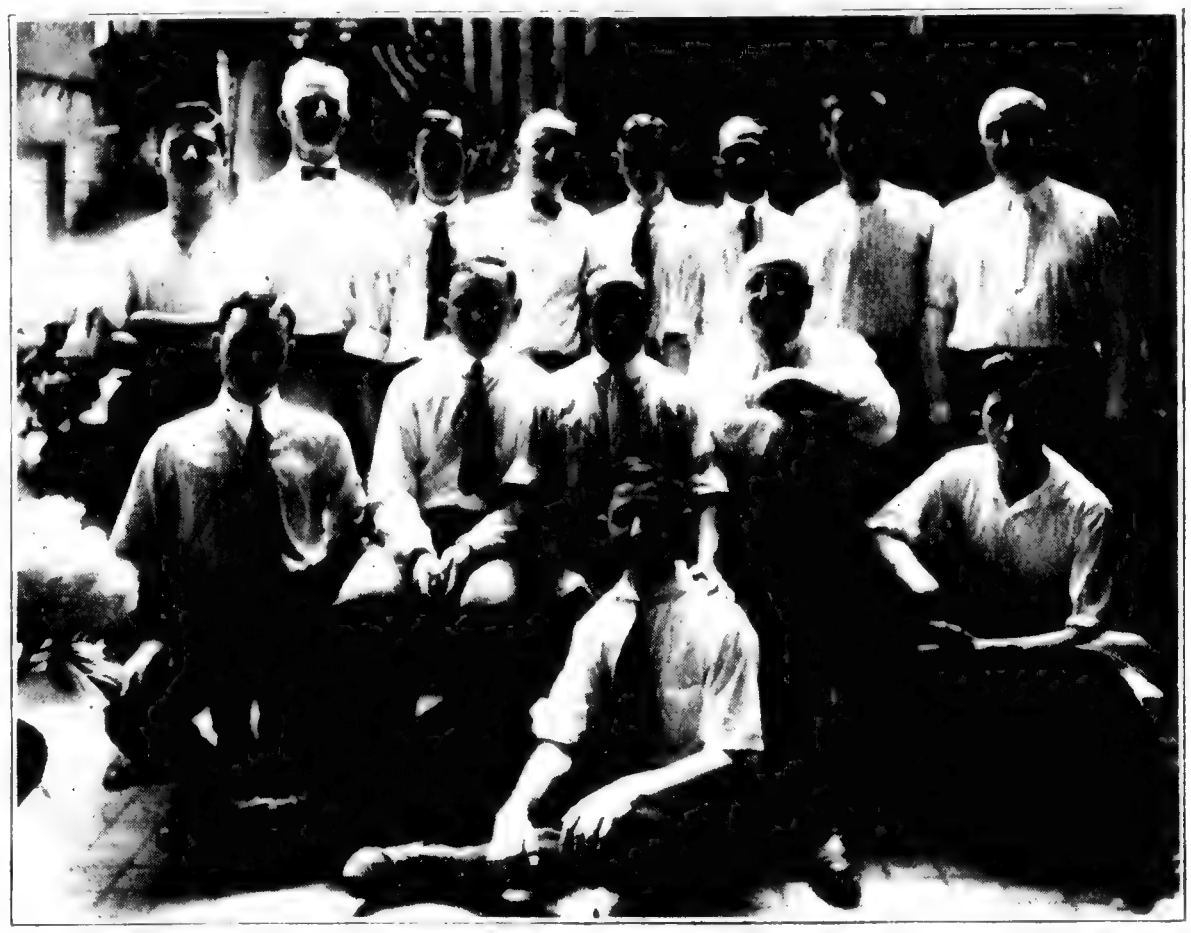
COMMITTEE MEETINGS.

Chairman Patrick Welch, of the committee on National Credits and Collections Bureau, announces a meeting of that committee at the Hotel Biltmore,

Monday, August 20, at 8 p. m. All S. A. F. members are welcome.

Chairman W. F. Therkildson, of the committee on publicity, announces a meeting of that committee in the Grand Central Palace, Wednesday, August 22, at 9 a. m. John Young, Sec'y.

WIND AND HAIL.



The matter of the wind storm insurance will be up for discussion Sunday, August 19, on an express train from Indianapolis to New York. The committee appointed by the president of the S. A. F. has not yet had the opportunity to meet and prepare the report to be presented at the New York convention. The committee consists of Anders Rasmussen, New Albany, Ind.; E. G. Hill, Richmond, Ind., and J. F. Ammann, Edwardsville, Ill. They will get together at Indianapolis for the trip to the convention and will prepare their report on the train.

Mr. Hill is president of the Florists' Hail Association, J. F. Ammann is vice-president and Mr. Rasmussen is a director. Mr. Rasmussen also is the prime mover in the Florists' Mutual Casualty Association, which is being organized under the auspices of the State Florists' Association of Indiana.

The Florists' Hail Association will hold its annual meeting at the Robert Treat hotel, Newark, N. J., at 10 a. m., August 20. The special business will consist of the consideration and adoption of a new constitution and by-laws drafted by J. A. Valentine and the legal steps necessary to a renewal of the charter of the organization.

PENN'S PRODUCERS.

The thermometer registered 100 degrees in the shade at Boston August 1, but that fact did not bother the men of the force at the store of Penn, the Florist. Business was unusually heavy that day, there being orders for a number of funeral pieces that kept the designers on the jump. After the work was finished and ready for delivery, a man with a camera happened in and the force posed for him. The accompanying illustration is the result.

Part of Staff of Penn, Boston, After Finishing Large Funeral Order.

TATE'S TIPS.

The Telegraphic Delivery.

The telegraphic delivery of flowers is a feature of the business that has always appealed to me. It is the ideal way to deliver flowers when distance is a factor to be reckoned with, as it does away with the trouble and expense of packing and the danger of injury in transportation, to say nothing of weather conditions, extreme heat or cold. Then another feature that every florist should remember is the amount of business that is absolutely lost, simply because the public is not familiar with the system. To cite a case: A friend of mine died in Baltimore who had an only brother living in San Francisco. These brothers were devoted to each other and the first thing the family did was to telegraph to San Francisco. Of course it was impossible for his brother to get there in time for the funeral and I am sure he knew nothing of the F. T. D. service or he would have been represented at the funeral by a floral offering. Many such cases are happening every day. This is business entirely lost to the trade, the profit of which the florists of each city might have shared.

A National Business.

I fail to see how any florist can be satisfied with the narrow confines of his home town, when, by investing capital that is absolutely trifling in comparison with the results obtained, he can become a member of an organization that will make his business national in scope. To illustrate what I mean, take W. F. Gude, for instance. Everyone knows that Gude Bros. Co. is located at 1214 F street, N. W., Washington, D. C. Say a customer who has just been advised of the death of a loved one or friend in Denver walks into the store; they are in a position to take the order and assure the customer that it will be delivered in good condition almost as soon as they could deliver it in Washington. In this way Gude Bros. Co. and the florist in Denver divide the profit on business that would otherwise be lost to both. But I can hear the skeptics say that at such a distance no one knows what you are getting for your money! Everyone knows that the first thing some member of the bereaved family will do after the funeral is to write to the one who sent the offering, acknowledging its receipt and describing it to them, and no doubt marveling at the system that made it possible for a token of sympathy to be sent, bearing the card of the sender, thousands of miles away.

This feature of the F. T. D. carries out another idea of the association, the fostering of fellowship and good will among the florists themselves, for will it not be natural for a pleased customer to tell the florist from whom he ordered that he has heard from his friends or relatives and that a handsome offering had been sent?

Branch Stores Everywhere!

Now, both of the florists figuring in this transaction know that because of their memberships in the F. T. D. the whole transaction is guaranteed. The sender knows his order will be taken care of by reliable people and the other that there will be no question about the pay for his work—the association stands back of both. In fact, every member of the F. T. D. is in the same position as if he had a branch store in almost every city in the United States.

I have spent some time in investigating this organization, in talking to its members, and they are all loud in its praises. Every place that I ask about the F. T. D. there is the same reply, that business done through this medium is most satisfactory.

William F. Gude, of Washington, sent me a copy of the constitution and by-laws. In his letter he told me that these tell the whole story—I agree they do. They are as near perfect as it is possible for human agency to make them. How any florist can read this and not become a member is more than I can understand. The trustee fund is a feature that, as far as the interchange of business between members is concerned, makes Bradstreet's and Dun's useless. Another fine feature of the by-laws is the pledge each member must make before he can become a member. This binds him to faithfully observe and be bound by each article of the constitution and by-laws and report to the board of directors any irregularity or fraud that may come to his notice on the part of any member of the association.

CLEVELAND.

The Market.

Welcome rains have come at last and caused a marked improvement in all outdoor stock. The asters have been benefited particularly, late arrivals showing a much better quality. There are no good sweet peas coming into the market at present. Local gladioli in the better varieties are being offered freely and are cleaned up daily. Roses have improved during the last week, the color now being good, with practically no scorched foliage in evidence. A limited quantity of excellent indoor asters is coming in, but hardly enough of them to cut any figure as yet. A persistent demand for orchids and valley finds the local supply decidedly low. Miscellaneous garden flowers are in better assortment and are as popular as ever for trimming. Easter and rubrum lilies are plentiful, the former selling as low as $6 per hundred.

Business for the first two weeks of August has been normally good, some concerns reporting gains, due chiefly to heavy and continued runs of funeral orders and an occasional large wedding decoration.

Various Notes.

We regret to report that the annual exhibition of the Ohio Gladiolus Society, which was scheduled to be held August 14, has been canceled on account of a pronounced scarcity of show stock. A thorough and extensive canvass of the situation convinced the society of the impossibility of making a creditable showing at this time. This condition is particularly regrettable, as a splendid setting had been secured for the display and every indication pointed to an unprecedented success.

Max Schling, of New York, is spending a part of his vacation at Akron, the former home of Mrs. Schling. Max could not be this near the Sixth City without making a pleasant call upon his friends in the trade. He is going to St. Louis and thence direct home, and expects to be in the pink of condition for the big convention.

Albert C. Oelschig, of A. C. Oelschig & Sons, Savannah, Ga., paid a visit to the Gasser Co. range last week, having been employed there thirteen years ago. He expressed himself as amazed at the many changes that had taken place. Mr. Oelschig reported business conditions in his section of the south as encouraging, with excellent prospects ahead.

The time for the holding of the fifth annual flower show in Cleveland, November 8 to 11, is rapidly drawing near, and invitations are out for contributions to the guarantee fund, only approximately a third of the amount guaranteed by members of the Florists' Club in 1915 being required this year. As flower shows in Cleveland have always been eminently successful, it will require but little time to raise this small amount. In conjunction with this exhibition will be held the annual meetings of the national rose, carnation and chrysanthemum societies.

Miss Dorothy Bailey, of the Westman & Getz store, is off for a much needed vacation of a month's duration.

Jack Fratus, of the Park Flower Shop, and Carl Lee, of the Gasser Co, have returned to their respective duties after an enjoyable two weeks' vacation.

H. F. Piggott and C. B. Wilhelmy and families are spending a month in cottages on the lake front, going back and forth to business as occasion requires. All hands are wearing heavy coats of tan.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Stackhouse, of the firm of Stackhouse & Iden, Minerva, Ohio, made a business trip to the wholesale market last week. J. McL.

BALTIMORE.

Midsummer Windows and Chat.

On these sweltering days, with the temperature hovering around 100 degrees, it must be like the traveler on the desert reaching an oasis to walk down Charles street and see the different florists' windows. That of Feast & Sons, on one of the hottest days of last week, particularly suggested this. I have arranged many a flower window, but any novice who looked at this window could not fail to see the idea the artist had in mind when he arranged it, for while in the street the mercury was near the century mark, everything about the display suggested rest and comfort. Specimen tree ferns made up the background, with raised places, and there was a miniature fountain covered with green sheet moss, as well as a few baskets arranged with gladioli and hardy phloxes. It was the extreme heat that helped to attract the attention of those passing to this bit of floral art. Inside everyone was as busy as the proverbial nailer with funeral work.

August 21

At the Halliday Bros. store John Halilay told of the wedding they have for next week at Easton, Md. I asked if weddings were not unusual at this time, and he replied that this particular wedding had been arranged for the autumn, but owing to the uncertainty of the future of the groom, who is now in the service of the country, it was to take place now, as there is no telling where Uncle Sam's boys will be in the fall.

Over at Cook's I found Herman Cook in charge. He reported two such weddings last week. This got me to thinking, so I asked him how the florists fared in cases where wedding arrangements had been interrupted by the war. He told me the only thing they had missed was the decorations for the home and church, as the weddings invariably took place at the country home of the bride, on the portico or perhaps on the lawn, and as there is often a conservatory or plenty of plants about, a decoration is unnecessary. He said the hardest thing about weddings was to get valley. They had to let the wholesaler know at least a week in advance in order to be sure of it.

At the William J. Halliday place one would think it was Easter morning instead of the first week in August. Mr. Halliday had a window of Easter lilies, which were as fine as any you would see on that holiday.

Edward A. Seidewitz had a window of tree ferns, gladioli and asters that attracted much attention.

With the Wholesalers.

As I was out to see several of the floral sights of the city, I thought a walk around the base of supply—the wholesale houses—might give me some news for this week's letter. In all of the houses I found that the gladiolus and aster had the center of the stage. It was in the afteroon, and I found them all pretty well cleaned up. At the S. S. Pennock Co. establishment they reported business above the average for this time of the year. Stock is plentiful, they said; that is, short-stemmed roses, gladioli and asters. Asters are not so good this season as they might be, but the prospects are that they will be better as the season advances.

At the store of the Baltimore Wholesale Florist & Supply Co., H. Glick, the manager, told me they had no trouble in disposing each day of all the stock they could get. They had many fine Easter lilies, also some fine asters grown by G. E. Lutz, of Glenburnie. An especially fine lot of gladioli at this place came from E. J. Schroeder, of Fullerton, Md. The company is anticipating extensive improvements to its store for the coming season.

At the Niessen place, in the absence of Mr. McKissick, W. J. Ekas, right-hand man, showed me through the ice-boxes. In the coolness of these one would forget the heat of the street and imagine it was midwinter. There were jars of fine, long-stemmed roses, orchids, etc. There were Ophelia and Sunburst roses from the range of Stevenson Bros., at Towson, that were fine for this season.

Lehr Bros. had a consignment of Radiance, My Maryland and Hoosier Beauty that would be classed good at Christmas. Charles Siegwart, the orchid specialist of Carroll, is sending in some fine flowers. Mr. Siegwart started to specialize in these against the advice of many of his friends in the trade, who claimed it would not pay in this locality, but time has demonstrated their error in judgment.

Various Notes.

W. Ekas told me of the death of his uncle, Henry Bauer, at Salisbury, Md., where he had charge of a private place. He is survived by two brothers, Fred Bauer, president of the Gardeners' and Florists' Club of Baltimore, and Otto Bauer, manager for the S. S. Pennock Co., at Washington, and one sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Glick are spending two weeks at Betterton. Lawrence Summers and wife are making an automobile tour of Virginia, and Kramer Zeik, of Smith & Co., is spending his vacation at his old home in New York.

Tate.

NEW YORK.

The Market.

There have been few weeks in the history of the cut flower market so quiet as last week, declared the wholesalers. Apart from the call for flowers for funeral work, there was practically no demand. American Beauty roses still are worth $3 per dozen, the demand coming from the nearby fashionable summer resorts. Few rose specialties and novelties are arriving. The young plants are beginning to do their share in supplying roses, but those that arrive are small and short-stemmed. Few bring more than $5 per thousand.

The few carnations that arrive are hardly worth the $1 per hundred asked for them. Valley is scarce and August 11 the market was bare, as high as $8 per hundred being offered for it. Lilies hold at $6 per hundred for selects. Gigas are as hard to find as valley, and as high as $1 each was offered for them August 11.

Of the outdoor flowers there is a veritable flood. There is an oversupply of asters, although the large and high-class flowers are few. Golden Glow chrysanthemums have arrived. Gladioli are in such quantities that they cannot be disposed of. Cosmos are here. Dahlias are of good size and color. There also are pond lilies, daisies, goldenrod, larkspurs, zinnias, calendulas and other summer flowers.

Club Meeting.

The meeting of the Florists' Club August 13 was attended by fifty of the faithful. A. L. Miller reported progress for his entertainment committee and Mr. Kessler for the committee in charge of the ladies' auxiliary and their reception at the McAlpin hotel. C. H. Totty reported for his reception committee and the decoration duties, under the chairmanship of Mr. Kervan, are all arranged for. There was some discussion by Messrs. Traendly, Manda and Totty as to the president's reception, which will take place at the Grand Central Palace.

Messrs. Hunt and Goldberg were elected to membership and the latter addressed the meeting, pledging loyalty.

The only exhibit was the new fern, President Wilson, which was staged by its producer, Fritz Dressel, of Weehawken, N. J. It is a sport of Teddy, Junior, and received a certificate of merit at the International Flower Show. A graceful letter from Mr. Wilson was read, accepting the name. The club's certificate of merit was accorded it. Mr. Dressel said it will be distributed next year.

Secretary Young made an optimistic address as to the coming convention, predicting a large attendance and great patronage for the trade exhibitors.

The resignation from the club of Phil J. Foley, of Chicago, was accepted with regret.

The meeting of the club September 10 will be dahlia night. H. C. Riedel, of Riedel & Meyer, 49 West Twenty-eighth street, will take care of the shipments of exhibitors.

Pre-Convention Notes.

Members of the New York Florists' Club, who are to be hosts to the convention visitors, are ready to receive their guests. Already they are urging the visitors to arrange to stay longer than the three days of the convention. They say there are so many things to see in New York city that it will be impossible to make the rounds in so short a time. There are the parks of New York and Brooklyn, the Bronx Park Institute close to the Convention Garden, the Museum of Art, the Museum of Natural History, the library, aquarium, the zoo, the Statue of Liberty and Coney Island, all being worth a visit.

Of course, every visitor to the convention will want to see the retail flower stores, which as a whole are the finest in the world. Their owners are preparing to welcome the guests.

Surrounding New York are growers of national reputation. Their establishments are large and interesting. They, too, will be glad to have the conventionists pay them a visit.

Captain Fenrich, of the New York Florists' Club bowling team, reports that entries for the bowling contest are slow in coming in. So far the Philadelphia Club team is the only one entered, but it is expected that others will be on hand to compete for the championship.

R. J. Irwin, who last week attended the conventin of the Canadian Horticultural Association at Montreal, reports that a number of Canadian florists expressed their intention of being present at the S. A. F. meeting.

The exhibition of the American Gladiolus Society dovetails in with the S. A. F. convention, opening on the closing day of the latter meeting.

Various Notes.

Max Schling has returned from a business trip to Cleveland and St. Louis.

J. K. Allen and Mrs. Allen left August 13 for a vacation in the mountains of Warren county, N. J. Mr. Allen will return for the S. A. F. convention.

Many of Alex. McConnell's employees are enjoying their summer vacations. Mr. McConnell's nursery business has been exceptionally good this year. His grounds at New Rochelle are beautifully arranged. Catalpa Bungei, Japanese maples and silver spruce are attractive items there.

The first Golden Glow chrysanthemums of the season came from J. Chiotis, of Flushing, L. I. His shipments are handled by the United Cut Flower Co.

Fred Smythe, of Wadley & Smythe, leaves August 23 for Cuba, where he has a large landscape contract.

Walter Siebrecht and Clarence Slinn, who made a trip to the Pacific coast by automobile, returned to their homes August 13.

Wm. Cotter, of the Montreal Cut Flower Exchange, and Mrs. Cotter were in New York August 11, on their way to Dansville. Mr. Cotter will return for the convention.

R. J. Irwin was at the C. H. A. convention in Montreal for several days and says he had "a grand and glorious time."

Thomas Boothe de Forest and family are spending the summer at Irvington.

Charles Futterman and family are spending two weeks at Hyde Park, N. Y.

W. H. Miller now is in charge of the Osgood estate at Lawrence Beach, L. I.

C. McGinnis is spending the summer at Lawrence, L. I.

Edward P. Tracey, president of the Albany Cut Flower Exchange, Albany, N. Y., was a visitor August 9.

A. Fischman and Edward Brenner, of George Siebrecht's force, are spending the summer at Rockaway Park.

Harry A. Bunyard now is with the importing house of W. R. Grace & Co., New York.

C. H. Atkins, Rutherford, N. J., was married August 4. He is a successful landscape artist.

David Ward, of the Cottage Gardens Co., Queens, N. Y., is serving his country, and soon expects to be called to France.

MOTT-LY MUSINGS

Hatcher's Flower Shop, Schenectady, N. Y., has a window attraction in a plant labeled "Night-blooming cereus. Watch it bloom." A remark was overheard that it might afford a reasonable excuse for staying out late, as the curfew law exists in that busy old town.

W. T. Showers, Schenectady, N. Y., observed that the heavy hail storm of August 9 cut up his outdoor stock considerably. Hitherto the call for cut flowers for hospital use had been good. It is claimed that the hospital atmosphere is more congenial to blooms from the open than to those from the ice-box.

Julius Eger, of Schenectady, N. Y., has a fine showing of gladioli and may enter some of them for exhibition at the S. A. F. convention.

Admiring some handsome specimens of Koster's blue spruce at Danker's Nursery on the Albany road, it was recalled that in Danker's Journal of 1780 reference is made to trading with the Hollanders. "So," remarked Fred A. Danker, "it is but natural that we miss trading with them at this time."

"The most successful method with us of growing cyclamen," observed Fred Goldring, Slingerlands, N. Y., "is to stand the plants on inverted pots and spread a good thickness of tobacco stems underneath. This keeps the plants healthy. Many growers spray with a contact insecticide to keep down the so-called mite which is believed to germinate with the seed. Undoubtedly, the cyclamen will be one of the most popular house plants next season. It is easily grown, the more care given the plant the better, and enough seeds can be saved at home for all our needs."

"This hot spell is rather hard on heather culture," remarked W. W. Hannell, Watervliet, N. Y., "but we have it down pretty fine, so that such a thing as a complete failure can hardly happen. Unfortunately it is stock that cannot be grown so easily as a geranium, else it would be even more popular, as it could be sold at a lower figure. On the other hand, it being in the class of aristocrats, so to speak, it finds ready sale with plants of high grade."

J. O. Graham, Little Falls, N. Y., was not a sufferer from the storm of August 9, but had he been as hard hit as James Coates, Fonda, N. Y., that new range under contemplation for some time would now be a certainty.

SCRAPS FROM MONTANA.

Great Falls.

The Electric City, as Great Falls is generally called in Montana, is well represented in the trade. While on a visit there a few days ago the writer had the pleasure of visiting a number of hustling workers. M. Kranz, the proprietor of the Montana Floral Exchange, was my first host, and his store on Third avenue is one of the leaders in the city. This is in charge of W. Hill, a live wire, lately of Seattle, and, like so many of the brethren, an Englishman. A visit to the Kranz greenhouses was next in order, where I found Mr. Kranz hard at work in the carnation range. He reports business good for the summer season, his worst difficulty being, as is also the case with the other florists, a shortage of good help. Mr. Kranz has a good promise of fine mums for the fall and winter, though some of them seem late in planting.

From the Kranz place, under the hospitable guidance of Mr. Kranz, and in his "buzz wagon," we motored to the store of John Feiden, on Central avenue. From there to the Feiden greenhouses, on the west side, where we found Mr. Feiden hard at work preparing his range for the winter business. He is placing a new steam trap in operation, just getting it connected. The stock of mums here was in fine condition.

The writer then was taken on a sightseeing trip back to the city and through it out on Fifth avenue, to the handsome store of the Electric City Conservatory. This store is located in the residence district, and the proprietor reports a sixty per cent increase in the July business over that of July, 1916, despite the fact that commencing with the first of that month he has been doing business on a strictly cash basis. This fact should do much to refute the frequently repeated statement of many that it is impossible to handle this business without an almost unlimited line of credit, something that has done, and is doing, more harm to the trade in many places than almost any other one thing.

Taken all in all, the trade in Great Falls is prosperous and has a great future before it.

Butte.

Butte is well supplied with florists, and all report that business is good in the great Copper City. The Butte Floral Co. does a good business in its handsome store, and is always busy. One of the chief things that attract the attention of a visitor is the generous supply of good stock always on hand in the cool rooms.

Manlove's Flower Store, which, during the last year, or until July 1, has been under the guidance of J. W. Hollow, has been taken over by B. T. Manlove again. Both report business good, and under the management of Mr. Hollow the business has shown a decided increase.

The Englewood Floral Co. reports a good increase in business. It has some good contracts on hand this season for landscape work out of the city.

One of the main points of interest to a visitor in Butte is the Columbia Gardens. These gardens, almost the only place of recreation in the city, are under the capable direction of V. Siegel. The large beds of pansies are perhaps the finest to be seen anywhere and the place is noted for pansies from coast to coast. The greenhouses show some stock, especially in summer carnations and tuberous begonias.

Billings.

The Billings Floral Co., L. Poitras, proprietor, reports a good business for a new firm. Unfortunately, at the present time Mr. Poitras is confined to his home by a serious illness, but Mrs. Poitras is ably attending to business in the store on Broadway.

Helena.

The capital city of the state has one of the largest ranges to be found in the northwest, that of the State Nursery & Seed Co. A commodious seed store, located on Fuller avenue, combined with a cut flower store, some 200,000 feet of glass, ample grounds for outdoor nursery stock and a large new seed warehouse, place the company in the front rank in this territory. A visit to the range found a large area devoted to roses, mums, poinsettias, hardy perennials and other general stock. One range of fourteen houses is devoted to carnations. J. P. Ring, the genial foreman, informs us that part of the heat for the houses is supplied by means of natural hot water, something that many of our brother florists will envy during the present high prices of coal. J. W. Jackson, who is in charge of the wholesale department at the range, reports a steady demand for all the cut flowers that the houses can produce. T. E. Mills, the president and general manager, has been on the sick list for some months, and is now recuperating on the coast, in Oregon. During his absence his brother, E. W. Mills, of Wenatchee, Wash., is at the nursery. At the store Walter Card reports a good summer trade and a great demand for fall seeds for farm use, winter wheat and rye being especially in demand.

NASHVILLE, TENN.

The Market.

During the last two weeks business has been exceptionally heavy for midsummer. The dull season began later this year than usual, and probably the fact that there have been several thousands of soldiers here a good part of the time has helped much, though soldiers are not as a rule considered large purchasers of flowers.

Until ten days ago we had an abundance of rain, and outdoor stock has come on well. There never before has been so wide a range of flowers offered to the summer trade as this season. Annuals and perennials in quantities have come in for a share of the popularity, and had it not been for these there would have been a decided shortage of flowers much earlier in the season. At present flowers are decidedly scarce, roses being almost out of the market, and carnations, of course, nil, so the trade has to be content with gladioli, lilies and asters. Fortunately, lilies and gladioli are abundant. Gladiolus Lily Lehman is the best white to date for this climate. It must be picked before it has had time to burn, however. It is predicted that this variety will in time largely displace Augusta, especially as it is earlier in blooming.

Various Notes.

The question asked on all sides the other day was, Have you heard anything about the bulbs? All the growers are trying to be in a position so that it will be possible to get along without serious handicap should the bulbs not arrive. Valley will be missed most, but, fortunately, there was more valley put in storage by our growers last fall than ever before, and valley will be in evidence for some time, possibly until spring, even though no pips come across the water. There are enough home-grown daffodils to be had here to tide over if none should come in the fall. Calliopsis and hunnemannia have been tested in a small way, have produced exceedingly well and they have sold on sight. Both are grown from seed in a short time and flower for a long time.

There is practically no new building in progress here this summer. Much repair work had to be done as a result of the hail some two months or more ago, and a little remodeling is being done, but no one seems to be enlarging his place.

The Joy Floral Co. now has been operating its store in Chattanooga for more than six weeks and is highly pleased with the success of the venture. It has paid expenses from the first and the trade is on the increase, even during the dull season. The company planted several thousand roses outdoors this spring, in order to increase its summer cut, and has a larger acreage of gladioli than ever before. The company also constructed a large lath house for growing asters. This has proven a success.

Oscar Geny has had rather a hard time this summer in the matter of health, hardly being able to attend to business. He is improving slowly and goes to the greenhouses every day long enough to be sure that things are going as they should. At the store they are having a good run of business, but they are extremely short on roses. They have built a large cooler that is cooled by their own refrigerating machine, so that they can do most of their own cold-storing.

McIntyre Bros. have had plenty of diversion this summer in repairing the damage done by the spring hail Things are in good shape again and the crop is coming on nicely for another year. They have a good cut of gladioli and some excellent roses at present, as well as the line of general stock.

Haury & Sons have been doing a steady plant business during the summer and even now are selling pot plants for boxes and bedding at a fair rate. This certainly has been an unusual season.

J. F. Corbett has a nice lot of roses in the field, and, as usual, they are producing well. He is shipping cut gladioli to St. Louis. F. B.

Chippewa Falls, Wis.—F. S. Weigand, who recently sold his place at the corner of Bay street and Grand avenue, is tearing down the five greenhouses there. Four will be erected on his farm outside the city limits, and the other will be put up in the rear of his new home on Columbia street, where the family will live and where Mr. Weigand will continue the retail business he established seventeen years ago.

OBITUARY

Joseph W. Vestal.

Joseph W. Vestal, senior member of the firm of J. W. Vestal & Son, Little Rock and Argenta, Ark., died at his home on Riverside drive, Argenta, August 6, after an illness of two weeks. Although Mr. Vestal had been in ill health during the last year, his condition was not considered serious until shortly before his death. He was 82 years of age and is survived by his wife, one son, Charles Vestal, and two daughters, Mrs. William Smith, of Argenta, and Mrs. Ella Wiggle, of Chicago.

Mr. Vestal went to Argenta in 1880 from Cambridge City, Ind., and established the greenhouse range which he managed until the sickness which caused his death forced him to cease work. His son, Charles Vestal, was associated with him in the management of the company's affairs, which consisted of a range and retail store in Little Rock, and the Argenta establishment. The son will continue the business.

Funeral services for Mr. Vestal were held from the Scottish Rite Cathedral August 8. The services were attended by Scottish Rite Masons, who are members of Arkansas Consistory No. 1. Burial was in Oakland cemetery.

John A. Bopp.

John A. Bopp, who recently sold his greenhouse range and the land adjoining in Cumberland, Md., and moved to his farm on the Bedford road, near that city, was found drowned in the pond on the latter place August 1. It is believed that worry over moving was the cause of his act, as he had expressed a disinclination to make the change. Mr. Bopp was 62 years old and was born in Germany. He came to this country forty-six years ago, and in 1901 bought a greenhouse range on the Potomac river. In February, 1916, he added a retail store to his holdings. Mr. Bopp was the third of his family to die by drowning, his father having lost his life under similar circumstances in Germany, and his son, William Bopp, having been drowned several years ago while skating. He is survived by his wife, two sons, J. Elmer Bopp and Arthur Bopp, and one daughter.

Harry H. Youngs.

Harry H. Youngs, formerly in the nursery business at Troy, O., died at his home in Dayton, O., August 4. Mr. Youngs was 69 years of age, and is survived by one son.

Armin J. Baur.

Armin J. Baur, president of the Baur Floral Co., Erie, Pa., was killed last week by an electric shock in the office of the greenhouses. His two little children were playing nearby.

Mr. Baur was shocked when he touched an uninsulated spot on the cord of a swinging drop light over his desk, the coroner said. A cross wire holding the drop cord in place had worn away a little of the insulation. His right hand was badly burned. The normal power of the lamp is 110 volts and this would not have killed, according to officials.

Mr. Baur was born in Pittsburgh. He was 39 years old. He had lived at Erie most of his life and organized the floral company ten years ago. Surviving are his wife and two children, Kathryn and Elizabeth; four brothers, Henry and William O., of Erie; A. F. J., of Indianapolis, and S. Alfred, of Rockford, Ill.; and two sisters, Mrs. Herbert Abbott and Mrs. Bertha E. Phillips, of Erie.

Joseph Sexton.

Joseph Sexton, one of the pioneer nurserymen of California, died recently at his home, Goleta Hall, Goleta, near Santa Barbara. Mr. Sexton, who was 75 years of age, did more than anyone else to foster the walnut industry, having been the originator of the famous Santa Barbara Soft Shell and other varieties. At his home nursery he had many rare and beautiful trees, planted with his own hands forty and fifty years ago and now magnificent specimens. He is said to have fathered the pampas grass industry in the state, having been the first to see the possibilities of growing the plumes for market, dyed and natural. The nursery for some time has been operated by the Santa Barbara Nursery Co., under the management of J. Pettingel. Mr. Sexton leaves a wife and nine children. H. R. R.

DETROIT, MICH.

The Market.

Midsummer market conditions remain, but the season promises to open earlier than usual. The few good roses available are in heavy demand, the shortage of long-stemmed Ophelia, Russell, Hoosier Beauty and Shawyer still being acute. American Beauties are arriving in a more satisfactory manner, the supply now seeming to balance the demand. Orchids and valley are of good quality, but hard to procure at times. Asters and gladioli, however, are accumulating. Lilies are less numerous, but nevertheless in ample supply.

Various Notes.

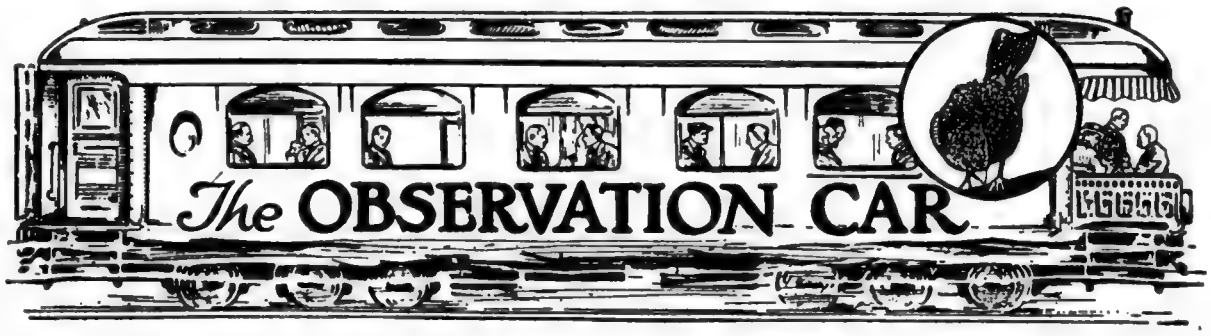
Sullivan's have a new delivery car. John Berlin, of the Flower Growers' Association, was seen on the boulevard last week with a new pleasure car.

The basement of the Central Flower Shop has been transformed into a salesroom, providing much needed space for sales and storage purposes.

Among the travelers last week were George Hampton, of the Neidinger Co., Philadelphia, and S. Seligman, with his New York ribbons. H. T.

NEWARK, N. J.

The Market.



An unusual amount of funeral work last week caused considerable activity among the retailers, but otherwise business was quiet. There is a smaller variety of flowers in the market than at any time since summer began. Valley is of poor quality and is scarce. Easter lilies sell as high as $3 per dozen, retail, which is equal to the price at Easter. Asters are plentiful, but are not of good quality. The supply of gladioli is equal to the demand.

Various Notes.

Henry Strobell is spending the week ends at his cottage at Bradley Beach.

Frank Philips, of Philips Bros., has returned from a fishing trip along the coast. He landed one striped bass weighing more than eleven pounds. On his return, Fred Philips left for a similar outing.

At the summer meeting of the New Jersey Horticultural Society at Bridgeton it was decided to hold the winter meeting at Newark. Tentative dates for the meeting are January 8 to 10. R. B. M.

The "hot" in hot springs is the thing that greatly interests the management of the State Nursery & Seed Co., of Helena, Mont., for not far from the range there gushes hot water from the earth, and by pumping this water into the greenhouse pipes the company has eliminated much of the sting in its coal bills.

The whole affair was done in a bang-up manner, with plenty of trimmings. It was 1 o'clock of a bright afternoon, August 9, when the good ship Erastus Wells swung into the Mississippi and proceeded upstream. On board were seventy-five hearty St. Louis tradesmen, members of the St. Louis Florists' Club and guests of Park Superintendent E. Strehle on this occasion, the annual meeting of the club. There was a full program on board, with the big event, the balloting for new officers, coming off on the return trip from the city nursery. Each officer was reëlected, as follows: President, Jules Bourdet; vice-president, August Hummert; secretary, J. J. Windler; treasurer, W. C. Smith.

It was tit for tat, so to speak, with the judge as umpire. Peter Chocolos, a New York retailer, charged one Collins with attempting to shoot him. Whereupon Collins accused the florist of trying to steal Mrs. Collins' love, said wife being cashier for Chocolos. After both parties had cooled off, however, the judge showed what a good mediator he was, and the contestants agreed to let bad enough alone.

"Your Royal Highness," will be the proper form for Tacoma growers to use in addressing their help if the labor scarcity at the Puget sound city becomes more acute. With the large army post near-by offering special inducements to men, the grower has to handle his greenhouse helpers with velvet gloves, despite advances of from twenty-five to fifty per cent in wages. "Of course," says one employer, "I can tell my man I don't like his style, but it's ten to one he will board the 'jitney' for the army post and a new job."

RESULTS.
We give them. You get them.
We both have them.

PITY the man whose job it is to collect for the stock that went to sea in the Nieuw Amsterdam.

THE freesia is more popular than ever this season. One large California grower expresses the belief that the demand for bulbs will be greater than the supply.

THE question is, if any azaleas come, what will the quality be? The opinion obtains that there has been so little care put on the azaleas in the last few years that there is extremely little first-class stock in Belgium.

THE florist who must forgo the pleasure to be derived from attending the S. A. F. convention in New York next week, will get the benefits of the gathering by reading the Convention Number of The Review, out August 23.

WE all know that the cyclamen is one of the daintiest of cut flowers, and a cyclamen specialist says that if the stem is pulled from the corm and then cut an inch and a half from the base the flower will last well in water. Flowers for shipment should always stand in water six hours before packing.

WHAT the consumer thought of the coal producers and the prices they charged bothered those gentlemen not a bit. But the moves of several states looking toward confiscation of coal properties, and the announcement that President Wilson intends taking drastic action, were followed by promises of material reductions. Tickling a mule's heels is dangerous business, even if you are agile.

BEST BAIT FOR BUSINESS.

Business, sensitive creature, won't hang her hat on the hall tree of the man who gives her the icy stare and cold shoulder. She must be invited, welcomed and encouraged to stay, and one of the best ways to coax her around is by advertising.

Now, there is advertising and advertising, as everybody knows, but it's the rightly placed kind, the fairly priced and really read kind, that brings home business, like this:

Please discontinue our coleus ad in The Review. We sold thousands of coleus plants and had to return money. That's the only thing we don't like about our ads in your publication.—Avenue Floral Co., C. W. Eichling, president, New Orleans, La., August 6, 1917.

When you hear a man complain of the cost of advertising, you can be pretty certain he spends a good bit of money elsewhere than in The Review.

U. S. CROP ESTIMATES.

The crop reporting board of the Bureau of Crop Estimates makes the following estimates from reports of the correspondents and agents as of August 1.

TOTAL U. S. PRODUCTION IN MILLIONS OF BUSHELS.

Crop.	1917. August Forecast.	1916. December Estimate.	Price Per Bu. August 1. 1917. Cents.	1916. Cents.

Apples, commerc'l.	22.6	25.7	$3.71	$2.41
Peaches	42.7	36.9	144.8	109.1

Such a showing of crops seems to be a guarantee of a good season for florists, seedsmen and nurserymen.

PROSPEROUS TIMES COMING.

The current issue of one of the popular magazines contains an article in which an attempt is made to forecast what will happen to business in the United States during the war. The forecast is based on the experience of Canada and the European countries. In those countries, it is asserted, there has been an orgy of spending by the classes who are most benefited by the war, and are least taxed for its cost—the skilled workmen.

Such authorities as H. G. Selfridge, owner of the largest department store in London and an American; a prominent Canadian banker, and Frank A. Vanderlip, president of the National City Bank, New York city, are quoted. All agree that the United States, because of its entry into the war, is about to experience an unequaled era of prosperity. They declare that labor will weekly draw a greater aggregate sum than ever before; that this money will be spent not only for necessities, but for luxuries as well. On the other hand, it is predicted, the wealthy class will curb its expenditures, as it will bear a great proportion of the taxation that will be imposed to carry the war burden.

This means, the conclusion is drawn, that there will be more money spent for luxuries, unless, of course, the government interferes, than ever before. It will bring about a change in the class of people that will do the buying.

Florists need have no fear that much of this money will not be spent for flowers. The heretofore poor man, now that he has money, will be as appreciative of flowers as the rich man. He will be as ready to make his wife, or family, happy by the gift of flowers as his more fortunate brother. All signs point to a banner flower selling season.

CREDITS.

Probably no other subject is receiving so much attention as is being given to credits—but the attention is of the wrong kind thus far. The solution of the credit problem is like the charity of the proverb—it should begin at home.

Not one bit of improvement will be made by talking about the necessity for prompt pay—one can lecture his neighbor until he runs out of breath and about all he will get for the trouble will be, "Why don't you do it yourself?"

To strengthen the credit situation in this trade there is just one way to go about it: Stop selling to the man who pays too slowly; don't ship without looking up the credit of the new customer. Transients should be asked for cash, as far as that is practicable. It is a matter in which each individual must act for himself.

WHEN THINGS ARE MUTUAL.

It is as important for a mutual association as for one organized for profit to let the advantages it offers be known and to take such steps as are necessary to cause them generally to be availed of. A large and constantly increasing membership is essential to the success of an organization for mutual insurance—a large membership spreads the losses among a considerable number of people, guaranteeing that unexpectedly heavy losses will not fall as a burden on a few; steadily increasing membership is a guaranty that the man who has stood his assessments for years will not some day be left to "hold the bag."

The directors of the Florists' Hail Association would not be making an unwarranted use of the members' money if they were to use part of it in making that mutual organization's unquestionable merits generally known to those in the trade.

CHICAGO.

The Market.

Although trading was rather slow at the beginning of last week in the wholesale cut flower market, a general strengthening of demand was to be noticed August 9, which increased with the remaining days of the week and left the credit side of the ledger in a satisfactory condition for the seven days. The poor condition of the market the early part of last week was due in a large measure to the great quantities of early asters which had arrived, but this supply is almost over and the late stock has not yet arrived. It is said many plants have died this year from stem-rot.

The beginning of this week finds the market in a fairly satisfactory condition. Business would be better if there were more stock. Good roses are

"Glads" You Cannot Get in Quantity Elsewhere

WE have every day in quantity such new varieties as Myrtle, Pendleton, Peace, Gold, Pride of Haarlem, Halley, Primulinus Hybrids and many of Kunderd's new unnamed waved seedlings—also King, America and other old favorites. It is our belief that nowhere in America is there so fine a lot of cut Gladiolus flowers.

ROSES YOU WILL LIKE

Large crops of fine Ophelia, Milady, Sunburst, Ward and Hoosier Beauty, cut from young plants—and of course we have Mrs. Russell.

Plenty of Short Roses, good stock, our selection of varieties, at $15.00 per 1000

EASTER LILIES

You will find our Easter Lilies about the most useful stock you can carry. Cut tight, they are good shippers and keepers—you can carry them several days and you will have the means of making a spray or wreath on short notice. We can fill any order by wire, but why not arrange for two shipments a week?

ASTERS IN ALL COLORS

We have a complete stock of Asters, all colors and all sizes, small flowers for work or big, fancy flowers for the best purposes; prices from $1.00 to $4.00 per 100.

scarce. Carnations are no factor at all, only a little inferior stock coming in.

Only a few American Beauties are arriving and these are readily disposed of. Russells of all grades also are exceedingly scarce. Of the other varieties of roses a considerable shortage of longer stock is to be noticed, which of course helps the shorter grades to obtain better prices. The demand for roses of all kinds is good but prices are not high.

The supply of valley is just about sufficient to meet a small demand. Orchids remain scarce. There are plenty of Easter lilies. Outdoor-grown stocks are arriving in larger quantities, but they find only a poor market. There are no good sweet peas to be seen on the market. Gladioli are arriving in good quantities and are of satisfactory quality. Mrs. King and America are the leaders. Augusta also finds a good sale, but on the whole the white and mixed varieties are not moving well. The novelty varieties are in better supply than ever before and sell well. There is still a quantity of early asters. Good stock, however, is not overplentiful and is in fairly strong demand. Daises remain plentiful. Giganteums are abundant and rubrum lilies sell poorly. Candytuft is almost over, as are snapdragons. Gypsophila arrives in ample quantities and finds a receptive market.

Various Notes.

G. M. Reburn says he is well pleased with the condition of business. "To show you how it is," said he, "in July I received mail orders to the amount of $4,115 from my classified ads in The Review. The ads cost $35.05, or less than one per cent of the sales."

The bulb dealers received Harrisii and amaryllis last week. French stock is due any day. Japanese bulbs will be late. Dutch stock is expected with confidence now, but the date of shipment is not yet known.

A party of Lake Geneva and Lake Forest gardeners was in town August 12 to take the 10:30 Lake Shore train for Goshen, Ind., to visit the gladiolus farm of A. E. Kunderd.

A. Miller, of the American Bulb Co., drove to Detroit in his Stutz, accompanied by one of his assistants, Vinson Neil. Leaving the car at Detroit, Mr. Miller will proceed to New York by rail for the S. A. F. convention. Robert Newcomb has returned from a three months' trip on the Pacific coast.

which they will embark for a three weeks' trip to Clearwater, Fla., where Mr. Kennicott has an orange and grapefruit grove. They expect to make the trip from New York by boat. During Mr. Kennicott's absence, J. E. Pollworth will look after the interests of the firm.

At the Bassett & Washburn Pacific coast branch at Sierra Madre, Cal., there are acres of kentias raised from seed which will begin to come on the market next year. Although the establishment was planned before the European war had begun to affect the market for palms, it seems almost as though the present condition had been foreseen. With Belgian importations shut off, America must look to home growers for palms. Large annual sowings of seeds have been made at the Bassett & Washburn establishment in each of the last three years.

George Wienhoeber now carries seventeen people on his payroll. He claims to pay the highest wages and demands the best service, which may account for the excellent progress his business has made.

PHILADELPHIA.

The Market.

The cut flower market is weak and irregular. There is no fault to find with the supply. There are plenty of good summer flowers, but there is not enough business to care for them. Gladioli are now extremely plentiful. The new crop is fine. The last of the old crop is poor; the heat caught them, with disastrous results. There is also an excellent supply of asters. The best bring fair prices. The poor asters are thoroughly unsatisfactory to grower and wholesaler alike. Easter lilies have dropped back in sympathy with the general market. Only orchids and valley are scarce and high in price. The Japanese hydrangea is in season. White roses are not equal to the demand at times. Other roses are plentiful and cheap. Compared with the first half of last August, the wholesalers say that the volume of business is as great but the average prices are much lower, as so many more flowers are offered now than there were a year ago.

Greenhouse Building.

So much has been said about the private places that would not operate greenhouses next winter on account of the unsettled labor and coal conditions, that it is refreshing to receive the following list of new contracts from the Philadelphia office of the King Construction Co., through the courtesy of William J. Muth:

Erection of curved-eave greenhouse, 18x50, for Dr. Archibald G. Thomson, Ardmore, Pa.

Erection of curved-eave lean-to, 12x34, for Watson F. Fuqua, Jenkintown, Pa.

Erection of range for George C. Thomas, Jr., Chestnut Hill, Pa., consisting of one curved-eave greenhouse, 25x84, divided into three compartments; one house 25x59, divided into two compartments; one propagating house 11x17 and service building 25x26. Brick walls will be used throughout in this construction, panel vents being worked in the walls for bottom ventilation. All benches will be of strictly sanitary type, having galvanized pipe frames with tile bottoms and slate sides.

Erection of curved-eave house 18x58, divided into two compartments, for Eugene Du Pont, of Greenville, Del.

Erection of iron-frame house 24x34, for C. C. Harrison, Jr., Villa Nova, Pa.

Doings at Dreer's.

The description of what is going on at a thoroughly equipped range like that of the Riverton one of Henry A. Dreer, Inc., is necessarily confined to broad lines. There is so much of interest that detail is out of the question. Speaking broadly, then, the kentias will meet the market requirements for the coming season. They are a magnificent lot in all the sizes. The kentia ranges are a pleasure to see. Evidently the buyers are ordering earlier than usual. Entire beds of kentias in many of the houses are reserved for delivery early in September. The stock that remains still is ample. Cocos Weddelliana is for the present confined to the small sizes. The handsome specimens have been swept so closely that no more will be available now. This dainty palm is beautifully grown here. There is a handsome block of Asplenium Nidus-avis. These celebrated bird's-nest ferns in 7-inch pots are particularly fine. They are thrifty and clean, reflecting credit on the cultural work bestowed on them.

The glory fern, Adiantum Glory of Mordrecht, is justifying the confidence shown in it. The houses that will be offered in 4-inch pots are full of promise. Adiantum Farleyense, too, has its place, an exquisite fern of great refinement. The confidence placed in the Boston fern family is as strong as in the past. The varieties that have been selected as the best will remain in the lead another season, to be grown as well, maybe just a little better, from the experience gathered from intelligent study of their needs.

The popularity of the great California rose, Los Angeles, has been so amazing that the agency for the east has again been secured from the introducers. Fifty-one hundred plants of Los Angeles were sold last spring. Of that number 4,000 went in small lots, mostly to amateurs, lots of from one plant to one dozen plants at $2 each, a remarkable record.

The railroad embargo and the shortage of freight cars have enhanced the value of truck delivery at Riverton. Five automobile trucks are now owned and operated by the concern. Some of these trucks make frequent trips to New York, taking shipments destined for Mexico and Cuba direct to the steamers, insuring promptness in delivery on board the steamers. The trucks are used extensively in long-distance delivery to our own florists, where the nature of the stock and the size of the order warrant doing so.

An Interview with Robert A. Craig.

"We prove our confidence in the future by our additions at Norwood—25,000 square feet of glass and 15,000 square feet of shed since last year. We are proud of our stock—more and even better dracænas than ever. Take terminalis for example. We now have, in August, plants as fine as it was formerly considered good growing to get in December. Our last stock sheets showed an almost incredible number of crotons, which must be seen to be appreciated, they are so fine.

"Begonias are considered scarce this year; they are not scarce at Norwood. Cincinnati, Mrs. Peterson and Konkurent are our leading varieties. We have a house of specimen Areca lutescens that would be hard to equal anywhere. Our ferns, led by Nephrolepis Norwood, are a grand lot. I want you to make a point of seeing our plants; then you will understand why I feel so enthusiastic about them."

Various Notes.

William Wunder has sold his place at Pittville. Possession will be given in December, when the greenhouses will be taken down.

Mrs. Drew Bear is enjoying her vacation in Maine.

The supply of stock is on the short side, with the roses poor, asters short of stem and small of bloom and carnations decidedly limited in number. Funeral work is plentiful.

Julius Niednagel & Sons have replanted their carnation benches, and the stock is taking hold well. Julius Niednagel's health has not been good of late.

A visit to the Evansville Nurseries found C. E. Gyseman making cuttings of Rose Dorothy Perkins, picking tomatoes and hauling water to parts of the fields where it was needed most. There has been little rain this month.

The funeral of J. C. Elspermann was well attended by florists.

Theodore Kuebler last week began shipping asters to the St. Louis market.

Karl Zeidler is rebuilding one of his houses.

A call meeting of the Evansville Florists' Club was held at the Zeidler place August 15 to decide on picnic plans and to make arrangements for the reception of members of the State Florists' Association of Indiana, who will

PROVIDENCE, R. I.

Samuel Woodrow, of Narragansett Pier, was a business visitor to Boston last week.

The space in front of the offices of the Elmwood Greenhouses, at the corner of Elmwood avenue and Earle street, is especially attractive with beds of fuchsias, coleus and other plants.

Mrs. Charles W. Morey, of Woonsocket, and her daughter are enjoying a month's vacation in Canada, where they are visiting Montreal and other cities.

Miss Catherine Kelly, bookkeeper for Joseph E. Koppelman & Co., is on a vacation in New Hampshire.

Miss Annie Peckham, of Carpenter street, is on an automobile trip through Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

Charles Smith has returned to the Berkshires for another month's sojourn on account of his health.

The Hoxsie Greenhouses are a scene of unusual activity, as four new houses are being erected, each 125 feet long, two of which are twenty feet wide and two forty feet wide.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Carpenter, of the Union station flower stand, have gone to Alberta for a visit. During their absence Mrs. C. Bellows is in charge of the business.

Charles Hunt has commenced to reglaze his range of houses on Mystic street. W. H. M.

The Market.

A small variety of flowers now is to be found in the market, and business is quiet. Outdoor flowers predominate and will now do so for some weeks. Asters and gladioli vie for supremacy. Both are abundant, and while some extra good stock realizes fair prices the general average is rather low and does not equal that of a year ago. Some primulinus gladioli are seen. They are much more decorative and far less stiff than the other types of gladioli. Lilies are abundant and of grand quality, but few sell at more than $4 to $5 per hundred. Sweet peas are out of the market and last week's intense heat finished the carnations. The roses arriving are mainly short-stemmed, but sell moderately well.

Cattleyas are scarce and sell in small lots as high as $12 per dozen. Gardenias are out of the market. Outside of scabiosas, sweet sultans and cornflowers, there are few miscellaneous flowers arriving. Some gypsophilas still come from Maine and New Hampshire. Torrential rains August 9 and 10 seriously damaged outdoor flowers.

Gladiolus Exhibition.

The late season, with a long drought added, somewhat affected the quantity and quality of exhibits at the annual gladiolus show in Horticultural hall August 11 and 12, but flowers comfortably filled the main hall. For twelve varieties first prize went to C. F. Fairbanks, second to Jelle Roos. For six spikes of crimson, one variety, H. E. Meader won with Black Beauty; second, Jelle Roos, with Goliath. Other awards were:

Six spikes, pink—H. E. Meader, first, with splendid Myrtle; S. E. Spencer, second, with Mrs. Frank Pendleton.

Six spikes, red—Jelle Roos, first, with Aleida; H. E. Meader, second, with Jessie.

Six spikes, white—C. F. Fairbanks, first, with Jessie Palmer; Jelle Roos, second, with Chicago White.

Six spikes, yellow—C. F. Fairbanks, first, with Ida; Jelle Roos, second, with Annie Wigman.

Six spikes, any other color—C. F. Fairbanks, first, with Loveliness; Jelle Roos, second, with Herada.

Six spikes primulinus—Julia M. Fairbanks, first; C. W. Brown, second.

One vase, ten varieties—Mrs. Percy G. Forbes, first.

Seedling, one spike—C. Bogholt, gardener to Miss Fanny Foster, Newport, R. I., with No.

188, which was a glorified Schwaben. The same exhibitor won second with No. 62, which is like Pink Perfection, but much superior.

Fifty varieties, one spike of each—C. F. Fairbanks, first, with a grand collection. Some of his best were: Aberdeen, Mary Pickford, Baltimore, Cherry King, Christine Margaret Kelway, Myrtle, Loveliness, Majestic, Herada, Little Fawn, Orby, Hyacinth, Austrasie, Charlemagne, Rose of July and Mauve Queen. Jelle Roos was second.

Most artistic display covering 200 square feet—C. W. Brown & Son, first, with a splendid lot of flowers well arranged.

Most artistically arranged basket—Boston Cut Flower Co., first.

The Boston Cut Flower Co. also put up a tastefully arranged display of palms and foliage plants. Hanging baskets and other receptacles were used and the effect was pleasing. A silver medal was awarded.

C. Bogholt had a splendid collection of seedlings. Nos. 207, 204, 208, 64 and 224 were awarded honorable mention. H. E. Meader staged a fine table of beautiful Myrtle. The Riverbank Gardens had a nice display of named sorts.

C. F. Fairbanks received a well-merited silver medal for a grand display of primulinus hybrids, set up in large, well-elevated vases, in big bunches. Some of the best in this notable display were: Angola, Tupelo, Moonlight, Silvis, Salmon Beauty, Regulus, Roanoke, Iola, Sirius, Anita, Capello, Sedan, Anamasa, Elberton, Canopus, Andromeda, Sweet Orra, North Star, Alice Tiplady, Golden Gate, Butterfly, Perseus and Cassiopeia. The primulinus hybrids quite outclassed the other gladioli in interest, being so much more graceful and decorative.

In twelve varieties of perennial phlox, for commercial growers, T. C. Thurlow's Sons were first, with Maid Marian, Mme. P. Carpentier, Africa, Marquise de St. Paul, Bernice, Stella's Choice, Argon, Elizabeth Campbell, Baron Van Dedem, Le Feu de Monde and H. Pfleiderer. This concern was also first for six trusses, one variety, with Maid Marian, and showed in addition a large table of named varieties not for competition.

Edward Parker, gardener to Oliver Ames, led for twelve spikes open to private gardeners, with Saison's Lierval, Blue Hills, Montagnard, Rose Queen, Iris, Rynstrom, Opal, Pink Beauty, Von Hochberg, Champs Elysees and Coquelicot.

George N. Smith showed a good collection of phloxes, one variety, Wellesley, receiving honorable mention. William Thatcher, gardener to Mrs. J. L. Gardener, showed the best 100 bottles of annuals. A. E. Kunderd showed the fine white gladiolus, Lilywhite, grown by H. E. Meader. It is an improved Chicago White and received a certificate of merit.

roses. The one most recently planted contains 20,000 plants. The season's supply of coal for both the Revere and Nahant establishments is now secured.

The prolonged drought was terminated August 9 and 10 by torrential rains, over four and one-fourth inches falling. A large proportion of outdoor flowers were ruined, but the moisture proved a blessing to vegetable and other crops.

Charles Holbrow, of Brighton, has about 10,000 plants of his new hybrid tea rose, which is a cross between Christie-Miller and Taft. The longer he grows it, the better he likes it. He has dropped Hadley, and while Francis Scott Key does well it is not found profitable. In carnations 1,000 of the new Albert Roper have been planted. Other stand-bys are Matchless, Pink Delight, Ward and Benora.

C. T. Beasley & Co. have repiped two houses and are planning to heat another. They have also built concrete walls and a new chimney. They have already planted in their pansies and will house more than 25,000. One house is devoted to tomatoes and another to cucumbers. These are cropping heavily. One house of lettuce, with the plants nicely headed and fit for market, bolted during the recent heat wave.

F. J. Dolansky has a fine batch of Cattleya labiata with buds showing in the sheaths. Gigas and Gaskelliana have done exceptionally well with him this season. He received a large quantity of newly imported plants recently.

The Welch Bros. Co. reports a large call for short-stemmed roses, asters, gladioli and lilies. One customer takes 2,500 to 3,000 short-stemmed roses daily.

The demand for the better grades of roses is not robust.

The Rawson Conservatories, of Arlington, will grow about 100,000 carnations during the coming season. The varieties are Enchantress Supreme, Benora, Matchless, Beacon, Pink Delight and Ward. They have three houses of chrysanthemums.

William H. Carr, of the Boston Flower Exchange, has a new car in which he expects shortly to make a tour of northern New England.

McAlpine Bros., of Exeter, N. H., are shipping down a nice lot of American Beauty, Double White Killarney and single Killarney roses.

Several months ago it was announced in this column that Alexander Montgomery was to sever his connection with the Waban Rose Conservatories. Within a day or two Mr. Montgomery will take this step and a manager to succeed him will be appointed during the present week. During his long stay at Natick Mr. Montgomery has ever produced a high grade of roses, and the Waban Conservatories are always the Mecca for rose growers. He will retire to Hadley, where his sons are running a big rose range, and will carry with him the esteem of all horticulturists in this section.

William A. Hastings is spending a few weeks' vacation at Fairhaven, Mass., getting himself in condition for the fall campaign.

Both private and commercial growers have their labor troubles these days. The staff of the W. W. Edgar Co., with three or four exceptions, went out on strike August 11, although Mr. Bartsch offered to meet them halfway, and the establishment is at present much undermanned.

Judson Knight, the courteous manager of the Boston Coöperative Market, is spending a vacation on the north shore.

William Anderson, of South Lancaster, chairman of the plant and flower committee of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, has been seriously sick in the Clinton hospital. I am glad to report that he is much improved.

There will be a good local representation at the New York S. A. F. convention, although shortage of labor and other causes will reduce the attendance.

ST. LOUIS, MO.

The Market.

The cool nights following the extreme heat have toned up the cut stock reaching the market, but the demand for it has been light. Wholesalers and retailers agree that business has been extremely quiet, there being little doing outside of funeral work. Fewer roses are coming in, as the young stock is not yet producing. Asters are abundant, the white and purple shades having the call. Gladioli are the best flowers now in the market. The prices range from $1 to $3 per hundred.

There has been a demand for Easter lilies, and the supply has been equal to it. A few field-grown carnations have appeared, but are of poor quality. Single tuberose stalks have arrived, but there is not the glut that is usual at this time of the year. Valley continues scarce. Other stock reaching the market is made up of larkspurs, cornflowers, calendulas, centaureas, candytuft, stocks, snapdragons and auratum lilies. Greens are plentiful.

Club Meeting.

The annual meeting of the St. Louis Florists' Club was held August 9 on board the harbor boat Erastus Wells. Seventy-five members of the club were the guests of Park Superintendent Ernest Strehle.

President Jules Bourdet presided over the meeting, which was held shortly after the boat started. It being the last meeting under the present regime, committees made their final reports. Chairman Windler of the committee in charge of the outing reported that the receipts covered all expenses. Chairman Smith made a report for the publicity committee. The spring flower show committee informed the club that it had settled with the guarantors on the basis of forty-five per cent. A letter from John Young, secretary of the S. A. F., regarding plans for the National Flower Show was read. The following made application for membership: George Waldbart, Fred Muller, Joseph Witek and Fred J. Hermann. The committee reported favorably on the application of Arthur Beyer and his election followed.

At this point the boat stopped at the Chain of Rocks and all on board inspected the City Nursery, guided by Superintendent Strehle and John Moritz. After the group had been photographed by A. B. McIntyre, of the Missouri Botanical Garden, the return trip was started and the meeting resumed.

The election of officers for the next year resulted in the reëlection of the old officers, who were: President, Jules Bourdet; vice-president, August Hummert; secretary, J. J. Windler; treasurer, W. C. Smith; trustee for three years, W. A. Rowe.

J. F. Ammann, of Edwardsville, Ill., was present and responded to a request for a talk by dealing interestingly with club matters. The meeting then adjourned. The next regular meeting will be held September 20, instead of September 13. The invitation of Edwin Denker to hold the meeting at his place in St. Charles was accepted. Luncheon was served on board the steamer. The members gave a vote of thanks to Superintendent Strehle and the city park department for one of the most enjoyable afternoons the club has had.

County Growers' Association was held August 16 at Upper Creve Coeur lake.

The employees of the St. Louis Seed Co. spent August 5 at Waterloo, Ill., the guests of the company. Automobiles conveyed the party to the home of N. B. Pantler, president of the company, at Waterloo, where they had an enjoyable time.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Windler left August 11 for Dickey, Mo., with a party of friends for two weeks' vacation at Hillcrest Club, of which they are members.

Bergstermann is renovating his show house facing South Grand avenue.

A large electric sign announcing the National Flower Show is being erected on the grounds where the temporary building to house the show will be put up.

Jules Bourdet, state vice-president of the S. A. F., has secured twenty-seven new members for that society, and expects to make the number thirty before the opening of the convention in New York next week. Only ten more are needed to make the total 100, the number required to give the St. Louis Florists' Club representation on the S. A. F. board of directors.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Weber, Jr., left last week for northern Wisconsin to join Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Weber, Sr., who are spending the summer there. They will return September 1.

The Florists' Bowling Club will be revived this fall. Weekly meetings to get into condition for the S. A. F. tournament in St. Louis next April will be held. Among those interested in the sport are Oscar Ruff, Edward Niebling, Frank Plotz, Otto Bruenig, C. A. Kuehn, Carl Beyer, F. C. Weber, George Schriefer and J. J. Beneke.

An interesting program has been arranged for the meeting of the Retail Florists' Association to be held August 20 at Mission Inn Garden.

LARGE GREENHOUSES

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

The Market.

Business with the retailers showed a slight increase last week, there being considerable funeral work. Stock is coming in quantities sufficient for the demand. Gladioli are abundant and all the popular varieties are available. Asters also are plentiful, and gaillardias and bachelor's buttons are popular. Roses are good now and lately there has been a demand for American Beauties, which sell at fair prices. Boston ferns have been abundant and met a good call. The weather, hot and dry, has had its effect on outdoor stock, much of which was lost by the growers.

Various Notes.

Local growers are busy getting their stock ready for fall business.

The Sunshine Florists' store is being redecorated and will present a fine appearance when the work is finished. This store does an excellent business. Funeral work has been heavy there this summer.

The greenhouses recently constructed by Carl Rosange and John Lindberg are producing some fine stock. Excellent sweet peas were cut there this summer. They have another house under construction. The range is strictly modern and the firm has been doing a good business. E. M. P.

NORTHAMPTON, MASS.

The regular meeting of the Holyoke and Northampton Florists' and Gardeners' Club was held August 7 at Florence, with F. D. Keyes & Son as hosts. Arrangements were made for the annual picnic, which has been planned for August 29, at the Gallivan Bros. farm, Smiths Ferry. E. J. Canning gave a most instructive talk on "Hardy Herbaceous Perennials," dealing with the subject chiefly from the commercial standpoint.

Harry Sinclair read a paper on "The Lily Fields of Japan," and the meeting adjourned at a late hour. H. E. D.

Seed Trade News

AMERICAN SEED TRADE ASSOCIATION.
President, F. W. Bolgiano, Washington, D. C.; Secretary-Treasurer, C. E. Kendel, Cleveland, O.

THERE are indications that canna roots will be scarce next winter.

THE Harrisii bulbs are in, fine looking stock, but the advance orders are extremely light.

THIS spring's shortage of gladiolus bulbs surely will be repeated unless the Holland growers can get their stock over.

REPORTS from California bulb growers indicate that the crop of Freesia Purity is turning out considerably below expectations.

THE seed exporters in Denmark have their troubles, but they seem to have a greater degree of freedom than is given the trade in any other European country.

ROBERT LIVINGSTON and Mrs. Livingston, of Columbus, O., passed through Chicago August 14, on the way to Seattle and other Pacific coast growing stations.

TO REPLACE the quantities of pansy heretofore imported from Germany will call for more seeds than are likely to result from the increased plantings and excellent crops of American growers.

THE British government has exempted from war service seedsmen's employees of the classes who must be specially trained or experienced, but not the ordinary run of office, farm or warehouse employees.

FRENCH bulbs reached New York last week and weekly arrivals are expected for a month or more, as word has come of many shipments now afloat. It seems probable that all orders will be filled.

LATE reports from Japan indicate some shortage and the belated arrival of Formosa lily bulbs. The giganteums also will be late, but the delay will be due to the difficulty of securing steamer space.

THE eleventh annual convention of the National Canners' Association and its allied associations will be held in Boston, February 11 to 16, 1918. Headquarters will be at the Copley Plaza hotel, with the exhibition in Mechanics' building, nearby.

REPORTS of irregularity in the germination of seeds, while partly due to the unfavorable weather, lead to the belief that the seeds were from more than one stock, quite possibly some old seed mixed with the new to eke out the supply.

THERE are 1,870 names of sweet peas in the "Field Notes" of Lester L. Morse, the 1916 edition of which recently appeared. These names do not represent so many distinct varieties by any means, but are names that have been given to a sweet pea by some dealer and have appeared in some printed list, either in America, Great Britain or Australia.

A LARGE part of the orders for Dutch bulbs have been booked with the prices open. Quotations now coming from Holland indicate ideas of values there that may prove something of a shock to growers here when they get their advices of them. In jobbing quantities it is thought florists may refuse quite a good many bulbs when they see what they will have to pay for them.

THE VILMORIN MANAGEMENT.

In The Review of July 12 a notice was printed of the death of Philippe de Vilmorin, head of Vilmorin-Andrieux & Co., Paris, probably the most widely known seed house in the world. From Eugene Schaettel, who is known personally to many American seedsmen, comes the following paragraph with regard to the future management of the business:

"The firm will continue unchanged under the management of Jacques de Vilmorin, son of Maurice de Vilmorin, the late Henry de Vilmorin's brother, who has been associated with the firm for a number of years; of Count de Estienne, Philippe's brother-in-law, who has been a partner in the business for eighteen years; of A. Henry and E. Schaettel. Louis de Vilmorin, who spent some time in the United States before the war and on account of his genial character grew so popular there, will soon enter the firm as an associate and Vilmorin's friends may rest assured that the firm's motto will ever remain as for nearly 200 years: Most scrupulous honesty and straight and square dealings."

CATALOGUES NOT EXEMPTED.

A study of the text of the Senate war revenue bill, not yet law and subject to many changes, fails to reveal an exemption for catalogues in the matter of the stamp tax on parcel post shipments. The paragraph relating to the parcel post is as follows:

Parcel post packages: Upon every parcel or package weighing more than four ounces transported from one point in the United States to another by parcel post, a tax of 1 cent for each 25 cents or fractional part thereof charged for such transportation, to be paid by the consignor.

No such parcel or package shall be transported until a stamp or stamps representing the tax due shall have been affixed thereto.

Letter postage is increased to 3 cents. The postage on newspapers and magazines is increased twenty-five per cent. Otherwise there appears to be no change affecting postal affairs.

With reference to the tax on catalogues W. F. Therkildson, chairman of the Seed Trade Association's committee on postal affairs, writes:

"Referring to my telegram of August 6, I am exceedingly sorry to report that I was in error relative to the amended revenue bill.

"In my first advice from Senator Penrose he stated plainly that catalogues had been exempted and that all other parcel post matter four ounces and under was exempted. Thinking that Senator Penrose had given me the right information, I immediately wired The Review that catalogues had been exempted. Having received the amendment clause, it shows plainly that the intent of the bill is to exempt catalogues of four ounces and under only. This makes the amended bill not much better than the original one.

"A direct effort should be made by every member of the trade to have all catalogues exempt. Please advise the members to write to their senators and representatives at once, advising that the amendment is not satisfactory, that all catalogues should be exempt regardless of weight. They are intended for business getters and it is extremely unfair to tax an effort to get business. It is a direct blow at business in the making.

"I am sorry that my information caused me to convey an erroneous impression, but I acted immediately upon receipt of the information, which I felt to be authentic, and as originally worded the clause could be taken to mean that catalogues were exempted. It is a case of everyone getting busy and showing that we are not satisfied with the amendment. It must be a case of fight for the exemption of all catalogues. No time should be lost by members of the trade in writing their senators and representatives, saying that the amendment as made does not meet with their approval."

CANNERS' CROPS.

The U. S. Bureau of Crop Estimates has received from a special list of canners and growers of canners' crops, reports relating to the condition August 1, 1917, as compared with August 1, 1916, of truck crops grown for canning purposes. Correspondents were requested to estimate the condition on the basis of 100 representing a normal condition. The results of the tabulation of the replies are given below:

Crop.	August 1, 1917	1916
Beans	82	76
Cabbage	87	68
Sweet corn	71	74
Cucumbers	77	70
Peas	73	67
Strawberries	75	81
Tomatoes	78	79

The condition of peas in Wisconsin is shown as 78, in Michigan as 85 and in New York as 70, all at least ten points higher than in 1916.

CANARY ISLAND ONION SEED.

George K. Stiles, United States consul at Teneriffe, Canary Islands, has made the following report on the onion seed crop there:

"The first picking of the onion seed crop began in the islands of Teneriffe, La Palma and Gomera June 10, and constituted the principal export from the archipelago to the United States. Reports from the growers tend to show exceptionally good results, especially as regards the yellow and red seed, which is said to exist in abundance.

"The so-called white 'wax' seed appears to have suffered slightly from sun scorch, or 'pasado,' as it is called by growers. There seems no reason, however, to apprehend any inability to fill orders. The 'secano,' or unirrigated onion seed acreage, has done well, especially in La Palma island, where a well-timed rainfall has brought out unusual quantities of finely developed 'yellow' and 'red.'

"Average contract prices are reported as follows, per pound: Fancy white wax, $1.25 to $1.50; yellow, 85 cents to 90 cents, and red, 80 cents. Prices have stiffened considerably, due to the presence of a trade factor that has never before entered into the make-up of this market, namely, the drop of between fifteen and twenty per cent of the exchange as against the American dollar. This means that the grower must increase his prices this season in American currency by from fifteen to twenty per cent to collect in pesetas amounts equivalent to similar quotations in previous years.

"The quantities and values of the onion seed exported by the islands to American buyers during the last five years are: 1912, 59,797 pounds valued at $74,686; 1913, 93,378, $84,345; 1914, $9,490, $43,293; 1915, 39,654, $40,828; 1916, 74,987, $84,387.

"Shipping facilities via the southern route, transshipping at San Juan, Porto Rico, or Havana, Cuba, have improved during the last two months, and it does not appear that deliveries will be more difficult than was the case last year.

"Deliveries will also be much earlier than usual, the first seed probably arriving from three weeks to a month earlier than during the last five seasons."

U. S. JULY SEED IMPORTS.

The seed laboratory of the Bureau of Plant Industry, Department of Agriculture, has prepared a table showing the quantities of the various kinds of forage seeds subject to the seed import act that were imported in July, 1917, as compared with the same month in 1916. The table follows:

Snapdragon Seed

It is a proved fact that, for profit and easy doing, there is no greenhouse plant that will equal good Snapdragon. They require very little attention and seed sown now will yield continuous blooms from February until July, giving a bumper crop at Memorial, the great special flower day.

Start some seedlings today and be ready to fill all empty space after mums are done. It is far better and cheaper to grow your own plants.

Seeds of our famous Silver Pink, $1.00 per pkt.: 3 for $2.50; 7 for $5.00. Seed of Nelrose, Yellow, White, Garnet, Light Pink, Buxton and Fancy Mixed, 35c per pkt; 3 for $1.00. A special Pink Mixture, $1 00.

The KENILWORTH Giant Pansy

Seeds are all grown by myself and are offered in the following mixtures and separate colors:

All sorts and mixtures except where noted are: $5.00 per oz., $1.25 per ¼ oz., 5000 seeds $1.00; trade packet of 1000 seeds, 25c; any 5 packets, $1.00. Please order by number.

22. GIANT KENILWORTH STRAIN. The flowers are of perfect form and substance; many of the immense flowers are from 3½- to 4-in. It is a striking collection of beautiful colors and markings, rich with shades of red, brown, bronze, mahogany and many others too numerous to mention. Light, Medium or Dark Mixtures.
24. GIANT KENILWORTH SHOW. An extra fine strain of large flowers; the immense flowers are of circular form and great substance. A beautiful collection of colors and markings.
26. GIANT KENILWORTH CUT FLOWER MIXTURE. Is a distinct class by itself, surpassing all other strains as a cut flower for inside or outside growing; the large flowers are carried erect above the foliage on heavy stems, 7 or 8 in. long, in the most graceful manner, and stand the hot, dry weather well.
28. GIANT MASTERPIECE. A remarkable type; the curled, wavy petals giving the flower a double appearance; large flowers of great substance, on long, strong stem.
30. GIANT THREE AND FIVE BLOTCHED PANSIES. A superb mixture. Flowers large and of circular form and of great substance. The display of coloring is unsurpassed. A combination of almost every shade of rich, velvety colors: reds are particularly conspicuous; the petals being distinctly marked with three or five large, dark blotches.
32. GIANT PARISIAN. The flowers are of enormous size and beautifully marked, mostly five dark blotches on white and yellow ground; an unusually showy mixture.
34. GIANT BRONZE. A fine mixture of all shades of velvety brown, bronze, Havana brown, mahogany and copper shades.
36. TRIUMPH OF GIANT. Remarkably beautiful. The imposing five-spotted flowers on long, vigorous stalks surmount the foliage in the most graceful manner, are of enormous size, perfectly round and of unusual substance. The individual petals are very broad and cover each other in such a manner as to make the flowers appear almost double, the border of every petal being conspicuously curled. The plants are of a robust growth and form compact bushes of a round shape.

10. KENILWORTH GIANT EXHIBITION is the very finest complete mixture ever sent out. Seed carefully saved only from marked plants of the best varieties, with the largest and best shaped flowers and richest coloring. It is impossible to convey an adequate idea of the delightful variations in color and markings of this unrivaled mixture. 500 seeds 30c, 1000 seeds 50c, ⅛ oz. $1.35, ¼ oz. $2.50, oz. $10.00.

New Early-flowering, or Winter Blooming

An entirely new and distinct strain of Pansies The main advantage of these new Pansies over all hitherto existing Pansies is the extreme earliness of flowering. Sown at the same time as other Pansies, they begin flowering the early part of March or as soon as the snow is off the ground, many times having four or five large flowers to a plant, when all other Pansies are only showing buds. The flowers are large, well formed and fragrant.

14. WINTER SUN. Golden yellow with dark eye.
15. ICE KING. Silvery white, with dark eye.
16. CELESTIAL QUEEN. Light or sky blue.
17. CHARM OF MARCH. Dark velvety blue.
18. MIXED. The above four colors with other shades and variations.

500 seeds 25c, 1000 seeds 40c, ⅛ oz. $1.10, ¼ oz. $2.00, oz. $7.50.

20. PRINCESS. (The New Upright Pansy.) This strain is entirely distinct from all others. It is absolutely compact, upright growing. The flowers are mostly blotched and frilled like the Masterpiece, of good form and heavy velvety texture on heavy stem carried well above the foliage. Attractive by brilliancy of its colors.

40. GIANT BATH'S EMPRESS. The finest of fancy English Pansies. Flowers are very large, mostly frilled and blotched and of great substance and the colors are brilliant and varied.

70. ORCHID-FLOWERED, Mixed. A dwarf, free bloomer, with a range of delicate colors that do not exist in any other Pansies; a remarkable combination of light rose, shell pink, blush mauve, fawn, light brown, orange and chamois.

GIANT PANSY SEED

In Separate Colors

38. Mme. Perret. Red and wine shades.
42. Adonis. Light blue, white center.
44. Black. Almost coal black.
46. Giant Apollo (Masterpiece type). New bronze, veined and blotched.
48. Lord Beaconsfield. Purple, shaded white.
50. Goliath. Large, curled yellow, blotched.
56. Light Blue Shades.
58. Indigo Blue. Deep, velvety blue.
80. Purple. Large, rich deep color.
84. Mercury. New. A deep blackish purple, really self-colored.
86. Pres. McKinley. Yellow, dark blotched.
90. Vulcan. Dark red, with five blotches.
92. Victoria. Blood red, violet blotches.
94. Red. A collection of rich, red shades.
98. Psyche. Curled white, with five blotches.
100. Yellow. With dark blotch.
102. Yellow. Large golden yellow.
104. White. With violet blotch.
106. White. Large satiny white.
110. The preceding 19 colors mixed in equal proportions.

ter. At the end are offered a half-dozen assortments "for those who want only a small collection and are unfamiliar with the merits of the large numbers of varieties listed."

V. Lemoine & Son, Nancy, France.—A condensed midsummer catalogue of delphiniums and peonies. Besides the well tried standard sorts, the list comprises "choice botanical species" and the newer and rarer varieties, for which "orders will be filled in rotation to the extent of the available stock."

H. G. Hastings Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Fall catalogue of seeds, bulbs, roses, vines, strawberry plants, insecticides, etc.; sixty pages and colored cover. Farm and vegetable seeds predominate. After specifying some of the reasons for the general advance in prices, the company says: "We have felt it our duty to you and to this country to do our best to get the necessary seeds produced, almost regardless of cost, for without seed there cannot be food. However, we and other seedsmen must pass this increased cost on to you in the way of higher prices or else go out of business. We want and expect to sell you the seeds you need, but we would urge carefulness in planting, that there may be no waste. Every pound of seed in existence is needed to supply the demand."

The Newest and Best Winter-flowering Sweet Peas

We offer with the greatest confidence the splendid Novelties listed below. These are all true, thoroughly fixed in type and are a great improvement on our various colors.

From sowing made under glass in August they may be flowered in time for Thanksgiving. September sowing will produce the finest flowers by Christmas. If grown in the open they flower several weeks ahead of the Standard or Summer-flowering Spencers, and with proper treatment continue to bloom quite as long as that type.

Burpee's Early Enchantress The flowers are immense in size, measuring two and one-half inches in diameter; they are exquisitely waved or frilled, well placed on stiff stems and usually produced in threes and fours. The color is most attractive and pleasing. It is a bright rose-pink, becoming deeper toward the edges of standard and wings, gradually softening in tone toward the center of the flower. ½ oz., 75c; oz., $1.25.

Burpee's Early Loveliness The color is white, the entire flower being suffused soft pink until it reaches the edges, which are distinctly picoteed with rose-pink. A flower of immense size and great substance, beautifully waved and usually produced three or four on the longest stout stems. ½ oz., 75c; oz., $1.25.

Burpee's Early King A glowing, rich, bright crimson. The flowers are of great size, perfect form, averaging fully two inches in diameter, and are produced freely in threes and fours on strong stems of great length. ½ oz., 75c; oz., $1.25.

Burpee's Early Pink Beauty The color is soft rose-pink on white ground, richer toward the edges, gradually softening in color as it reaches the center of standard and wings. The flowers are of great size, beautifully waved and finely placed on the immense stems, which usually carry three or four of the magnificent blooms. ½ oz., 85c; oz., $1.50.

Burpee's Primrose Beauty An attractive shade of deep primrose, flushed with rose. Flowers of great size and splendid substance, beautifully waved in true Spencer form. ½ oz., 85c; oz., $1.50; lb., $15.00.

Burpee's Early Sankey This truly magnificent white was awarded a special Silver Medal when exhibited at the great International Show in New York, 1915, also Certificate of Merit at the Spring Show of the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society, Philadelphia, 1915. Black seeded. ½ oz., 85c; oz., $1.50; lb., $15.00.

Fordhook Pink and White The most popular color in early-flowering Sweet Peas. Similar to the old Blanche Ferry, having a bright rosy pink standard, with creamy white wings, lightly suffused rose. The flowers often measure fully two and one-half inches in diameter. The form is perfect, the beautifully waved blooms being carried on stiff stems of great length, usually in threes and often fours. ½ oz., 75c; oz., $1.25.

Fordhook Pink A distinct shade of pink, suffused with lavender throughout. Flowers of large size, exquisitely waved, and usually produced in threes and fours on long stems. Particularly pleasing under artificial light. Oz., 85c.

Fordhook Rose This lovely variety is a charming shade of rosy carmine. The flowers are of largest size and usually borne in threes and fours on long, stiff stems. ½ oz., 75c; oz., $1.25.

Yarrawa First exhibited at the great International Flower Show, New York, 1914, awarded a Certificate of Merit by the American Sweet Pea Society. From seed sown in early October at Fordhook Farms, the plants came into bloom December 20, and bloomed profusely until May. Color, a bright rose-pink, with a clear, creamy base. Floradale grown seed exclusively. Oz., 80c; lb., $8.00.

Rose Queen (Pettit). Greenhouse-grown seed, greatly to be preferred to the California open-air grown seed of the variety that is sold at cheap prices. Oz., $3.00.

Mrs. Burke Light blue, received Certificate of Merit at New York Flower Show, greenhouse-grown. Oz., $5.00.

The Market.

Business in general during the last week has about kept up to normal, but that is all that can be said. There has been a scarcity of stock, generally speaking, and some orders consequently have been turned down. The weather was cool and the temperature showed a marked drop below that of the previous week. Vacations are in order and many are taking it easy.

Carnations are about gone, although there are some growers in this vicinity who say they will not be out entirely this season. New stock will not come in for some time, as most of the establishments have just about finished planting. Asters are coming more heavily, however, and are in fine condition. They are filling the carnation gap nicely and are moving well. Roses are arriving in better supply. The new cut is beginning to come in and the stock is in fine form. The increased supply is taken up readily and clears daily at good prices.

The supply of Easter lilies is not so heavy as it has been and the market on this stock is cleaning up much better. Valley remains scarce and the quality is hardly as good as it should be. There are plenty of gladioli, and these play no small part in the general business. Fancy stock is selling well and bringing good prices, but stock shipped in is not moving so well, due to the fact that it does not compare favorably with the fresh local stock.

Various Notes.

Among a number of visitors last week were Mr. Budlong, of J. A. Budlong, Chicago; A. Ringier, of Chicago, and Harry Balsley, of Detroit, Mich.

The E. Welke Co. is making a special display this week, featuring the telegraph end of the business. It has a complete telegraphic outfit, a figure representing a messenger boy and a large quantity of telegraph blanks and telegrams. The window should bring good results.

This community is eagerly waiting to hear what the S. A. F. will do in regard to the promotion of a permanent fund for collective advertising for Mothers' day. In our opinion, this is one of the important things the convention will have to deal with. H. J. S.

THE HOUSE OF MICHELL extends a cordial invitation to every florist, seedsman, nurseryman and others attending the S. A. F. Convention, August 21 to 24, in New York City, to visit their Philadelphia establishment 518 Market Street—within one block of Independence Hall—and their nurseries at Andalusia, Pa. (16 miles from Philadelphia).

You will find there up-to-date establishments, where a reputation for thoroughness, progressiveness and reliability has carried it to the front rank—as a leader in the horticultural and agricultural world.

Our warehouses at 518 Market street, 509, 511 and 513 Ludlow street and 19, 21 and 23 Bank street are well stocked. Our nurseries at Andalusia will no doubt interest you. There are over 50 acres devoted to the growing of Hardy Perennials, Cannas, Dahlias, Roses, etc. There you will have an opportunity to see the famous "Oaks of Andalusia," one of which is reported to be from 800 to 900 years old, and the finest, most perfect white oak in Pennsylvania, if not in the United States.

We anticipate the pleasure of your visit and personal acquaintance. Our representatives will be on hand at the Convention to give any information they possess that might be helpful.

READING, PA.

Business continues fair, with a good number of funeral orders evenly distributed among the stores. Asters are uncommonly good in this section, some of them the largest ever seen here. Gladioli are in liberal supply and sell well. The prices are good, with America leading the lot. Building and repairs occupy the attention of many, and changes will be noted in the fall.

J. Stanley Giles, the popular president of the Florists' Association, accompanied by Mrs. Giles, have been enjoying a vacation at Atlantic City. The Heck brothers are at the famous resort and Mr. and Mrs. P. Blackman are summering at their bungalow at Cedar Hollow, near Moontown. Lee Arnold and family are spending their vacation near Ephrata, Pa.

The annual picnic of the Reading Florists' Association will be held August 17 at the estate of F. Baer, near Kutztown. The committee has spared nothing to make the outing a big one. Special cars have been chartered and a band of fifty-six pieces will be present all day. The event in which most interest is centered is the baseball game between the Reading boys, captained by J. S. Giles, and the Kutztown regulars. However, there will be all the other games, and then some. H. C. H.

PACIFIC COAST DEPARTMENT

LOS ANGELES, CAL.

The Market.

A quiet week in the retail stores and a slightly better shipping business about sizes up the situation. Many of the workers are either away on vacations or are awaiting their turn, while the army draft is making things unsettled. Funeral work has been plentiful, and there were a few wedding decorations that helped to clean up stock.

The fragrant Amaryllis Belladonna is in, large quantities of the earlier flowers being sold. Asters are fairly good and dahlias are at their best.

The new-crop carnations, both outdoor and greenhouse-grown, are an improvement on the blooms that have been shipped of late, and there should be little trouble with them now, unless exceptionally hot weather comes. Centaureas are excellent hot weather flowers and met with a good demand. Rubrum, album and auratum lilies make a fine showing and are helpful in the best class of funeral work. Large quantities of Golden Glow also serve to make a good showing and are useful for decorations.

A notable feature of the business is the large quantity of supplies being ordered by out-of-town florists.

Various Notes.

Clarence Slinn and George W. Siebrecht, of West Twenty-eighth street, New York, arrived in this city a few days ago, having motored the whole distance.

The death of Joseph Sexton, pioneer nurseryman of Goleta, near Santa Barbara, is recorded in the obituary column this week.

S. Murata & Co. are handling large quantities of the Belladonna lily this season. Mrs. Cartwright, the bookkeeper here, has gone to San Francisco for a two weeks' vacation.

Albert Morris, of the Morris & Snow Seed Co., is off to the wilds this week. He and a few friends are going to the Sierras for a week or two after the elusive deer, bear or whatever else comes along.

Paul Miller, of the L. A. Floral Co., has been drafted for service in the army. Fred Sperry is improving slightly in health, but will, he says, have to undergo an operation before he gets full relief.

Stanley Purdy, of the O. C. Saake force, has returned from a trip to Bear valley which he says was most enjoyable. To his credit it may be said that his fish stories are reasonable to one who knows the big lake.

Frank Lichtenberg reports business fair, but most of it funeral work. Carl Brose, of the staff here, has been drafted for service. Mr. Lichtenberg is speaking of a long automobile tour as his vacation.

Hunter Graham, of the J. W. Wolters force, reports an enjoyable trip to Bear lake in his new machine. C. D. Baker, of Yuma, Ariz., is helping out until his return to Yuma in October.

H. Reeve Darling is putting in a great deal of his time at the beach now. J. Ryerson, of the staff, has joined the navy and Wallace Boyd has been drafted for the army.

The California Cut Flower Co. is making a fine display at the store on West Seventh street. Some splendid auratum lilies, artistically arranged, were a leader this week. Several fine talking parrots are most attractive, especially to women customers.

The Germain Seed & Plant Co. suffered a loss through the burning of a large stock of Sudan grass seed at the ranch in the Imperial valley. A considerable portion of this seed was already contracted for and it was only partially insured.

Walter Armacost has returned from his hunting trip in the high Sierras, where he has been for several weeks.

Bert Harris, formerly of the Darling force and previously with the American Florist, is on a visit here. He is now associated with B. M. Joseph, of San Francisco.

Wright's Flower Shop is showing some superb lotus, many of the new varieties coming from the Sturtevant ponds in Hollywood. Some fine fancy-leaved caladiums are also being shown.

J. Dieterich reports that the repairs to the Montebello greenhouses have been completed and that the houses will be in good shape for fall business.

H. R. Richards.

SAN FRANCISCO.

The Market.

Asters continue to increase in supply and improve in quality from day to day. The blooms are now of good size, the colors in wide variety, all good, and the stems all that can be desired. Heavy shipments are being sent out of the state and the local market absorbs its share of the daily offerings. Chrysanthemums are following closely on the asters. The first Golden Glow put in an appearance this week. The growers down the peninsula expect to begin cutting Monrovia about August 20 and October Frost about the same time. The acreage is practically the same as last year and the prospects are favorable for a normal crop. No difficulty is being experienced in cleaning up the early arrivals at comparatively high prices. Violets promise well also. They will probably arrive quite freely by the end of the month. A few scattering bunches are coming in now, but not enough to go around by any means. The first amaryllis of the season is beginning to arrive and the limited offerings are readily absorbed. Zinnias have had a long period of popularity, but interest in them is beginning to wane. Gladioli are plentiful and the demand leaves no ground for complaint. The dahlias make a wonderful showing, many of the blooms being unusually large this season. A liberal supply of snapdragons finds an outlet.

There is little to be said about roses. American Beauties are a minus quantity and other good roses are few and far between. Ulrich Brunner roses, which have been the mainstay for two or three weeks, are beginning to get scarce and deteriorate in quality. Ward and Red Radiance average about the best now.
